Kingston Defeats Batawa By 5-2 Score to Rack Up First Senior Loop Victory

Youthful Freddie Stone, a right nifty young hurler pitched himself a neat victory here Tuesday night for the hitherto lowly Kingston Locos with the result that the Olsen tribe racked themselves up their first COBL win of the season and that at the expense of the also hitherto fast-travelling Batawa Shoemen. The score was 5-2.

The win puts the Limestone lads on a par with the Oshawa Merchants, and they share the bottom half of the league standing with the proud Petes far away on top and the Shoemen slipping and clutching to hold second place.

Young Mr. Stone did himself a man-size job, holding the heretofore potent bludgeons of the Shoemen to seven scattered clouts one of which was a lusty triple by Gordy Muffitt in the ninth when the cause was lost and another a scratch double by Ken Peacock in the sixth when the Shoemen had the sacks loaded but couldn't come through with a clutch clout.

Bata Starts Sheehan

Batawa started Pat Sheehan on the mound, but the hitherto Oshawan had more trouble finding the plate than a tight-fisted elder at church. He walked seven men in four innings although he only allowed two hits for a pair of runs, when the Batawa masterminds threw Gordie Muffit into the breach, if you can call it that.

The Kingston bludgeons went promptly to work on the Muffit offerings in the fourth. Tony Conner slashed out a double off the first Muffitt pitch and after Kereluk struck out, Sammy Mulholland promptly blasted a single to right field. Cunningham fell before the Muffitt slants but Joe Corkey saw one he liked and he smashed it to the far pastures for another double. Ferguson came up with the fourth hit of the innings and the third run scampered across the plate. And the ball game was over then and there.

Muffitt Invincible

After that Muffitt was almost invincible. He held the Kingston bats to three hits over the rest of the pastime and scoreless as well. He struck out five and walked one.

In the meantime Freddie Stone was breezing along and although his mates committed a couple of bobbles behind him they were not serious. On the other side of the picture Batawa erred five times. Three walks and hit by pitchers started the Kingstonians off on the right foot in the second innings when Sheehan couldn't see the plate. And with two mates aboard Don McGregor promptly plastered a single to centre that scored two runs. Sheehan insisted on being gratuitous and in the first of the fourth he was sent to the showers.

Muffitt stepped into the breach and was greeted with four hits that scored three runs and that was that.

Rally Cut Short

Batawa rallied in the sixth when Ken Peacock hit for a double after two had been dismissed. Stone hit Bill Rankin and he took a free pass. Carm Cooke lashed out a single scoring Peacock but Muffitt popped out to the pitcher to end the splurge.

Two hits and a walk in the ninth threatened to extend the Kingston margin of victory but died when after the bases were loaded by Muffitt forcing Corkey to ground out, after two had been retired.

Carmen Cooke led the Batawa hit parade with three clouts with Gene Spencer getting a double and a single. Corkey, Connor and Mulholland had a double and a single each for the winners while Gord. Muffitt hit the only three-bagger of the day for the Shoemen.

Alfred Dubois Seeking Berth On Olympic Team

Winnipeg, June 16 — (CP) — Theothile Alfred Dubois is determined that no war will stop him from competing in the Olympic Games this time.

The 37-year-old Belgian - born Canadian sculler qualified in 1939 for the 1940 Olympics, but then came the Second World War — and the Olympics were off.

Sunday the Winnipegger leaves for St. Catharines, Ont., to seek a berth on this year's Olympic team and this time he's hopeful no war will interfere.

During the war years the well-built Winnipegger retired, but last year the lure of competition proved too strong and Dubois came back to best John B. Kelley, Jr., in the U. S. singles event at Detroit. Two weeks earlier Kelley had won the famed Diamond Sculls.

"Actually," said Theo, "that U. S. victory didn't look too good for me. Kelley went into the water when he stroked too deep, his clubmate, Joe McIntyre, fell off pace when he almost hit Kelley and Angyar Jr., collapsed at the finish."

His triumph over Kelley, however, wasn't the first time he's swept competition in North America. In 1941 he was awarded the Lou E. Marsh Trophy for outstanding achievement among Canadian athletes after taking both Canadian and United States singles' titles.

But today past victories mean nothing to him as he concentrates on gaining a berth on Canada's Olympic team. To get into trim he's been rowing daily up and down the Red River here, taking his shell out twice a day during the last week.

NATIONALIZATION OF PROTESTANT SCHOOLS IN HUNGARY

Budapest, June 16 — (AP) — Hungary's Protestant churches, the Calvinist and the Anglican, accepted Monday a government proposal to nationalize church - sponsored schools.

The Assembly of the two churches, which controlled relatively few schools, expressed the hope that "pending problems will be settled peacefully."

Roman Catholic opposition to the nationalization program continues. The Catholics have 4,813 schools, more than half the total in Hungary.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

BY GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

Well, at least it was a refreshing departure from the usual double-figure score that has been the custom of all loops hereabouts for the past couple of weeks. The scorer got a respite, and did not have to chase around searching for extra score sheets on which to record errors, double figure innings and what not.

• • •

Oley Olson's Kingston gang gave ample evidence that they will be a force to be reckoned with. Underdogs, by virtue of four straight defeats and the most of 'em by lopsided scores, the Olsen crew sprang to life, and behind the neat hurling of Freddie Stone put on a show that even the haughty batawans could not equal. The game at least proved that the Kingston gang can play baseball for they fashioned a neat job. And we hope Monseer Rodden is listening. It might have done his eyes good to see the lowly Locos perform.

• • •

Young Freddie Stone on the mound for the Lokes turn in a fine job. His fast ball was working to perfection, and his work in the clutches was all right. His mates played fine ball behind him in the field and the way the Kingston gang were travelling last night, they would have given any squad in the loop a battle. Hope you're tuned in, Cec.

• • •

It isn't usually we criticise a team coach or manager but will some one please tell us why the Batawa master-minds with the squad three runs down in the ninth, sent in Kennedy to bat for Carmen Cook? Cook according to the official score had three for three and was the first batter up. Yep, you guessed it. The gu ythey sent in to replace him promptly struck out. Muffit, cracked out a triple. And died on third as Stone retired the next two in order.

• • •

Thanks to the efforts of one-man, Speedy St. Louis, the baseball diamond at the Exhibition Grounds is rounding at last into some semblance of playing shape. The City Parks Board have greatly aided Speedy's efforts in the purchase of a power mower, and the outfield from now on will get the once-over-lightly quite often—and kept in a close-cropped condition. The infield is now in good condition and the park as a whole is shewing vast improvement over that which was evident a few weeks ago.

• • •

As this corner has often mentioned before, finance is the bugbear of any athletic organization, unless a "real sugar daddy" takes over the sponsorship. Teams in the Belleville Baseball League, and others too, have to keep careful count on the shekels if they want to break even, especially in these days when the box office is conspicuous by the absence of fans clamoring to lay down the price of admission.

• • •

Equipment costs money. Uniforms do not grow on apple trees. Bats and balls have to be paid for. And thereby hangs the theme of this piece. Of late many baseballs have been missing after being fouled over the grandstand. On one occasion, one squad lost as many as five new balls in the short space of two innings. Where they go is not definitely known, but it is a fact that the host of young moppets who dash to the rear of the stands after a ball is fouled, are not rushing home to help Mother wash the dishes, or Dad mow the lawn.

• • •

Baseballs cost in the neighborhood of $2.00 each. And a team that is struggling to make financial ends meet, cannot afford to lose a half-dozen of the pellets at each and every game. One squad in the league has partially solved the problem by, offering the youngsters a small cash remuneration for every fouled ball returned. One youngster collected $1.25 the other night, as a reward for his honesty.

• • •

But, managers complain, the loss still continues, and as a result clubs exchequers are suffering. Parents of the youngsters who retrieve the balls, could help out a lot by advising their impetuous offspring to return the balls after they clear the stands. After all, a youngster doesn't need over six new baseballs to last him a season, and team managers would greatly appreciate anything the parents can do along these lines.

• • •

What was suggested at a recent meeting of the Belleville Baseball League executive is really needed, if the powers-that-be or others can see their way clear to finance the proposition, which after all should not cost any great amount. That is a chicken wire netting erected on the southern edge of the roof of the grandstand, which would block at least the majority of the balls that are fouled in that direction. It would be a blessing in disguise to managers who are hewing closely to the financial ine.

• • •

Anything can happen in sport. The archives are plentifully sprinkled with unexpected incidents in practically every phase of athletics. But golf, perhaps has produced more fantastic situations than any other game extant. Take for instance the strange coincidence that took place at the Bay of Quinte links the other day.

• • •

Ted Turkington, Harry Ridley, Dick Burrows and Bill Bell were playing a foursome and Turkington lashed a drive towards the hole that landed some distance off the green. He chipped out of the rough and the ball rose to the green, bounced, rolled slowly toward the hole and disappeared. Now there's nothing sensational in a birdie like that, (the hole was a par four), but at least it was unexpected.

• • •

But don't go away. There's more to the story than that. On the second round, the quartet approached the same hole. Turkington drove the ball in the general direction of the green. The little white pill bounded into identically the same area as it did in the first round and came to rest a scant inch from the spot where its predecessor stopped. Again Turkington chipped out—and again the ball rose, bounded on the green, rolled slowly and disappeared into the cup. Two identical shots on the same hole by the same player in the same afternoon, Rather unusual, wot?

Regina, June 16 —(CP)—When rugged Tony Zale clubbed Rocky Graziano into submission in the third round of their middleweight championship bout last week, Dave (Regina Leader-Post) Dryburgh figured it was a good omen for Joe Louis who meets Joe Walcott June 23 in defence of his heavyweight crown.

"Zale probably has silenced the Louis-is-a-fat-old-man chanters," said Dave. "At 34 he made the birdies sing for a youngster like Rocky Graziano. So why can't Louis? He doesn't even have youth to conquer. Walcott became of voting age some considerable time ago."

Dryburgh saw no reason for believing Louis wouldn't use Zale's strategy.

"He'll go after the kayo early. The rock-a-by punch is still there at 34 but the old pins complain when asked to go the route."

Aside from a potent fist, Dryburgh figures another angle might help make life miserable for Walcott this next time.

Walcott "has had a lot of time to think about what the heavyweight championship will mean to his way of living for the rest of his days. The first time he was just out there swinging and hoping in spite of the we-knew-it-all-the-time tripe his supporters have been peddling."

Exit Graziano

In reflection, Dryburgh affirms Rocky's recent fight — his first and last defence of the middleweight crown— "should be the last we'll hear of Graziano for a spell."

Because of the shennanigans which drew ire of the boxing authorities on Rocky's head, this defeat might mean finis for him.

Dryburgh says that it was a bad show for Rocky when rain postponed the first bout.

Strong Napanee Squad Meets N. Electric Tonight

The league-leading Napanee squad of the Belleville Baseball League make their Belleville debut here tonight in a floodlight game against the rejuvenated Northern Electric squad. Walt. Gerow's crew are said to be a powerful aggregation and will be on hand to sweeten their win record. Northern Electric, on the other hand, have secured much needed reinforcements, and the game should be worth while watching. It gets under way at 8:30 and baseball fans should get out and see, at least, this smart Napanee aggregation in action, not to mention the Northern gang, who will be tough babies to beat tonight.

TO ALL CONSUMERS OF COCA-COLA

For almost three generations...since 1886...Coca-Cola has been a 5¢ product. Today you pay 7¢, the extra 2¢ being due solely to the two special wartime taxes imposed on soft drinks.

Newspaper commentaries, following the recent Federal Budget, outlined two main reasons given for the Government's decision not to remove certain excise taxes. One of these was summed up as follows:

> "There is no guarantee that if they (the taxes) were dropped the saving would be passed on to the consumer."

We are pleased to say that this does not apply to the special wartime taxes on Coca-Cola, because we continue to hold our traditional belief in a 5¢ price for our product. We have been and are now prepared to pass on to the consumer the full amount of these taxes, when removed. We will neither want nor seek any profits from the elimination of these taxes when they are removed.

With prices so much a matter of daily interest, you may be interested to know that our price remains exactly what it was before the war, with only the two wartime taxes added.

Coca-Cola is the same refreshing drink of fine quality which you have enjoyed through the years.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

The big tickets were running south and north. And this pair was pushing their bids to the limit while the luck was going their way. Opponents were getting groggy from the shellacking.

Typical of what was happening is the deal shown here:

♦8 4 2

WEST

♦Q J 10 3
♣A Q 10 6 4 3

SOUTH
♥K Q J 9
♣K 2

Bidding went like this:

South	North
1 H	3 H
4 NT	5 H
6 H	Pass

An immediate one-jump response in a suit makes three promises. It guarantees tricks enough to help make a game. It guarantees two sure tricks. If it is a takeout, a biddable suit is promised; if an assist, adequate support is promised.

How many tricks guarantee help for game? Six in all the cases except one. The exception is when the immediate one-jump response is an assist in a major suit. This promises five tricks.

With a major assist why are five tricks enough for a game? Because only ten tricks are needed when the decided trump suit is a major. And opener starts out with a promise of five.

Why are five tricks not enough help for game with a takeout to a major? Because it does not decide the trump suit. It may finally end in a minor for which a total of 11 tricks will be needed.

With six, south saw only 11 tricks. Therefore, his four notrump slam prober was a stretch. Five hearts reply thereto is Kibitzer convention for one ace and one king.

West led spade ten and this gave declarer his chance to take the 12 needed tricks. When luck pursues you and will not lose you, an epigram fits: to them that has gits.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, June 16 (AP) — Europe is now taking over as the No. 1 destination for Hollywood's star tourists.

There are good reasons for the migration: 1. Many stars are making films there. 2. European countries are encouraging noted visitors.

Among those now in Europe or heading there this summer are: Cary Grant, Ronald Colman, Rita Hayworth, Lana Turner, Clark Gable, Tyrone Power Mary Pickford, Buddy Rodgers, Sonja Henie, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., Fredric March, Louis Hayward, Hedy Lamarr, Orson Welles, Maria Montez, Jean Pierre Aumont, David Niven, Rex Harrison, Lilli Palmer, Charles Boyer, Jack Benny, Alice Faye, Phil Harris, Edgar Bergen, Tony Martin.

New Productions

John Wayne, who plans a film based on the life of Davy Crockett, has been beaten to the punch by Edward Small. The producer is now shooting "Indian Scout" in the heat of the Mojave desert. It stars George Montgomery as the legendary Texan.

John Garfield is quietly planning a revival of "Peer Gynt" for his Broadway appearance next season.

Ten Years Ago

Let's take a stroll down Nostalgia Alley and find what was going on in the movie world 10 years ago this week ... MGM announced it would make a movie out of Dale Carnegie's best-seller, "How to Win Friends and Influence People" (whatever happened to it?)...

The Hays office snipped anti-Nazi scenes of "Three Comrades" but "Blockade" dealt realistically with the Spanish Civil War ... A Cody, who., theatre advertised "seven features—can you take it?"...

Rudolph Valentino films were being revived ... Charlie Chaplin was battling with United States Artists (he still is)...

The country's box office was slumping and companies were shoving out re-issues to make money (sound familiar?)...

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 16 — (AP) — The lights went out, the boxing writers settled themselves more or less comfortably and the movie projector began to grind . . . Joe Louis shuffled forward and Jersey Joe Walcott moved away . . . After a minute or so of this Jersey Joe stood his ground and banged away with a right to Louis' temple and the champion was on the floor . . .

Down Again

Louis kept shuffling forward and, when he appeared all set to fling some punches, Jersey Joe would drop his hands and walk away . . . Then in the fourth round some real fighting developed and once more Louis hit the deck . . . The camera showed him looking bleary eyed and dazed when he got up but nothing more happened. You remembered Joe's comment: "If Gus Lesnevich had me down like Walcott did, he would have knocked me out." . . . But Walcott kept stepping back or moving sideways and the champ couldn't punch fast enough or move fast enough to tag him.

A Round and Around

The film flashed "round nine" and there was a buzz of comment around the room: "This is where Joe nearly had him," but as the action unfolded, it was Walcott who did most of the fighting . . . Finally Louis crowded his adversary into a corner and began flailing away, but the camera clearly showed how Walcott hunched his shoulders and rolled his head with every punch and came out unscathed.

Unhappy Ending

The movie showing, to "refresh" the writers' minds, didn't change anyone's opinion of the fight . . . It obviously showed Louis at his worst and Walcott was better than you had thought he was . . . If they repeat the act next week and Louis doesn't force the fighting, the return bout can be one of the dullest in history . . . .

Twin Setbacks Dump Rochester Into Fifth Place

(By The Associated Press)

The Wolves, who have been hounding manager Tommy Thomas and his Baltimore Orioles during most of the current International League season, are relenting a bit today.

Thomas' last-place Orioles won their second doubleheader of the season last night, beating Rochester Red Wings 10-0 and 3-0.

Lefty Bob Kuzava stopped the Wings on five hits in the first game. It was Kuzava's third victory as against eight setbacks.

The Orioles collected 14 hits off Rochester's Ray Yochim and Ed Green including homers by Bill Martin, Al Cihocki and Bill Barnacle.

Lyman Linde, who line Kuzava is on option to the Orioles from Cleveland Indians, gave up only one hit, Dick Cole's double in the fourth inning.

The twin setbacks dumped the Wings into fifth place, a half game behind Jersey City Giants who dropped a 4-2 decision to the front-running Montreal Royals.

Southpaw Johnny Van Cuyk scattered nine hits in going the route for the Royals who collected only five hits off Sam Webb.

Newark Bears defeated Buffalo Bisons, 7-4 to remain a game behind the Royals. Two-run doubles by Joe Collins and Jerry Coleman in the fourth and fifth innings decided the issue.

Syracuse's third-place Chiefs bowed 7-2 to the seventh - place Toronto Maple Leafs.

Veteran Jim Konstanty limited the Chiefs to five hits while his mates banged three Syracuse pitchers for 12 including Ed Sanicki's 11th homer of the season in the seventh inning.

Liverpuddlians Defeat Ulster United by 5-1

(By The Canadian Press)

The famed Liverpool touring soccer team downed Toronto's Ulsters 5-1 before more than 17,000 fans in Toronto Tuesday night, stretching their international exhibition winning streak to eight straight. Jack Balmer copped two counters for the winners with William Fagan, Albert Stubbins and Bill Liddell booting home singles, Paul Hric notched Toronto's lone goal on a penalty shot. England's pride displayed close checking and passing throughout.

Dinny Pails, former Australian Davis Cup star, and Don Budge, veteran court king from Hollywood, gained quarter-finals Tuesday at Forest Hills, N.Y., in the United States professional tennis championships. Pails downed Wayne Sabin of Bretton Woods, N.H., while Budge conquered Jerry Adler of White Plains, N.Y. Favored Jack Kramer of Los Angeles, Frank Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., and Pancho Segura of Ecuador are also in the quarters.

Nearly 1,000 athletes will compete in Montreal next Saturday in the No. 1 zone of the Olympic track and field trials, striving for a place in the Dominion finals next month when Canada's representatives at the Olympic games will be chosen. Those finishing first and second in the zone trial events will automatically qualify for the final trials and the Dominion championships in Montreal July 9 and 10.

For a man who says he "expects to win quick" heavyweight champion Joe Louis still is shockingly easy to hit with a straight right hand. This chink in the Brown Bomber's armor was quite evident Tuesday at his training camp in Pompton Lake, N.J., as he went four rounds with assorted sparmates, in preparation for his title defence against Joe Walcott at Yankee Stadium on June 23. In an interview before the workout, Louis again blamed his poor December fight on drying out to take off weight. He assured some 40 reporters he would not repeat the error. Before the drill he said he weighed 215, a weight he hopes to hold until ring time.

Hard - hitting Mike Garlashof of Hamilton gained revenge from Billy Tremblett of London in London Tuesday night when he scored a split decision in five rounds in the main bout of a London fight card. Garlashof had dropped a decision to Tremblett in the Olympic boxing trials a few weeks ago. Jack Tiller of London gained a verdict over Alfie Hicks of Brantford and Curly Moulton of London stopped Reg Prince of Brantford in the second round in two other fights on the card.

Control Methods For Wild Mustard

At this time of the year, many grain fields in some localities in Ontario are beginning to show the evidence of that bright yellow robber called mustard, reports R.K. Goodin, field man of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. This weed he says shades the grain and competes with the growing crop for plant food and moisture, thereby reducing grain yields. Further, mustard is the host plant in part of the life cycle which spreads black rot in turnips.

Suggested cultural practices to control the weed are given by K.S. Murphy, fieldman of the Crops, Seeds and Weeds Branch. Mr. Murphy advises a plan as follows; give thorough and repeated after harvest cultivation to destroy successive crops of seedlings; put in a hoed crop, either roots or corn the following spring, then sow with grain the next year and seed down with clover. A light infestation in the grain may be controlled by hand pulling and spraying or dusting is now practical.

Use of 2,4-D

With the advent of 2,4-D chemical weed killer, mustard in wheat, oats, barley and flax can be controlled without injuring the grain crop, if properly applied.

It is not recommended where fields are seeded to clover. Least damage to corn has occurred when corn fields have been sprayed before the corn is six inches high. Mustard in its early stages, before flower bud formation, may be killed with 2,4-D at the rate of one quarter pound per acre. In flower bud to early bloom stage, one half pound per acre is required. Several types of low volume, low pressure machines are now on the market, some of which are advertised to apply as low as 2 1-2 gallons per acre, and to spray up to forty acres per hour. For rates this low it is necessary to have the proper type of nozzle, and keep the tractor speed constant, with no overlapping. At the rate of one quarter pound per acre, it will cost approximately 75 to 85 cents per acre for chemical, with the cost of application extra.

C.C.F. to Appeal Against Two Saskatchewan Court Judgments

By NORMAN CRIBBENS
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, June 16 — (CP) — Two appeals by the C. C. F. government of Saskatchewan against Saskatchewan court judgments are to be heard by the judicial committee of the Privy Council— highest court of appeal in the British Commonwealth— towards the end of this month.

Both appeals have been brought despite the fact that the C. C. F. is opposed to the principle of the Privy Council having the right to decide such appeals. The Privy Council itself ruled in January, 1947, that Canada has the right to abolish appeals to the council if she chooses.

The first appeal will decide whether section six of the Farm Security Act, 1944, is ultra vires of Saskatchewan legislature. The Act is designed to make the mortgage-holder take the same risks as the farmer — sharing losses in bad years and profits in good years — and to prevent debt accumulation and foreclosures resulting from drought and depression.

In the second appeal Saskatchewan Labor Relations Board is in dispute with the John East Iron Works of Saskatoon and the Attorney-Generals of the Saskatchewan, Ontario and Nova Scotia. The Privy Council will give a ruling as to whether section five (E) of the Trade Union Act, 1944, is ultra vires of Saskatchewan legislature.

This act, passed at a special session of Saskatchewan legislature, guarantees the right of workers to form unions without interference, outlaws company unions and provides penalties for unfair labor practices, whether committed by employee or employer.

It also establishes a Labor Relations Board comprising a chairman, two employer and two employee representatives and two public representatives.

Counsel's arguments in Privy Council appeals are addressed to a panel of six or seven law lords sitting around a horseshoe-shaped table at No. 11 Downing Street. The lords, in joint possession of hundreds of years of experience at bench and bar, sometimes interject with penetrating legal questions. Their interest in the proceedings is strictly confined to the law.

Among his 500 pounds of ancient writings are newspapers telling of the execution of France's Louis XVI, the Battle of Waterloo and the start of the United States Civil War.

Picton

Bloomfield Man Attacked By Infuriated Bull

Picton — Attacked by an infuriated bull on Sunday evening, Elgin Vader, Bloomfield, narrowly escaped serious injuries by hanging to a chain in the bulls nose ring. He was dragged three hundred feet in this fashion until the bull passed the fence and Vader managed to roll underneath it. When Max Piper, with whom he had been bringing in the cows, arrived with the aid of a neighbor, he found Vader unconscious.

The incident occurred when Vader, attempting to chase a stray cow from the field which held the bull came within six feet of the bull. The bull charged and Vader slipped on the wet grass while trying to run for the fence. The efforts of Max Piper to divert the bull were unsuccessful and he ran to a neighboring farm to get aid.

Vader grabbed a short chain hanging from the bull's nose ring as the animal bunted him, thereby restraining it from charging. The bull backed up over the distance of three hundred feet, dragging Vader along the rough ground. When the bull passed the fence, Vader released himself and rolled under the fence.

When Piper and the neighbor, Homer Talcott arrived, they found Vader unconscious and rushed him to the hospital. Attended by Dr. K. E. McQueen, Vader was found to be suffering from hemmorhages in both legs and torn cartileges.

Yu'An Hee See Laughs

By Sax Rohmer

"You are admiring the opals?" The Greek's voice seemed to come from a great distance. Kearney pulled himself together, and:

"Yes," he said, and met the unblinking gaze of the man's dark eyes. "If I were buying opals, I should buy these."

"You would be wise. But you know Mr. Lung's methods of business?"

"Yes. Even if I wanted to buy, I haven't the cash!" He was cool nough now. He added, "These sapphires are indifferent. I'm sorry."

The Greek replaced the tray and:

"Perhaps you will honor us with a visit, Mr. Bronsen, next time you visit England," he suggested. "Special requirements such as yours cannot always be met at short notice."

He led them to an unlighted room beyond which were more descending stairs.

"What have you here?" Norwich asked curiously—"in these cases?"

Kearney was slightly ahead when the Greek paused and looked back as Kearney observed a little memo-book, bound in green leather, lying upon the first step....

Without attracting attention, he stooped quickly, picked it up, and slipped it in his pocket. Here, perhaps was evidence!

In the act of turning to rejoin Norwich, who was examining a massive salver,—something — a slight sound — prompted Kearney to glance across the shadow-haunted expanse of the big room below.

It opened directly out of the lobby of the Bowwab and contained miscellaneous bulky exhibits; a vast place in which only that one light was burning. Its dim reflection touched a distant landing.

And on this landing a woman stood!

She was encased, mummy-like, in a long, clinging fur coat of what Kearney took to be brown ermine. Her blue-black hair was brushed straight back from her brow; her small, chiselled features resembled a pale cameo, but her lips were poppy red. Unfathomable eyes were represented only by straight, nearly horizontal shadows; and one singularly long, white, ghastly hand rested on her hip.

He stared—stared again....and the apparition had gone!

Had she been watching him? Had she seen him pick up the book? Or had she any real existence at all?—was she a product of his excited imagination?....

In a soundproof room, well but simply furnished as an office, a man sat before a large desk. The room was in darkness except for a shaded lamp upon his desk. Near to it, back against the wall, was a mechanism which at first glance one would have taken for a radio set. The seated man, his bowed back to the room, was engaged in manipulating this apparatus; and suddenly, as a result of manipulation, a voice cut into the silence:

"I hope to see you again on your next visit, Mr. Bronsen," said the voice. It was that of the Greek.

"Sure thing. I'll be here." That was Kearney.

There came a creaking sound of footsteps and the slam of a door. The visitors had gone. Indeed, at this moment, were crossing the little courtyard and being ushered out into the street by the sinister Arab bowwab.

Tthe man at the table disconnected the apparatus and swung about in his revolving chair. A soft black hat lay upon the carpet, with a fur-lined overcoat having a deep astrakhan collar. This man's skin resembled the peel of a dried lemon; his jet-black hair was stretched back from a receding forehead. Half-closed eyes were like slits in the yellow face, and his lips were red and beautifully formed, their redness accentuated by a small, black, bow-moustache which arched above them.

It was a smiling face, but something in it inspired terror in the man upon whom those half-closed eyes were turned. This latter was a stalwart Chinaman, moderately well dressed in European clothes, who might, at some time, have been a sailor. He had the mask-like, immobile features of his race and calling. Only by a slight movement of small, sinewy hands, did he display his discomfort.

Slowly, the slit-like eyes in the yellow face of the one who watched him, opened, and the red lips smiled.

Fully opened, those eyes were terrifying. Some might have found it hard to define wherein their terror lay. Except that they seemed to be super-normally bright, they were, in an animal fashion, fine eyes. Their dreadful quality consisted in one simple difference: their whites were really white—whereas that part of the normal human eye is invariably tinted. The result, being phenomenal, was horrifying.

The man in the revolving chair spoke slowly, and his voice, like his eyes, was super-normal. He was a big man for a Chinese, and fleshy....but he spoke in a key in which Caruso sang.

"What did I tell you, my friend? Your mean soul said, "It is business." I said, 'It is a plot.'

"I was considering Excellency's interests."

"And this," continued the flute-like voice, "is how you consider them. You admit a disguised police officer and a stranger, tonight—to-night, above all other nights!"

"I believed——".

"I never accept excuses. Ah!"

A muffled bell rang.

"Open the door. Here is Polods."

The Chinaman opened a blaire-covered door, admitting the immaculate Greek. As he entered:

"You were wrong Jo Lung," he said to the one who had opened for him. He turnd to the man at the desk. "Excellency was right. The card was certainly obtained by fraud. Of one man I can say nothing, but the other was a detective."

"Ah!" came the reed voice. And the speaker stood up, his eyes half-closing again. "I am sure of it....I was listening to every word!" He pointed to the apparatus on the table.

"No harm has been done, my lord," the Greek continued. "I was cautious. It is regrettable, but it was remedied."

The baleful glance of those half-shut eyes was directed again upon Jo Lung. "Tonight, it is more than regrettable," the reed voice declared. "This is the second mistake of a disastrous day. The first was the shipment of valuable goods in the Wallaroo. My plans, my careful plans—to be destroyed by fools!"

"Notice of change came so late."

The dim bell rang again. Polodos opened the padded door, and a woman came in.

Her blue-black hair gleamed like a raven's wing. Her long dark eyes were ever so slightly oblique, and she had a petulant red mouth, small and delicately chiselled features, and held her head disdainfully high. Her long, slender neck rose above the collar of the brown ermine coat, which she held tightly about her in a manner to have reminded a critical observer of the once admired Rossetti type. Her complexion was peak-like but dark, and silk-clad ankles and tiny shoes peeping beneath the fringe of a black lace frock had a dainty and patrician elegance.

She was imperially petite, alluring yet menacing. The Greek and Jo Lung stepped aside deferentially as:

"Yu'an," she said, and the voice of this cold woman had a deep, warm, caressing note, "who were those men? I saw them from the stair."

"Come in and shut the door," the Chinaman replied. "Did either of them see you?"

"No, I don't think so."

"Do you—suspect them?"

Polodus solicitously passed her a card. "This is the introduction they brought, my lady, and Mr. Bernardson had advised us that they were coming."

The woman took the card, glanced at it, and tossed it onto a side table.

Perhaps I was wrong," she said. "Are you ready to leave, Yu'an?"

"I have a telephone call to make to the Wallaroo," he replied. "There has been much bungling. I must speak to the doctor."

He stooped, dipping his hands, a plump, waxen hand with tapering fingers, into an inside pocket of the heavy fur coat which lay at his feet. Suddenly he glanced up, the china white of his eyes glaring.

"I removed my coat as I entered the warehouse," he said, "and carried it here. I have dropped my notebook." Something in those words broke through the high disdain of the woman watching him. Where the eyes of Yu'an had gleamed whitely, hers, in opening, grew black, as though the iris distended.

"Your notebook?"

Yu'an, clutching the arms of the chair, continued to watch her, his drooping lids slowly, slowly covering those ominous eyes. The others were watching her also.

"I said so. It contains .... our deaths warrants!"

The woman clasped her slender throat—a curious gesture. "Ah," she cried—"I am blind! It must be! I saw one of those men pick up a small notebook! It was like yours—it must have been yours! On the steps from the Silver Room."....

Followed a moment of tense silence. All were watching the Greek.

"You saw this, Polodus?" Yu'an whispered in flute-like notes.

The Greek was very pale. "I had stepped back. I remember turning up the lights on the stair."

Yu'an, his eyes now apparently quite closed, turned in the woman's direction. "Open the door, go down to those stairs, quickly, quickly, and tell me if you deceived yourself."

Some, but not all her disdain deserting her, the woman turned, opened the door, and swept out of the office.

Results of Strike Vote Will Be Complete June 21

Ottawa, June 17 —(CP)— Results of a strike vote among 112,000 members of 18 international brotherhoods employed on Canadian railways are expected to be completed by June 21, union officials said here Wednesday. Meanwhile officials of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other transport workers (C.C.L.) announced that a general strike among their 28,000 members could be in full effect across the country in "a few days."

The C.B.R.E. finished its ballot last month, members voting 98 per cent in favor of walking out unless a settlement was reached with the railways.

A C.B.R.E. official said breakdown in labor department mediation attempts last week had been caused by refusal of the railroads to move beyond the transportation commissioners recommendation of a general wage increase of seven cents an hour for the 140,000 men affected.

On the government front, there was no action in the strike as Labor Minister Mitchell awaited a report from Mr. Justice J. C. A. Cameron of the Exchequer Court, its mediator in the latest proceedings.

Explanation Asked Why Voters Left Off

Kirkland Lake, June 17. (CP) —Wednesday night residents of Virginiatown called a non-political meeting and asked the elected representative for South Cochrane riding, W. J. Grummett (C.C.F.) to give an explanation why almost 300 voters were left off the voters' list.

Mr. Grummett told the citizens, who packed the public school hall, it was not the election officials who were to blame but the Election Act in existence today which, he said, "in its present state is the result of numbers of amendments and additions to the original act made from time to time to meet some current situation, and that in consequence it contains contradictory sections and is so complicated that it is practically impossible for a temporary election official to grasp its meaning and intelligently carry out its provisions."

The meeting drew up a resolution requesting Mr. Grummett to take action at the department of municipal affairs demanding explanation of the decision handed down Friday before Election day that no voter could be sworn in at the polls in unorganized territory.

Another resolution requested Mr. Grummett to appeal to the department of Municipal Affairs on behalf of the citizens of McGarry Township to establish a municipal government elected by the people as soon as possible "since the present system of being governed by three appointed trustees was unsatisfactory."

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, June 17 (CP)—Synopsis: This morning's weather is generally clear over the province and temperatures are slightly below normal in all regions. On Friday over Northern Ontario skies will be clear and it will be a little warmer, while over Southern Ontario increasing cloud during the day will be followed by showers over western Lake Erie region in the evening.

BERNADOTTE GOES TO TEL AVIV FOR TALK WITH JEWS

Promises Military Situation Will be Restored to Same Position as Before Truce

Cairo, June 17 — (AP) — Count Folke Bernadotte took off for Tel Aviv today to talk with Israeli leaders about permanent peace plans for Palestine. The first week of a 28-day armistice ends tonight.

Just before he left, a letter he wrote to Premier Mahmoud Fahmy Nokrashy Pasha was made public promising the military situation in the Holy Land will be restored to what it was when the truce took effect.

In Tel Aviv, the United Nations mediator intends to ask Israeli authorities whether they plan to send consultants to his headquarters on Rhodes. He said the Arabs have promised to send four experts there next Monday.

Abdel Rahman Azzam Pasha, secretary of the league, emphasized that the experts will not represent Arab countries, but merely will supply Bernadotte with data and documents he may need.

Bernadotte pointed out that sending of experts to Rhodes does not mean there will be a roundtable conference attended by both Jews and Arabs. The Arabs already have turned down any such talks.

The Israel government in Tel Aviv, meanwhile, accused Britain of diverting fuel oil to Arab states by shutting off the pipeline from Arab countries to Haifa.

In a statement condemning the pipeline shutdown, the Foreign Office said the Israeli government "is becoming more and more convinced that what is happening is not just a commercial readjustment, but definite part and parcel of a scheme to intervene, to put it mildly, in the Jewish war effort and to load the dice against us."

In Jerusalem an official Jewish source said Wednesday night that movement of the official United Nations food convoy toward Jerusalem has been delayed, "owing to inaccurate information given by the Arab Legion to the truce commission."

In Amman, capital of Trans-Jordan, Jean Courvoisier, international Red Cross representative, said Wednesday night that 1,700 Arab women and children will be released tomorrow from Jewish custody. They now are interned at Tantura, south of Haifa.

38 Families Driven Out Into Streets

Toronto, June 17 (CP)—Thirty-eight families were driven from two north-central (Bathurst and St. Clair) apartment buildings today by a $200,000 fire that guttted the adjacent Farmers' Market building and a garage, and damaged several other business premises.

Seven firemen suffered cuts from flying glass while fighting the blaze which delayed thousands of downtown office workers on their way to work.

Two automobiles were destroyed in a garage at the rear of the building. More than a dozen other automobiles were wheeled out in time.

Hundreds of passers-by jammed streets as the roof of the building collapsed and flames and yellow smoke shot high in the air.

The fire is believed to have started with an explosion in the garage.

Two hours after the fire began, firemen had the blaze under control for a time. Fires broke out anew, however, in the ruins of a large second-storey bowling alley and squads of firemen continued to fight the blaze.

Firemen were warned on their arrival that there were 60 gallons of highly-inflammable liquid polish in the back of the bowling alley. A special squad of firemen forced their way through the flames and smoke to the storage room and carried the cans of polish to safety.

Fire department officials said that if the fire had reached the cans, the whole city block would have been destroyed.

CUTS SWATH OF DEATH

Gate City, Va., June 17 (AP)—A speeding automobile cut a swath of death through a group of pedestrians returning from a church service near Lancaster, Va., about three miles north of here Wednesday night, leaving 3 persons dead and six injured.

The dead were: Mrs. Anna Mae Johnson, 58; Bill Peters, 17; and Wilma Jean Bowen, 20.

The driver of the car, G. G. Dean, 20, was quoted by police as saying he was blinded by lights.

50 CHINESE ARRESTED IN BANGKOK

Bangkok, June 17 — (AP) — Siamese intelligence agents arrested 50 Chinese Wednesday in raids on Chinese secret societies here. Those arrested, charged with engaging in political activities, included 20 teachers.

Pilot of Future May Lie Down To Guide Plane, Medical Group Told

Toronto, June 17 (CP)— The pilot of the not-so-distant future will take things easy.

Among devices and discoveries displayed at the 19th annual conference of the Aero Medical Association here is a flexible nylon bed designed to replace the conventional seat of present day aircraft.

The bed provides a partial answer to the problem which faces all flyers who try to control planes at supersonic speeds—the "G" effect.

"G" is the forces experienced by a human being when he makes a sudden change in direction or speed such as pulling out of a dive in an aircraft.

The average person can withstand a force of only five "G" seated in an upright position. After that, so much blood is forced from the brain, blackout results.

With the flying bed, the occupant can take as much as 14 "G" and, in addition, can enjoy maximum relaxation during straight and level flight.

A wartime invention by a Canadian—Dr. W. R. Franks, director of the R.C.A.F. Institute of Aviation Medicine in Toronto — the Franks "G" suit is also on view. It is a pressurized flying suit which has roughly the same effect as the flying bed in counteracting the results of rapid acceleration.

Wednesday V. M. Downey, F. V. Lorentzen and E. H. Lambert, all doctors from the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., read a paper on the effect of the crouch position with respect to "G." It showed that higher protection could be achieved in this position. Experts attending the convention believe the pilot of the U. S. XS-1 rocket plane, which is reported to have travelled faster than sound, used the crouch position.

MARTIN FAVORS CONTRIBUTORY INSURANCE PLAN

Best Way to Provide Assistance to Cripples

Ottawa, June 17. (CP)—The best way to provide assistance for incurables and cripples is to establish a contributory disability insurance plan, the Commons was told Wednesday night.

The opinion came from Health Minister Martin, who told the Chamber during study of his departmental estimates that those who could not pay their share under such a plan would have to be assisted by the State.

Replying to requests from opposition members for assistance to incurables and cripples unable to earn a living, he said the question was receiving his "personal" attention. It was "nocontestable" that those people should be helped.

He hoped before he left the Health Department to be able to announce that a plan for the assistance of incurables and cripples had been worked out.

Mr. Martin also reported his aim was to bring into effect a system of contributory Old Age Pensions. However, constitutional matters entered into the picture and the federal government would have to have certain rights transferred from the provinces in order to make the plan operative.

Garfield Case (PC-Grey North) suggested the pension might better be called a "retirement allowance".

Julian Ferguson (PC-Simcoe North) said the means test should be removed on pensions to the Blind.

Mr. Martin said it appeared to be generally agreed that the Blind should come under legislation of their own.

$275,000,000 Paid Out

Dealing with family allowances, he said $275,000,000 had been paid out since the scheme became effective in 1945.

Some 3,500,000 children in Canada received the allowances. Another 50,000 were ineligible for various reasons, including the fact their parents were immigrants and had not yet established the required resident qualifications.

Reports from all provinces indicate an increase in school attendance since the payments became effective.

Garfield Case said he did not like the compulsory feature of the allowances and suggested that families earning $3,000 or more a year be given the choice as to whether or not they wanted to take the payments.

Julian Ferguson said that the government should reduce from three years to six months the period which a newly arrived family must wait before they are entitled to allowances.

Adopt Legislation

Before taking up the health estimates, the Chamber adopted several pieces of legislation.

One was a bill authorizing the Canadian National Railway to issue securities totalling some $85,000,000 to meet capital expenditures and retire certain minor obligations.

The second provided for reconstruction of the Board of Transport Commissioners to give statutory effect to the appointment of Mr. Justice M. B. Archibald of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia as Chairman of the Board.

The third establishes a commission to undertake a revision of Canada's laws.

Will Increase Salary

In the opening stages, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said it was 'very unlikely" that Parliament would be asked to approve the Geneva Trade agreement this session.

LEAVES OFFICE MONDAY

New Delhi, June 17 — (AP) — Earl Mountbatten will leave office as governor-general of India Monday.

Sir C. P. Rajagopalachari, the first Indian to be named to the post, will be sworn in that day as 22nd governor-general. Lord Mountbatten played a leading part in advancing the time of India's independence and in settling the delicate problem of partition.

DENIES CHARGES

San Jose, Costa Rica, June 17 — (AP) — A government spokesman denied Wednesday charges by the Dominican Republic that Jose Figueres, president of the Junta now ruling Costa Rica, is connected with a plot to aid subversive movements in other Latin-American countries. The Dominican Republic charged Tuesday night that a "Caribbean Legion" is being formed in Cuba and may be "destined for an attempted overthrow of the governments of Honduras, Nicaragua and the Dominican Republic."

Price of Beer Advanced By Liquor Board

Toronto, June 17 (CP) — The price of beer in Ontario has been increased by 22 cents a 24-pint case.

Liquor Commissioner William Griesinger, announcing the first increase in the beer price since 1943, said the rate for a 24-pint case would be $3.75 instead of $3.50, effective tomorrow. At the same time the refund on empties would be boosted to 75 cents from 72 cents.

Mr. Griesinger said that at the new rates beer still could be bought for less in Ontario than in any other province.

Some quarters here expressed belief the size of glasses for draft sale of beer would be reduced to 8 1-2 ounces from the present nine ounces.

VIOLENCE WANES IN FRENCH STRIKE, MORE QUIT JOBS

25 Towns Hit by Surge and Likely 100,000 Will be Out of Work

Paris, June 17 (AP) — More than 25 towns have been hit by a surge of strikes snowballing across France and there are indications that 100,000 Frenchmen will be off the job by tonight.

At least 50,000 workers were idle Wednesday, most of them in sympathy with strikers at Clermont-Ferrand, who were tossed out of a tire factory Wednesday morning by police and state troopers.

The rightist press accused the Communist-dominated Confederation Generale Du Travail of taking orders from the Russian-backed Cominform.

The Communist paper Humanite and the radical Franc-Tireur accused the government of beating up strikers in an effort to divert public attention from the real issue—failure of the government to lower living costs.

Dispatches from the tire capital of Clermont-Ferrand this morning said conditions there were relatively quiet.

The big Michelin tire factory still is occupied by strikers, but the barricades were deserted at nightfall, a dispatch said.

Strikes have been called in metal trades, printing shops, tobacco companies, rubber factories and mines. Most demands are for a 20-per-cent increase in minimum salaries.

Wave Reaching Paris

First evidence that the strike wave is reaching Paris came Wednesday when 4,000 railway workers at Villeneuve-Triage staged a 30-minute sympathy walk-out. The town is 10 miles from the French capital.

Similar demonstrations were staged at Colmar, at the textile mills of Roane and at the government arsenal at Limoges.

In Marseille 5,000 metal workers quit work. The strike began as a sympathy demonstration but grew into a demand for a 20-per-cent wage increase.

The strikes also spread through the towns of Tarbes, Belfort, Metz Strasbourg, Saint Eloy, Brassac, St. Etienne, Angers, Quimper and Douai.

Although the current strike epidemic was following the same pattern as the strikes which rocked France six months ago when 3,000,00 workers left their jobs, veteran observers voiced doubt it would reach the same proportions.

At Riom, just north of Clermont-Ferrand, workers affiliated with the confederation walked out in sympathy with the Bergougnan employees. Others, members of the Christian Workers Federation, joined the walkout movement by starting their annual vacations.

In France, many factories shut down for the vacation period and employees all take their leaves at once.

At La Seyne, about 150 carpenters and mechanics struck at the Mediterranean foundry.

DIVING PARTY TO SEARCH

Halifax, June 17 (CP) — An R. C. A. F. Lancaster will take off from here today for Trenton with a Canadian Navy diving party to search for the Vampire jet plane which crashed in Lake Ontario Wednesday.

In charge of the party is Cpo. John Brown of Halifax. Cpo. Bert Duke, Halifax, and Ls. Carl Vaningerstine, Montague, P.E.I., are the other divers. Assisting them will be Ab. Patrick O'Neil of Gananoque.

STRIKERS TO WEAR MASKS IF C.S.L. VESSELS ARMED

Two Dozen Masks Sent to Cornwall

Toronto, June 17 (CP)— Gas masks are the Canadian Seamen's Union's answer to the arming of Canada Steamship Lines vessels with tear gas equipment.

Michael Jackson, Great Lakes director of the union which called a strike June 5 against five lines which refuse to sign contracts with the union, said Wednesday night that two dozen gas masks had been sent to strikers in Cornwall.

Canada Steamship Lines is the largest company in dispute with the union. The others are Sarnia Steamships, Colonial Steamships, Northwest Steamships and Transit Tankers. All have refused to deal with the C.S.U. on grounds it has Communists among its leaders.

The Teamsters' Union (A.F.L.) has pledged "100 per cent support" to the C.S.U. and has ordered its members not to move goods from dock sheds picketed by the C.S.U. Movements of goods continued here Wednesday, however.

Ships of the five lines are sailing with crews recruited from the Royal Canadian Lake Seamen's Union (Ind.). Capt. N. J. Reoch, C.S.L. operations manager, said all his company's ships were running.

President Critical

Harry Davis, C.S.U. president, Wednesday night termed Capt. Reoch's threat to use tear gas and guns in case of attacks on C.S.L. ships "a demonstration of industrial gangsterism at its worst."

C.S.U. men persuaded the 17-man crew of the Saracen, an Inland Lines Company freighter, to leave the ship at Welland, Wednesday night. Police said C.S.U. pickets boarded the vessel during the afternoon in an unsuccessful attempt to take off the crew and stoned a constable who chased them ashore.

A charge that Toronto police officers were "acting as personal guards to scabs and strikebreakers" was made by Dewar Ferguson of the C.S.U. in a letter to Toronto City Council.

More than 20 jeering C.S.U. pickets taunted crew members of the freighter Superior when she reached Goderich, Wednesday night with a load of grain. Provincial police kept close watch on the demonstrators.

Milton Nuttall, C.S.U. business agent, and Eugene Bellefrontaine, a C.S.U. organizer, were released from Cornwall jail Wednesday night after bail totalling $5,000 was posted. They were among a group of six C.S.U. members who face a total of 62 charges arising from a weekend battle between C.S.U. and C.L.S.U. men. The remaining four still are behind bars.

Boy Evangelist Is Stoical

Indianapolis, June 17 — (AP) — Little David Walker, 13-year-old evangelist, sat stoically Wednesday through testimony on his parents' petition for his return to their custody.

David's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Walker, sobbed at times as she pleaded for his return. He has been under the guardianship of James Dawson, Indianapolis lawyer.

Rev. Raymond Hoekstra of Indianapolis, with whom David has appeared at some of the country's big tabernacles, testified the boy had "the best in food and very good clothing."

Mrs. Walker disagreed and said "I found him with dirty underwear and his teeth not brushed."

55-Bell Rainbow Bridge Carillon, High Over Falls, Heard First Time

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 17—(CP)—After more than a year's delay, the 55-bell Rainbow Bridge carillon will peal today for the first time. The honor of playing at the debut of the Dominion's greatest, and possibly most-publicized set of bells will fall to a Pennsylvania carilloneur, Prof. Robert Kleinschmidt.

The carillon, erected in the Rainbow tower, 135 feet above the boiling Niagara River, has taken more than two years to install, at a cost of $100,000. Its great bells, weighing from eight pounds to eight tons, were hand forged in England.

The bells were first scheduled to play in June 1947, but their grand opening was delayed when an inscription on one of the bells became the centre of a Dominion-wide controversy.

The dispute arose over a phrase in the inscription, "In grateful memory of our nations' leaders, Winston Spencer Churchill and Franklin Delano Roosevelt." Critics said the inscription was an affront to Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

A bitter verbal and legal duel ensued which ended ultimately on the floor of the House of Commons, and resulted in the dismissal of the three Canadian members of the Niagara Falls bridge commission by the Ontario government. The new commission originally voted to have the names erased from the bell, but subsequently decided to let the inscription remain.

Ottawa Man Found Shot to Death, Police Check Note

Suit Jacket Carefully Placed Over Head and Shoulders

Ottawa, June 17. (CP)—Saul Torontow, Ottawa fruit dealer, was found shot to death in nearby Rockcliffe today, his suit jacket placed carefully over his head and upper portions of his body.

A note scrawled in pencil was found in his automobile, beside which the body was found. Police are checking the handwriting but said it was too early to indicate whether the case was murder.

The body was found on what is called the "old Rockcliffe Speedway", unfamiliar by that name even to most natives. It is situated near the R.C.M.P. barracks, not far from Rockcliffe Air Station in Rockcliffe Park at the city's eastern edge.

It was discovered by John Brown, who was cutting grass in the park. Brown thought the man was asleep, but found a heavy automatic on the grass beside the figure and a bullet hole in the head. He reported his discovery at the R. C. M. P. barracks nearby.

On the seat of the automobile, police found the note, written on yellow paper. It read: "Goodbye, forgive me everybody. May God have mercy on my soul." A torn-open paper carton of cartridges and a leather pistol holster were found beside the note.

The man's jacket disclosed a diary containing what apparently were business transactions.

Allege Bear Is Ill-Treated

Hamilton, June 17 (CP) — A charge of ill treating a bear has been laid against Frank Hall of Rockton, who for some time has been using the animal to attract motorists to use his gas station. The case is scheduled to be heard in magistrate's court Hamilton, on Monday.

It is alleged that inspectors from the C.P.C.A. ordered Mr. Hall to take the bear off an 11-foot chain and place it in a cage. This has been done, apparently, but the cage instead of being 200 square feet in size, as called for on the back of the permit Mr. Hall procured in order to keep the bear, is only eight by ten.

Mr. Woodward said that both management and labor have a common interest in maintaining a high level of prosperity in Canada and that "this common interest transcends in importance all of the points on which differences have existed."

Los Angeles Couple Pleased With Canada

Tourists passing through the city en route to summer camps express many opinions about Canada and their varied reactions are often quite interesting.

One couple from Los Angeles were spotted outside one of the local restaurants and were loud in their praise of Canada and Canadian ways. The people are so friendly they stated. They were very impressed with the Bay of Quinte. Such a quantity of water is a marvellous sight they stated. Californians are "water conscious" these days, particularly when a fine of $300.00 is levied for washing one's car and dishwater is poured on the flowers in order to conserve the water supply.

With its seasonal operation commencing officially on the first of the month, the city tourist camp on Dundas Street East, is already taking in the appearance of a tourist trailer camp which appeals both to passing motorists and to residents of the city.

Caretaker Ernest Dainard is doing a splendid job in keeping the camp in a neat and tidy condition. The grass is kept neatly mowed and the various buildings are maintained in spick and span shape.

Operated under the direction of Tourist and Publicity Chairman Alderman Claude Tice, the camp grounds this year have additional tables and benches for the accommodation of those taking lunches. According to Alderman Tice the revenue from the tourist camp operation pays for its maintenance.

Dane Thinks Canadians Are "Cold and Smug"

A native of Denmark drove into the city last evening en route to Montreal. He stated that he had been four months in Canada and found the people cold and smug. He evidently hasn't had much success with the Canadian girls as he stated that they seemed aloof and disinterested. The reason for this he stated is that Canadian men do not put their women on a pedestal whereas the Danes do. Therefore, he concluded, Canadian women are afraid of men and assume this unfriendly attitude.

He did, however, think that Canada is the most beautiful country in the world and drove 30 miles an hour from Niagara Falls to Belleville completely spellbound by the scenery. "How can Canadians be the way they are, surrounded by so much beauty?" he moaned.

J. Douglas Eaton Named Physical Director at "Y"

Another addition to the staff of the Y.M.C.A. has been announced. A recent graduate of the School of Physical and Health Education of the University of Toronto, J. Douglas Eaton becomes director of Physical Education in the local Association. A native of St. John's Newfoundland, Eaton comes to the Belleville "Y" following a brilliant college career. He won a bronze "T" (Toronto Letter) as manager of the soccer team for two years. He has also been manager of hockey, basketball and track and field teams. He specialized as an instructor in swimming, water safety and First Aid.

For many years Eaton was active in the Boy Scout movement as a leader. He was the assistant director of the St. John's Kinsmen's Club Camp.

He is a Presbyterian and has participated in recreational leadership amongst church groups.

Present plans in the development of program in the local "Y" include an active summer of physical and recreational activities. Emphasis will be placed on games and swimming. These comments were made by the general secretary Al. Davis who indicated that the Y.M.C.A. was now fully staffed with experienced and trained leadership and with the completion of renovation in the building should give to young people and adults facilities and opportunities for the finest recreation under character building influences.

"These men are not only highly skilled but they possess techniques and understanding in the personality development as well as the physical growth of people," he said.

The same methods are being used in the selection of staff for the playgrounds and the Moira Lake camp for boys and girls, both of which projects are being undertaken by the Y.M.C.A. this year.

IN MEMORIAM

HART—In loving remembrance of a dear daughter and sister Evelyne Hart (Weese) who passed away June 17, 1946.

Two years have passed and gone,
Since one we loved so well,
Was taken from her home on earth,
With Jesus Christ to dwell.
The flowers we placed upon her grave
May wither and decay,
But the love of her who sleeps beneath,
Shall never fade away.

Too dearly loved to be forgotten by mother, dad, sisters, brothers.

Judge W. S. Lane Orders Recount In P.E.-Lennox

Picton, June 17—His Honor Judge W. S. Lane has ordered a recount of ballots cast in Prince Edward-Lennox on June 7th. This will take place at Picton on Friday, June 25, commencing at ten o'clock. The recount is made at the request of James deC. Hepburn, Progressive Conservative candidate defeated by Donald Baxter, Liberal by 51 votes with Thomas Creighton, Ernestown, as the third candidate. Notice of the recount has been sent to Messrs. Baxter and Creighton, and the Returning Officer Thos. Walker.

In his application for a recount, Mr. Hepburn said that he had good reason to believe that 'certain D.R.O.'s in this electoral district had (a) improperly counted ballot papers; (b) improperly rejected ballot papers; (c) made an incorrect statement of the number of ballots cast for myself as candidate.

Mr. Hepburn alleged that 'the D.R.O. in Picton polling sub-division No. 1, N to Z, improperly counted ballot papers upon which there was writing or marks of which the voters might be identified, contrary to the Election Act, R.S.O. 1937, Chapter 8, Sec. 114 (c).

Mr. Hepburn also charged that 'the D.R.O. at polling sub-division No. 7 in the town of Picton had improperly rejected certain ballot papers.

He further charged that the Returning Officer, Thomas Walker, 'improperly added up the votes in as much as he included his addition, votes given for each candidate from statements of the poll contained in the ballot boxes, contrary to provisions of the Election Act being R.S.O. 1937, Chapter 8, Sec. 22.

Mr. Hepburn stated that he had reason to believe that certain irregularities occurred in the respect of delivery of certain ballot boxes by D.R.O.'s to the Returning Officer, namely certain ballot boxes were not sealed and locked, and that certain statements of the poll were not enclosed in envelopes in the ballot boxes, as required by the Election Act.

New Type of Iron Lung Gives Complete Rest in TB Treatment

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

New York June 17 (AP) —The most complete rest ever known, inside a new type of iron lung, is a recent treatment for tuberculosis shown at the National Tuberculosis Association annual meeting here today.

In this lung a person's lungs neither expand nor contract. They do not move a bit. Lung rest, as complete as possible, always has been one of the important steps in recovering from TB.

The lung is a long rounded tube, big enough for a man to lie at ease inside, made of shining steel and with plastic windows. A person can enter and leave at will. Inside, he can talk, read and breathe normally, if he wishes.

But by pressing a button, he can stop all movement of lungs and breathing muscles. The secret is slightly compressed air. The iron lung does not need the compression, rhythmically, taking air from the room outside the tube.

The compressed air flows by its own force into the lung tissues But it does not expand them, because simultaneously with this inflow, the occupant's chest is pressed from the outside by air at exactly the same pressure. The occupant doesn't even feel the compressed air, any more than people feel the changes in air pressure than the weatherman calls highs and lows. But it takes the patient a few days to learn not to try to breathe.

He gets enough oxygen, because the compressed air contains as much as would be present in a normal lungful.

Twenty of these new lungs now are in use in nine American cities The exhibit is by Doctors Alvin L. Barach, George Foster Herben, Jones H. Cullen and Chismore Eastlake of New York. Dr. Barach started this treatment 10 years ago and the war interfered with development. These New York doctors have treated 22 patients, all had cases with cavities in the lungs, after other treatments failed to close the cavities.

Fourteen got well enough to return to work. A fifteenth expects to return to work soon. The cavities are closed.

DOUBLE PICKET LINES

Toronto, June 17 (CP)—Dewar Ferguson, Canadian Seamen's Union (T. L. C.) business agent in Toronto, said today picket lines around Canada Steamship Lines docks and warehouses in the city had been doubled to prevent movement of trucks to and from these premises.

William Mills, president of the General Truck Drivers' Division of the Teamsters' Union (A.F.L.) said Wednesday his union would not cross C. S. U. picket lines around C. S. L. property.

Production of Costume Jewellery Done in "Arabian Nights" Setting

One of the newer industries in the city is the Avon Jewellery Co., located on Pinnacle Street. This company was started by Mr. A. Mazer, formerly of Toronto and before that of the United States. Costume jewellery is the main product of the firm.

The factory and offices are confined to the top floor of the building and the number of employees averages 31. However, in that relatively small space there are more operations per square inch than in many plants twice its size.

There is a difference here to some other industrial plants — There is no dirt; everything is clean, compact and co-ordinated. Each operation flows into the next without apparent effort. The whole place is like something out of the Arabian Nights. There are boxes and boxes of beautiful stones winking in the light. Aquamarine, blue as the sky, topaz with its mysterious amber light and the full rich red of garnets. Rhinestones piled high like diamonds waiting to be set in bracelets and gold and silver chains coiled like cold snakes.

Everything is breathtakingly lovely and if a genie were to appear and demand all these riches no one would be surprised.

This is, indeed, a magic place. A witch's brew of molten tin is poured over the stampings or patterns of the brooch or pin or bracelet to be made and then each separate link in the case of a bracelet is soldered together. Then comes a decision. Does the customer want gold or silver plating? Before either one is done a nickel plating process must be gone through and if the metal used is tin this takes an hour, but if it were sterling silver or brass, ten minutes or so would be enough. Then they are plunged into the silver plating or gold plating bath where they suddenly change color.

Painstaking Work

Next comes the polishing process. Each piece is polished by swiftly turning brushes until a high gloss is obtained. After that the stones are set and this is a painstaking process. The stones are picked up by tweezers and laid in place in the case of small brooches or earrings and other pins. In the case of a rhinestone necklace this is a slow process. Each stone is placed in its allotted setting and punched into place by a machine, similar to a punch press.

There are dozens and dozens of stampings used — some brought from the United States, some made in Toronto and a few made in the local plant. One particularly beautiful piece of jewellery was a rhinestone brooch. Each tiny hole in the brooch is filled with a rhinestone and this of course takes hours. After watching the difficult setting of stones in the various bracelets and necklaces, their relatively low cost is amazing.

Drivers and Personality

Do people drive their cars as they live? In other words, are accidents the direct outcome of the nature and living habits of the drivers?

At any rate motorists cannot place the blame for accidents on fate or destiny. Nor can they blame in many cases the trouble they cause on the mechanism of their cars, though it is essential that they be maintained in mechanical fitness.

Dr. W. A. Tillman, of London, Ontario, said at the Canadian Transit Association Convention at Banff that surveys show it is "highly probable that a man drives as he lives" and he added that an attempt is being made to determine if accident-prone drivers can be identified by their personality traits. Dr. Tillman is on the Department of Clinical and Preventive Medicine of the University of Western Ontario.

Most people believe that the impatient driver is more likely to have an accident than the driver who is calm and collected. That would tend to substantiate the opinion that the way people live, their very nature, inclines them to a certain manner in driving.

Today highway and road travel occupies a great deal of public attention as regards accidents. Departments of Highways have added every safeguard they can think of to eliminate the danger of mishaps and accidents. Constant reiteration on the subject before holidays through warnings of advice given by the Departments of the Provinces has tended to show that these warnings do help to reduce the number of accidents. Anyway accidents are not looked upon as inevitable for that would be a fatalistic view and the result of that would likely be more careless driving and more accidents consequently.

There are large numbers of accidents fatal and non-fatal and every effort is made to advise drivers to observe precaution at all times.

Investigation and research will no doubt in due course bring about an improvement in the safety of driving. But even then as now there must be that ever-present vigilance and will to avoid doing anything likely to cause an accident.

No one driving a motor vehicle would like to be brought to a realization that he is an accident-prone person and it is up to him to prove that he is not in that class. He can do that by making sure while he is driving that he is stable in mood and careful.

His Kindly Outlook on Life

Cartoonists must be numbered among the true artists. Their work conveys graphically and sympathetically an interpretation of a cross-section of life, large or small, according to the artist's gifts. Done in an understanding manner, cartoons enrich the lives of all who read these studies of human nature exaggerating as they do for art's sake human peculiarities and qualities of men and women. As the poet Pope said, "The proper study of mankind is man." The cartoonist knows human nature.

Passing of "Jimmy" Frise, creator of Bird's Eye Centre and Juniper Junction, has brought a pang of regret that this warmhearted student of human beings has passed beyond the veil. A vast public will miss the works of this generous, kind-spirited artist and interpreter of prosiac life and yet of real character. This kindly artist had the seeing eye and the warm spirit to appreciate human life in that earthly setting best fitting his sense of art and the gift of conveying his meaning to all who read. Such an artist works in the field of human nature, he interprets the spirit of individuals and of their society and this gift of his brings many into a communion or community of good will.

"Jimmy" Frise had the art of appeal by his "homely" insight into human nature and into the world of nature all about us. He chose a certain environment, the village life, he saw in his mind's eye and populated his pages with living, lovable beings. Even the setting of his choice brought in those familiar creatures, the animals and fowls, and his readers loved them too. Such was his art.

He had the saving grace of humor which keeps the cartoonist on even keel with the reality of life. Humor is that peculiar possession of man which makes life more happy because of its richness and its insight into human hearts.

The cartoonist, like the novelist, the storyteller and the poet, deals with the truth of life, human beings being his main appeal. He is the mouthpiece of man and he draws a happy cross-section of human nature and like every true artist Frise threw a light on the human heart; even in the most rollicking scenes of comic situations, predicaments and mishaps of the characters he made the readers enjoy through his own warm sympathy and faithful drawing of life. Around all he wrapped the cloak of good will and kindliness. Like every artist he had his own field and this he filled with characters. Through such an artist's eye and portrayal men and women were able to understand more sympathetically their fellowmen in whatever setting they might be found.

Those who followed his world of figures, portrayed with peculiar warmth of feeling, knew he was an apt student of life and a friend of humanity. He widened the human interests as he unfolded his characters on their pilgrimage through the life of his pages. His characters "lived" and now repose in the memory of countless people, so kindly had been his treatment of these so very human creations of his pencil. Like all artists his studies of life are for every age, for old and young, men and women and for boys and girls. The smiles and pleasures he added to the life of those who loved the creations of his brain and hand do not pass away. His work helped to make life easier and happier.

Candidates for Church

By gathering information from different dioceses throughout the Dominion the Anglican Outlook (Ottawa) has compiled some interesting facts about this year's ordinands. It finds, for instance, that their average is 33, that more than two-thirds of them are university graduates, about two-thirds of them are war veterans and that half of them are married and the majority of these have one or more children.

Two-thirds of the new ordinands are native Canadians. Ten of them have close relatives who are or have been parsons. Six were engaged in teaching before ordination. One had been a lieutenant-colonel in the Indian Army, another a fruit-grower, another a journalist, yet another had been engaged in social service work and still another in pharmacy . . .

This cross-section of ordinands would seem to indicate that men of greater maturity and experience, together with improved educational qualifications, are coming forward as candidates for this particular branch of the Church, and this may not be altogether a bad thing. But the Church of England in Canada, notwithstanding its ability to keep this year's ordinations on a par with those of last year, still suffers from a serious shortage of clergy. More than 50 vacancies are, indeed, reported within its ranks. — Brockville Recorder and Times.

Old Friend Gone

He had at last discovered a method of taking out the ashes without getting his clothes dirty or donning an old suit. He had found an told topcoat. This protected him from the dirt and grime.

His wife called him to pass along the news about her first rummage sale. It was quite an event. She was something of a success as a saleswoman. Her crowning effort, she informed him, came when she sold the old topcoat for $1.50.

What he said cannot be printed, exxcept that he informed her that he would gladly have paid $5 to keep the coat. Now, he has to go looking for a pair of overalls or something. — Windsor Star.

British Rations

Despite severe rationing, women of Britain are getting larger, both in height and circumference. This supports contentions of nutritionists that the diet, though monotonous, is adequate and that many, among the poorer people, are eating better than during the depression.

Further, they are putting the extra size on those parts of their anatomy where it is most noticeable — including their feet. Only their waists are becoming more slender, but this only serves to accentuate their more prominent features. Women have always been proud of slender waists. — Windsor Star.

ABOUT CHILDREN

If children, say, at nine and ten,
'Twixt right and wrong the difference knew
And used good judgment just as men
And women are supposed to do,
It's plain enough for all to see,
As old as grownups they would be.

Were children wise enough to know
That this is right, and that is wrong;
Had they the sense their parents show,
They would have had to live as long.
Of course, there'd be less cause to scold,
If they were thirty-five years old.

We, too, were mischievous back then
We gave our parents grave concern.
The sense we lacked at nine and ten
Took many years for us to learn.
As children, then, to treat them try.
They will be wiser by and by.

The members of the Radio Four Male Quartette of this city were heard recently over station CNRM, Montreal, in a thirty-minute period of Old Time Southern Melodies. Their performance was excellent. The following compose the quartette: Dr. A. B. Haffner, A. F. Stillman, J. Arnold Thomson and Harry R. Moorman with Leo Riggs, conductor and accompanist.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Nicol, Marmora, were in town today.

Police Sergeant Arthur Booth and Constable William Evans did good work early this morning when they arrested three alleged gunmen as they slowed down in their car to make the turn coming from the east at Front and Dundas Streets. They each boarded a side of the car and at the point of revolvers took the men into custody. The men were well armed and carried ninety rounds of ammunition. They are wanted, it is said, for alleged robbery in Montreal. Police officers from Montreal are en route here. A report from Deseronto that gas had been stolen from a filling station there by breaking it open, led to the arrest here.

The Packsack of Gregory Clark

An Englishwoman who has been thirty years in this country and remains an Englishwoman still, has gone home for a six months visit to see England and renew acquaintances with family and friends long divided.

Her letters back to us are more interesting than the despatches of professional correspondents.

"There seems to be lots of money here," she writes in her latest. "But people are spending it foolishly, I think. Clothes and shoes are very expensive and they don't take care of anything. I think this is due to the fact that during the war, they had to drop everything and run for the bomb shelters when the sirens went. In those years, they learned to be careless of their property. For when they up and ran for the shelters, they never expected to see their belongings again. The English lost, in the war, a respect for property that used to be a basic characteristic of them. Having as good as lost everything, having said good-bye to everything any number of times during the war, they have developed a supreme indifference to goods and chattels."

This appears to me to be one of the shrewdest surmises I have read about the English in many months. It explains a lot.

Thrift is a virtue that has the habit of smothering or crowding out certain of the nobler virtues such as daring, imagination, fancy, ardor. Thrifty people are very often stodgy.

Recent observers of Britain declare that there is not the slightest doubt but that she is about to stage one of the greatest come-backs in her thundering history. And stodginess can have no share in it, if such a come-back is in the making.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLASS, D.D.

WE DON'T SPEAK THE SAME LANGUAGE

Human language reflects human interests. The Arabs living in the desert are said to have a number of words meaning camel, and an even greater number meaning lion. Certain Eskimo dialects include a great many different words for snow—which is most important to Eskimos—a separate word for each kind and condition of snow. Some tropical savage tribes have no words meaning coat or trousers, for obvious reasons.

Even among people who ostensibly speak the same language, this variety arises from different interests. The machinist speaks of a countershaft, a tailchuck—the musicion refers to a sonatina or a diminuendo; they don't speak the same language. Even when the word is the same, this sort of language may differ. A key, to a musician, may mean a system of sounds; to a machinist, it may be a piece of metal in a shaft. Until the musician begins to understand the machinist's language, he cannot understand his interests.

One trouble with the world today is that so many people don't speak the same language. We cannot get along with Russia, for example — Russians and Americans do not understand each other, literally and figuratively. Such words as communism, capitalism, freedom, security, collectivism, democracy cannot have the same meaning for peoples of such vastly different backgrounds and traditions. Until we understand, we cannot really understand our conflicting interests.

Letters to the Editor

Thinks YWCA Should Be Established Here

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer.

I read an article in your daily paper of June 13th by R. L. on Increased Illegitimacy and placing the blame on the coldness of landladies in whose homes our business girls have to live, when they have no homes of their own, or are far away from home.

Is it not high time that Belleville was providing her business girls with a Y.W.C.A. in which to live? They have a Y.M.C.A. for their young men and a Home for the Aged, but the business girl has no where to go but to her lonely room.

Why could not the many Service Clubs of the city band together and have tag days, bingos and carnivals to raise money for a Y.W.C.A., so the girls could be together under one roof where they would not be so lonely, because there they could have a living room in which to entertain their friends and be under supervision. They could also have a cafeteria where the girls could purchase meal tickets at a discount of say 10% on a $5 book of meal tickets. This is done in other cities and Belleville is growing and will continue to grow.

I am writing on behalf of the business girl, as I am one myself and hope that you will have space in which to publish this letter.

HOW TO MAKE YEAST-RAISED BUCKWHEAT PANCAKES

(By Mr. H. G. T.)

My experience began with plowing the ground, sowing the seed, harrowing it in, shocking the grain, threshing it with a hay fork for a flail, cleaning the chaff out in the wind, hauling it to the mill to be ground into flour, setting up the leavened batter the night before, baking the pancakes next morning, and

Buckwheat Pancakes Raised with Yeast

First, get some whole buckwheat flour. If it is ground up bran and all, so much the better. The black specks give it a better flavor, more like buckwheat, helping to eat them.

Second, get a cake of yeast, the kind women used when they knew how to make "light bread." Let the yeast soak in warm, not hot, water from morning until early evening.

Third, pour this water and yeast into the vessel you use to mix your batter. Add a little salt and sufficient warm, not hot, water to make up what you want. Do not sift the buckwheat flour. Stir in enough of it to make a thick batter. If it is sloppy the gas will escape when you turn the batter onto the hot griddle, and your pancakes will be flat and no good.

Fourth, set your vessel in a warm place to rise over night. Do not stir batter before baking. If you do you will cause the gas to escape and the batter will "fall." Dip carefully from top of batter with spoon and transfer to hot griddle. Do not touch batter with spoon after pouring onto griddle. If the batter piles up, shake the griddle a little. If it seems too thick, dip spoon deeper into better next time. Batter is likely to be thinner near the bottom.

Fifth, when through, do not wash the griddle. Keep it clean and use next time as is. If you wash it your pancakes will stick, and that is just too bad.

Sixth, leave a little batter in your vessel with which to leaven your next batch. It will serve as your yeast. The best results are obtained by continuing from day to day. Just an occasional batch is seldom satisfactory.

(Signed, H. G. T.)

Mr. T. sent with his essay a colored photograph of his attractive cottage by the side of the road, with a front verandah overlooking his garden all abloom. The cottage appears to include bedroom, living room, kitchen and perhaps a small service room or porch in the rear.

He mentioned casually that he is not making buckwheat pancakes now, for want of raw material.

Now I look upon Mr. T. as the last or one of the last of the generation that knew how to make yeast-raised buckwheat pancakes, and this war-time shortage troubled me, so I saw to it that Mr. T. received from the great Birkett Mills, Penn Yan, N.Y. (where I was once an honest doctor) a sack of their famous Buckwheat Flour, and as a testimonial of my appreciation for his contribution a set of the complete works of Ol' Doc Brady—you know, a Lot of Little Lessons in the Ways of Health. After all, I feel that H. G. T. has taught us all something about the ways of health.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

The Women Bla-Bla Bless Them

My Mrs. Sumsey neighbors try to drive me crazy with their tales of the perils of the change. I happen to know that some of their experiences and their pains were certainly not caused by the change, yet I can't help wondering. (Mrs. C. F. H.)

Answer—No wonder. Send stamped envelope bearing your address and ask in writing for pamphlet The Menopause.

Hay Fever

Have you any suggestions for the prevention and relief of hay fever? Mine begins pretty regularly on the 24th of June and keeps me miserable until the last week in September. (O. L.)

Answer—Yes. Send stamped self addressed envelope for pamphlet on Hay Fever. This is a little late to prevent it, but even now you can probably moderate the severity of the trouble.

Buttermilk

Have one quart of buttermilk delivered every day. Please let me know what benefits are derived from it.

(Mrs. F. C.)

Answer—The same as from drinking a quart of skim milk. Either real buttermilk or the so-called buttermilk prepared by adding lactobacillus culture and a little fat to skim milk is a wholesome beverage if you like it.

So Have I

Every doctor I have been to says I have low blood pressure. Do you know of any cure for that? (Mrs. P. G. C.)

Answer—Yes, find a doctor who doesn't talk so much to cover his ignorance of what, if anything, ails the patient.

Transit Companies Face Cost Problems

Banff, Alta., June 17 (CP)—A Windsor lawyer, W. H. Furlong, K. C., will guide the destinies of the Canadian Transit Association during the next year.

Relegates said high wage schedules and rising cost of equipment and supplies are creating a serious problem for transit companies both in Canada and the United States. In his presidential report Mr. Gray-Gordon said most utilities "are operating at too low a rate, and fare increases are justified and long overdue."

However, G. C. Hecker, executive manager of the American Transit Association, warned that United States companies had found revenue did not increase in proportion to increase in fares due to a decrease in passenger traffic.

New York, June 16 — (AP)— The iron age, metalworking trade The Iron Age, metalworking trade weekly, said today the federal trade commission has drawn up an order calling for drastic changes in steel selling practices.

Under the order which may be issued "early next year, if not sooner," the publication said, the steel industry would be called upon to (1) establish a plant price for steel at every mill; (2) sell f.o.b. mill when requested, and (3) cease the compilation and dissemination of freight rate information.

WEDDINGS

BYRNES—HULSMAN

Marmora.—A pretty wedding was solemnized at Sacred Heart Church, Marmora, on Monday morning at 9.30 o'clock, when Martha Elizabeth Hulsman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hulsman, of Marmora Township, became the bride of Thomas Joseph Byrnes, son of Mrs .T. J. Byrnes, of Marmora, and the late Mr. Byrnes. The ceremony was performed and the Nuptial Mass celebrated by Rev. Father R. Pickett. Miss Rita Deacon played the wedding music and Mrs. James McGrath sang Rosewig's "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus" The church was beautifully decorated with roses, snapdragon and Spring flowers.

The bride, given in marriage, by her father wore a wedding gown of pure crystal satin. The long flowing lines and graceful train of this Victorian dress were beautifully emphasized by the portrait neckline. Her veil of silk net, caught with a headdress of orange blossoms was an heirloom of the groom's mother. She wore a pearl necklace, the gift of the groom and carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and baby breath.

Her sister, Delphian Hulsman was maid of honor, and was frocked in a lilac gown of petit point organza with puff sleeves and low neckline. The bouffant skirt had a quaint bustle effect, and she wore a matching halo headdress. Miss Elaine Gehan, of Tweed, a cousin of the groom, was dressed similarly to the maid of honor in daffodil yellow. They carried bouquets of yellow roses and lavender stocks. As flower girl, little Carolyn Laton, a niece of the bride, was charming in white silk taffeta with matching headdress, and she carried a nosegay of pink rosebuds and blue cornflowers. She wore a gold locket, the gift of the bride.

James Byrnes was groomsman for his brother and the ushers were Albert Hulsman, brother of the bride, and Joseph Clairmont.

After the ceremony, a turkey dinner was served at Tipperary Hotel Crowe Lake to fifty guests. The bride's mother received, wearing a two-piece, printed silk dress, with straw hat, navy accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the groom's mother, who wore a two-piece dress of black crepe, with embroidered net top, a matching hat and accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations.

The following friends of the bride assisted with serving the guests, Marlene Gehan, Patricia Lynch, Pat Brady, Veronica Shannon and Verna Black.

Later a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The couple were the recipients of many useful and attractive gifts. The bride had resided in Belleville for the past few years, where she was on the staff of J. A. McNabb & Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Byrnes left on a trip to Montreal and Ste. Anne de Beaupre. For travelling the bride wore a suit of blue English gabardine, an imported topcoat of bleached camel's hair, a blue straw hat and black accessoroies. On their return they will reside at Tweed.

Out-of-town guests attending the Byrnes-Hulsman wedding on Monday included Mr. and Mrs. Everett McGrath, Mr. and Mrs. Michael McGrath, Oshawa; Mrs. E. Keating, Toronto; Mrs. T. Casey, North Bay; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Van Heukelum and Jeanie of Tillsonburg, Mr. and Mrs. James Cowan and son, James, Belleville; Mrs. Harry Smith, of Toronto.

ROOT—MATTHIE

The marriage of Margaret Jean Matthie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Matthie, of Bloomfield, to James Leonard Root, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Root, of R.R. 3, Consecon, was solemnized by Rev. M. Buttars, at the home of the bride's parents, recently. A background of evergreen, with pink and white streamers, bridal wreath, potted ferns and Summer flowers formed an effective setting for the ceremony. Miss Mary Walters played the wedding music and Miss Doris Fox was the soloist, singing "Always".

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in blue silk crepe and wore a gold necklace, a gift of the groom. Her three-quarter length veil of embroidered English rayon net fell gracefully from a wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses.

Mrs. John Matthie, of Bloomfield was the only bridal attendant, She wore a two-piece dress of yellow silk gabardine, featuring a ballerina skirt and a jacket of eyelet embroidery. She wore a three-quarter length veil, caught to a matching headdress, and carried a Colonial nosegay of red roses.

The groomsman was Mr. John Matthie, twin brother of the bride.

At the reception following the ceremony the bride's mother received the guests wearing a dress of grey crepe, with navy accessories and a corsage of red carnations. The mother of the groom assisted, wearing a dress of flowered silk jersey, with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

The tea table was covered with a cloth of white linen centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, topped with a basket of roses. Pouring were Mrs. Raymond Norton and Mrs. Hubert McDonald, while the Misses Doris Fox, Mary Walters, Irene Walters and Cora Leavitt, assisted with the serving.

For travelling to Montreal, Ottawa, and the Algonquin Park district, Mrs. Root chose a grey topper coat, worn over her wedding dress with black accessories and she wore a corsage of red roses. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Root will reside on the groom's farm near Consecon.

Miss Dorothy Penman, of Almonte, Que., was an out-of-town guest.

Blossoms, blossoms everywhere! with baskets and bowls filled with white peonies and long sprays of flowering almond; pink peonies against the creamy whiteness of sweet syringa, and red peonies reflected in the shining surface of the mirror above the fireplace, the spacious drawing-room of the Tabernacle United Church parsonage, 246 Church Street was a veritable "garden of bloom" Wednesday afternoon when the young women of the "Keen Age Club" of the church were the hostesses for a "Blossom Tea."

Mrs. D. McLean was receptionist, and the guests were welcomed by Mrs. F. R. Harback and Mrs. J. Hall, president of the club.

Mrs. J. Miller performed the duties of visiting hostess, and invited the guests to the tea room, where the color scheme was definitely pink and white, which was emphasized in the delectable sandwiches and dainties as well as in the table appointments.

A hand made lace table cover was centred with a large cut glass bowl holding rose pink peonies and sprays of mock orange blossoms, and tall pink tapers in low crystal cups formed V-shaped flanks above the silver services. On the buffet were tall white tapers in crystal candelabra and a bowl of pink blossoms, while the side table held pink tapers and a silver basket of cream white blooms, with similar bouquets adorning every available surface space about the room, creating a "bower of beauty."

Pouring the beverage were Mrs. Boulton Sr., and Mrs. C. A. Perkins, Mrs. D. C. Amos and Mrs. J. G. Sparling; Mrs. A. D. Archibald and Mrs. G. Avory, while the guests were served by Mrs. G. Stanton, Mrs. S. Lathangue, Mrs. J. Tucker, Mrs. J. Tebworth, Mrs. Gariepy, Mrs. A. Firth and Mrs. Huddleston.

Mrs. J. Thompson was in charge of replenishing the plates and teapots; she was assisted by Mrs. Burley, Mrs. Colden and Mrs. McKillop.

Treasurers for the afternoon were Mrs. Gordon Davies and Mrs. Shirley Kelleher.

Members of the club are deeply grateful for the patronage of their friends, and to all who assisted in making this, their first social venture, a decided success.

Garden Tea Held By St. Andrew's Guild Enjoyed

A very successful garden tea was held Wed. at Sidney Cottage home of Mrs. W. N. Ponton, on the Trent Road, sponsored by a group of the Ladies Guild of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, with Mrs. C. E. Argue and Mrs. J. W. Kinnear as joint conveners.

Guests were received by the hostess, Mrs. Ponton, who is convener of the group, with Mrs. Barlow, president of the Guild.

Tea was poured by Mrs. James Hill and Mrs. J. G. Hornsby, also by Mrs. J. B. Boyce and Miss Edith McLean at a table attractively centred with a bowl of delicate garden heliotrope, adding some old time fragrance to the appointments highlighted with colonial tea services, and tall ivory tapers in silver holders.

Guests were served with the delicious refreshments by Mrs. A. Hill, Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Harper Kerrey, Mrs. Earl Elliott, Mrs. Vic Lancaster, Mrs. Jack Goodfellow and Mrs. Frank McKeown.

The home cooking convened by Mrs. W. O. Duff, with Mrs. McElhiney and Mrs. Dick Hart assisting, was the popular meeting place for all the guests, with mammoth angel cakes as the special attractions.

Miss Jessie MacLean acted as treasurer for the afternoon, and the members of the group report that the proceeds from this social project are very gratifying to the sponsors.

Pioneer Gold Mine Ceases Operations

Johannesburg, (CP) — Geldenhuis mine — one of the oldest on the Witwatersrand — is worked. Exhaustion of the gold bearing reef on the proptery has held to the gradual curtailment of mining during recent years and a start now has now been made to demolish the old mine buildings and dismantle plant and equipment.

Since it started operations in 1895, the mine had mined more than 30,000,000 tons of ore from which more than 7,400,000 ounces of gold have been obtained. In the 50 years that mining operations have been carried on at Geldenhuis, working revenue has been £37,461,732 ($149,846,928) and expenditure £31,141,104, giving on a working profit of £6,320,628.

Its first two shafts were sunk in October 1892, and No. 1 shaft was one of the first "deep" or vertical shafts on the goldfields. Geldenhuis has the reputation of having had no major disaster entailing severe loss of life.

All of the original main shafts on the mine have been closed down, the last in August, 1947 and mining is now being carried out only in a small incline into an outcrop which produces about 40 tons of ore daily.

All property, even wooden sections from the plant, is being treated for gold recovery. The material is burned and the ash processed. In this way, many thousand pounds worth of gold is being recovered. Old methods of extraction on the Witwatersrand allowed only a 60 per cent recovery of gold from the ore mined, so old residues on the property are also being re-processed.

3rd Hillier

3rd Hillier.—Miss Joyce Benway of Albury spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Benway.

Cellar Shower

The Hillier Institute members and the members of the W.A. of Hillier church gave a cellar shower for the two families recently arrived from Holland, on Friday evening. A large crowd was in attendance and Mr. Ross Spencer was at the piano and Alton Haight played the violin for dancing. The new friends from Holland sang several of their native songs. Mr. Edward King sang in his usual pleasing style. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Edgar Matthews on behalf of the Hollanders, thanked everyone for their gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Dainard entertained Mrs. Dainard's sister, Mrs. Ben Anders and Mr. Anders, also Mr. Anders' sister and family and Mr. and Mrs. Harris Gill and Lawrence, of British Columbia, for the weekend. They motored east leaving British Columbia on the 23rd of May to attend their son's wedding at London, Ontario. Motoring back by way of Detroit, they expect to be home about the 23rd of June.

Mr. and Mrs. Dainard, Donald, Gordon, and their guests spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Miller, of Lake Shore.

She used Dodd's Kidney Pills at once. The improved action of her kidneys helped to clear away blood impurities and excess acids. Fatigue, backache, headache, lack of energy disappeared. Flogging With the Birch Favored By House of Lords for Grim Crimes

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, June 17 — (CP) — The House of Lords heard a description of the sombre ritual of flogging in a prison and approved a continuation of a grim punishment for grim crimes.

But they wanted no more of the cruel cat o'nine tails, which might mark a man for life. They would keep the birch to give — as Lord Goddard, Lord Chief Justice of England described it — the man or youth found guilty of violent crime "a jolly good hiding."

The peers voted 29-17 for a continuation of flogging, with the birch, and thus rejected a Commons decision to eliminate this form of punishment.

Lord du Parcq, a judge who opposed the use of both "cat" and birch, said a committee which studied the matter agreed that flogging with the birch is almost as bad as flogging with the instrument more commonly condemned.

"In both cases it is a solemn and formal business. The triangle is used, and the policeman or warder who beats the man is screened so that his face cannot be seen by the offender. It is a solemn ritual, with a doctor present to watch the man's face the whole time, in order to see if there are symptoms of fainting; and in that event the punishment is not proceeded with."

"From his own experience, Lord du Parcq recalled the one case where he had ordered flogging — for a man guilty of robbery with violence. Later he heard the man had again been arrested for a crime and the police had testified that since he had been flogged in prison had become a "much more desperate character."

But Lord Goddard, who also had experience with criminals, said men guilty of "filthy and brutal offenses" were exposed to ridicule by their associates after being birched.

". . . Do away with the brutality of the cat but keep the birch, which may hurt, which will not injure, and which will bring ridicule on the person who receives it."

PREMIER DREW COMPLETELY SATISFIED

London, June 17 — (CP) — Premier George Drew of Ontario said yesterday that he is "completely satisfied" with the progress of discussions he is conducting with British officials regarding establishment of branches of British industry in Ontario.

The premier yesterday had an interview with Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer. Monday, he saw Harold Wilson, president of the board of trade, and Tuesday he talked with Lord Catto, governor of the Bank of England.

Church Lashes Tories For Deviating From Old Party Principles

Ottawa, June 17 — (CP) — T. L. Church (PC-Toronto Broadview), who describes himself as perhaps the last of the true-blue Tories, wants his party to stick by Conservative principles.

He gave it a lecture in the Commons, castigating it for deviating from Conservative principles. This, he said, was an explanation for its loss of seats in the recent Ontario provincial election and in federal by-elections.

Of coalition governments in Manitoba and British Columbia, he said he could not understand his party "sacrificing all our principles for four or five jobs in a union government."

Canadian Daily Newspaper Assoc. Presents Brief Asking Legislation Guaranteeing Freedom of the Press

Ottawa, June 17 — (CP) —The Canadian Daily Newspapers Association asked Tuesday for a law guaranteeing freedom of the press in Canada.

In a brief to the Parliamentary Committee on Human Rights and fundamental freedoms, the CDNA said it is convinced these rights are "insecure."

Its 86 member newspapers "know that threats have been made to freedom of speech, freedom of the press, and other freedoms in the past," the brief said.

Examples Listed

Emphasizing that "they feel sure that threats will be made in the future," it listed these "examples of threats to freedom of the press:"

1. The Alberta Press Act, 1937-28.
2. The British Columbia Special Powers Act.
3. The Quebec Padlock Law.
4. Legislation which permits pressure groups such wide power that they may restrict or prohibit advertising by their members.
5. Legislation which provides fines for newspapers which publish advertising from non-members of an association.

"Without constitutional safeguards," the brief said, "any or all governments in Canada could destroy freedom of speech, freedom of the press, the right peaceably to assemble and the right to petition against grievances.

"In Canada we have been coasting insecurely upon British precedents and sometimes violating them and, in the light of Canada's membership in the United Nations and its responsibilities as a member, the CDNA urges that the committee give favorable consideration to a constitutional amendment guaranteeing these fundamental freedoms."

Not Special Privilege

Fundamentally, the CDNA said in an accompanying definition, freedom of the press is not a special privilege reserved for newspaper publishers.

"It is rather a phase of a much larger freedom—the freedom of all men to speak their minds openly and without fear. The press claims no right which should not belong to every citizen in a democracy, but freedom of the press is an all-important part of this larger freedom; because, under modern conditions, the press is the principal agency by which the ordinary man receives the information he needs to judge the actions of his rulers and make up his mind on public issues.

"Without newspapers, or with only gogged and blindfolded ones he is in the dark, and helpless. An unfettered press is therefore one of the essential bulwarks of a democratic world."

Rigid control of all sources of public information, especially of newspapers, was the corner-stone on which Fascist and Nazi dictatorships were founded, the CDNA said.

'Nominal freedom is not enough. The only truly free press is one which can record the news faithfully and comment on it frankly, without fear of direct or indirect punishment. Neither the press nor the public is safe with anything less than this."

Carries Responsibility

But freedom of the press implied responsibility.

"All liberty, of course, involves obligations. The obligation of a free press is to be truly free. It must be thorough, accurate and unbiased in its reporting, sincere and thoughtful in its editorials and resistant to all outside pressure.

"It must be both cautious and bold — cautious until it knows all the facts, bold when it is sure of its ground. It must, above all, be inspired by devotion to the public welfare as its staff understands it."

Outlining "threats to freedom of the press" the brief said the need for a constitutional guarantee of fundamental freedoms "must be apparent."

The Alberta Press Act of 1937-38 was "aimed to deprive the people of Alberta of the right of public expression by setting up a code of mandates and restrictions designed to conscript all newspapers of the province into the service of one party."

Found Act Ultra Vires

"The Alberta Supreme Court found the act ultra vires (outside the jurisdiction of the Alberta Legislature, because it was destructive of the freedom of the press, but when an appeal by the Government of Alberta went to the Privy Council it was dismissed on other grounds . . .

"Publishers would have been compelled to print any statement furnished by the chairman of the Social Credit Board, 'which has for its object the correction or amplification of any statement relating to any policy or activity of the government of the province.'

"The bill condoned libel in that 'no action for libel shall be maintainable on account of anything printed in pursuance of its provisions.'

"The bill threatened the source of news in that publishers would have been compelled to disclose in writing the source of news and identity of all writers or contributors at the request of the chairman of the Social Credit Board."

The British Columbia Special Powers Act of the 1930's had given the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council "all the powers of the legislature over the civil and property rights of the citizen." The act, never brought into practice, was repealed in 1940 when provincial statutes were revised.

Threat to Newspapers

"Under this legislation the government, by order-in-council, could have destroyed any newspaper that it disliked . . . No Canadian law could have been pleaded against it."

The Quebec Padlock Law was directed at suppression of communism and Bolshevism. But, in permitting confiscation and destruction of newspapers, periodicals, pamphlets, circulars and documents printed, published or distributed in contravention to the act, it established a precedent which contained a potential threat to freedom of the press.

The CDNA, noting in an appendix some examples of legislation "under which advertising is restricted," said:

"The press in Canada appears to be free but it is just as much the duty of the press to protect the right of the business man, properly to inform the public concerning his goods, services or ideas through advertising, as it is to protect the right of the public to have information about news of public importance . . .

"It is not primarily or fundamentally a question of advertising revenue but concerns the freedom of the press. It is a serious attack on the right of the public to be informed and an infringement of the capacity of newspapers to give to their readers the information to which they are entitled as to the availability and cost of services."

Example Cited

One example was the British Columbia Hairdressers' Act, which "gives power to the association, subject to approval by the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, to say what may or may not be announced in an advertisement."

"The Hairdressers' Association has ordained that no prices may be mentioned in a hairdresser's advertisement. Thus, if a progressive hairdresser should install new equipment or adopt a new method which would permit him to give a better permanent wave for $3.75 than now is being offered for $7.50, he may not utter that information through an advertisement, and the public may not be informed except by word of mouth. Charges for hairdressing in B.C. have materially advanced since those in control of the Hairdressers' Association succeeded thus in abridging the right of free speech of their competitors."

Prohibited Prices Advertising

The B. C. Optometrists' Act was another example.

"Optometrists have been given statutory power to prohibit publication of prices in advertising and general power to control all optometrical advertising. They took advantage to the full of the power to keep competitive prices from public knowledge and named a censor to whom all advertising copy might be submitted before publication."

In B. C. "advertising by barbers is not prohibited but, since the barbers got through their bill they tell us that advertising it 'not professional' and that it is 'unethical.'"

Under another B. C. law 'any B. C. newspaper which published advertising by a dentist practicing in Alberta or the State of Washington, or any other newspaper circulating such advertising within this province can be fined $100 or $500 on a rising scale for publication of each advertisement."

The CDNA also cited the Alberta Optometry Act and said: "The Alberta Optometric Association has changed its by-laws and has had the changed by-laws endorsed by a provincial order-in-council in such a manner as to restrict the freedom of its members in the matter of advertising."

Imposed in Other Countries

The brief listed these "forms of restrictions of the basic rights of freedom of speech and of the press which have been imposed in other countries and against which we have no constitutional protection in Canada."

1. Discriminatory taxes, designed to destroy a specific newspaper, or to bring all newspapers under control of government.
2. Government control of agencies monopolizing the distribution of news.
3. Government power to withhold in a discriminatory manner essential services from newspapers which offend the government.
4. Withholding from offending newspapers government-controlled materials.
5. Legislation making criticism of government—"libel on the government"—punishable by fine or imprisonment or both.
6. Refusal of licenses to publish except to publications which are friendly to the government; licensing of writers.
7. Prior restraint by peacetime censorship.

"It is foolish to say 'it can't happen here,'" the CDNA concluded. "It could happen here and, for that reason, there should be a constitutional guarantee that it shall not happen here."

Yu'An Hee See Laughs

By Sax Rohmer

"Jo Lung," Yu'an continued, "follow her. Your life and mine depend upon what I tell you. If those pigs have found and taken that notebook, our necks are hung upon a silken thread. There is fog — but they must be overtaken. That book must be back here, upon this table, within an hour."

Jo Lung moved silently towards the door.

"Two men," Yu'an added.

"All shall go——"

"And send for the Adder.."

As Jo Lung disappeared, Yu'an turned his apparently closed eyes in the direction of Polodos. At mention of that name—"the Adder"—the Greek's face had grown clammy with perspiration. It trickled down from his hair into his thick eye-brows.

And Yu'an began to laugh. He did not show his teeth in laughter. His red lips merely seemed to thicken—and his eyes closed as he laughed—high, hideous squeals, like the amplified note of a bat..

Kearney felt a tremendous sense of relief when he found himself out again in the narrow lane. Even the fog seemed friendly. Dimly to his ears came a sound of voices which seemed to proceed from the little courtyard they had left behind. Apparently Norwich did not notice these sounds.

It was good to be free of that strange building, with its silence out of which the breathing of hidden watchers seemed to come; its ghastly emptiness, as of a place unoccupied, deserted, yet which he knew by virtue of some extra sense to be illusive. The Arab doorkeeper, the Greek—and that strange woman—had not been the only occupants of Jo Lung's emporium that night.

There were others—many others, watching, listening. He knew it—he had felt it all the time.

By virtue of some mutual understanding, Kearney and the Scotland Yard man paced along to the neighboring street in unbroken silence. But, the corner turned:

"Those opals!" Kearney began.

"I knew you had spotted something there!"

"I had. You've got your case clearly enough if they don't dispose of them before tomorrow. Those opals belonged to Lady Dakenham, who was lost at sea ten months ago! How in the name of all that's wonderful did Jo Lung get hold of them?"

"H'm!" said the Scotland Yard man, and his tone betokened disappointment. "There's no case in that, sir. I suppose they must have been washed ashore. Where did the accident happen?"

"In the Red Sea or the Persian Gulf!"

Defective Sergeant Norwich laughed.

"Outside our beat!" he said.

"Then you mean there's nothing you can act upon?"

"I'm afraid there isn't," Norwich confessed. "Those odd sapphires might have come from almost anywhere. They don't correspond to the list. Everything in the place is of number one quality. But there was nothing that I definitely recognized. In fact, if you ask me, we were spotted!"

"Do you think so?"

"I'm positive!"

"Yes," Kearney murmured, "I'm afraid we have wasted our time. Somewhat annoying in view of the fact—unless we can get hold of a wandering taxi — that I have a long, foggy journey ahead."

Norwich laughed again. "Hard luck, sir," he said. "There's a cosy fire, an armchair, and a pair of slippers waiting for me at Stockwell. But my orders are to report back to Leman Street."

"That being the case," said Kearney cheerfully, as they groped out onto Commercial Road East, "we part company. I shall head towards the station. I'm calling Haig as soon as I get back."

Kearney peered through swirling mist along perhaps the unloveliest thoroughfare in all London. Not a figure moved as far as his sight could pierce the fog. He had done nothing to help Dawson Haig, but certainly he had secured some unique "copy." He glanced back. Norwich had disappeared.

He had gone ten or fifteen paces when suddenly he pulled up again....A sound had reached him—a short, muffled scream. Stock-still he stood, and listened.

Dim, distant noises reached him: the rumble of remote lorries; that muted booming which is the lifeblood of the Port of London pumping through its many arteries; fog signals. He could detect no footsteps—no other sound.

It was close upon midnight. He pulled up, again as he saw two things of interest: one, definite, the other, perhaps chimerical. Either unpleasant memories of the establishment of Jo Lung still haunted him, or he had seen a curiously small, active figure dart into the shadow of a doorway not twenty paces behind!

His heart beat faster. The head lamps of what looked like a taxicab became dimly visible through fog! Indeed, perhaps the sound of the motor, although he had not recognized the fact, had prompted him to pause, to turn.

The little notebook in his pocket!

He had meant to speak to Norwich about it, but changing his mind had determined to examine it himself and then to hand it over to Haig when he met him. His idea that it might prove to contain some piece of evidence of value to Scotland Yard assumed a new and grave importance.

Coming upon it after the discovery of the Dakenham opals, he had appropriated it without scruple. No, watching slowly approaching head lamps, and questioning the reality of that figure which he believed he had seen dart into hiding, he remembered that he was unarmed. And he wondered....

Nearer and nearer came the lamps. He stepped out onto the edge of the curb and raised his arm. The man pulled up.

Kearney opened the door, uttered an audible gasp of relief, jumped in, and banged it shut behind him. Twisting about, Matt looked through the rear window.

Baleful eyes glared in at him! Someone, indistinguishable except for his eyes, was clinging to the back of the cab!

"My God!" Kearney whispered.

Suddenly, those weird eyes, which seemed to belong to no tangible body, disappeared. The taxi was well under way now.

Kearney craned through the open window, looking back.

Fog....desolation....nothing!

But one or two belated pedestrians, notably a city constable, as the taxi passed into Fleet street, observed upon the luggage rack surmounting its roof what looked like a rolled up blanket, or, as another thought, a very delapidated kit bag....

• • •

Dawson Haig hurried across the little court in which Kearney's rooms were situated. The old manservant who looked after the place opened the door at once. He knew Haig well.

"I'm sure it's very important, sir," he said, "or I wouldn't have pressed you to come along. But Mr. Kearney had to go across to the office the moment he arrived home."

"But what's this about some book?"

"The book is lying on the desk upstairs, sir, with a note, and my orders are for you to go up."

Two minutes later he sat at Kearney's table, reading the note which his friend had left. Haig had not removed his white raincoat. A Yard car was waiting—and a ghastly duty called....

But, as he read, his expression changed—grew puzzled—and then indicated sudden excitement. The little leather-bound memo book, to which Kearney's note chiefly related, lay upon the table beside him. It was really an advertisement issued by one of the shipping companies, containing a calendar and all sorts of odds and ends of information about tides, and such like material.

He picked it up again, glancing at the curious pencilled entries it contained. The book was newly issued, and these were few. Some were unintelligible, being written in what looked like a combination of cipher and Chinese. But others, opposite to certain dates, set him furiously thinking.

Suddenly he stood up, shed his raincoat, and dropped it with his hat on the floor. By heavens! he might be better employed here than down in Limehouse!

The first of these intriguing notes appeared against the date the 11th—the day which had just passed. It read as follows:

"D 21—25—32. B 7—B 4."

The last number—B 4—had been written on the margin of the opposite page as though it were an afterthought, but a delta and pencil line indicated that it should be added to the others.

Under date of the 13th was: "Paris. Suleiman Bey's."

For the following three days the diary contained no notes, but under date the 17th the following appeared:

"D 41."

A gap until the 22nd, and then occurred the entry:

"Mohammed."

Newly-Elected Conservative Talks Plainly

Ottawa, June 17 (CP)—A newly-elected Progressive Conservative member to the Ontario legislature Wednesday night told a Tory rally to "quit kidding themselves" and "pull up their socks" if they didn't want a Socialist government to take over at Ottawa.

He is 39-year-old Donald Morrow, elected for Carleton, guest speaker to 300 of the Carleton County Progressive Conservative Association attending the annual meeting at nearby Carp Village.

"Old-established political parties had better quit kidding themselves about C.C.F. election gains and streamline their whole approach to the nation's business," said Mr. Morrow, a former district schoolmaster.

The man who had defeated the veteran political campaigner, ... H. (Holly) Acres for the P. C. nomination in Carleton and followed it up with a strong win said:

"Social unrest is only partly responsible for the Socialist gains. The C.C.F. works every day, every hour, and places a platform, attractively packaged if unworkable, before the electorate."

"Complacent old established parties, and by that I mean Progressive Conservatives and Liberals, must pull up their socks and keep powerful organizations in operation between elections," Mr. Morrow said.

"The tendency now is to fold up after an election with a sigh of relief and stay under cover until the next election comes along," the member added.

'Spider Boy' Now Almost Normal

Boston, June 17 (AP)—Kenneth Thames, 17-year-old Cree Indian known as "The Spider Boy" today left Children's Hospital for his Oklahoma home—transformed from an ambling cripple to a near normal boy.

Thames walked out of the hospital after three major operations.

Afflicted at birth by a bone disease called arachnodactyly — a spider-like elongation of the extremities—the young Indian entered the hospital with his body so distorted he was forced to shuffle on tiptoes with his ape-like arms swinging below his knees.

WILL DEPORT MINILLE

Oakland, Calif., June 17 (AP) — An immigration hearing ended Wednesday for Nicholas Minille, escaped Canadian convict, and the record was sent to Washington with a recommendation that he be deported.

If the deportation is approved he will be taken to the border and turned over to Canadian officials.

Minille was arrested here May 10 as a burglary suspect. A fingerprint check later established that he was a fugitive from Portsmout penitentiary, Kingston, where he was serving a 17-year term for armed robbery.

Farmers to Suffer No Material Loss On Coarse Grains

Yorkton, Sask., June 17 (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner said Wednesday night no farmer who marketed coarse grains after ceilings were removed last Oct. 21 would suffer "any material loss."

He said the federal government was considering a recommendation to pay farmers approximately 11 cents a bushel on oats and six cents a bushel on barley for all grain sold after the removal of ceilings. Combined with equalization payments by elevator companies and pools, this would mean farmers would get the entire increase in price that resulted after the decontrol.

The Federal Minister of Agriculture was questioned for more than an hour following a campaign address in support of Andrew Kindred, Liberal candidate for Yorkton.

5,000 Chinese Loot Rice Shops In Chungking

Nanking, June 17 — (AP) — More than 5,000 angry Chinese stormed through Chungking streets for six hours today, looting 30 rice shops.

Dispatches from China's wartime capital said gendarmes used bayonets to disperse the mob. The looting started after the price of rice doubled.

The price of flour, rice and other commodities jumped to record heights in Peiping. The city's mayor, Ho Sze-Yuan, appealed to Nanking to lift restrictions on food shipments to North China.

Sunday and Week Programs Needed, Baptists Told

Windsor, June 17 (CP)—Rev. L. A. Gregory of Toronto, in his report on religious education to the Baptist convention of Ontario and Quebec, today said that a church should provide a Sunday program comprising a meaningful experience of corporate worship... graded to the needs of children, youth and adults.

Through the week a program of fellowship, training, group worship, service and a broader study of the Christian life and the responsibilities of the church should be provided.

The report of the committee on minimum salary for ministers was presented to the 60th assembly by Prof. Chester W. New who recommended that members of city churches visit the rural church to share in the fellowship and gain a broader understanding of the smaller cause.

The report showed that 78 churches have brought the salary of its pastor up to or over the minimum and that several others are expected to do so shortly.

At Wednesday night's session Rev. C. Oscar Johnson, of St. Louis, Mo., President of the Baptist World Alliance, said the rediscovery of Christ by the youth of the world, rather than a United Nations organization that is not united in its belief in Christ, will lead to a lasting world peace.

100 Overcome in Rome By Ammonia Fumes

Rome, June 17 — (AP) — A gas cylinder exploded in the building of Rome's radio station today and about 100 persons were overcome by ammonia fumes. Several persons were carried unconscious from the building by rescue crews of firemen and policemen.

SIR MALCOLM UNDERGOES EYE OPERATION

London, June 17 (AP) — Sir Malcolm Campbell underwent an eye operation today. St. Mary's Hospital said it was too early to say whether the operation was successful.

Sir Malcolm underwent an unsuccessful operation last year before he failed in his attempt to better the world speedboat record with his jet propelled Blue Bird II.

National Health Plan to Operate In Ontario

Ottawa, June 17 (CP) — The stock of the federal government's national health plan soared Wednesday when Ontario formally announced its intention to co-operate in the $30,000,000 program.

A government source said it means that "practically all" the nine provinces have indicated their approval of the scheme.

The plan, distinct from other Dominion-Provincial agreements, was announced in the Commons by Prime Minister Mackenzie King last May 14. He said it calls for expenditure of $30,000,000 a year during each of the next five years. That sum will go to the provinces provided they:

1. Express willingness to co-operate.
2. Guarantee the grants will be spent for the purposes intended.
3. Agree not to reduce their own present health expenditures.

In two cases — cancer-control and hospital-contruction — the provinces must contribute amounts equal to or greater than the federal grants.

Ontario's decision was announced in Toronto Wednesday by Provincial Health Minister Kelley.

New Brunswick, Alberta and British Columbia also have publicly stated their intention to co-operate.

Part of the program of the New Brunswick Liberal party, seeking re-election June 28, is a promise to "co-operate with the Dominion in all necessary steps leading to inauguration of a national health plan."

Health Minister Cross of Alberta said Tuesday that his government intends to co-operate with the Dominion. British Columbia's Health Minister, George S. Pearson, expressed the same stand for his government.

REPORTED CONCENTRATING THORIUM

Manila, June 17 (AP) — The Melbourne radio said today that Australia is concentrating thorium from sand on her east coast beaches for use in atomic energy projects. There was no elaboration.

WIN VICTORIES

Chicago, June 17 — (AP) — Don Scott, pacing star of W. N. Reynolds of Winston Salem, N.C., and Proximity, fleet stepping mare owned by the Verhursi Brothers of Victor, N. Y., won victories in the two heat $3,500 John L. Hervey Memorial trot, one of the special features of Grand Circuit week at Maywood Park Wednesday night.

Religious Faith Pays off Better Than Crime

Cleveland, June 17 — (AP) — Julius Petro, fresh from 19 months in a prison death row, says religious faith pays off much better than crime.

The 26-year-old Clevelander was acquitted of a first degree murder charge Wednesday after a retrial in which a jury deliberated 13 hours. A previous jury condemned him to die in Ohio penitentiary's electric chair.

He said serving 18 months for a burglary once before had not cured him, but he added "there are no atheists in death row."

Vandenberg Not Likely to Issue Any Statement

Philadelphia, June 17 (AP) — Close associates said today that unless he changes plans, Senator Arthur Vandenberg will permit Republican presidential voting to take its course without any statement from him.

Amid indications that Governor Thomas Dewey generally is looked upon as the man to beat, delegates clustered in hotel corridors to talk about the threat that Vandenberg poses as a dark horse.

From a person close to the Michigan Senator it was learned that Vandenberg has adopted a lets-see-what-happens attitude toward the balloting, which may begin next Wednesday or Thursday.

This person, who declined to be quoted by name, said the Michigan Senator feels he has done everything possible to discourage his nomination.

Vandenberg was said to feel that the campaign for a draft movement has gone so far that he cannot now cut the ground out from under those who are in the forefront.

A case in point, cited by the Michigan Senator's intimates, is Governor James Duff of Pennsylvania. Duff has not made any secret of the fact that he is for Vandenberg and wants to swing the 73-vote Pennsylvania delegation to the Michigan Senator.

There were many in this flag-bedecked convention city who felt that it is about all over with but the shouting. Their view—and it was expressed widely by delegates and party leaders—is that Dewey is in such a commanding position that he never will be headed in the voting.

Picton

Three Members PC Association Are Expelled

Picton June 17 — Three Picton men, formerly prominent in the Progressive Conservative party were "peremptorily expelled from the Picton Progressive Conservative Association" at a meeting of the town organization Monday night. This action followed the June 7 election in which an Independent Conservative entered the field in opposition to James deC Hepburn, being backed chiefly by a committee of three local men, H. S. Colliver, ex-M.P.P.; Thomas W. Kinney for many years president of Prince Edward-Lennox P.C. Association and John A. Maher, former treasurer of the Picton Association.

Motion Adopted

Lance Nethery, vice-president of the Picton Association, elected chairman, introduced a resolution calling for the expulsion of H. S. Colliver, ex-M.P.P., Thos. W. Kinney and John A. Maher from the Picton Progressive Conservative Association and for the forwarding of a copy of the resolution to the P.C. Association of Prince Edward-Lennox.

Mr. Nethery, Mayor of Picton, spoke briefly in introducing the resolution, stating that "such action is necessary to regain our standing in the P.C. Association of the riding and in the eyes of the people."

The seconder was Clifford Gerow no one else spoke on the matter and a vote showed no dissenters among the 103 voters present.

During the election campaign, the "Independent Conservative Committee" criticized Mr. Hepburn over political appointments made during his term as member.

Emphasis on Youth

Emphasis was placed on youth in selecting poll chairmen. It was decided to organize a Young Progressive Conservative club, a committee of Woodrow Blakely, Barney Hepburn, J. N. Baillie, Mrs. Bruce Falconer, Mrs. Marjorie Gibson, Charles Hepburn, Mrs. Dorothy Lennox, Phil Dodds being named to carry out the organization. Officers will not be elected until the annual meeting in November. New poll chairmen named were: 1. Raymond Hodgen, Mrs. Walter Reid. 2. Arnold Covert, Harry Bowers. 3. Arthur Dawe, Mrs. J. Hollingsworth. 4. Walter Fraser, Mrs. Gwen Trebell. 5. Bruce Falconer, Mrs. Keith Rose. 6. Brian Dodds, Mrs. Allan Vancott. 7. J. N. Baille Mrs. B Reid, Sr.

President C. F. Evans presided. Phil Dodds spoke briefly urging better organization. Regretting the defeat of Mr. Hepburn, he felt that it may have its benefits as far as the party is concerned.

Business Spotlight

(By The Canadian Press)

Long before the war was over the problems of reconstruction were foreseen and machinery was set up to meet them.

The problems, however, proved beyond the capacity of ordinary measures, partly because the devastation was so great. So there has come into being such vast emergency enterprises as the European Recovery Program.

E.R.P. and its contemplated expenditures of billions, has largely obscured this fact — that the long-term machinery still exists and is functioning to a degree.

Such a piece of machinery is the international bank for reconstruction and development to which 46 countries belong, including Canada.

The $500,000,000 which it has loaned in two years catches few headlines in competition with E.R.P.

The bank was designed to lend money for reconstruction in cases where private loans might not be available on reasonable terms, but where there was good prospect that the borrower could pay it back as the result of the reconstruction which the loan would make possible.

Where does the bank get the money to lend? Partly from subscriptions from member nations, but to a greater extent it plans to get them by selling bonds to the public of various countries.

As a case in point of Canadian interest the bank has loaned $250,000,000 to France for the purchase of capital equipment to help restore her industry. One of France's purchases has been locomotives, of which 100 have come from Canada.

Another instance of Canadian interest is the application for $75,000,000 made by Brazilian Traction Light and Power Corporation, Ltd. Loans made to private companies must be guaranteed by the country in which they operate and a bill now is before the Brazilian Congress to provide Brazil's guarantee of the Traction loan.

As stated in a recent address by E. Fleetwood Dunstan, the bank's director of marketing, one of its objectives is to establish a pattern for a sound resumption of private international investment.

Picton Science Fiction Society Is Organized

At a very enthusiastic meeting held in the Picton Collegiate Institute Tuesday evening the Picton Science Fiction Society was formed. It was decided at the meeting that although the society will be centred at Picton, it will embrace the counties of Prince Edward and Lennox.

Activities of the society will include motion pictures, guest speakers, discussion groups, and debates. These activities will encompass possible application of science at the present and in the future.

Arrangements were also made for the formation of a society library so that a permanent collection of science fiction literature will be available to the members.

Present at the meeting was James Sharman of Hamilton and John A. Farnsworth of Montreal. Mr. Sharman represented both the Science Fiction Society in Hamilton and the Canadian Science Fiction Association which is centred at Hamilton. Mr. Farnsworth represented the McGill Montreal Science Fiction Society.

The meeting was adjourned with the election of an executive for the coming year as follows: President, P. H. Walton; First Vice-President, W. S. Juniper, Jr.; Second Vice - President, R. Gibson; Publicity Director, C. J. Bowie-Reed; Secretary-Treasurer, D. K. Dodds; Mem. Secretary, W. E. Skitteral; Librarian, S. B. Brown.

Mr. S. C. Gay Honored With Gift At S.S. Flower Service

Foxboro—A capacity audience attended church on Sunday morning when a Flower and Children's Service was conducted by the pastor. Pupils of the different classes assisted by Scripture reading and children's hymns and Rev. A. L. Shorten gave an appropriate address on "The Meaning of Flowers and Children in Our lives." The choir rendered appropriate music and the front of the church was beautiful with huge baskets of peonies, iris and spiraea among large potted ferns.

During the service Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Gay were given places of honor while an address was read by Mr. E. Tummon in which was voiced the respect held for Mr. Gay and regret that he had sent in his resignation as superintendent. A fine gold wrist watch was presented by Mr. Percy Priest and a potted plant was presented to Mrs. Gay by Mrs. J. Daniels. Mr. Gay has been very faithful in discharging the duties of superintendent during thirty-three years and this gift was presented to indicate, in a measure, the esteem in which Mr. Gay and Mrs. Gay are held. Mr. Gay very feelingly replied, expressing his thanks for the beautiful gift and the kind thoughts expressed by Mr. Tummon.

Lovely Old Furniture, Porcelains, Silver Feature Antique Dealers' Fair

By SHAUN McQUILLAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, June 17 — (CP) — The glitter of precious metals, the smell of old wood and musty odors of perfume are trademarks of one of London's most curious annual exhibitions — the Antique Dealers Fair.

An estimated £4,000,000 ($16,000,000) worth of antiques from delicate Chinese porcelain of the B. C. era to clumsy oak furniture of the early 18800's is on view in the Great Hall of Grosvenor House where the art fanciers crowd in to admire, criticize and buy.

Nothing later than 1830 vintage is permitted on display. The merchandise includes pewter, prints, clocks and miniature porcelains.

An air of brisk business pervades the thronged hall. A stout prosperous looking dealer, smoking a cigar, discusses feverishly with a prospective buyer the merits of some ancient treasure.

At one stand an expert peers at a minute Japanese carving through a magnifying glass. Farther along a connoisseur stands admiringly before a Chippendale chair and another, examines a miniature silver skull and apple-shaped pomander — a box for perfumes. The apple is inscribed:

"A.D. 1628
"From man came woman
"From woman came sin
"From sin came death."

Most of the stands were decorated with fresh flowers. Many of them are reconstructions typical of rooms in Tudor times. Others are so crammed with oddments that they look just like antique shops, despite the modernity of the vast hall.

Children were notable by their absence among viewers. Perhaps it was just as well. Even elderly folk were sent into chortles of joy as they tried to puzzle out the various mechanical novelties.

Asked what antiques were most demanded, a dealer's representative on one of the stalls told The Canadian Press:

"Silverware from Georgian and Queen Anne periods is selling like hot cross buns on Good Friday. Furniture, too, is in great demand. Many dealers have cleared out their original exhibits and have had to replace them with a fresh lot."

NOW IT'S THE JUKE BOX

The automatic player piano was invented in 1842.

Congress Ready To Override Third Veto in Week

Washington, June 17 — (AP) —Congress, widening its split with President Truman, today undertook the history-making step of overriding his third veto in a week.

A House of Representatives vote was all that was needed to make Truman the first president to have his "noes" on major legislation turned into "yeas" by Congress so often in so short a time.

Today's vote is on a bill to exempt railroads and other surface carriers from anti-trust actions for rates and fare agreements provided the agreements met interstate commerce commission approval.

The Senate overrode the veto Wednesday by a 63-to-25 vote. The House vote is expected to be equally one-sided.

Last Monday the Senate and the House put on the law books over the president's objections a social security bill which Truman claimed would bar 750,000 persons from old age benefits.

Wednesday the two branches nullified his veto of a $975,914,700 appropriation bill which the president rejected because it transfers the United States Employment Service from the Labor Department to the Federal Security Agency.

The rate bill is the 137th Truman has vetoed since he became president. Most of them were minor measures.

He vetoed 76 bills during the 79th (1945-46) Congress in which the Democrats had a majority, and all stuck.

The first (1947) session of the Republican-controlled 80th Congress overrode his veto of the Taft-Hartley labor law but upheld him on 31 others.

During the present session, Congress has received 29 votes.

CANCEL EARLIER DECISION

Winnipeg, June 16 — (CP) — The Winnipeg school board decided by an 8-6 vote Tuesday night to cancel an earlier decision permitting distribution of armed services' literature in the schools.

Trustee Mrs. Margaret Chunn introduced a motion seeking a reversal of the decision, maintaining that "people outside this boardroom are highly incensed at the action."

Seconder Joseph Zuken said that schools had not been established "to be centres of military training."

Many Countries Plan to Import Their Own Food

London, June 17 — (CP)—Britain's "austere" way of life should not bother visiting Olympic Games athletes this summer.

Canada, the United States and others plan to import their own food and their athletes will live much better than many Britons.

Those who don't make their own arrangements will be limited to the diet allowed British industrial workers.

Apart from food, supplied by National Olympic committees, competitors won't need much more personal baggage than they would for a month's holiday at a summer resort. If they run out of toothpaste, razor blades, shaving cream and other necessities a trip to the chemist (drug store to Canadians) will do the trick — there's no shortage in this line.

Canada's women athletes might find the going a bit rough. "There are lots of cosmetics on the market, but the prices are high and it takes tremendous shopping around to obtain the better-known brands," says feminine quarters.

Cigarettes High

Smoking athletes would be wise to come over well supplied. Prices are 70 cents for 20 for the standard brands, but these are mostly "under the counter" and available only to regular customers.

Those who wish to take pictures must bring their own film.

But the visiting athletes will have a big jump in many ways on the civilian population.

Housing centres allotted them will operate a 48-hour service on personal laundry compared to the up-to-a-month service to civilians; a two-day job for dry-cleaning and shoe repairs, both a week or two-week wait for civilians.

In addition, x-ray, dental, physio-therapy and general medical services will be free.

Athletes will have free transportation to and from training grounds and stadiums.

Males needing a haircut should not shy at the various men's "hairdressing saloons" around town. Inside, they are like any barber shop in Canada and the prices are reasonable, about 30 cents.

Don't forget, fellows, bring your raincoat.

EX GENERAE' SESTATE IS UP FOR SALE

Huntington, N.Y., June 16 (AP) —The palatial Long Island estate of Bennett Meyers, former United States army air forces major-general now in jail, is up for sale. The asking price is $100,000, his wife, Mrs. Ila Rae Meyers, announced Tuesday. Meyers is serving a term of from 20 months to five years for inducing an associate to commit perjury before a congressional committee investigating war contracts.

25 NEW FELLOWS

Vancouver, June 16 — (CP) — Meeting at its first Pacific Coast session, the Royal Society of Canada has introduced 25 new fellows into its 67-year-old organization. They include Prof. Henry Alexander, author and professor at Queen's University, introduced into the English literature, philosophy and social science section; and Dr. F. E. J. Fry, director of the Ontario Research Laboratory, in the biological science section.

Free-Spending Days by American Tourists Over

Montreal, June 17 —(CP) — Those good old free spending days by American tourists are apparently over.

Visitors from below the border are getting wiser. Instead of bringing American dollars with them they are bringing Canadian funds purchased in United States banks at a discount, according to a survey by the Gazette.

Hotel and rooming house operators, amusement places, handicraft shops and other establishments who do substantial business with tourists said that although there are more tourists this year, the number of American dollars passed out has greatly decreased.

Bl thm-mbhyL13 ETAOIINN

By purchasing their Canadian money at home, American save approximately seven cents on every dollar. While American money is only accepted at par in Canada, Canadian dollars can be bought for about 93 cents on the New York market.

Some observers here report that Canadian dollars can be bought on the black market and from other sources for as low as 87 cents in American currency.

An official of the foreign exchange control board said Americans wanting to bring Canadian money into Canada can do so without any trouble. Funds are obtainable at banks and in most cases drafts are made out.

A manager of one of Montreal's large hotels said his business was much heavier than last year, but the numbers of bills paid with American money had shrunk considerably.

QUERY ON BUTTER PRICE CEILING

Ottawa, June 17 — (CP) — Finance Minister Abbott gave R. E. Drope (PC-Northumberland) the stock answer in the Commons to a question about whether the government intends to retain the butter price ceiling.

This, said Mr. Abbott, is "a matter of government policy," which will be announced "in due course."

BRITISH ARMY DOCTOR SENTENCED TO DISMISSAL

London, June 16 (Reuters) — Capt. John Stuart Smith, 50-year old British army doctor, today was sentenced by a court martial to dismissal from the service. He had been found guilty on five charges of neglect at the Bad Nenndorf Interrogation camp near Hanover Germany.

The sentence is subject to confirmation.

The court martial found him innocent of the manslaughter of two German internees at the camp and innocent of six other neglect charges.

Ted Williams of Boston Sox Conquers 2 Biggest Obstacles In Path to .440 Hitting Mark

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

That second .400 mark, the goal that Ted Williams has set for himself, appears to be within striking distance, now that the splendid splinter has finally solved two of his biggest problems.

The mighty slugger of the Boston Red Sox, currently leading all major league batsmen with a cool .408, expressed doubt early this Spring whether he would top .350 because of two things—the "Boudreau shift" and night baseball.

The box scores best illustrate how Ted has hurled obstacles this season. In addition to his pace-setting batting mark, Williams also is No. 1 man in the American League in hit, runs, runs batted in and doubles. He is second in home runs and he has not committed an error in the outfield this season.

Ted had a perfect day at bat yesterday, four for four. Two of his hits went to left field. One was a double and the other cleared the left field fence for his 13th home run.

The blows came against Boudreau's league leading Indians and helped the Red Sox defeat Cleveland and Bob Feller 7-4. It was Feller's seventh loss against five victories. He hasn't won a game since May 19.

Extend Winning Streak

Detroit Tigers ran their winning streak to six straight games with a 2-1 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics in 11 innings. Young Art Houtteman won a close one, outpitching Lefty Lou Brissie.

The Yankees nipped the White Sox 3-1 in Chicago. Allie Reynolds went the route for the first time since May 11. He allowed only seven hits in gaining his seventh victory.

Pittsburgh Pirates climbed into a tie with the Boston Braves for the National League lead when they trounced New York Giants 11-5 while the Braves were beaten by the Chicago Cubs 8-5.

Home runs by Johnny Hopp and Wally Westlake, and four Giant errors, helped the Pirates. Ernie Bonham, veteran righthander, won his second straight.

Home runs by Ed Waitkus and Andy Pafko (his 10th this year) and some good relief pitching by Emil Kush enabled the Cubs to gain their first victory over the Braves in eight games this season.

Brooklyn Dodgers edged Cincinnati Reds 4-3 and St. Louis Browns nosed out Washington Senators 6-5.

Carl Furillo drove in three Brooklyn runs on a double and two singles, one with the bases loaded to break up the game in the ninth. Big Ralph Branca was the winner.

C.A.H.A. Split Biggest Melon In History

(By The Canadian Press)

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association split its biggest melon in history Wednesday, sending $103,000 in cheques through the mails for distribution. The cheques came out of profit of $146,680.27 which the C.A.H.A. made on Allan and Memorial Cup games last Spring.

Of the profit, Juniors contributed more than $80,000, Seniors producing more than $66,000. The west cashed in heavily with Edmonton Flyers, Allan Cup Champs, drawing $8,900 and Port Arthur Bruins reaping $10,700 for copping the Memorial Cup. The amounts included a $500 bonus paid cup finalists.

The Allan Cup finals between Edmonton and Ottawa Senators draw only $14,190 while the Eastern Senior final between Hamilton Tigers and Ottawa made $26,298. The Memorial Cup finals between Barrie Flyers and Port Arthur netted $22,713 while the western final between Lethbridge Native Sons and Port Arthur made $16,037.

Frankie Kovacs of Oakland, Calif., moved into the semi-finuals of the United States professional tennis championships Wednesday. He ousted Pancho Segura of Ecuador in a hard-fought match. Defending champion Bobby Riggs and Elwood Cooke of New York moved forward to compete the quarter-finals with victories over Dick Van Den Bosch of Sunnyside, N.Y., and Pierre Pellizza of France respectively.

Russia was among the missing Wednesday night when a record number of 57 nations were listed by the British Olympic organizing committee as official entries in the Olympics. At the Berlin games in 1936, 52 nations accepted invitations and 48 participated.

Fred Daly and Max Faulkner ner, two British Ryder Cup golfers, led the field with a pair of 69s Wednesday at the end of the first round of the Manchester Evening Chronicle's $6,000 professional golf tourney. Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., shot a 72 while Jimmy Thomson of Los Angeles had an 80.

Mrs. John Medland of Toronto was elected president of the Ontario branch of the Canadian Ladies Golf Union at the annual meeting in Toronto Wednesday. Caroline Mitchell of Kingston, was named handicap manager for Eastern Ontario.

The Incorporated Canadian Racing Association disapproved Wednesday, a recommendation that split saliva tests be required on racing tracks. Replying to a demand of the Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Association, a statement said that the suggested method for testing the saliva and urine of race horses lessened the chemists' chance of finding traces of a stimulant drug.

A world record for a straight 4 1-2 furlongs was established in New York, Wednesday at Belmont Park when Algasir, a juvenile bay gelding, burned up the course in .50 4-5, beating the former world mark by one-fifth of a second.

Mimico Mountaineers ran their victory string to three straight Wednesday night by defeating Brampton Excelsiors 18-9 in a penalty-studded Ontario Lacrosse Association senior tilt. Jack Williams was top marksman with five goals.

Flashing back to the form which made him the outstanding Canada-owned pacer in 1946, Blue Again paced the fastest mile of the 1948 Canadian season in Ridgetown Wednesday when he stepped off the distance in 2.09.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

BY GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

The publicity drums are throbbing and the tubs a-thumping along the rialtos of the squared circle all of which primarily is to ensure the two Joes, Louis and Walcott, of sufficient of the long green lettuce to give the one more income tax worries and the other, what he has been looking for for years, security.

• • •

Looking over reports of the various boxing experts of N'Yawk, Chicago and other metropolitan centres, and perusing flaming stories in the various sports and other mags, the boys who operate the typewriter mills are doing a swell job for both Joes. And the two colored gentlemen in particular aren't being backward in giving the newshounds all the pre-fight ballyhoo they want. And if they don't think of something new every day, then free rein is given to the imaginations.

• • •

Jersey Joe in a two-piece article in a prominent magazine writes the story of his life—and if you are least bit sentimental or have a softening in the cardiac region for one whose most strenuous battle is providing the necessities of life for a growing family—being faced with hard-hearted landlords, grocers, butchers, doctors, and others haunting you every day and reaching with avaricious hands for the meagre purses obtained at all too infrequent periods—then you'll enjoy the Walcott tear-jerker.

• • •

According to Mr. Cream (Jersey Joe) he never had a chance when he was a young fighter like Mr. Barrow (Joe Louis). If Mr. Cream had not been deprived of the opportunities to show his worth by greedy managers, and promoters, he would have been in the Louis shoes while the Sepia Bomber would still be working for twenty-five bucks a day as a dock walloper in Detroit.

• • •

Max Baer boasted to newspapermen what he would do to Louis, but those who lived with him in his camp in the Adirondacks knew that Max in reality underwent cold sweats of anticipation. Before Billy Conn's second bout with Louis, Conn got nervous and bad-tempered and abused old newspaper acquaintances. Mauriello was so tensed up that his handlers imported a band to prevent him from going into deep freeze.

• • •

But not Jersey Joe. In fact he admits it will be the opposite. Instead, he claims, Louis will enter the ring next Wednesday night with a fear of him (Walcott). He goes so far as to relate how he will floor the champion. "I'll draw a lead from him with a feint. He'll start to hook. I'll counter over the left hand with a right. Maybe the chance will come while we're moving out of a clinch. His left will be low — it nearly always is — and I'll shoot my right real fast. It can happen when I'm backed up against the ropes. He might be trying to bull me there. He likes to chop with his left from that position. But I sense his moves. I'll weave out of line and then come with a right to the side of his head. That's exactly the punch I dropped him with in the first round last time."

• • •

Possibly Mr. Louis will be interested to know that. But Mr. Walcott had better be careful. Several factors are against him and one is the tradition of "they never come back against Louis the second time." Joe has proven that several times. It will be a different Joe Louis that steps in the ring on June 23rd. If training camp reports are true, he won't be the flabby overweight stodgy fighter that some predicted he would be. Louis came very near to losing his crown in his last fight with Walcott, and he won't be taking any chances this time.

• • •

Even if the one-time lethal fists of the heavyweight champion did not go to the Walcott head, the fact that he held the Black Bomber at bay for fifteen rounds did. He has developed an ego that may eventually prove his undoing. For even if the Detroit slugger has reached the age where Old Father Time is beginning to take toll, he still packs sufficient wallop to tuck Jersey Joe away. A slow-moving freight can have the same effect as a crack passenger train if it connects with the family jalopy at the proper moment.

• • •

In fact Walcott has reached a stage of braggadocio that is beginning to pall a bit. The other day at his training camp in Grenloch, New Jersey, he spat out his mouthpiece, heaved out his chest and told reporters "I could lick him (Louis) the best day he ever saw....any time....any place....anywhere." With a frank flaming confidence he promises "I won't leave it up to the officials this time. I will score a knockout."

• • •

He is keyed up with a personal antagonism for Louis, one that is being fired with the fuel of publicity, and distorted reports from the Louis camp. "Being the champion so long," Walcott said recently of Louis, "has made him think he is high and mighty. There are no supermen in this country. We're all the same. He got good breaks early in his boxing career. I got bad ones. Maybe if it had been the other way around, I might have been up there all the time and him in my place."

• • •

Walcott reveals his mentality in that statement. No cheap punk can win and maintain the world's heavyweight title for eleven years and defend it successfully twenty-five times. And as far as supermen are concerned the Black Bomber was just that as far as heavyweight champions go. He met all and feared none, won his fights and maintained his title through the terrific power of his thundering fists.

• • •

Out of two hundred and fifty sports writers in the United States and Canada, 200 have called Louis to win by a knockout. The remaining fifty call Walcott by K.O. or a decision. As far as this corner is concerned we're taking Louis to put Walcott away in the fourth round. In our opinion, Louis is one of the greatest champions of all time, a fearless fighter, who feared none and took them all on. And we cannot see where a third rater, who flashed into overnight prominence with a near-decision over a slowed-up perhaps over-confident champion, in their first meeting, can upset any traditions against Louis who has proved that he can come back, and we confidently predict that he will —and in no uncertain manner.

Luke Hamlin Defeated 1-0 In Hurling Duel

(By The Associated Press)

The pitching staff of Montreal Royals is gradually shaping up as the best in the International League.

Righthanders Jack Banta and Hank Behrman have borne the brunt of the mound work so far but manager Clay Hopper is beginning to give more work to southpaws Johnny Van Cuyk and Paul Minner.

Minner gained his third triumph last night, pitching the Royals to a 5-2 victory over Jersey City Giants.

By winning, the Royals moved two games ahead of the second place Newark Bears who dropped a 5-4 decision to Buffalo Bisons.

The Bears piled up a 4-0 lead but the Bisons came back with three runs in the fifth to rout starter Dick Starr.

In one of the finest hurling duels of the season, Syracuse Chiefs beat Toronto Maple Leafs 1-0 in 12 innings.

Austin Knickerbocker, a former Leaf, homered in the third overtime frame to win the game.

Napanee Dunks Electrics Under 17-0 Shower

With big Ed. Hooper, Napanee ace righthander fashioning a neat three-hit pitching effort, and his mates pounding the offerings of two Northern Electric hurlers to all corners of the lot, the Gibbardville crew had an easy time disposing of Lefty Noakes plant players at the Fair Grounds last night. When the smoke had cleared and the adding machines quietened, the score read 17-0 for the town squad.

It was one of those games where the winning team could do nothing wrong and the losers vice versa. But Napanee clearly demonstrated last night that they are one of the most powerful squads in the Belleville Baseball League, and that goes for all departments.

After the third innings when Bobby Bunton, Electric starting hurler by the grace of the Kiwanis Juniors, was nicked for five hits and as many runs, it was merely a matter of going through the motions. Bunton had difficulty in finding the plate and walked seven batters while striking out an equal number. Napanee pounced on him again in the fourth for three runs for as many hits and again in the fifth when he yielded five more markers for a quintet of blows.

Sent Robert to Showers

That sent M'sieu Robert to the showers and a respite at first base. Manager Lefty Noakes went into the breach and he was some improvement on Bunton yielding seven hits for four runs for the four innings he worked.

Hooper turned in a masterful effort on the mound for Napanee. The big fellow struck out an even dozen and issued but one walk. True he committed the only Napanee error but he redeemed himself by clouting out a home run and a double, and scoring three times. The only Electric batters to have any luck with his shoots was Rutherford who got two singles and Don Barrett, who pounded out the third Electric hit. Barrett played flawless ball in centrefield for the losers accepting six chances without a miscue. Only thirty-two batters faced Hooper over the nine innings pastime.

Every player on the Napanee team fattened his batting average at the expense of the Electric hurlers with the exception of Bud Green who whiffed three times and drew three walks.

Brother Vern who holds down the keystone sack for Napanee had a field day with the bludgeon accounting for a double and three singles and a walk. Curry got two doubles and a single; Jocko three singles. Vick a pair of singles and Hooper a home run and a double. Hayes and Maracle got a single each.

Sports Shorts from Britain

By ALAN HARVEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, June 17 — (CP)—Tipperary Tom Morris built a £500,000 ($2,000,000) business on a mutton cutlet, non-edible variety.

Mutton Cutlet was a greyhound. Morris bought the dog in England for £142 and transplanted him to Clonmel, capital of Tipperary. The results were phenomenal.

Mutton Cutlet became the granddaddy of the greyhound - breeding industry. Four years old when imported by Morris, he died at 12 — but by popular estimate 80 to 90 per cent of all high-class racing dogs in Ireland trace their ancestry to Mutton Cutlet.

Up to only the second generation, Mutton Cutlet's progeny won more than £500,000 in stake money, principally on English tracks. His puppies have been sold in Canada, England, France, Belgium, the United States, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand. Clonmel, now the greyhound - breeding capital of the world, produces 50 per cent of the world's racing greyhounds.

And the grey-haired, rosy-cheeked Morris, joint secretary with his brother Arthur of the club which controls greyhound racing and breeding in the 26 counties of Eire, values his business at £500,000 — largely due to the influence of the Mutton Cutlet string.

Clonmel and its environs still send about 10,000 greyhounds to England every year, and the Irish importations usually are among the favorites for the Greyhound Derby. This year, although the race at London's White City will not be run until June 26, one Irish dog, Priceless Border, is such a standout that bookmakers at first refused to quote odds against him.

With 70 dogs still eligible for the race, Priceless Border now is quoted at 6-4. Two other Irish dogs, Mazurka (8-1) and Cheerful Comedy (3-1), are expected to provide the principal opposition.

Employees of a London evening newspaper profited on an unusual hunch bet. They were studying racing entries on a teleprinter when the glass screen of the printer broke as the name of the horse "Smithereens" was being transmitted.

So the newspaper men bet Smithereens, a late entry in the first race at Salisbury. It won and paid 6-1.

Britain is providing the opportunity for a world-wide exchange of information and views covering the whole field of physical training and education at an international congress to be held in London in July. Delegates from more than 50 countries will attend.

Kinsmen Win Over Optimist Midgets 6-2

The Kinsmen midgets baseballers defeated the Optimist Club squad by a 6-2 score at the Exhibition Grounds prior to the Napanee-Northern Electric game last night.

Kinsmen scored all their runs in the fourth innings off the Optimist starting pitcher, Brown. Strachan went to his relief and held the Kinsmen bats scoreless for the rest of the game. Claude Carr went the route for the winners allowing only two runs.

FISH IN NEW WATERS

Niagara Falls, June 17 (CP)—More than 1,000 fish were transferred to nearby Gibson Lake from the St. Catharines reservoir over the weekend. Removal of the fish was forced because the reservoir was drained for summer repairs.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, June 17 — (AP) — Letting other guys do your work: Horace Wade, Monmouth Park publicist, was looking for an angle on the Salvator Mile, opening day feature of the modern New Jersey track . . . The race honors Salvator, which set a mile record of 1:35 ½ at old Monmouth Park 58 years ago. Equipoise currently holds the record of 1:34 2/5 . . . one horseman asked: "Everybody speaks about the four-minute mile man is going to run some day. How about the horse that is going to run the 1:30 mile?" . . . The horsemen at Monmouth insisted there ain't no such animal and settled for a composite nag which might turn the trick . . .

Seeing mention in this space of a fight between nonpariel Jack Dempsey and George Fulljames for the world middleweight title in 1884, Mrs. Gertrude Lombard of Ludlowville, N. Y., asks further particulars . . . "George Fulljames was my great uncle," she explains. "He came from a proud old English family, who disowned him for entering the fight game. His name was never afterwards spoken in the family . . . This is the first time I've ever Uncle George's name in print."

Vancouver, June 17 — (CP)—Vancouver had its first Sunday baseball game this week. The fans liked it, as did the flood victims. But John Law didn't.

Following Sunday's Western International League exhibition tilt between Vancouver Capilanos and Victoria Athletics, Police Chief Walter Mulligan said: "Don't do it again."

Don (Vancouver Sun) Carlson says: "Well, Fraser River, don't you do it again."

The ball clubs sidestepped fixtures with teams South of the Border in order to play the benefit game. Everyone paid, even the management. The exhibition grossed $2,500-odd for the flood fund from the 2,000 or so who defied the Lord's Day Act. By playing the benefit game both teams "lost" $1,000 each.

Carlson says: "You could have knocked everybody in the Capilano front office over with a feather after Chief Mulligan's statement appeared in Monday's early editions.

"Of course, sooner or later, we were bound to hear about this anachronistic law what with a bunch of heathens rushing about trying to raise money for victims of a heathen river which threatened lives and property Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday."

"The Act was offended. And who now is left in the middle? That rag-tailed, Sabbath-breaking game of baseball."

"The boys who covered the floods tell me the river was just as high on Sundays as on Mondays. Houses and barns went a-floating downstream as buoyantly on the Sabbath as on a Tuesday.

"In my day I don't think I have ever run into a disaster which picked week days because there was a Lord's Day Act against it."

U. S. ACTED QUICKLY

After the Battle of Britain in 1940, when the R.A.F. defeated the German Luftwaffe, the United States rushed the reserve weapons of the American Army to Britain.

Ray Robinson Favored to Beat Benard Docusen

Chicago, June 17 (AP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson, the Harlem hurricane, is a 3-to-1 favorite to retain his world's welterweight boxing crown tonight against his No. 1 contender, Benard Docusen of New Orleans, in a 15-round bout at Comiskey Park.

The match will not be broadcast.

Promoter Irving Kovin predicted a turnout of 15,000, with gate receipts hitting the $100,000 mark. The champion's cut will be 37 1-2 per cent. The challenger will receive 20 per cent.

Robinson, seeking his 33rd successive triumph, will be shooting for a quick knockout against his 21-year-old foe who popped out of nowhere to become the No. 1 contender. A quick victory would improve Robinson's chances for a lucrative autumn match with middleweight champion Tony Zale in New York.

Robinson and Docusen have only one foe in common, Norman Rubio, whom Robinson defeated in 10 rounds in 1946. A few months later Docusen won an eight-rounder from Rubio.

Docusen has scored 44 victories, fought four draws, and lost two in 50 professional fights. He reversed the two he lost. Docusen has scored only 11 knockouts indicating his weak hitting ability.

Johnny Wyrostek Spoils No-Hitter For Ralph Branca

Brooklyn, June 17 (AP)—"I thought I had it this time." It was big Ralph Branca talking in the Brooklyn Dodger dressing room last night. He had just thrown 7 2-3 innings of hitless baseball against Cincinnati Reds.

"I got by that first man in the eighth and thought I had it made."

He got by one more man. Then Ray Lamanno was safe on an error. Then came Johnny Wyrostek.

"It (the pitch) went low, fast and down the middle," said the righthander. "It was supposed to be a high one. It wasn't. "Wham?"

And Wyrostek parked it for a home run.

The four bagger tied the score at 3-3 and Brooklyn finally won, 4-3, with a run in the last of the ninth.

The Reds scored off Branca in the first inning without a hit. Wyrostek walked, stole second, moved to third on an infield out and scampered home after a long fly.

Had west known it in time, opening lead of a diamond would have defeated the slam. When east got club ace his side could have taken a diamond trick. But west started with a spade lead.

When dummy hand spreads you can see three seeming losers; two diamonds and a club. One of these can be saved easily. Simply pull trumps and sluff a dummy loser on the fourth south spade.

First thought might be to sluff the lone dummy club. It is very tempting to get rid of a singleton that opponents could have picked up. Such an opportunity often closes your mind to better things.

But getting rid of this club leaves two diamond losers. Only one can be spared. Two sluffs of dummy losers are absolutely necessary for taking the 12 needed tricks.

The spade lead gave declarer the timing he needed. For dummy to get a second sluff, south must masterize his club king. And it must be done before opponents get two tricks.

Dummy got the first trick with a high spade. King and queen of hearts pulled two trump rounds. Two more dummy spades were cashed. Now the lone dummy club was led through east.

If west has club ace the contract is killed. But so would it be by any other try. And it so happens that east has the ace. He wins with it and his diamond return is now futile.

South diamond ace wins. Spade ace and club king are led. On these are sluffed both remaining dummy diamonds. Trumps have the rest.

Employ the safest plan to capture what you can.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, June 17 — (AP)— Abbott and Costello will continue to seek their professional fortunes in the United States. They have called off their jaunt for stage and screen appearances in England.

The deal was stalled pending settlement of their dispute with Universal - International. Now it's too late for them to prepare an English picture. And Lou balked at a proposal to play London's Palladium in November.

"I'm afraid the winter weather wouldn't be too good for me," said Lou, who has suffered rheumatic fever. "And the most important thing to me now is my health."

On the Set

Claudette Colbert, who doesn't look a day older than "It Happened One Night," is getting busier these days. She goes from "Family Honeymoon" into another comedy ("we hope it will be"). It's now called "The Soft Touch," but they're searching for another title.

Danny Kaye enlivened the California millinery designers hat show by staging his sure-fire routines and trying on the latest lids.

Fashion Tip

Next fall the gals will be wearing hats styled for the new short hair-do. Pastel-shaded models will be featured with veils and feathers (blackbird, goose, ostrich, chicken and vulture).

Sights and Sounds

Ronald Reagan startling the "Jones Beach" set by removing his contact lenses . . . Eddie Bracken on the same set practicing his slight-of-hand by removing wrist watches from bystanders (a guy can get into trouble doing that) . . .

Fred MacMurray consuming parts of 26 pies for a film scene . . . Humphrey Bogart walking unnoticed around Warners in his dark glasses and deep tan. His comment: "These glasses are handy when you go to see Jack Warner; all he can see is his own reflection."

Champions Will Defend Titles In Track Meet

London, Ont., June 17 (CP)— A dozen or more of last year's provincial champions are expected here Saturday to defend their titles and bid for Olympic berths in the Ontario track and field championships which are being held jointly with the Olympic trials for Zone Two at the University of Western Ontario Stadium.

The 100 and 200-metre sprints likely will be the headline attraction. Ted Haggis defending champion of London tops the entry list in the 100 metres, but he will get strong opposition from fleet-footed Jack Parry, of Western.

Parry is the defending champion in the 200 metres, with Bob McFarlane as runner-up.

Bob McFarlane, holder of the Canadian quarter-mile record, and rated as Canada's best Olympic prospect will defend his title in the 400 metres. His brother Don, and Bill LaRochelle, both members of Western University's recording-holding mile relay team, rate as his chief opposition.

Western's mile relay team of Don and Bob McFarlane, Bill LaRochelle and Jack Parry tops the entries in the 1600 metre relay.

The Hamilton High School fast Gord Haight will be Don McFarlanes chief threat in the 300 metres. Haight has already beaten McFarlane once this year in a meet at St. Catharines.

Kim Kimbark of Toronto, will defend his 110-metre hurdles title, and he also will run in the 400-metre hurdles.

The field events also have drawn a fine entry list. Wally Brown of Toronto West End Y will defend his title in the running broad jump and high jump.

Bob Phibbs, U.W.O. basketball and football star ,is another champion who will be defending two titles. Phibbs won both the discus and javelin throws last year.

Washington — (AP) — It may be just a coincidence, but the Republican-controlled Congress has come out strongly in favor of better care and treatment for elephants.

The House of Representatives Wednesday approved a bill which calls for humane treatment of wild animals brought into the United States.

In a report accompanying the bill, a House committee referred to a shipment of elephants from India.

The animals, accustomed to warm weather, arrived on the deck of a ship in February — "practically unprotected from the icy, salt waves which broke over them," said the Congressmen. They — the elephants — were white with salt, shivering and moaning and very near death." Four had died en route.

The elephant is the mascot of the Republican party while the Democrats favor the donkey.

The bill said nothing about kindness to donkeys.

New York — (AP) — Twenty-five weary parents Wednesday concluded an all-night vigil to enroll their children in a Manhattan parochial school.

The group began forming at 4:30 p.m. Tuesday for the 20 vacancies remaining in the first year class of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs. By the registration hour, 9 a.m. Wednesday, the parents had been joined by 20 others with the same objective.

Parents relieved each other during the night so they could get some sleep. Relays of coffee were sent to those on line, who sat on camp stools and boxes.

St. Helens, Ore. — (AP) — The city water department fired its four beavers after a year's employment Wednesday, and said from now on it would hire strictly human help.

The beavers did almost everything that was hoped for. They built dams in the city watershed; they charged no salaries; they worked longer hours than any human would.

But—they simply wouldn't follow the city's engineering plans.

A year ago St. Helens turned the beavers loose on Milton Creek. It expected them to build dams, impounding water to be used during the dry season.

They did build dams, too. But they built them all in the wrong places.

Instead of helping to store water, the beavers diverted small springs which had been flowing into the reservoir.

New York — (AP) — It happened Wednesday in Brooklyn:

Someone tossed a softball. It crashed through the window of a trolley car.

Four persons inside the trolley were injured as the ball ricocheted around the car. All were treated for cuts and bruises.

Rainmakers Watch Cloud Formations To Produce Rain

(By The Canadian Press)

Rainmakers today watched for cloud formations suitable for production of showers over the bush fires still raging in the Mississagi and Chapleau districts of Northern Ontario.

Dry ice was kept ready in Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., for lands department men to load aboard an Ontario Hydro Commission plane when word came that moisture-laden cloudbanks were drifting over the fire areas between Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury.

The forestry men and a federal meterologist awaited only favorable conditions to resume bombardment of clouds in efforts to touch off a heavy rainstorm which could quench fires that have licked through rich timberland since May 25.

Use of dry ice started a rainstorm in the Gogama area northwest of Sudbury last week. Since then, however, north country clouds have had low water content and dousing them with the solidified carbon monoxide had little effect.

Showers which put out the Quebec bush fires and checked many Ontario blazes steered clear of the Mississagi-Chapleau conflagrations. Cloudy skies and cool weather checked the spread of the fires yesterday and gave fire crews a chance to reform their lines.

Forestry experts said the fire hazard could be classed as "medium."

But the general closure to bush travel remained in effect in fire areas of Northern Ontario. Travel was possible to most resorts but trips to sections where the fire-fighting was in progress was discouraged.

Would Introduce Chopping Sport To Canada, U.S.

By LESLIE BRODIE
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Sydney, Australia — (CP) — Australian woodsmen plan to make a tour of Canada and the United States to introduce woodchopping as a sport to the North American continent.

This unique and popular sport is one of the main attractions at the big agricultural shows throughout Australia. It quickly caught on with the public when it was first introduced as a sport in 1890, and has grown in popularity each year. It is the star turn at the Sydney Royal Agricultural Show where more than 1,000,000 city and country folk go through the turnstiles in the week the show lasts.

The idea of sending a team on a tour was first mooted at this year's show when I. J. Roberts, secretary of the Axemen's Association, received proposals from a group of American radio stations to open negotiations to send a strong team to the United States for a coast to coast exhibition tour.

Roberts told a reporter that visitors from the United States and Britain were all convinced that the men they saw chopping at the show would be a sensation overseas. He said that one English visitor tried to get a copy of the wood-chop because he thought his friends would not believe him when he told them about it.

The wood-choppers themselves do not expect to meet much opposition overseas but figure they will draw capacity crowds to their exhibitions. The Sydney Royal Show event is billed as the 'world's championship."

To Include Champions

Several former "world champions" would be included in the team if negotiations for the trip are completed satisfactorily.

Tom Kirk, 5 feet, 10 inches, a timber mill owner with a 53 inch chest, will be one of the team. Kirk at 32 takes his training seriously. He does little actual woodchopping during training and relies on gymnasium workouts almost entirely. He says that the gym work builds him up and the absence of wood-cutting gives him looser muscles and more resilience.

From performances put up here by veterans it would appear that experience is more important than youth. Manny McCarthy, recognized as one of the leading choppers in the country for many years, is now 44. McCarthy was just beaten by Kirk in this year's championship. He is credited with chopping thru an 18-inch Blackbut (hardwood) log in 52 1/5 seconds. He has won the Sydney Show "World" championship more times than any other man.

Bill Johnson, winner of the 1948 tree felling contest, stands out as another who is likely to be invited to make the tour. Johnson is a slim 6 ft. 3 inch athlete who can scale up the "springboards" with the agility of a monkey.

The springboards are set into the tree by the wood-choppers by cutting a small nick in the side and inserting a board. They then climb on the board and insert another higher up. This goes on until they have reached the desired height. They cut one side of the tree, descend and repeat the performance on the other side.

AT THE BELLE — Ida Lupino co-starred with Errol Flynn and Eleanor Parker in Warner Bros.' filmization of Margaret Kennedy's romantic novel "Escape Me Never," now on the Belle Theatre screen with Philip Reed and Hillard Brooke in "Big Town After Dark."

Little Benny's Note Book

This morning pop was looking at his paper and drinking his 2nd cup of coffee and ma said, I think P. Willis Hinkle is right, William.

Good pop said, and ma said, P. Willis Hinkle always says in his column that a man's morning newspaper should be his undisterbed castle, and I fully agree with him.

Me too, pop said, and ma said, That's why I wouldn't dreem of talking to you while you're immersed in morning headlines during the few hurried minutes you allow yourself for breakfast although it would probably be an improvement for your health if you allowed yourself a little leizure with your breakfast instead of rushing off to the office like a lost train.

Uh huh, pop said, and ma said, Anyway, as P. Willis Hinkle says, the way to live and let live is to respect the little everyday traditions sutch as a man's freedom from conversational interfeerance when he is alone with his office and his morning newspaper.

You bet, pop said, and ma said So that's why I make it a fixed point to keep strictly out of the picture while you are glancing at the financial news or even scurrying through the headlines.

By gollies, something tells me if I put this paper down, you'd like to have a few werds with me, pop said, and ma said, Why William, you're postively sykick, you ought to be a great sycologist. Not that I have anythng special of a particular nature to tell you. I mean I just feel like talking in general and naturally if you weren't looking at your paper we could chat without putting me in a false position if you know what I mean, she said.

I think I can guess my dear, pop said.

And he folded up his paper and talked to ma during his 3rd cup of coffee.

Felt Fatigued, Rundown Nervous; Stomach Rebelled

In Poor Health for Several Years, Says This Woman. Delighted with Improvement Since Taking Syntona. "Stomach Felt Better From First Few Doses."

If you feel overtired, worn-out and nervous; if bowels are constipated and you suffer with indigestion, gas, sour, upset stomach or rheumatic pain, if you have dizzy feelings, headaches and nerves on edge, try a short treatment of Syntona Herbal Compound. This medicine has helped many thousands of men and women suffering in this same way and the chances are it will soon have you feeling like yourself again.

"For several years I suffered with stomach disorders and my entire system was rundown," said Mrs. Jean Smith, Spring Valley, Ontario, in a recent report.

"I felt fatigued and wornout all the time, my nerves were all on edge and although I had a poor appetite, what food I did eat upset my stomach. I suffered with gas, indigestion and sour acid risings. My stomach would feel bloated and I was subject to throbbing headaches and dizzy feelings.

"After trying one thing and another without benefit, I got Syntona and my stomach felt better from the first few doses. I kept on taking this medicine and now I am delighted with the improvement in my health. My nerves are calmed down so I am even able to sleep more soundly at night, I don't get tired as I did before and I am free of headache and dizzy spells. Now my food digests well and I enjoy my meals once more.

"I am very glad to have others know how this medicine has helped me."

Syntona is sold and recommended in Belleville at DOLAN THE DRUGGIST. Find out how it can help you, too.

Industries Are Worst Offenders In Wasting Hydro

Goderich, June 17 — (CP) — Industries of the province are "among the worst offenders" in wasting hydro, Chairman Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission told several thousand Huron county residents here Wednesday.

Extensions under way in rural power service, particularly in Western Ontario were outlined by Mr. Saunders, as he opened the sixth annual field day of the Huron County Federation of Agriculture.

"There are some who suggest that in view of the shortage of power, we should stop further rural extensions," he said. "We at hydro believe in the importance of agriculture. We believe too that the farmers of Ontario are entitled to their share of whatever power is available.

He had discussed the shortage and the future hydro position with experts, "but I can say quite frankly that if the people of this province including industry which may I say, happen to be among the worst offenders, would only realize that electric energy should not be wasted then we would be in a position to carry ourselves until all our new generating plans are in operation.

"Cut out the waste and we can carry on. Cut out the waste and we can do without much of the inconvenience that has been forced upon the people in the past."

BEDTIME DRINK

Posset, an old-fashioned bedtime drink, consisted of boiled milk curdled by the addition of lemon, vinegar, wine or ale, and sweetened with treacle.

U.S. Foreign Aid Program Heading For Showdown

Washington, June 17 — (AP) —The multi-billion dollar foreign aid program headed for a final showdown today.

A Senate-House of Representatives conference committee was called into session to decide how much the United States will spend to help 16 European countries, Japan, China, and Korea on the road to recovery.

A lively verbal fight appeared certain before the conferences emerge with the finished bill—a compromise between the sharply conflicting Senate and House versions.

The House took the Truman administration's proposed $6,533,710,228 program, spread it from 12 to 15 months, and in effect whittled off about $1,433,000,000.

The Senate took a very different view of the foreign needs. It changed the program back to 12 months and restored an estimated $1,175,000,000 of the House cuts, in addition to knocking out some House restrictions.

The major differences to be settled are these:

1. The time—whether the program will be a 12- or 15-month program.

2. European recovery — the Senate voted the economic co-operation administration $4,000,000,000 in addition to $1,055,000,000 already received. Senator Styles Bridges (Rep.-N.H.), appropriations committee chairman, says this is equal to a $950,000,000 boost over what the House gave the E.C.A.

3. China aid—the Senate voted $460,000,000 to be spent in 12 months. Of this amount, $125,000,000 is for military purposes. The House program was $320,000,000.

4. Greek-Turkish aid — the Senate, $250,000,000 the House $200,000,000.

5. International children's emergency feeding — the House $40,000,000, the Senate $20,000,000.

Liberals Attack Double Penalty, Block Passage

Ottawa, June 17 (CP)—Liberal members attacked a double penalty clause in the income tax law Wednesday and managed to block its passage through the Commons Banking and Commerce Committee.

The protested provision is one allowing the revenue department to impose a penalty for late filing of income tax returns in addition to any fine imposed by the courts. On the status for years, it was scrutinized as the committee proceeded with a general overhall of the Income Tax Act.

After hearing protests from Jean Lesage (L—Montmagny - L'Islet) and Eugene Marquis (L—Kamouraska), Finance Minister Abbott agreed to let the clause remain in abeyance and consider modifying it.

Joseph Bradette (L—Cochrane) said many taxpayers were incensed at a clause implementing Mr. Abbott's budget announcement that interest rates on income tax underpayments were to be boosted from four and seven to six and eight per cent.

Mr. Abbott contended this created no hardship. The four-per-cent rate was less than the charge under which most business men could borrow money.

At the suggestion of Gordon B. Isnor, (L-Halifax) the committee decided to reduce the eight-percent rate to seven per cent. This rate applies on under-payments after a taxpayer has filed a return.

Russians Plan More Restrictions On German Travel

(By RICHARD KASISCHKE)

Berlin, June 17 (AP)—Three committees of the Allied Kommandatura for Berlin met today, with the Russians present despite their angry walkout Wednesday night from the Kommandatura itself, last functioning four-power agency in the city.

They stalked out of the long session shouting: "There won't be any next meeting." Col. Frank Howley, the United States representative at that meeting, said he believed the Russians intend to boycott the Kommandatura, as they have the Allied Control Council for Germany since March 20. A Russian walkout broke up that agency.

The Kommandatura is the administrative agency for the city of Berlin, a four-power island deep in Russian-occupied territory. The Control Council is the four power agency for governing all of occupied Germany.

Kommandatura attaches said today's public works, finance and economy committe meetings proceeding normally.

The walkout, following a 13-hour session of the Kommandatura in which Russian travel and transport restrictions were discussed, was not altogether unexpected.

This morning, the Russians announced they plan still further restrictions on German travel between their occupation zone and western Germany.

At the same time, the Russian military administration announced that it had authorized two new political parties to operate in the Russian zone. One is the National Democratic Party, whose organizers announced several months ago that it was designed to enroll former Nazis who had "found no political home among existing parties." This party also has publicly solicited funds to "aid in the rehabilitation" of former Nazis. The other new party authorized is the Democratic Peasants Party.

British transport officials said Wednesday night that the Russians since Saturday have stopped 250 railroad carloads of supplies bound for Berlin from the western zones.

Most of the cars carried coal. The Russians have been stopping the shipments because they said the cars were mechanically defective.

British authorities said they had asked the Russians to relax their restrictions.

One Miner Killed, 10 Others Injured

Welch, W. Va., June 17 (AP)—Ten coal miners were injured and another was killed early today in an underground collision.

G. R. Jennings, superintendent of the Olga Coal Company's mine at Caretta, six miles west of here, said that apparently "a motor got loose and ran into a man-trip." Miners said a train of 10 cars had crashed into a motor hauling equipment, and that the latter then collided with a train of three cars carrying miners.

Jennings said the 10 men were taken to hospital.

The fatal victim was identified as Walter Boatwright, of War, W. Va., a mine train motorman.

WRECKAGE IDENTIFIED

Bowmanville, June 17 — (CP) — Bits of wreckage in Lake Ontario were identified Wednesday night as parts of a Vampire jet fighter plane and search continued for the body of the pilot assumed to have plunged to his death today.

Wing Cmdr. F. Sharp made the identification of the wreckage of the plane that was flown from Trenton air station on a routine flight by Sqdn. Ldr. S. Y. Broadbent of St. Thomas.

TALL MERRYMAKERS

Hamilton, June 17 (CP)—Anybody shorter than five feet, 11 inches, was just a runt at a social gathering here Wednesday night. Merry-makers belonged to the Hamilton and Toronto Tip Toppers Clubs.

New members must be taller than six feet two and women taller than five feet 11. Tallest party-goer was Toronto's Harold Gallanenough who towers six feet, 10½ inches in stocking feet.

Rt. Hon. Meighen Celebrates 74th Birthday

Toronto, June 17 (CP)—Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, twice Prime Minister of Canada, reflected at a 74th birthday celebration in his honor last night that "the world is indeed in a sorry plight."

He told almost 60 persons, most of them prominent in public life, that there are these two causes of present maladjustment:

1. The blockade of the highways and paths of thought.
2. The frenzy caused by the blocking of information at its source.

Mr. Meighen said although there is no political telescope he believes the government of leading western powers will lead them from the crisis.

The former Conservative Prime Minister was toasted by friends who left their politics at home for the testimonial dinner. Eulogies came from M. Grattan O'Leary, Associate Editor of the Ottawa Journal, Chief Justice Albert Sevigny of Quebec City, Charles McCrea, former Mines Minister, and J. S. McLean, Toronto manufacturer who sponsored the dinner.

Mr. O'Leary paid tribute to Mr. Meighen as a man with "a determination to fight for truth regardless of the consequences." The former Prime Minister was classed with such statesmen as Joseph Howe, D'Arcy McGee and Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Prominent guests included: Lieut.-Gov. Ray Lawson of Ontario; John Bracken, Federal Progressive Conservative leader; Hon. George S. Henry, former Ontario Premier; Hon. Earl Rowe; Arthur R. Ford, Chancellor of the University of Western Ontario and Editor-in-Chief of the London Free Press; Dr. Herbert A. Bruce, former Ontario Lieutenant-Governor, and Dr. Thomas Hogg, former Ontario Hydro chairman.

Cankerworms Attack Trees in Winnipeg

Winnipeg (CP) — Hasten, Jason, and bring the spray gun. Fill it with a solution of lead arsenate or calcium arsenate and point it at Winnipeg's maple and elm trees. They're being stormed by leaf eating cankerworms.

Professor A. W. Mitchener of the University of Manitoba department of entomology reports that the trees in city parks perhaps are being attacked by the small green worms, and said that "these worms are doubtless present elsewhere.

"They can easily be killed off while in their first early stakes and although they are only eating small holes in the leaves just now, they'll strip the trees bare if they aren't exterminated."

Reports from all over Manitoba that blue spruce and pine trees are dying of blight were checked with the provincial forest insect laboratory at the University of Manitoba. Officials there stated that these trees are suffering from winter weather conditions combined with the recent warm spells which have come over the province.

This was confirmed by the forestry service department which says the coniferous trees have evaporated moisture through their needles during the warm weather, but are not able to draw up fresh water from the ground as it is still frozen.

FINANCIER DIES

Montreal, June 16 — (CP) — Joseph H. Copeman, financier and former financial editor of the Montreal Gazette, died Monday. He was 68.

A partner in the investment firm of Greenshields and Company since 1927, Mr. Copeman was the Gazette's financial editor from 1912 to 1919.

TEN DAYS IN JAIL

Cornwall, June 16 — (CP) — Gerald Robidoux, 20, of Montreal, Monday was convicted of drunken driving and sentenced to ten days in jail. Police said that upon completion of sentence, Robidoux will be taken to Montreal to face a charge of theft of a truck.

Francois Pouliot And R.M. Warren Have Blow-Up

Ottawa, June 17 — (CP) — In a sharp Commons blow-up, Jean Francois Pouliot (Ind. L-Temiscouta) Wednesday night called R. M. Warren (L-Renfrew North) a "fool" but withdrew the description on instructions from committee chairman W. N. Golding.

He had used the term, he explained tartly, as a "euphemism."

The blow-up occurred when Mr. Warren interrupted Mr. Pouliot while he was telling the Chamber of a family of 12 in his constituency who were forced to live in inadequate accommodation.

He asked the Quebec minister whether he had heard the story of a man in his constituency who built a home for $475 and added that he had an even "better" story than that.

Shouting at the top of his voice, Mr. Pouliot retorted:

"I think the honorable member for Renfrew North should have more sympathy for those who suffer and stop his silly jokes when we speak of suffering people. His story is old. It has appeared in the press."

Mr. Warren: "It was no joke. It was absolutely true. I have even a better one than that if my honorary friend would care to listen."

Mr. Pouliot: "I am not to be interrupted by silly things ..."

Mr. Pouliot: "I rise to a question of privilege, not to be disturbed by a fool like that when I speak of my problems in the House."

The chairman: "Order. The honorary member will have to withdraw that word."

JAPAN SHAKEN BY 'QUAKE

Tokyo, June 16 — (AP) — A sharp earthquake shook two of Japan's home islands Tuesday night, extending from Shikoku to Northern Honshu. Some persons in coastal areas fled to the hills after Japanese police spread a false warning of a tidal wave.

99 PER CENT STRIKE VOTE

Oshawa, Ont., June 16 — (CP) —The Oshawa Railway Employees' Union (A.F.L.) Tuesday voted 99 per cent in favor of a strike. The union, members of which drive Oshawa buses, is asking a 15-cent across-the-board hourly wage increase.

Investigators Seek Cause of Airliner Smash-Up in Pa.

43 Persons Perish When Plane Strikes Hillside

Mt. Carmel Pa., June 18 (AP)—Charred pieces scattered over a coal-blackened hillside were the only visible remains today of a huge airliner that carried 43 persons to fiery death.

Investigators scratched through the wreckage of the United Airlines DC-6 that plunged earthward Thursday afternoon in an attempted emergency landing. 1 of its motors had caught fire.

Victims included famed Hollywood-Broadway producer Earl Carroll; Mrs. Jack Oakie, divorced wife of the motion picture actor; actress Beryl Wallace, star of Carroll's theatre restaurant show and Henry Jackson, men's fashion editor of Collier's magazine. Two infants were among the 39 passengers and four crew members.

Tried Emergency Landing

Witnesses said the giant craft, manned by a crew of four for its 12 hour flight from San Diego Calif. to New York, apparently tried to pancake on a black hill of coal dust and water near this eastern Pennsylvanian anthracite coal town.

The craft limped at half speed into a valley dotted with anthracite collieries. Capt. George Warner, Jr., guided his ship four miles between two hills. He was scarcely 30 feet above the ground. Stunned miners saw the nose of the plane veer upward, too late. It shattered against a 60,000 volt power line and exploded. Bodies, baggage and plane parts were strewn everywhere.

The tragedy was the fourth worst plane crash in the United States airline history. The three others were last year — 53 died at Port Deposit, Md.; 52 at Bryce Canyon, Utah, and 50 in Virginia's Blue Ridge Mountains.

The crash put power lines in the area out of commission and forced shutdown of the Continental Germantown and Mid-Valley collieries. Emergency service was installed to furnish light for the official investigators and volunteers as they searched the wreckage.

Electric Service Restored

Full electric service was restored shortly before midnight but 1,200 miners were still idle today because during the shut down of the power plant considerable water had flowed into the mines.

"It is as bad a mess as I have ever seen," said Joseph Fluett, regional chief of the Civil Aeronautics Board.

He was joined by experts from the United Airlines, Douglas Aircraft Company, manufacturers of the big plane and the Airline Pilots Association.

They searched through the wreckage until midnight last night and returned to the task this morning.

Jack Herlihy, vice president in charge of operations for United set up an emergency office in one of the collieries, where 80 miners were shaken as Capt. George Warner, Jr., pilot of Westmont, Ill., veered away from the anthracite breaker which extended 265 feet into the air.

DREW HOPEFUL GOVERNMENT WILL APPROVE PLANS

Ontario Premier Trying to Induce British Industry to Locate in Province

London, June 18 — (CP)—Premier George Drew of Ontario said today he is "very hopeful" that the British government soon will approve plans under which branches of British industry could be established in Ontario.

He said at a press conference that there were three general methods by which British firms could finance the establishment of such plants. They were:

1. Well-known British industries could make sterling deposits in London against advances to them in Canada by Canadian firms which have British branches.

2. British firms could reinvest the proceeds of any securities held in Canada by setting up industries.

3. British manufacturers could use the traditional method of matching producing skill with capital, by associating themselves with Canadian investors.

It is the first plan which Premier Drew has been discussing with British authorities. He said: "I now am hopefully awaiting a decision."

Many British manufacturers wished to avail themselves of the opportunity. Many were establishing Canadian plants when the British government froze the export of capital last year.

The premier said the scheme was closely linked with the development of Ontario's hydro-electric power, capacity of which will be doubled during the next five years.

There were opportunities in many lines, notably machine tools, various technical devices now imported from the United States and lines connected with aircraft manufacture. The huge tourist traffic from the United States created a market far in excess of the Canadian population.

Premier Drew said it was no part of the plan for the Ontario government to help to finance firms participating in the scheme.

"The government is not intervening in the transfer," he said.

He refused to discuss the outcome of the provincial election in which the Conservatives were returned with a reduced majority, saying: "I will leave any comment on political affairs until I get home."

Pilot Lays Assault Charges Against Trio

Barry's Bay, June 18 (CP) — Emery A. Beebe of Dorset a pilot, has laid charges of assault against three residents of Barry's Bay in a civil action scheduled to reach court June 23.

Beebe was pilot of an aircraft loaded with beaver pelts which were seized some weeks ago by the Ontario Lands and Forests Department. Charles Murray of Barry's Bay was sentenced in connection with fur smuggling charges.

Beebe has launched civil action against Murray's son, Bernard Murray, and Keith Billings and Charles Doyle. It was reported he was badly beaten here June 10.

The beating allegedly took place at a dance pavilion near here.

Found with 54 pelts in Beebe's plane, Charles Murray was fined more than $2,700, or $50 for each pelt.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, June 18 (CP)—Synopsis: Skies are cloudy over southwestern Ontario and scattered showers are reported near Lake Erie. Otherwise the weather is clear over the province. Below freezing temperatures were reported in sections of northern Ontario this morning. Rain will begin in extreme western sections tonight and spread across most of southern Ontario by Saturday morning. Over northern Ontario the weather will be sunny and warm on Saturday.

HOME-MADE TEAR GAS BOMBS FLUNG INTO C.S.L. SHIP

Crews Brought in by Bus And Plane to Man Vessels

Toronto, June 18 (CP)—A second arrest has been made in connection with an alleged Canadian Seamen's Union attack on the Western Steamship Lines' freighter Superior at Goderich.

Police said a boarding party of C.S.U. pickets early Thursday threw home-made tear gas bombs into the galley and crew's quarters. The incident marked the latest violence in the strike the C. S. U. called June 5 against five Great Lakes lines which refused to sign contracts with it on grounds it has Communist leadership.

The companies, which have manned their ships with members of the Canadian Lake Seamen's Union and maintained almost normal operations, are Canada Steamship Lines, Colonial Steamships, Sarnia Steamships, Northwest Steamships and Transit Tankers.

Robert E. Schumacher, said to be a C.S.U. delegate from Midland, was arrested on a charge of throwing bottles filled with gaseous fluid on the Superior. Soon afterwards police took Michael Hornack of Welland, on charges of boarding the ship illegally. Both men were remanded a week.

Brought from Montreal by airplane and bus, a new crew Thursday night sailed the freighter (Saracen (Inland Lines) out of Welland and headed for Port Colborne. The C.S.U. persuaded a former crew to leave the ship Wednesday night.

Meantime, C.S.U. president Harry Davis said the union had signed a contract with Canadian Coastwise Carriers, Ltd., which has taken over three vessels from Transit Tankers. He said the contract provided for a reduction to 44 hours from 56 in the work week while in port.

Cornwall city council served notice on the C.S.U. to get off city-owned property by Saturday.

Other late developments included:

The arrest in Toronto of John Heward, 35, C.S.U. organizer, charged with obstructing police, and Alex Strode, 18, accused of assaulting a police officer.

A walkout by the crew of the Sarnia Steamships freighter Clayton at Thorold reported by the C.S.U.

The reported refusal of longshoremen at the Thorold paper mill to handle cargo ships of lines involved in the dispute.

Non-Union Firm Given Printing

Toronto June 18 (CP) — The Trade and Labor Council (A.F. L.) Thursday night charged the Canadian National Exhibition with anti-labor practice.

The council was told the C.N.E. hired a non-union firm, identified as the Bryant Press to do its printing.

Elwood Hughes, C.N.E. director, had stated in a letter that the Bryant Press tender was accepted because its bid was lower than that of a competitor which had a union shop — "and it is good business to pay the lowest price."

BC Housewives Rush for Whale Steaks Priced 25cts Against T-Bone 75cts

By RAY TIMSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Vancouver, June 18 (CP)—Today is D-day on the T-bone in British Columbia. Housewives stopped blubbering about exorbitant beef prices and harpooned 30,000 pounds of succulent whale steaks.

They were boneless, greaseless, thick and fleshy and they dented the puny, post-war food poke for only 25 cents a pound.

It took 27 days for whale steaks to hit the inflated meat market. It took housewives here 27 seconds to decide on them rather than pay 75 cents a pound for the traditional t-bone. And the taste was terrific.

Moby Dick's whaling was resumed on the Pacific coast May 22. Since then, 25 of the monstrous carcasses have been brought to port. They weigh a ton a foot and measure 45 to 65 feet in length. Each whale yields four to 10 tons of appetizing steaks.

At this rate, just one of the aquatic mammals could feed 1,000 families for a whole week. And at 25 cents a pound, we predict a whale of a lot of families will forget about cow-meat.

Housewives and frugal bachelors combined in the buying spree as the 15 tons of welcome whale went into the show cases of local butcher stores. But each enthusiastic buyer had one and the same worry: how do you cook whale steaks?

Clerks, briefed by sales managers, readily explained. The whale steak is treated like Swiss steak—tenderized, pounded or waffled. it's grilled, fried or pitched into a pressure cooker. It's rich, red meat and it can be served with steak mushrooms or onions.

This reporter bought one pound (20 cents after a hour-long argument) and fried it in butter. The first mouthful tasted like baby beef. The second approached the venison flavor. Being a reporter (hungry) there was no third.

Western Allies Set Up New Mark in Germany To Participate in E.R.P.

Berlin, June 18 (AP) — The western allies announced tonight a drastic currency reform to reduce the money in circulation in their zones of occupation and pave the way for German participation in the European Recovery Program. They set up a new mark, called the Deutsche mark, and provided for the first steps in taking old marks out of trade channels.

All old money and holdings must be registered next week. There will be a full week's moratorium on all debts in western Germany.

Germans in the western zones may trade 40 old marks for 40 new marks Sunday. This will leave the 45,000,000 residents entitled to hold only the equivalent of $12 each.

The announcement said the rate at which the mark can be converted into or from other moneys will be announced later The allies also left until later an announcement of how much in savings Germans will be allowed to keep.

Authoritative sources have indicated that further laws will reduce savings and business balances by 90 per cent or more. This supposition was supported by a provision in tonight's proclamation.

The provision said that small change from the old marks will be kept in circulation temporarity, but at a rate of one new mark for 10 old marks. This small change ranges from one pfennig (one hundredth of a mark) to a mark.

In order to carry on business, firms will be able to borrow new currency from banks up to 80 marks for every person employed.

After turning in their 40 marks Sunday, the Germans will have the prospect of getting 20 more new marks within two months, while details of the program are being worked out. The total to be cashed in the 2 month period cannot exceed 60 marks.

Price Ceiling on Ontario Winter Wheat Removed

Ottawa, June 18 (CP)— Trade Minister Howe announced today in the Commons the removal of the price ceiling on Ontario winter wheat effective today.

With the removal of the ceiling an eight-cent-a-bushel payment which has been made to producers will be discontinued.

Mr. Howe said he could not say whether it would be necessary to continue export controls of Ontario winter wheat. If the international wheat agreement goes into operation Aug. 1, as planned, Ontario wheat will come under it and controls will be necessary.

The discontinued ceiling was $1.55 a bushel. The eight-cent federal payment which also is being discontinued was one which anticipated profits on export sales of Ontario wheat.

Mr. Howe said his announcement means that the price will be "free to find its own level under prevailing conditions."

He added that he hoped the question of whether export control would be needed would be clarified before the harvesting of this year's crop.

Kennedy Pleased

Agriculture Minister Kennedy of Ontario said at Toronto he was "awfully glad" to learn price ceilings had been removed from Ontario winter wheat.

Ontario farmers had done "a great job" in increasing wheat production but they would not continue their efforts unless they got more money, Mr. Kennedy said.

There was a great demand for Ontario winter wheat throughout the world, particularly for making macaroni.

"Nothing will give more encouragement to Ontario farmers than to know there are not controls and that prices will not be held down."

Jap Stands Trial For Atrocities On U.S. Captives

Los Angeles, June 18 (AP) — The treason trial of Tomoya (the meatball) Kawakita, charged with a series of atrocities against American captives while a guard in a Japanese prison camp, opens in Federal court today.

United States Attorney James Carter said he has on hand a score or more American Marines, sailors and soldiers, who will testify to abuse they claim they suffered.

The California-born Kawakita has acknowledged that he returned to Japan in 1939, and enrolled at the University of Tokyo.

He regained admission to the United States in 1946 on the representation that he had not participated in Japan's war effort, Carter says. Returning here, he studied for a time in the foreign trade school at the University of Southern California.

Kawakita's arrest—in Ooctober 1946 — was engineered by an American ex-artilleryman, Wm. Bruce, 26, a former prisoner of war. Bruce was shopping in a department store, and saw Kawakita, the man he says caused him and his buddies humiliation and suffering while they were captives.

Bruce followed the Japanese-American from the store and obtained the licence number of his car. He turned it over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation which placed Kawakita under surveillance and arrested him several months later. He was indicted by a Grand Jury in July 147, on a treason charge which carried a possible death penalty.

THINK MISTAKE MADE IN TABULATING ANIMALS

Toronto, June 18 (CP)—Police believe a recount would solve the mystery of the 30 missing pigs, said to have escaped from a livestock car when two freight trains collided in east-end Toronto last Saturday.

Afte investigation, police said they were snure livestock owners gave a wrong count when tabulating the number of animals in the car.

Four Children Burned to Death Near Montreal

Montreal, June 18 (CP) —Four children were dead and a fifth was in hospital with serious burns after fire swept through two wooden homes near suburban Longueuil early today.

Firemen stood helplessly by as the flames leaped through the two-storey buildings. They could find no water mains for their hoses.

The dead are the children of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Boucher who themselves were burned. They are: Claude, 13; Denise, 15; Claire 13; and Claudette, seven.

The fifth child, Hugette, 11, was snatched from the flames by provincial police constables J. V. Goyette and Michael Bell. Hospital officials reported her condition as "fair."

Two other youngsters of the family were reported safe.

The fire was discovered in a small restaurant and home in one of the structures. A pumper was the first fire-fighting vehicle to arrive on the scene, but it proved useless when no water mains could be found.

Short-Lived Cold Snap at 31 Deg. Hits N. Ontario

Toronto, June 18 (CP) — Winter played a brief return engagement Thursday night in Northern Ontario as temperatures slipped below the freezing mark.

Thermometers at White River and Kapuskasing dropped to 31 degrees fahrenheit. Muskoka airport missed a freeze-up by three degrees with a recorded minimum of 35 degrees.

North Bay residents shivered in a chilly 41 degrees. Other Ontario temperatures: London, 44, Ottawa, 46, Toronto 50.

Weather experts promise, however, the cold snap will be short - lived. The weekend prediction for Northern Ontario:—"Sunny and fairly warm."

FEDERAL LABOR CODE APPROVED BY GOVERNMENT

Bill Given Rough Legislative Passage

Ottawa, June 18 (CP)—The Federal labor code won approval in the Commons Thursday after rough legislative passage.

The code, which will apply only to industries, such as the railroads, which come under Federal jurisdiction now goes to the Senate.

In a series of hotly-contested votes, the Chamber did these things:

1. Killed a provision, inserted when the bill was before the House Industrial Relations Committee, which would have made the union dues checkoff mandatory.

2. Narrowed the definition of "confidential" employees exempted from the code's collective bargaining provisions. The exemption applies only to employees engaged in work on labor relations.

3. Rejected a C.C.F. amendment which would have put professional engineers under the code.

4. Refused to exclude dieticians from the code. This was sought by H. W. Winkler (L—Lisgar).

Reject C.C.F. Amendments

5. Rejected a C.C.F. attempt to make the proposed Canada Labor Relations Board responsible for launching prosecutions for violations. This is left up to Unions and employers concerned.

6. Rejected a C.C.F. motion to bar lawyers from Labor Board hearings except where all parties consent.

7. Approved a stipulation protecting the pension rights of persons engaging in legal strikes after the code becomes law.

One other piece of legislation was adopted as the drive for prorogation next week was intensified. It was a bill repealing Ontario's old-style Lord's Day.

The government moved second reading of a bill to amend the Annuities Act but suddenly adjourned the debate when stormy opposition to its provisions developed on all sides of the House.

In the opening proceedings, Fisheries Minister Mayhew announced a ban on the export of frozen British Columbia salmon.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King promised to make a further statement soon on federal aid to flooded areas of British Columbia.

Divers on Way To Crash Site

Trenton, June 18 — (CP) — A diving crew left here today by R.C.A.F. barge for Bowmanville in an attempt to recover an R.C.A.F. Vampire jet aircraft from the waters of Lake Ontario.

The plane which crashed Wednesday morning, near Bowmanville, about a mile offshore, is believed to hold the body of Squadron Leader S. Y. Broadbent, 37, of St. Thomas.

R.C.A.F. officers here said today an oil slick which disappeared after being sighted Wednesday, has been located again. The slick is believed to mark the place where the plane crashed.

The diving crew is in charge of C.P.O. J. Brown, M.B.E., (R.C.N.) of Halifax.

C.P.O. Brown won his M.B.E. in a similar operation in 1940 when he recovered a depth charge from the bottom of Halifax harbor.

Immigrants Deluge Authorities At Halifax Threshold of New Home

By JOE MACSWEEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Halifax, June 18. (CP)—The cobbled waterfront streets of Halifax have been the threshold of a new home to thousands of immigrants since the end of the Second World War.

The latest group of 600 was scheduled to arrive on the Transport Marine Shark while 200 other immigrants, who landed from the Marine Perch Thursday, boarded trains for new homes across the nation. Monday the liner Aquitania will bring 1,800 passengers.

The immigrants and D.P.'s, who have totalled 27,000 since the beginning of 1947, come from points as far apart as Italy and Esthonia.

Immigration authorities here have faced a deluge of nearly 30,000 passengers since Jan. 1. By far the greatest percentage of these were immigrants.

Predominant nationality among the settlers is British. A small colony of Italians arrived on the Marine Perch from Naples, on Thursday.

An Immigration department analysis of the 7,000 displaced persons who arrived in 1947 shows that 28 per cent were Polish, 27 per cent Czech. Of these, 67 per cent settled in Ontario, 15 per cent in Quebec and 15 per cent in other provinces.

From the days when nearly 40,000 war brides began arriving here, Haligonians have witnessed scenes of enthusiasm as the immigrants get their first glimpse of a new land of hope.

Committee Head Forecasts Easing Of Austerity Taxes

Meeting Held With Mr. King On Cost-of-Living Problem

Ottawa, June 18 — (CP) — Lifting of Finance Minister Abbott's austerity taxes from refrigerators, radios, and other household equipment "before too long," was forecast Thursday night by Louis Breithaupt (L-Waterloo North).

Mr. Breithaupt was leader of a group of Ontario Liberal members of parliament which Thursday met Prime Minister Mackenzie King to urge the government do something to stop the upward trend in the cost of living.

Mr. Breithaupt said that the delegation had urged use again of government subsidies to reduce the consumer cost of such basic foods as bread, milk and meat. It also told Mr. King an immediate end to Mr. Abbott's 25 to 35 per cent excise and luxury taxes of the austerity program was necessary.

Other members of the delegation were: W. Gladstone, Wellington South; W. Benidickson, Kenora-Rainy River; George Nixon, Algoma West; Thomas Farquhar, Algoma East; J. Leo Gauthier, Nipissing.

Girl Escapes From Abductor

Detroit, June 18 (CP) — More than two dozen state and Wayne County policemen combed a wooded area east of Belleville Lake today for a "brush-cut" bandit who abducted a 17-year-old girl after forcing her escort from a truck in which they were sitting.

The girl, Joan Gardner, of nearby Romulus township, jumped from the truck after the bandit had driven her about a mile. She ran a quarter - mile in her stocking feet to the safety of a house.

Miss Gardner and Ronald Roberts, 18, of Belleville, Mich., told police they were sitting in the truck when a man approached on foot. Not sure whether he had a gun, Roberts surrendered $8 and left the truck at the bandit's order.

With the girl still in the truck the abductor drove off. As the truck wheeled into a wooded area Miss Gardner jumped out.

$20,000 in Damages Sought From Three Toronto Policemen

Toronto, June 18 (CP)—Damages of $20,000 from three members of the Toronto Police Department are sought in a statement of claim filed Thursday on behalf of Samuel S. Feron, Toronto credit rating manager.

Feron claims $5,000 each on charges of alleged assault, false imprisonment and slander. No statement of defence has been filed.

The claim arises from an incident in a Toronto restaurant last October. As a result he said he has lost tow jobs.

He said he was a "sick man" when police charged him with illegal possession of drugs and being a drug addict.

14 LUMBERJACKS ARRESTED AFTER RIOT IN CAMP

Beer-Drinking Said to Have Been Factor in the Flare-Up

Hornepayne, June 18 — (CP)—Fourteen Northern Ontario bush workers were scheduled to appear in court today on charges arising from a Wednesday night pulp camp fight near here.

Inspector T. Wilkinson, head of the Ontario Provincial Police detachment at Sudbury, said the men were charged with assault, disorderly conduct and obstructing police.

Beer-drinking in this Algoma district community on the Canadian National Railways 250 miles northwest of Sudbury was said to have been a factor in the trouble in the Marathon Pulp and Paper Company camp 1½ miles west of Hornepayne.

Talk here was that Canadian lumbermen grumbled because European displaced persons hired as bush workers had been assigned quarters previously occupied by the Canadians. The Canadians moved elsewhere in the camp, discussed the situation over several rounds of beer and then, shouting angry threats and curses, started for the camp.

Someone raced to the pulp camp to warn the immigrants. Another tipped off Provincial Constable Ed Schroeder, who found a doctor and headed for the pulp camp where the Europeans waited for the lumbermen.

The hand-to-hand fighting was savage. Axes, knives, chains and shovels became weapons in the free-for-all.

When Constable Schroeder, with police reinforcements, moved in on the camp, most of the 25 combatants struck for the tall timber but police rounded them up and locked them in a boxcar.

So badly hurt they were kept in hospital were two college students, two displaced persons and a Canadian bushman. Several other persons were treated for minor injuries.

One man, chased into the bush, apparently waited to make sure all was quiet but showed up in town at 4 a. m. He wore nothing but his underwear.

King to Move For National Capital Fund

Ottawa, June 18 — (CP) — Prime Minister Mackenzie King gave the Commons notice today that he will move for creation of a national capital fund from which parliament can make annual appropriations to carry out projects for the beautification and development of the Ottawa area.

Jacques Greber, French town planner, has been in charge of a group that has been planning the development for months. The eventual program would take "many years" to carry out, Mr. Greber recently told a Senate committee.

Mr. King's resolution, marked for consideration tomorrow, said the new fund would be part of the consolidated revenue fund — the federal bankroll.

Capt. T. H. Ruston Retires From CAS Duties Sept. 30

Superintendent of the local Children's Aid Society for the past 33 years, Capt. Thos. H. Ruston will retire from office on September 30th with his present assistant William Lockyer to assume the position on October 1st.

Announcement of the retirement of Capt. Ruston was made following a recent meeting of the executive of the Children's Aid Society.

A native of England, Captain Ruston has spent more than half of his life in social welfare work, being previously associated with the Salvation Army, both in England and in Canada, before becoming superintendent of the local C.A.S. He was in charge of the local Salvation Army before his present appointment 33 years ago and before that was a member of the board here and at Picton.

Tireless in his efforts to serve the C.A.S. in its various capacities Mr. Ruston has seen the work of this department increase tremendously since he assumed the office of superintendent more than a quarter of a century ago. As a part time job following his retirement he will continue to look after the unmarried parents' department of the society.

The new superintendent who will take charge following Mr. Ruston's retirement has been with the local C.A.S. for the past four years. Formerly of Picton Mr. Lockyer was associated with the Metropolitan Life Insurance.

Army, Navy Vets Hold Enjoyable "Ladies Night"

The third monthly "At Home" of Belleville branch 201, Army, Navy, Air Force Veterans in Canada held in the Front Street club rooms Thursday night attracted upwards of 125 members and their wives and lady friends.

A fine program of entertainment was staged for the lady guests. The evening started off with several games of bingo and later community singing, solos and humorous recitations were offered the guests.

Mr. James Cliff filled in in a pianist role on eleventh hour notice and did a splendid job. Bill Quinn's Irish tenor voice was heard in old Irish favorites 'Kathleen Mavourneen', 'The Rose of Tralee', and others, while Scottish airs were voiced by wee "Jamie" Clark who later in the evening gave his own idea of modern jitter-bugging.

Frank High, well known city entertainer delighted his listeners with a number of humorous recitations and stories, and Miss Bessie Shepherd was also heard in humorous and serious vocal numbers.

In the various draws held by the Ladies Auxiliary of the club, Mr. Frank Sunderland held the winning ticket for the handsome fox fur. Mr. Frederick Coon, club receptionist and man-about-town, won a pair of hand-knitted hose, while two door prizes, consisting of two pounds of butter each were presented.

Buffet refreshments served by the Ladies Auxiliary under President Mrs. William Ford, and dancing, rounded out a highly enjoyable evening.

POLICE COURT

Hugh C. Johnston Given One Month On Theft Charges

Pleading guilty to two charges of theft, Hugh C. Johnston, Belleville, was sentenced to one month in the county jail when he appeared before Magistrate T. Y. Wills in county police court Thursday morning. Johnston was apprehended several months ago in Sudbury and brought back to Belleville to stand trial.

Johnston pleaded guilty to the theft of jewellery from the Roe Nursing Home on Marshall Road and of the theft of articles from the Hastings county home.

Irving Kellar of Napanee pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving and was assessed $25 and costs. The charge against Kellar resulted out of an accident on No. 2 Highway, six miles east of Belleville, when the accused turned out to pass a transport only to crash almost headon into an oncoming transport vehicle. Since the accident he has been in hospital.

Sea Cadets Learn Boatwork On Different Crafts

During the past few weeks the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets of Belleville have been very busy indeed. Many of the cadets under the capable supervision of Mr. Green, have repaired and launched all the boats. All concerned are happy that the scraping and painting is finished. At the present time the Cadets have two naval cutters, two sailing dinghys, two skiffs and one canoe. Many of the Cadets have been out sailing on regular training nights as well as on Sunday, when the ship is open from 1000 to 1700 hours. This gives everyone an excellent opportunity to try the different craft. It is expected that the Cadets will be expert sailors by the end of the season.

There has been one notable change in the Corps quite recently. That was the organizing of a new division for the Cadets under the age of 14. They will have the same training and boatwork as the older boys, but will be trained by a chief Petty Officer and Petty Officer under the age of 14, with a regular Officer in charge. This division will train on different nights and will wear a different rig than the other Cadets. When a boy in this division reaches the age of fourteen he will go on to the regular divisions.

Petty Officer Praised

Congratulations are in order for Petty Officer P. Kouri who has done an excellent job in organizing the band. At the end of the year 1947, there were only three of the old members left in the band. The new members coming into the band had no previous Cadet experience, and very little in band work. However due to their hard work and co-operation during the past few months the Band is doing very well. Petty Officer Kouri is confident that if the work keeps up the Corps will once more have a band to be proud of as it has always had in the past.

At the present time not only Sea Cadets but Ex-Cadets, young men leaving school, and even a few ex-service men are visiting the Cadet training establishment for the purpose of enlisting in the Royal Canadian Navy. There is an Officer at the training establishment every Monday and Thursday evening to look after the prospective recruits. The Sea Cadet Corps is proud of the fact that one of the first recruits was a former Sea Cadet.

Police Blotter

Theft of a 1936 Ford from the used car lot at Duffy's Service Station and operated by Dick Burrows, was reported to local police yesterday. The vehicle had been stolen some time early Thursday morning, it was stated. The vehicle had not been recovered today.

That clothes line thieves are active in the Station Street district was reported by a resident of that area. The young woman stated a bathing suit and lingerie had disappeared from her clothes line during the night.

Otherwise police activities were comparatively quiet over the night although officers apprehended a trifle greater number of inebriates than is ordinarily the case during the week.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 18 — (CP) — Prices were easier in dull trading here as base metals and golds eased down. Industrials were mixed but showing signs of weakening and western oils held steady.

Almost all base metals trading were down in spotty action. Consolidated Smelters eased 3½ and Gulf Lead was down 10 cents. Falconbridge, Callinan, International Uranium, New Calumet, Normetal and Sherritt weakened from 1 to 15 cents.

Industrials moved within narrow fractional range mixing gains and losses. Burlington Steel was strong, advancing $1 to a new high at $14. Canadian Breweries, Walker's, Dominion Bridge, Abitibi and Brazilian Traction were stronger.

Eldona recovered early losses and was up 4 cents in the golds.

Sullivan, Preston, Central Patricia and Aubelle were gainers.

Losses ranged from 1 to 15 cents in the western oils in very dull trading. British Dominion and Globe Oil gained a cent.

County Rate Struck at 12⅓ Mills, Increase Over Last Year

Picton — Prince Edward County Council yesterday struck the country rate for 1948 at twelve and one-third mills. This will raise the sum of $282,617.03. The new rate is an increase of one and five-sixths mills.

The finance committee had recommended a rate of 13 mills but council decided to cover the cost of an $8,000 grant to the new Canadian Legion Hall by issuing debentures, thus keeping the rate down.

Council is also faced with a proposition to build an addition to the county buildings to provide more vault space. No action has been taken on this matter but should it be done, the cost will be covered by a debenture.

Several Increases Shown

The budget presented by the finance committee showed several increases. Chief among them was an increase of $45,247 for bridges, of which the greater part is for a new bridge at Milford; $14,733 increase for highway expenditures; $2,863 more for child welfare; $3,315 increase for administration of justice; $3,100 increase in grants; $1,415 more for hospitalization.

Estimates include, administration of justice, $21,500; $3,050 for agricultural organizations; $19,500 for child welfare; $11,000 to health unit; $7,650 for hospitalization; $17,000, House of Refuge; $700 for industrial schools; $575 for pensions; $2,327 for debenture debt charges; $250 for entrance board; $5,500 for grants; $3,900 for salaries and allowances; $125,000 for roads; $50,000 for bridges; $1,500 for fair grounds.

$15,825 in Grants

Grants total $15,825, including that to the Legion.

This year will see all road debentures paid up.

Members of County Council and county officials were guests of residents of Waupoos Island Wednesday afternoon. After dinner a tour of the island was made.

There was a spirited debate between reeves Don Thompson and Calvin Hughes when it was revealed that no hard top roads will be built in the county this year.

Cheese Producers Stress Importance Of Filling Out Dept. Questionnaires

In order that the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa may be supplied with farm and livestock information more promptly, the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association will stress to factory patrons the importance of filling out and mailing questionnaires sent out by the department.

Members of the Cheese Producers' executive agreed that such information should be supplied to the department more freely and more completely in order that the government may negotiate effective long term contracts and worthwhile markets.

It was pointed out that unless government departments know the correct livestock population as well as an estimate of crop prospects, it would be difficult to arrange for foreign markets with assurance of being able to fulfill contracts.

The executive of the producers' association stress to farmers that information received by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics should not be confused with personal income tax returns. The executive urge that cheese factory patrons of the last three years comply with the Bureau request and fill in and mail their questionnaire.

In order that the Bureau may learn the estimated dairy production for the next few years, it is most important that farmers who have recently sold a large part of their herd of dairy cattle should make the report. Otherwise an incorrect estimate of dairy production might be concluded.

Yugoslav Ship Finally Loaded By Its Own Crew

New York, June 18 — (AP) — The Yugoslav ship Radnik, loaded finally by its own crew, sailed at 7 a. m. EDT today from its Brooklyn pier. American dock workers had refused to load the ship.

The dock workers, who last Tuesday balked at loading the ship after they saw pictures of Stalin and Tito aboard her, would not let the sailors use hoists and other loading equipment on the pier.

So the Yugoslav crew used hand trucks and dollies to get 100-pound sacks of flour, cocoa beans, a couple of automobiles and four trucks into position for the cargo nets swung from the ship's own cargo booms.

Police were summoned to the scene Thursday to prevent violence, which was threatened when a volunteer group of longshoremen appeared and offered to load the cargo.

The American Committee for Yugoslav relief said earlier that much of the cargo, including the ambulances, medicine and other relief material, is destined for the Yugoslav Red Cross.

The Radnik is due in Montreal next week to pick up some 800 Yugoslavs who are sailing for their homeland.

Indians Resort To Stones to Drive Out White Dweller

Montreal, June 18 — (CP) — The Iroquois are on the warpath again.

Only this time, instead of using their hatchets and bows and arrows, they are resorting to man's first weapon, the stone.

The trouble all started when Montreal, like all other Canadian cities, experienced an acute housing shortage following the Second World War.

Having no place to live, about 250 Montreal families rented houses, not being used, on the Caughnawaga Iroquois Indian Reserve.

All was peaceful at first, but the Iroquois, probably thinking of what happened when their ancesters bartered away Manhattan in New York and St. James Street in Montreal, took a sudden disliking to the whites recently.

Although they have a surplus of housing on the reserve, they saw no reason why the situation should change. They particularly didn't like the idea of white men coming on the reserve and building homes.

Therefore a few days ago, a band of Iroquois stoned some of the houses occupied by "foreigners." In one relatively new cottage, as many as 32 panes of glass were broken.

Thursday, some of the hometowners went to court, seeking to take out a complaint, charging members of the tribe with inciting to riot.

Meanwhile, the Indians are also contemplating court action, hoping to have the "invaders" evicted as they were various other times when officials ruled that land granted the Indians couldn't be occupied by whites without the Indian's permission.

Prizes Offered for Improvement Of Exteriors of Cheese Factories

Cheesemakers in each of the 26 instructor groups throughout the province will this summer be given the opportunity of competing for a $25 cash prize to be donated by the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association to the maker who makes the greatest improvement in the exterior appearance of his factory and its surroundings.

Only one prize will be given in each of the instructor groups and points will be based primarily on the everyday things the maker does to beautify the exterior of his factory and his factory's environment. The cheese factory instructor will be the judge in each district.

Decision of the Cheese Producers to offer the prizes for improvement in exterior appearance of factories resulted from the fact that many of the factory exteriors left much to be desired in the way of appearance.

Points to be considered by the instructor when judging include almost everything except what is essential about the actual operation of the cheese factory. Whey tanks are to be out of sight and worn out and unused equipment must be conspicuous by its absence. Proper usage of garbage receptacles, cutting of grass, flowers and shrubs, neatly piled wood and windows clean and free from broken panes, will all be considered.

Where the factory name appears on the building the name should stand out clearly and be easily readable.

As result of the competition the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association expect to improve external appearance of factories to the extent that they will attract favorable comment from citizens and others who travel past the cheese factories.

Three Young Men Adrift in Atlantic Seeking Hardships

St. Ives, Cornwall, England, June 18 — (CP) — Three tough young men are adrift in the Atlantic in an 18-foot boat — seeking the hardships of the sea.

For seven days and nights they will undergo hunger, thirst, exposure, monotony. From the ordeal medicine men hope to produce better emergency rations and clothing for future drifting sailors and airmen.

The men, all volunteers, are Royal Marine Commandos — Lieut. John Potts, 23, of South Africa, and Marines G. J. Rawson, 26, of Coventry, and D. O'Callaghan, 27, of Aylesbury.

Dressed in full operational uniform of overalls, rubber boots and stocking caps, they have only a two-gallon cask of water, sweets and tinned milk. If they catch fish they must eat them raw.

The boat is so fitted that the men cannot lie down. Each day they will be visited by a marine doctor who will take blood samples, note reactions.

But the marines may get little privacy for the experiment even in the rough stretch of the Atlantic off the Cornish coast. Thursday night pleasure boat operators of St. Ives prepared to offer pleasure trips around the "castaways."

Action Needed on Highway

Reeves of the northern townships of Hastings County, at the closing session of County Council last Friday, hurled sharp criticism at the county fathers, and city organizations for their alleged apathetic attitude toward diversion of northern business and trade to centres other than Belleville, caused, they charged, by the lack of a suitable highway linking the south with the north.

It was stated that from 60 to 75 per cent of northern business is being diverted to Peterborough on the west and other centres to the north and east, because only "an Indian trail" is available to northern residents to reach Belleville while modern highways connect the north with other centres.

They deplore the lacadaisical attitude of County Council, Belleville City Council, Belleville Chamber of Commerce towards this important matter. "We are as much Hastings County minded as the people of the south. We want to leave our business in Belleville, but we have no decent highway over which to travel."

• • •

The northern reeves know whereof they speak. They are shrewd business men, elected heads of their communities because of their leadership and ability to administer the affairs of their townships and the county. For years they have advocated the construction of a modern highway which will facilitate travel to and from the more thickly populated centres of the south, as well as bring business to this city where it rightfully belongs.

It is no fault of the people of the north that they "take their business" to Peterborough and other centres. The answer is clear. Modern highways connect these centres with the townships of North Hastings. Northern residents cannot be blamed if they choose to drive over a highway instead of an "Indian trail."

But something can and should be done to remedy the situation. Not only does the lack of a proper highway through the county divert business but is acting as a strong deterrent to the tourist industry.

• • •

As a solution to the problem, the leaders of the northern townships strongly advocate the formation of a committee composed of representatives of County Council, City Council, Chamber of Commerce, northern communities and parliamentary representatives of county ridings.

The object of the committee would be to select a strong delegation to wait on the Department of Highways and request action on the highway situation in the county. True, some work has been done, but it can and should be accelerated. The committee would suggest that this work be completed as soon as possible and in addition advocate a main highway to connect the present work which would guarantee unrestricted travel from Belleville in the south to Maynooth in the north.

Furthermore, the reeves suggest that this delegation wait on the Department in a continuity of meetings until some action is forthcoming. It has been done in the past, they feel, and it can and should be done again.

• • •

The people of the northern townships are as much a part of Hastings County as those of the south. They contribute to the cost of county administration and have contributed their share towards bringing their county to the high financial status it enjoys in the province. It is their right to expect what they feel is only fair to them and the district in which they live.

The north is vital to the south. There have been many complaints from city merchants and others regarding the diversion of business to other places. And it is as much in the interest of the city as it is to those of the north that highway facilities through the county are made available.

As the northern reeves stated in council session. "Talk will not get us anywhere. Let us organize to get some action." And action is needed if the proper solution to the problem is to be arrived at.

But it should be concerted action. "In unity there is strength" and the combined forces of the northern and southern areas of Hastings can be a powerful factor in bringing about what is so urgently needed if the county is to progress in line with other counties of the province. But it should be done right away.

We feel that county members of the Ontario Legislature, the County Council, City Council, Chamber of Commerce, the merchants, service clubs and others interested in the proposed highway will strongly support the move suggested by the reeves of the north. For, after all, it is to the mutual benefit of all that pressure be brought to bear on the proper authorities until the desired result is attained.

That Weather

Summer is just a couple of days away and still the weather in general has taken that course which has made it unpopular since spring because there has not been enough spring and sunlight and warmth to suit the generality of people. There have been a few days with the very charm of spring but otherwise the people have had apparently just grounds for kicking about the weather. There has been rain, there has been cloudy weather, there has been coolness and yet before anyone but the farmer and weather observer can realize strawberries are here. People can scarcely believe it—that with all the tardiness of the weather nature in the strawberry plant and the berry has produced what she always produces at this season of the year. That is some compensation.

Writers too have been complaining about the weather. They say the usual signs fail. Every reader knows. Here is how a writer of the New York Times comments on the very conditions people up here are talking about:

"Usually one can believe the old proverb that 'rain before seven clears before eleven.' But not this year. It will rain at six in the morning, high noon, midafternoon, sundown, or any time of the clock. Morning rain doesn't mean afternoon sun at all. It merely means morning rain, and if you are going out for the day you had better take along a raincoat, an umbrella and any other wet-weather gear at hand. you'll need it.

"You can go through a score of weather proverbs and not find one that holds water (sic). Change of the moon, change in the weather? No. Evening red and morning gray help the traveller on his way? No. Morning after morning has been gray, and day after day has been wet. Rainbow at night, sailor's delight? No. There have been virtually no rainbows, night or morning.

Thunderstorms are believed by some to clear the air and prepare the way for fair days. Have you noticed what happened after some of the loudest thunderstorms this season? Right. The next day was wet, too, soggy and dripping and anything but clear.

"It must be that southeast wind, which New Englanders say 'brings rain in spite of hades.' We hadn't noticed the wind, particularly, but apparently it has been blowing steadily for weeks."

There it is — the same complaint up here as down there in New York, down there by the ocean.

And what will the weather do for us in the immediate future?

A man that does not know how to be angry does not know how to be good. Now and then a man should be shaken to the core with indignation over things evil. — Beecher.

The glory of ancestors sheds a light around posterity; it allows neither their good or bad qualities to remain in obscurity. — Sallust.

TWO TOASTS

Father to Son

To you whose lot it is to wear
The name my father passed to me,
God grant the strength to care
And faith for all that has to be.
Be kind; be fair; Oh, son of mine!
Be helpful whensoe'er you can
And you'll come close to God's design
Through every test that proves the man.

Be honest, whatsoe'er the cost.
Your debts unto the penny meet.
'Twere better that the game be lost
Than you should leave the field a cheat.
Whole-heartedly perform your tasks.
Unto our starry flag be true.
Son, this is all your father asks,
And all your Country asks of you.

• • •

Son to Father

Not with words would I repay
All your love has long supplied.
I would live so you will say
That you look on me with pride.
Always this my thought will be,
Though I win or lose the game,
That the name you gave to me
Never shall be linked to shame.

I who follow in your line,
To your teachings true would stay.
May no careless act of mine
Your high hopes for me betray.
Faithful unto God and you,
Always to deserve your love,
I would live my lifetime through.

Canadian's Letter Describes Japanese

Edmonton, (CP)—A Canadian's picture of conditions in Japan is given by W. F. W. (Bill) Hancock of Edmonton, former chief of the R.C.M.P. in Western Canada, in a letter from Tokyo.

Mr. Hancock, now Edmonton representatives of the vice-president in charge of the Orient route of Northwest Airlines, is in Tokyo on business.

He wrote he is living in the former palace of Prince Tokagawa and is driven around by a former Japanese army colonel.

Although wages of Japanese seem ridiculously low by North American standards, Col. Hancock says a person living in Japan can do nicely on "10 bucks a month."

"The first thing that scared me was driving on the left side of the road and the traffic that must be dodged—kids by the thousands, oxcarts, honey wagons, bicycles with every kind of trailer, rickshaws, gasoline and charcoal-burning automobiles and street cars if you can call them such.

"The city is huge and one finds magnificent buildings side by side with shacks.

"The United States Army Air Forces did a wonderful job of precision bombing, picking out just the spots they wanted to hit, leaving the show places untouched.

"It sure looked good to see the Japanese war office, navy building and all office buildings in that area — including the German embassy—gutted and the Imperial Hotel left intact.

"The United States army is doing a marvellous job of control, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur is tops with everyone.

"The Japanese police look like something the cat dragged in, but the funniest thing I've seen so far is the Tokyo fire brigade in action.

"The engines are very antiquated and hurtle down the street at top speed regardless of traffic. One chap stands on the running board grinding a siren and another frantically waves a huge red flag.

"At the fire they run out a length of hose and then stop and bo wto each other."

DISCIPLINE OF WORK DESIRABLE

Some years ago a friend of mine showed me a tulip bulb for which he said he had paid a considerable sum of money. Unfortunately he allowed one year to go by without planting the bulb. Then to his chagrin he discovered the next year when he did plant it that, although it sprouted and grew in a healthy fashion, it did not produce a bloom. The capacity to produce a bloom had been destroyed when the bulb had been given a rest for a year.

Sometimes we think that if we were perfectly free to use our time as we cared to we should be quite happy, and that if we could have plenty of leisure we could have plenty of happiness. But this idea is a delusion. The life that becomes inactive ceases to bloom. It may appear at times a terrible trial to have to keep the daily routine, but if we only knew it, our happiness lies in the drudgery which we sometimes abhor. Give every man in the world and every woman a comfortable living without work, and the whole human race would be plunged into dire and abject unhappiness.

To relieve life of the discipline of work means to destroy within it the capacity to bloom.

Premier Garson Calls Upon World To Change Order

Winnipeg, June 18. (CP)—Enemies of democracy could not devise an argument "more persuasive than the conditions of governmental confusion of this country in the 1930s," said Premier Garson of Manitoba Thursday night.

He was addressing the 13th annual convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Canada, meeting in Winnipeg until Saturday.

Convention delegates, today will hear an address by J. S. Duncan, president of the Massey-Harris Co., Toronto; consider policies for 1948-49; discuss freedom of opportunity for the individual and hear the finals in the Jaycee-sponsored national oratorical contest.

Premier Garson, speaking to a dinner meeting of the convention, called upon the democratic world "to get its house in order and quickly."

His subject was "Dominion-Provincial Relations," and he said that by doing nothing "to replace existing wartime agreements" we leave Canada "basically in the condition it was in the 1930s."

Such a condition "is filled with danger to our society. In the small world in which our most powerful rival is itself a revolutionary government, let us remember that revolution is a product not of oppression but of confusion and stalemate in government.

The convention also heard an address by Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada. He praised the work of the Junior Chambers in the field of American dollar conservation.

National President Don Mackay of Calgary, told delegates that the Junior Chamber can be listed as a "more representative organization than it has ever been in the past." During 1947-48 its membership had climbed to 25,000.

COMEDIANS DON'T FORGET YOUR MASKS

Institutions that still display newborn infants behind plate glass, attended by nurse meticulously masked with several layers of cheesecloth do not always take such exquisite pains to protect the infants from infection when there is no audience. Often enough masks are not used when the infants are brought to mothers for nursing—that is, if any of them are nursed in spite of the discouragement of this by all the actors in the big show.

The few layers of cheesecloth (gauze) in such masks make only a make-believe mask, something that impresses the spectators, perhaps, but certainly does not prevent germs from passing through. Bacteriological tests have shown that sneeze, cough or conversation spray will pass through a mask or screen made of a few layers of gauze, and nothing less than ten layers of gauze with a mesh of 32 threads against the passage of spray droplets which may contain the germs of disease.

Examine the "masks" worn by the actors in the hackneyed hospital show and you'll realize what a farce it is.

Here is a commentary by a woman who was recently confined in such an institution:

"The next morning an X-ray was to be made, so I was paraded afoot to the elevator, through the public lobby to the X-ray room, where the door was left open by a rude young man, so that my hospital ungowned torso was exposed to the stares of people passing the door . . . the waters broke and the young man handed me a dirty towel . . . I had to make way back through the public lobby trying to conceal my pains and . . . in the labor room, shared with another woman, we were the object of curious stares of male floor moppers and wall washers . . . but when my husband tried to keep the door closed the rude young man ordered him out and opened it violently . . ."

It is too bad that young married people today can't afford to maintain a home fit to have a baby in — what with the payments on the car and the high cost of night clubs and cocktail parties. It is too bad, too, that expectant parents are so blankety-blanked ignorant of all the things real men and women should know — about prenatal care and care of the baby—subjects which the common schools of this ungodly county deem improper for future citizens to learn in school.

Real masks should be worn by a great many men and women at work—surgeons, dentists, nurses, barbers, hair dressers, opticians, optemetrists, oculists, nose and throat physicians, manicures, not only for the protection of their clients but for their own protection against whatever respiartory infections many happen to have.

Such a covering over mouth and nose does prevent transfer of infection from one person to another if it is made of not less than ten layers of 32-thread gauze or cheesecloth.

But any gauze mask is uncomfortable to wear, unsightly and must be thrown away and replaced with a new one at least every day or freshly laundered at least daily.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Sterility

Often wonder why you never discuss sterility. After five years under the treatment of Dr.—— and even after two operations I get only E for effort and am now on the trail of a baby to adopt.
(D. M. W.)

Answer—It is difficult to deal with the subject here. I can and do, now and then, say that the husband is at least as likely as the wife to be the sterile partner in any barren marriage. Therefore the first step is for the husband—and a man's fertility or sterility has nothing to do with his virility. Not until proper medical examination has determined whether the husband is sterile or fertile should the wife even seek medical advice.

No Lugol's Solution

Last winter I read your advice that iodine is essential for good health, got some Lugol's solution from my druggist and immediately started taking six drops a day.
(S. B.)

Answer—That's a medicinal dose, to be taken only under your physician's direction. I recommend only nutritional quantities of iodine. On written request (clipping will not suffice), if you provide a stamped envelope bearing your address, I'll send you instructions for taking the iodin (this spelling denotes that it is nutritional) ration.

Ontario Cabinet Defers Approval Of Power Project

Toronto, June 18 (CP)—The Ontario cabinet Thursday deferred approval of plans fo a power development near Cornwall, on the St. Lawrence River. The cabinet will give further study to financing proposals of the joint New York State-Ontario plan.

Several members of the cabinet plan to visit the area picked for the development near the Long Sault Rapids to look over land expected to be appropriated.

Once cabinet approval has been given, the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission will seek permission from the International Joint Commission to start construction.

Hardy Shrub Roses Worth Consideration

(Experimental Farms News)

What are popularly regarded as the protected and tender queens of the garden—Hybrid Perpetual and Hybrid Tea Roses are familiar to many gardens. Few, however, realize the wealth of hardy shrub roses that can provide such good bloom in their season and the foliage of which varies in color and texture to provide interesting contrasts in the shrub border all through the season, says R. W. Oliver, Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

The best known of these is harsions Yellow because its profuse, pale, yellow single flowers have graced the dooryard of Canadian farm homes for almost 200 years. Like most of the shrub roses it has only one short season of bloom, but has attractive small foliage throughout the summer, followed by black fruits in fall. As it suckers freely the growth is always dense.

Has Few Flowers

The red leafed rose (Rosa rubrifolia) on the other hand makes very thin, leggy growth and has a few red single flowers. Its chief attraction is its dull purple red foliage that offers a pleasing contrast to the greens of other shrub roses.

The Japanese fruiting rose (Rosa rugosa) has rough crinkled dark green foliage and colorful scarlet fruits. The species has large single carmine flowers but many attractive hybrids have been produced from it. Several of them like Mme. Georges Bruant, Sir Thos. Lipton and Blanche Double de Coubert have large double flowers with prolonged season. Others, like F. J. Grootendorst, flower pretty well over the season until frost.

No Prickles

The smooth rose (Rosa blanda) has almost no prickles. The variety Betty Bland is a tall upright shrub with good sized double pink flowers. By contrast the dull red wood is very attractive in the shrub border during winter and spring.

Because all these roses are hardy, coming well through average winters at Ottawa without protection, they have been used as parents for the rose breeding program at the Central Experimental Farm and have produced many interesting hybrids that are good additions for the shrub borders in Canadian gardens. The best of these are: Agnes, Grace, Orinda, Sylvania, Mohawk and Iroquois. This group gives a range in height from three to seven feet, a variety of growth habit and a spread of color from creamy yellow to deep red. Their acquaintance as shrubs is worth making.

Forward Movement Representatives Address District YPU

Approximate sixty young people representing several Y. P. Unions in South Hastings District attended a meeting in Cannifton United Church, Monday evening, conducted by the forward Movement Team, Mr. Alan Borland and Mr. George Speers, students of theology. These young men, one of several teams travelling through the different United Church Conferences, are concerned with the spiritual needs of young people and are spending the summer months speaking to the Unions in the Bay of Quinte Conference with the object of leading young people to a fuller realization of their responsibilities as Christians.

Mrs. J. E. Baxter, District President, welcomed the team and the visiting unions. Recreation was enjoyed out-of-doors, followed by a spirited sing-song.

The worship service was based on the theme "God's Love." Miss Isobel Richardson contributed the solo "The Love of God" with Mr. Dana Cook as accompanist. Mr. George Speers brought a challenging message stressing the importance of expressing Christian experience in practice, through daily personal contacts. "Of equal importance," he asserted, "is the verbal witnessing we must do, telling others of Jesus and what He means, and can mean to all who surrender and allow Him to guide their lives."

During the evening Rev. A. L. Shorten told of the camps to be held at Oak Lake during July and August, and reviewed the courses planned, with the leaders He urged the young people to attend one of the Y.P.U. camps for training in Christian service.

Mr. Raymond Gunsolus outlined the plans for the Belleville Presbytery Y.P.U. picnic to be held at Moira Lake Campsite, and a profitable evening concluded with prayer.

London Wedding Now Costs $350

London (CP) — Dresses, reception, honeymoon — what does it all cost for a wedding in Britain these days?

Here is how the money problem was solved by attractive, dark haired Ruby Venn — now Mrs. Ronald Carey — a typical London spring bride.

It was in January that Ruby became engaged and they started to make wedding preparations. Luckily Ronald had an apartment, so that was one major problem disposed of.

Working from a plan in a magazine article, a clever aunt turned five yards of material —Ruby chose figured ivory satin — into a lovely gown, at a cost of a little over $15, 10 clothing coupons and two week's work. Ruby's headdress and long veil cost $8.50 but came coupon free. Her inexpensive going-away frock will serve as a best dress for a long time to come.

Mother and father Venn and Ruby pooled their clothing coupons to make the bridesmaid's dresses — 24 coupons and $24 bought 12 yards of pale blue crepe, enough for three attendants. Flowers were a big item—just under $37 —for Ruby chose carnations, and they're always expensive in springtime Britain.

Eight Eggs and a Permit

Now for the wedding cake. Armed with eight precious eggs a ministry of food permit, the Venn family went to the pastry cook. He made a wonderful two tiered cake, complete with icing and silvery horse-shoe for $15.

The wedding reception was lovely — the guests enjoyed their best meal since Christmas. The menu included chicken salad, sausage rolls, jellies, fruit and mince pies. Food points as usual were a headache but the two families had been saving ever since the couple talked of marriage. Drinks were costly and hard to get, but the health of the bride and groom were drunk in champagne just the same!

Three days honeymoon was all that Ronald could take from his work. They went to a fashionable hotel and it cost them $40. Other incidentals mounted up, such as $16 for the cars to the church, and $15 for the wedding fee; not to mention the ring which Ronald bought for $50.

Looking back on their own wedding $30 years ago, Ruby's parents thought how times had changed. Ruby's wedding cost around $350. And there's cost $40—which they thought was a lot at the time.

Pink and Pretty

By ALICE ALDEN

PINK, PRETTY, and flattering is the big millinery color this Spring, and a more radiant choice could not be made, especially when the color is set off by dramatic touches of black. Walter Florel designs a beautiful picture hat of pink shantung straw and drapes it with darkening clouds of pink-dotted black malines. Clusters of tiny black forget-me-nots punctuate the wide brim.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMESON

Eat Wisely For Beauty's Sake

One reason why complexions have improved since the old days is that the groaning board has been banished from the land. You should have grannie tell you about the eight course dinners that were served in her young days. Appetizers, soup, fish, entree, roast, vegetables, salad, dessert and coffee—with minor gastronomic dainties thrown in for good measure. It must have been a stout-hearted, hardy generation to face such a repast and to manage to do it justice. One had to partake of every course or show rudeness to the hostess. World War I finished all that.

Nobody had heard about the balanced diet. Nobody had heard of vitamins and mineral salts. That the life span has lengthened may be due to a large degree to more sensible eating habits. The medical profession tells us that most people consume more food than they need for the day's activities. Calories that are not burned up by exercise stow themselves away in the form of adipose tissue. Which accounts for the plump contingent that is ever with us, despite the fact that every heavyweight knows that excess baggage is a menace to the health. At any rate let us be thankful that the royal gorge is no longer fashionable.

Diet has a direct effect upon the complexion, the same as it has upon every cell of the body. Give the digestive machinery more fuel than it needs, cause it to overwork, and this dietetic error will show up in a skin of coarse texture or high coloring. The skin is an organ of elimination; rich foods, especially an excess of pastries, put a strain on the glands.

Too much fat will cause excessive oiliness; a lack of fat will cause the epidermal surface to become dry; then creams must be used lavishly to make up for the absence of the natural lubricant.

That must have been a stout-hearted, hardy generation

It avails little to play with make-up if the skin is not in normal condition to form a pleasing background for cosmetic high lights. Besides, good eating habits make for clearer thinking, better spirits, more energy, greater resistance to disease, restful sleep. Worth thinking about.

One needs meat, poultry, eggs, sea food, fruits, vegetables, cereals, milk and cheese. An egg for breakfast, a serving of meat at dinner will supply protein. Starches and sweets should not be eaten in excess. Fruits and vegetables satisfy the appetite, are easily digested, soon assimilated, will not add to weight.

Citrus fruits contains vitamins, so don't overlook the half glass of orange juice every morning. If not orange juice, then tomato juice.

Drink plenty of water. Many a dry skin is thirsty.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Make Yourself Interesting

"I am so lonesome". "Why dont the boys invite me on dates? "I am a wall flower at parties'. "I never have any good times." "The boys never notice me. Everywhere I go, I have to go alone."

These are a few of the complaints that I get in letters from young people of all ages—in their teens and their early and late 20's.

It's not only the young people, either, who find themselves in this sort of situation. Many a middle-aged man or woman either single, widowed or divorced, writes to tell me how dreary life has become for them and how lonely they are.

What all these people, whether young or old, fail to realize is that no one really needs to be lonely. Not every girl or woman can be beautiful, charming, and popular, nor can every man be a Gary Cooper or a Clark Gable. But there isn't anyone who can't have friends enough so that time never hangs heavy on their hands.

The real secret of popularity is to make yourself interesting, and to be interesting to others means that you must have a variety of interests yourself, including a sincere interest in other people.

The chief trouble with people who find themselves lost at parties because they have nothing to say, is because they have never taken the trouble to cultivate this variety of interests and so they are unable to make good conversation.

One way to make yourself a good conversationalist is to be a clever listener. Try listening to people not just for the sake of hearing what they say, but with the added purpose in mind of finding out what kind of things people talk about. If you listen that way for awhile you will gradually learn the sort of things you ought to be finding out about, so that you will be able to join in intelligently whatever turn the conversation takes.

Another way to make yourself interesting is to have a hobby, because wherever you go, you will almost certainly find someone who is interested in the same thing you are. In practically every city today there are hobby clubs of one sort or another. Hunt around your city until you find out what clubs of this sort there are, and which one you might be able to join. A good place to start such a search is at the Y.W.C.A. or the Y.M.C.A. where there are many clubs, among which you should be able to find one you would enjoy. Once you have joined one such club or organization, and begun to make acquaintances in it, you will find that one friend leads to another, and before you know it, you will be one of a congenial circle with plenty to talk about and a lot of interesting things to do.

It's always a good plan to make yourself a good dancer, if you are not one already, for smooth performers on the dance floor are always in demand even though they may not be the most brilliant and witty conversationalists in the world.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Which initia on Handkerchiefs —First or Last Name.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When one is buying handkerchiefs to give as gifts, which initial should be chosen, the initial of the first name or of the last name? I find that many people don't know the "definite" answer to this question . . .and neither, as a matter of fact, do clerks in stores. So often I hear the answer given, "Whichever you wish, first name or last name." Is this true?

May R.

When you buy a handkerchief for a man, choose one with the initial of his last name. Boys too usually prefer this, although sometimes very young boys prefer the initial of the first name. Handkerchiefs for women and girls should carry the initial of the first name.

When Guests are "Re-Invited" to the Wedding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What is the proper way to invite (to "re-invite") guests to a wedding that had to be postponed after the invitations had already been sent out?

R. Z.

That depends on the time-element. If there is very little time before the date of the wedding, the invitations would be given either by telephone or telegraph or air-mail or possibly special delivery letters. If time is not so pressing, notes may be written.

How to Address Flowers For the Funeral

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I have always been perplexed as to the correct way to address flowers to be sent to a funeral. Will you, please, give me a general rule for this?

Reader

The usual way to address flowers to be sent to a funeral is "For the Funeral of" and then the name of the deceased. And this form is the very best form for general use. Then whoever takes care of the funeral details collects the enclosed cards, and they are either assembled in a general group or some are given to the one in the family whom the person sending the flowers knows best. This is obviously the most convenient way too when very possibly some members of the family may not even know some of the senders-of-flowers. The other form, quite often used, is to address the flowers to the next of kin. That is, they would be addressed to the wife for the funeral of her husband.

Are You a Good Listener

Have you ever watched yourself while you are listening to another person? Do you give your undivided attention to what the person is saying, or do you give the unattractive impression that you are eager for the other person to finish so that you can begin to talk? Or do you perhaps have that preoccupied expression in your eyes . . . that fatally preoccupied expression that shows only too plainly that you are thinking of something more important to you than what the person is saying?

Check on yourself and honestly see just what kind of listener you are. . . not only when you are with one person but when you are with a group of people. And especially when you are in a restaurant or other public place, where there is a temptation to look at other people when you should be giving all your attention to your companion.

Fashion Temple In Boston Ousts Museum Exhibits

By FRED BRADY

Boston, (AP)—Bonwit Teller says they have knocked another Boston legend into a cocked-hat by Bonwit Teller.

They've done it, they say, in their newest fashion temple—a flossy $300,000 fixing of an 80-year-old museum where Bostonians once wandered beneath the skeleton of a whale and among birds and beasts that were stuffed and unstylish.

There-in genteel drawing rooms without counters and with salesgirls who are told they are hostesses— the shop claims they've proved that Boston women buy their hats.

That story, says Mrs. Rosalynd De Hart, Bonwit Teller vice-president and Boston manager, "is the greatest mis-statement of all time."

"Why," says Mrs. De Hart, "Boston women love hats. And not conservative hats either, but the very smartest. They come in for three or four in a season."

For those hats they pay anything from $18.50 to $90. And for matching frocks—displayed while the women are served tea and cakes to brace them for the delicate decision—the price scale tilts up from $10.95 to $595.

All this in rooms which for 80 years were the New England Museum of Natural History-prowled by education-bent dowagers and their often frightened children who were taken on Saturday afternoons to see black bears or dinosaur footprints.

Doric Columns Remain

Bonwit Teller is proud that their decorator kept the tall Doric columns and graceful arches of the old museum as well as some of the less vivid statuary.

Salesgirls say that in the hat salon the grand dames of Boston often pause properly in a fitting to say: "You know, this used to be the butterfly room". There was even one, on a dark winter day, who wondered: "What could you do with the snake room?"

Mrs. De Hart, whose career was tailored at Nieman-Marcus in Dallas and Saks Fifth Avenue before Boston, says also that there is nothing to the legends of indifference and frostiness among Boston women.

"Most receptive," she says of them. And, she adds, "Business is fine."

Since an estimated 5,000 ladies were heard to give elegant gasps at the shop opening last September there have been rumors that occasional customers have brought bargain basement tactics into the drawing rooms.

One Boston shopper told of a woman who strung her arm with handbags and wouldn't let them go until she had made her very deliberate choice.

Yu'An Hee See Laughs

By Sax Rohmer

On the following day, the 23rd, the writer had scribbled something which Haig was unable to read. But on the 24th came this curious item.

"10 degrees 35' N. and 41 degrees 5' E."

Finally, against date the 25th, appeared a cross in red ink. This was the last entry.

Dawson Haig pulled out his pipe, filled it very carefully, and lighted it. Then he reread Kearney's note and looked for and found a leaflet referred to. It was one issued by the steamship company, and it gave the dates at which the Walaroo touched ports en route to Brisbane, Australia.

Very deliberately, although his brain was on fire, he compared certain entries in the memo book with this leaflet. The date the 17th corresponded to that at which the ship reached Marseilles; the next—the 23rd—to that when she arrived at Port Said! The final dates meant nothing to him, except that he estimated them to correspond to the Wallaroo's position at some place south of Suez.

Of course, Kearney might have set him off on a wild-goose chase, and these entries bear no relation to the voyage of the Wallaroo. But, considering where the book came from, what was he to think?

And "B 4" was the number of Eileen's stateroom!

"What the devil does it mean?" he said aloud.

He turned the leaves back. If only he could read those hieroglyphic notes! But they were meaningless. He stared again at the entries in the diary. Then a possible explanation presented itself. Of course! He should have thought of it before!

These notes related to Jo Lung's abandoned dope-running enterprise!

This theory alnost covered the facts, but left him uneasy about the entry "B 4" until, sitting back in Kearney's chair and smoking furiously, a possible explanation came of this also. The cabins of all suspected persons, who might be revenue or police agents, had been marked by the plotter, and for some reason Eileen had fallen under suspicion.

"That's it!" he muttered.

At which moment the phone bell rang, and:

"Is that you, Haig? Kearney speaking. I'm hung up at the office awaiting a phone call from New York. But have you grasped the facts about the memo book I pinched from Jo Lung's?"

"Some of them. It needs a good many hours' work and a man who knows Chinese. But I think it does the hanging trick. Good for you! Shall you be long?"

"I may be an hour. Can't say."

"Then I shall have to push off. I'll take the book with me. I'm on my way back to Limehouse—"

"Limehouse! Why, at this hour?"

"An awful thing has happened, Matt—Norwich has been murdered!"

"What!"

The words had a stupefying effect upon Kearney. Norwich murdered!..That cry in the fog! The shadowy figure in the doorway.. the unmistakable figure which had looked in at the back of the taxicab!

"You left him somewhere, at the corner of Three Colt Street?" Dawson Haig went on rapidly.

"Yes—yes—that's right."

"He was found, some time later, dead in the door of a warehouse. His pockets had been rifled—everything taken. Looked like the work of a common footpad, but I know it wasn't! I didn't know until Wilson phoned me and told me about the book. Now I've read your note and studied those entries, I'm pretty sure the murderer was looking for this incriminating evidence on the table before me! You had a damned lucky escape!"

"But—" Kearney gasped—"how was poor Norwich killed?"

There was a slight interval; then:

"I don't know," Haig replied. "From the account given by Limehouse and confirmed by Leman Street, he seems to have fallen in with a stray panther."

"Stray panther? What on earth do you mean?"

"Well, they tell me his throat is horribly torn, but not by a knife cut. The thing's teeth pierced his jugular. He bled to death. Thank God you're safe, old scout."

"But—the Wallaroo...."

"I'm putting a good man aboard the Wallaroo...."

The person variously known as "Yu'an" and "Excellency," wearing a plain blue house robe, paced up and down Jo Lung's office. The dark-eyed woman seated in a chair near the door watched him uneasily.

"They do not return," he crooned presently. "This may mean death, but you sit there very quietly, tender blossom."

"What can I do?"

"You have done all that it lies in a woman's power to do. You have perhaps ruined me. Jo Lung, who did his share, will fall in that ruin, and Polodos with him."

He continued to walk up and down, once pausing to glance at a clock on the writing table.

"We are watched," he said, in his high, reedy voice, "because of the trade, the petty trade, which is done here. And because of a series of blunders, those who are watching these small things may be rewarded unjustly by a glimpse of the great."

Ceaselessly he paced the floor, until:

"Ali left more than an hour ago," said the woman suddenly; "and we cannot trust the Adder. If he has...."

"His orders would justify it." Into the high voice crept a soothing note. "What does it matter, most beautiful, provided that it corrects the consequence of your folly?"

"My folly!" the woman exclaimed, and laughed indignantly. "How was I to know when I saw the man pick the book up that it was not his own—that it meant so much?"

"A woman who is beautiful," the Chinaman replied softly, "is desirable. But there are many. A woman who has not only beauty but also intuition is a worthy companion."

He resumed his promenade and presently began to laugh. As the short squeals of his evil merriment rose higher and higher, reaching a note unattainable by any normal human voice, the woman shrank back in her seat. She sad dropped her ermine cloak on the back of the chair. Sheathed in a black frock she looked tiny, doll-like.

"Tonight," said the man who laughed, "then I shake off the dust of England from my feet forever, or I lay my bones in this cold island."

"Let us start!" the woman implored. "What are we wating for?"

"Tender flower," the reedy voice replied caressingly, "a clever man knows how long to wait. It is only the fool who flies when no enemy pursues him. I have promised you a rope of pink pearls twice as long as your body. This, also, is the length of the rope used at executions in England...."

• • •

Dawson Haig sat back in the chair, replacing the telephone. A tramcar was passing along the Embankment beyond the gardens. He knew those all-night trams with their cargo of weary Fleet Street workers. He listened to the familiar sounds audible through and opened bedroom window behind him.

"His throat was mangled as though he had met a wild animal ....the jugular had been penetrated...."

That was what Leman Street had reported. Automatically his hand touched the little leather-bound memo book. In leaving the establishment of Jo Lung, Matt Kearney had picked up something which meant life or death to.... someone.

Haig believed he knew that someone's name; began to believe that what he had failed to find in Singapore might lie here under his fingers.

"The jugular..penetrated.."

He no longer doubted that poor Norwich had been followed by agents of that someone. And for this—this very book upon the table!

Yes! here lay the clue, if only he could unravel it....Here, on the table, lay something which meant the hangman's rope for the Big Chief!

Good god! It was maddening! He bent again over the pages of the diary.

And now, suddenly, he found himself listening—listening for what?

"He bled to death...."

Dawson Haig thought of those words, and, at the same moment, thought he detected a faint sound in the bedroom behind him!

He sat rigidly still. Definitely, something was moving in the bedroom—gently, lightly.

Haig turned very quietly in his chair and looked towards the half-open door leading into Kearney's bedroom....silhouetted against it he saw a crouching figure....

The fact flashed through his mind that he was unarmed.... Gently but unmistakably, he could hear the door opening behind him. With assumed indifference, he walked towards the lobby, and went out....

In five seconds he had snatched from the wall a Japanese sword (the lights in the sitting room had been switched off), unsheathed it—turned.

And as he turned—he saw it..

As a man he could not regard this visitant who fabulously had gained admission to these chambers. But he saw the Thing which he could not doubt, had killed poor Norwich!

It was bending over the writing table—a small, thickset figure, enormously deformed, humped, grotesque..long arms and disproportionately large hands. But the head!—the head, glimpsed for a moment in the lobby light!

Nausea swept over him at sight of that small, malignant head, that nearly hairless head, like the skull of an infant. The brow was no more than an inch and a half high, and the nose upon a small, dark face, was represented by two distended nostrils. The chin retreated into the neck, but the upper lip below those flattened nostrils. The chin retreated into the neck, but the upper lip below those flattened nostrils protruded inhumanly....

The creature turned its little sunken eyes upon him. He saw two enormous teeth, exaggerated canines, curved downward over the lower lip—white, and gleaming..

For one instant, a sort of supernatural dread held him spellbound then, sword in hand, he leaped.

But, quickly as he leaped, the Thing was quicker. Like a shadow, the white-fanged horror sprang through the bedroom door.

Haig lunged wildly. The blade of the Japanese sword passed completely through a lower panel as the abnormally active fugitive crashed the door fast behind him. Haig threw himself against it, and as it swung open he crashed forward, face downward upon the bedroom carpet.

He was up in an instant, and sprang to the light switch. The room was empty! The window was more widely open, and, racing across, he craned out, looking down the face of the building into the shadowy court below.

Something that looked like a big cat was moving twenty feet underneath. Even as he looked, it had gone—fading, had disappear-er....He would have been prepared to stake all he possessed upon the impossibility of any human being climbing down the face of the building at that point. Yet, he had seen it accomplished!

He thought of the creature's sunken, blazing eyes. It had been under the influence of drugs—was, for the time being, homicidal—endowed, probably by some preparation of Indian hemp, with supernatural daring and agility.

Running back to Kearney's writing desk, he pulled up, fists clenched.

The memo book had disappeared!

• • •

Absolute silence prevailed in the office of Jo Lung. The woman smoked cigarettes ceaselessly one after another. Yu'an paced the carpet ,with his heavy yet cat-like tread. Suddenly:

"We shall be trapped," the woman said. "Why are we waiting? Ali—or the Adder—may be caught as they return...."

Yu'an glanced at the speaker through slit-like eyes. Then silently he extended a plump yellow hand in the direction of the wall behind the desk. In one of the openings of the switchboard glowed a tiny speck of light.

"The blue lights are on," he returned contemptuously. "Even if we were surrounded—neither would be taken."

Came the muffled note of a phone bell.

Yu'an stepped quickly to the table and took up the receiver. "Yes?" he said.

"Something is afoot," Polodos reported.

"I hope there has been no more blundering."

"Shan announces that the party which set out from Leman street is now leaving Limehouse—bound in this direction. What are your orders?"

"As already arranged," the high, piping voice replied. "I am now going to join Jo Lung. There will be no sea tonight, so we shall cross in the cruiser. Are you clear as to your instructions?"

"Perfectly clear, Excellency. Where do you wish me to join you?"

"At Trieste on Thursday morning—the usual place."

Yu'an replaced the receiver.

"The police! I knew it!" cried the woman, springing up.

He faced her. "With you," he said softly, in Chinese, "the police are like an evil dream. One would think, Orange Blossom, that you feared them. This is not flattering to me."

His voice rose very high on the last note. The woman called Orange Blossom summoned all her natural arrogance to confront him, but that cloak of high disdain which she wore so gracefully somehow had slipped from her.

As the portly Chinaman moved slowly in her direction, she shrank back, nearer to the door. With a curling smile of arched red lips he turned aside, slipped off his blue house garment which he hung in a cupboard and resumed his heavy overcoat, taking up the broad-brimmed black hat from the table. Then:

"Come," he said, "we are going. Jo Lung waits for us."

Inspector Eddy of Leman Street had placed his men with care. It would have been difficult for a rat to enter the premises of Jo Lung without attracting the attention of one of them. His dispositions effected:

"That ought to do," he said to the detective sergeant who accompanied him. 'Scotland Yard seems to think that the murderer will make for here tonight: if he does, he'll fall into the net."

In a mean house near the corner of a mean street, outside the cordon drawn by the police around the suspected premises, a light shone behind a blue shade of an upper-window. On the opposite side of a second, wider thoroughfare upon which this first debouched, a furtive figure crept along close to the dingy shops. In sight of that lighted window it paused, turned, and seemed to sink into the shadows again.

Three Changes Make Election Unique in History

Regina, June 18. (CP)—Three precedent - shattering changes make the June 24 Saskatchewan election unique in British Constitutional history.

They are:

1. People between 18 and 21 years are entitled to vote for the first time in a general election. They may also run for the legislature.

2. Civil servants may participate in partisan political work.

3. The political affiliation of a candidate is sparked on the ballot paper.

Already 18-year-olds have voted in three by-elections in Saskatchewan under the amending legislation which came into effect in 1945. They were given the right to run for the legislature at the last session and it is estimated that nearly 50,000 will be eligible to vote.

None of the candidates in the election is under 21. The youngest is 23-year-old Wilfred Gardiner, son of Federal Agriculture Minister Gardiner, who is Liberal candidite for Last Mountain.

The most contentious of the three changes—removal of the bars against political work by civil servants—has drawn the fire of opposition parties who say the measure could be used to force civil servants into political work.

The critics claim many civil servants now are working for the C.C.F. because they are afraid of losing their jobs.

Government spokesmen said when the legislation was passed that civil servants, as citizens, should have the right to participate in political organizations if they desired.

Public Service Commissioner Carl S. Edy said he would have no knowledge of how many government employees—if any—were doing political work in the present campaign.

Amendments to the ballot form to add the candidates' political affiliation were passed this year.

Man in Cab Can Do Little To Avert Crashes

Toronto, June 18 — (CP)—Engineer of one of the big new diesel locomotives running between Toronto and Montreal over Canadian National Railways lines, Art Cole of Belleville knows how little the man in the cab can do to avert level crossing collisions.

He says he wishes the man or woman behind the wheel of the automobile trying to beat the train to the crossing knew it too.

Rolling with 80 cars of freight weighing 5,000 tons adds up to a momentum that cannot easily be controlled. In few instances can the engineer provide the motorist with the spare second or two that means the difference between life and death.

With every crossing protected by some form of warning, the engineer can only hope for the best.

MANUFACTURES PENICILLIN

Stockholm —(CP)— Approximately 4,000,000 vials of penicillin, about 400,000,000,000 units and sufficient for Sweden's requirements as well as for certain export volume, is being manufactured in this country's first penicillin factory near here.

Voice of Weekly Press Should Be Clear and Strong

Toronto, June 18 — (CP)—Sam Curry, of Tweed, Ont., president of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, told the Association's annual convention here Thursday "the voice of the weekly press should be clear and strong in the cause of progress toward the etablishmen of true democracy as we know it in Canada."

Mr. Curry said the danger of communism "can and will appear in smaller communities," and that Canadian weekly newspapers could play a large part in preventing it from spreading.

The Association also announced that it plans a permanent memorial to the late Andy Clarke, who for many years broadcast a weekly resume of news from Canadian weeklies.

Brighteners

New York (AP) — New Yorkers — who don't warm up to the brightest lights of the Great White Way — were stopped in their tracks by a brighter one Thursday night.

More than 75,000 persons dropped their usual indifference to jam the city's cavern of light for the unveiling of Times' Squares' newest electric sign.

At 9 p. m., a city official threw a switch, and gaping Gothamites saw:

Two miles of neon tubing and thousands of bulbs shining at once.

A 130-foot wide mechanical waterfall — with real water.

A panel flashing news bulletins and cues to amusements.

And two nude, five-storey statues of a man and a woman.

The sign, built by a clothing firm, is a block long. Its owners claim it is the biggest in the world.

Sterling, Ill. (AP) — Robert Lendman, an insurance agent was fined five cents Thursday for overtime parking.

A judge then suspended both the fine and the costs.

Oklahoma City (AP) — It's been a tough fight, but the kids are winning in Oklahoma.

This year, says the Department of Agriculture, the state will harvest 66,000 less bushels of spinach — and 550,000 more watermelons.

Fristoe, Mo. (AP) — When a well driller told 73-year-old Mrs. Lou Brooks Thomas that he had struck oil on her farm, she objected.

"All I want is good drinking water," she said, "and you can't get that from an oil well."

Bill Barnes, the driller, related Thursday that he hit a pocket of oil while redrilling a water well on Mrs. Thomas' farm near this West-central Missouri town.

Mrs. Thomas ordered the well sealed with concrete and another one drilled nearby. In drilling the second well, Barnes reported finding a rock formation and a slight coating of oil on the water at 102 feet.

But Mrs. Thomas told him not to go any deeper. She said she was afraid he might strike oil again.

Washington Spotlight:

Decision May Vitally Affect Whole World

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Washington, June 18 (CP) —A relatively small group of Republicans representing their party in all the states and territories are closing in on Philadelphia to make a decision which may vitally affect the whole world.

They are the 1,094 delegates to the party's national convention which opens in Philadelphia next Monday morning.

Their task is to choose candidates as president and vice-president in the elections to be held next Nov. 2.

It is of world-wide importance because at this moment the United States is the one country, if there is one, that holds the potential power to halt the swing toward totalitarian dictatorship which is slowly engulfing so much of the universe.

The selection might fall upon a candidate who, if elected, would yield to the powerful isolationist influences within the party which would once more withdraw this country's power to do good in the world outside United States boundaries.

Traditionally the National Party conventions are boisterous, wrangling and chaotic spectacles.

Experienced party managers who have spent hours in pre-convention huddles generally keep fairly complete control over actual events in Convention Hall.

However events sometimes run away from the planners and then the unexpected happens as it did in 1940 in the same hall when the late Wendell Willkie's name was suddenly thrust into the balloting and the delegates stampeded to give him the nomination.

History may repeat next week. The actual contenders are Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, former Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota and Governor Thomas Dewey of New York.

Willing contenders are Governor Earl Warren of California, Senator John Bricker of Ohio, Speaker Joseph Martin of the House of Representatives and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Supreme Commander of the Allied forces in Japan.

Most-talked-of dark horse contender is Senator Arthur Vandenburg of Michigan.

Dairy Population Showing Decline

Woodstock, June 18 — (CP) — Earle Kitchen, secretary - manager of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, said Thursday it was in the interest of all Canadians that farmers be paid the cost of producing food; plus a reasonable profit."

Mr. Kitchen said, in a speech prepared for delivery at the Ontario Concentrated Milk Producers' Association picnic here that the "uncertain" future of the dairy industry had caused "a rapid decline in the dairy population of Canada." This decline might "quickly reach a point from which it will take years to recover."

Dairy price levels had fallen just before the imposition of price ceilings.

"It was our expectation that when the war was over our fellow citizens . . . would see us fairly recompensed for our wartime sacrifice."

Instead, industry had demanded the relaxation of controls and decontrol had become public policy. The public, however, accustomed to controlled prices, continued to demand regulated food prices. Industrial controls came off but food controls remained in the form of export market regulations.

Producers of cheese, concentrated milk and whole milk had seen their costs "go on mounting steadily and their returns remain stationary."

The imposition of a ceiling on butter prices last winter and a recent government announcement of a floor price "so far below the cost of production" had affected the confidence of dairy men.

The only policy that would build dairy herds and assure dairy production was "a long-term government policy."

Liberals Meet Prime Minister

Ottawa, June 18 — (CP)—A group of Ontario Liberal Members of Parliament met Prime Minister Mackenzie King Thursday and urged that the government do something drastic to not only stop the upward trend in the cost of living but to reduce the existing level.

Members stated afterwards that Mr. King gave them an understanding reception and promised to bring their representations immediately to the attention of the cabinet.

The group consisted of L. O. Breithaupt, Waterloo North; W. Gladstone, Wellington South, W. Benidickson, Kenora - Rainy River; George Nixon, Algoma West; Thomas Farquhar, Algoma East, and J. Leo Gauthier, Nipissing.

Reggie clambered back but saw his brother floating unconscious in the shark-infested water. Diving back Reg pulled his brother unharmed, to safety. But the next day he was back again — fishing for sharks.

World-Telegram Urges Tourists To Visit Canada

New York, June 18 (CP) — The World-Telegram said Thursday that to urge Americans to forego vacations in Canada because of the Dominion's restrictions in expenditures of United States dollars "is manifestly a short-sighted policy."

In an editorial, it said that such a policy "can only damage our own prosperity — and our best customer and neighbor."

The newspaper said Canada's dollar shortage was caused because she bought more from the United States than she sold in this country.

Some United States hotel keepers were urging Americans to spend their vacation dollars at home, instead of in the Dominion.

"But Canada's greatest source of dollars is her tourist busines," the editorial added. "About 20,000,000 Americans visit Canada each year. The dollars they leave there have a quick turn-around. They come back home fast, as payment for American goods.

"If Americans should cut down on their trips to Canada, the Canadians would be forced to reduce their purchases in this country for the simple and sound reason that they didn't have the money."

Shifting Winds Fan Northern Ontario Fires

(By The Canadian Press)

Almost quiescent fires in the Northern Ontario bush snarled hungrily again early today when a shift in winds fanned them into life.

New inroads were made on the Mississagi and Chapleau fronts but there were gains elsewhere to plague begrimed and battle weary crews.

Showers in the last few days had stabilized positions but were not heavy enough to remove the menace.

Authorities were not yet able to compute the losses so far in one of the worst forest fire seasons on record in the province. In the Mississagi outbreak alone almost 400 square miles have been more or less devastated, and Chapleau has only slightly less.

Retreats were made along some of the lines with the renewed activity, particularly where the Mississagi blaze swung suddenly in the White River road area.

Man induced rainfall — produced when solid carbon dioxide or dry ice is seeded into clouds by aircraft— has been of some help but can only be effective when the clouds are of the proper density and temperature.

Activity was only increased Thursday night in the Kirkpatrick Lake, East Cariboo Lake and Mount Lake sectors, and air surveys indicated retreats were being made by the firefighters.

Fire has licked deep into the great Chapleau game preserve and scores of animals, especially moose, dear, and wolves have been reported burned to death.

Meanwhile, however, the lands and forests department has announced the situation has improved to the point where travel restrictions can be lifted in five areas — Algonquin Park, North Bay, Temiskaming, Gogama and Cochrane. But travel will be closely watched.

Bill Voiselle Becomes Braves' Biggest Winner Under Magic Touch of Manager Southworth

By BEN PHLEGAR

The magic touch of Billy Southworth is working wonders on still another ball player, pitcher Bill Voiselle.

The once disgruntled curve baller of New York Giants has turned into Boston Braves' biggest winner under the patient guidance of Boston Billy.

Voiselle broke in with the Giants in 1944 by winning 21 games. The next June he was fined $500 by Manager Mel Ott for grooving a pitch to Johnny Hopp, then with St. Louis Cardinals.

"That fine, which I felt was unjustified seemed to take everything out of me," Voiselle said. He finished 1945 with a 14-14 record, then slipped to 9-15 in 1946.

Last year he'd won only once while losing four when the Giants swapped him and cash for pitcher Mort Cooper. He righted himself almost at once and won eight while losing seven for the Braves. This season he's won seven and lost three.

Two of those victories came yesterday against Chicago Cubs. Voiselle relieved Warren Spahn in the second inning of the first game of a twin bill. The Braves trailed 5-0 but went on to win 7-6. Then in the nightcap he was called upon in the ninth with the score tied, 7-7. Boston won in the last half with a run.

Boston on Top Rung

The pair of triumphs gave Boston undisputed possession of first place in the National League, a half game ahead of Pittsburgh.

The Pirates took the measure of New York Giants, 9-8, despite four New York home runs. They came from behind on a homer by Ed Stevens with two aboard in the seventh.

Giants homers were by Johnny Mize, Bill Rigney, Willard Marshall and Bobby Thomson.

Stan Musial feasted on Philadelphia pitching as St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Phillies, 4-1. Musial had a triple and two singles to boost his season's average to .398.

Harry Brecheen was the winner.

Cincinnati beat Brooklyn 5-3 in the other National League game.

Cleveland's front-running Indians suffered their fourth straight loss, this time to Boston 8-6. The Indians stayed in the game until the sixth when Dom Dimaggio put the Red Sox ahead to stay with a home run. Ken Keltner hit his 16th home run for Cleveland.

Philadelphia Athletics advanced to within two games of the Indians by defeating Detroit 5-2. Carl Scheib, who gave up six hits, was the winner with Dizzy Trout being charged with the loss.

LAST NIGHT'S STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Batting, Stan Musial Cardinals—Drove in three runs and made three hits in three times at bat as St. Louis defeated Philadelphia, 4-1.

Pitching, Bill Voiselle Braves—Received credit for two victories as he hurled winning ball in relief in both halves of the Boston-Chicago doubleheader which Boston won 7-6 and 8-7.

Three Umpires Officiated At Minor Classic

Fans at the midget baseball game at the Fair Grounds last Wednesday night must have thought they were seeing the junior edition of the world series. No less than three umpires officiated at the minor classic. Eddie Schreider, who calls the balls and strikes in the Intermediate League was behind the plate while Don Lee and Cy Young covered the bases.

The game incidentally went to the Kinsmen as they downed the ptimist
Optimists 6-2 behind the neat flinging of a small gent named Carr. It was the Optimists' first defeat of the campaign.

Bobby Locke Now Just One Of the Boys

Chicago, June 18 — (AP) — Bobby Locke has found a sense of humor to go with his golf game and is now just "one of the boys."

A year ago, when the soft-spoken Locke came to the United States from South Africa, he was reported to have balked at granting interviews unless he got paid for talking. That sort of started him out on the wrong foot. It has taken some time for him to get the rating as "just one of the boys."

Lean Lloyd Mangrum was watching Locke practice putting before the start of the $15,000 Chicago Victory National tournament yesterday.

"I've never seen a guy like you," Mangrum chided. "You can look like you're shooting a 79, then score a 68. What a scrambler you are. You swing like an old woman."

Locke smiled. "You should talk," he replied. "You are well over the lot most of the time. Talk about scrambling— phooey."

Bobby, who has pocketed $13,218 to become the fourth biggest money winner of the season, took only 25 putts during the opening 18 holes — including nine one-putt greens — for a six-under-par 65. Mangrum, pre-tournament favorit, struggled for a 74.

Two strokes behind Locke as the 72-hole medal play tourney entered the second round today was Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kas., with 67. Johnny Revolta and Turnesa were next with 69s.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

BY GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

This from the Kingston sheet: "Baseball statisticians—and they are very numerous—will be excused if they laugh heartily after reading the following interpretation of a rule as rendered by Cec. Purdue in The Peterborough Examiner.

"Apart from a few slips—and we all make the odd mistake—we thought the umpiring was okay and had little bearing on the result. For instance, 'twas argued that a batter hit a foul—on an odd play where the pitch hit his bat behind his head, juggled around foul and finally rolled fair. But Umpire Wimp Berland was correct in ruling it fair as it's where the ball settles on the infield not where it lands."

"Umpire Berland and Cec. Perdue have combined in contributing a gem that should be awarded a place of distinction in baseball's Hall of Fame."

• • •

A play similar to the one in Peterborough occurred here in a baseball game a few nights ago. The ball struck the bat and popped foul. It curled in the air, landed foul, and twisted its way to fair territory. The umpire called it fair, and according to our interpretation of the rule which says, quote: "A fair hit is a legally batted ball that settles on fair ground") unquote, his nibs was correct. There was little or no argument on the matter so it is therefore taken for granted, according to the Kingston scribes idea of the thing, that a lot of people at the game including umpires, players and whatnot, are not conversant with the rules.

• • •

Methinks that after the first para blurb, M'sieu Perdue can be excused if he indulges in a gust of lusty guffaws "at a gem which should not be awarded any sort of spot in baseball's Hall of Fame.

Trenton Flyers and the Picton Athletics hook up in a Belleville Baseball League tilt at the Fair Grounds here tonight and it is to be hoped the boys settle down and dish up some real baseball instead of the basketball scores that have predominated the last three or four games of the loop. The game gets under way at 8.30 and as before the Churchian crew will be accompanied by a goodly crowd of Picton spectators.

• • •

Davey Young, well-known Picton umpire, who was calling balls and strikes in these parts when they were running moonlight excursions to Twelve O'clock Point; the gals wore bustles and the lads sported their best Sunday-go-meeting peg-top pants, was on hand this week when the Picton team clashed with the Merchants. And Dave had a grouse a mile long. Seems as though the Picton squad feels that it should have one of its umpires officiate at away games instead of both arbiters being home brews. And we think he has something there.

Wednesday night the Napanee team brought along youthful Mr. Butcher, a competent mask and pad man to officiate, and on arrival discovered that two Belleville umpires had been appointed. There was some discussion on the matter and a compromise was reached when Messrs. Townsend and Schreider agreed to work the bases with Mr. Butcher doing plate duty. And he did a neat job of it at that. The Picton management has stated that if the same condition exists in future games they will use two home-town umpires at their home games. It appears that Belleville umps, according to the complaints are sent with a Belleville team when it plays away, but outside referees have not been appointed at games played here.

President Don Thomas of the Central Ontario Baseball League informs us that the Petes will hook up with Oley Olson's Kingston Locos in Kingston in a double-header on June 22. On the July 1st holiday, the Locos will be the guests of the Men 'o Murphy in the Liftlock City in a twin bill instead of a single game fixture as scheduled.

They apparently have trouble with umpires and players up in the western part of the county. Dan Odette, of the Kitchener Record pens the following piece anent an umps-player argument. The player was a bucko named Slota while the equally loquacious umpire was a gent named Buck:—"The exchange grew quite hot and Buck finally blew up when Slota told him he was through as an umpire five years ago. 'You're out of the game,' roared Buck. 'I'm wrong.' Slota shot back, 'you were through 10 years ago.' 'Get out of the park,' sputtered Buck. 'No, it wasn't 10 years ago, it was 15,' said the persistent Slota. Buck didn't say anything more as he evidently realized he couldn't order him out of town."

It was during the 1923 season that Babe Ruth performed one of his most extraordinary batting feats. The Yanks were locked in a bitter 1-1 tie with the White Sox in Chicago. Mark Roth, the travelling secretary, was in a dither as the fray advanced into extra innings. The train to New York was practically ready to leave as they went into overtime. Mark squirmed through the twelfth, thirteenth and fourteenth, the images of the departing train dancing through his mind.

In the fifteenth Dugan singled and, as Ruth made ready to advance to the plate, he noticed the uneasy Roth, a trifle green about the gills.

"What's the matter?" he boomed. "Sick?"

"Yes," responded the traveling secretary, "if you bums don't wind up this ball game in a hurry, we'll blow the train."

"Take it easy," cautioned the Babe. "I'll get us out of here."

• • •

He thereupon hit the first ball Mike Cvengros served him into the stands for a homer. As he returned to the dugout he impatiently turned to Roth and inquired:

"Why the hell didn't you tell me about that before?"

But that was Ruth for you. And that was the Yankees of that era.

Toronto Leafs Whip Baltimore By 11 to 7 Count

(By The Associated Press)

Jersey City's Little Giants are taking after the big Giants across the river in New York —they're in a slump.

The International League Club has lost its last four games and seven of its last eight starts. Last night Buffalo came to town in sixth place. When the firing was over Buffalo was in fourth place and Jersey City was down in sixth, eight games behind league leading Montreal. The score was 9-2.

Chet Laabs hit two home runs to pace the nine hit attack. It was the third game this season in which he's connected for the circuit twice. He now has 16 home runs.

There was heavy hitting in Baltimore last night too. Ed Sanicki of Toronto hit two home runs, each time with a mate aboard. Stan Lopata of the Leafs homered with two aboard and also had a double and a single as Toronto whipped the Orioles 11-7.

Home runs by Clyde Vollmer and Austin Knickerbocker helped Syracuse to an 8-7 victory over Montreal at Syracuse.

The Newark-Rochester game looked like a contest to see which side could make the most errors. Newark made six and Rochester four, but the Bears won the game 10-4. The victory moved Newark to within one game of first place.

WAGES UP IN BRITISH SECTOR

Houstons Rack Up Third Win To Lead League

Showing plenty of power at the plate and playing good defensive ball the Houston "Knotholers" racked up their third consecutive win in as many starts to take over first place in the standing of the Commercial Softball League as they downed the Bourgeau Garage nine 8-2 last night at the Alemite Field. It was the garage's first loss.

There was only one game of a scheduled double header played because of the condition of the field after yesterday's heavy rain.

The noisy "Knotholers" looked good as they dumped last year's champions and the game might possibly have been a preview of the league finals. Houston's only hurler, "Buck" Burshaw went well letting the opposition down with three hits while claiming an even dozen via the strikeout route. He issued five passes and was in difficulty only in the second inning as Bourgeau's scored two runs with one down. A neat twin killing cut off the threatened rally and Burshaw had little trouble for the remainder of the game.

Houston's scored one run in the first as Culkin doubled and raced in on an error to the short stop. Bourgeau's got their two counters in the top of the second as Bell tripled to right field with one man down. Marsh singled and went to third on Adams' wild peg to second. Baldwin walked and Marsh scored as the second baseman committed the second and last Houston error. Tomaso pooped up to the shortstop who rifled the ball to the catcher to nail Baldwin as he slid in.

Given a Run

Two walks and a single gave Houstons another run in the second. With one down Culkin drew a pass and Adams got on via the error route. Wood beat out a bunt to load the bases and Locke doubled to score three runs.

With one down in the fifth Wood homered to left field with nobody aboard and Clarke singled. Locke got on on an error to the centre fielder and starting pitcher Baldwin was relieved by Fitzgibbon. Clarke was thrown out on a beautiful peg by the catcher as he tried to steel third. Cross hit to the second baseman who bobbled as Locke sped home.

Houstons collected their eighth run in the sixth stanza on three singles and an error.

Baldwin started for Bourgeau's and went four and one third innings striking out two, walking three, and giving up six hits for seven runs. He was relieved by Fitzgibbon who struck out one, walked none and gave up three hits for one run over the rest of the course.

Line ups:

Bourgeau's Garage—Tomaso, 3b: Amo ss; Burley, lf; Callaghan 1b; Cook, replaced by M. Fitzgibbon in 4th, 2b; Donovan, replaced by Gardiner in 6th, rf; Bell, cf; Marsh, replaced by McGuire in 5th, c; Baldwin, replaced by Fitzgibbon in 5th, p.

Houstons—Spafford ss; Wardhaugh 3b; Culkin cf; Adams c; Woods 2b; Blaind, replaced by Clarke in 5th, lf; Locke, 1b; Cross replaced by Taylor in 7th, rf; Burshaw, p.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

Crenloch N.J., June 18 (AP)—The most frequent exclamation you heard yesterday while Jersey Joe Walcott was drilling for his coming fight with Joe Louis was: "He wouldn't do that with Louis in there." ... There are two explanations: one that the workout was attended by about 50 boxing writers, hailing from all parts of this country as well as England and Australia; the other that Jersey Joe obviously was just rehearsing his moves and wasn't being too careful.

Getting the Chill

Two boxing commissioners, are Abe Greene of New Jersey and Leon Raines of Pennsylvania, were among the spectators ... they agreed that Walcott has a good chance of lifting the title.

Greene: "Walcott is in good mental condition as well as physical condition."

Raines: "Yes, and when fighters think they win, they usually can fight like anything."

Greene: "He wasn't afraid of Louis the first time; he didn't freeze up. There's no reason why he should freeze this time."

Higher Learning

Walcott is having a small difficulty in his large family ... his eldest son, Arnold Cream, Jr., wants to be a lawyer, which is okay with Joe ... the youngest wants to be a fighter like his dad ... hearing about this, Dumb Dan Morgan contributed the question: "Why is it that as soon as a fighter makes money he wants to send his kids to college and make dummies of them? I never yet saw a college boy who was smart enough to fight."

From Hunger

For years experts have claimed it takes a "hungry" fighter to win and Walcott still may qualify although he now has what it takes to buy pork chops for the kids ... guys who have been around fight camps for years claim he's the lightest eater of any heavyweight they ever saw

Montreal, June 18— (CP)—The other day Montreal's city hall folks, led by Councillor Pierre DesMarais, talked about honoring Gerard Cote, Canada's remarkable marathon runner who has justifiable designs on the Olympic marathon championship

It was a worthy idea to show appreciation for the triumphs of the little man from St. Hyacinthe, Que.

Then President George Machum of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, stepped in with a warning.

Machum said a gift, if any should be modest and something not outstanding, otherwise Cote's Olympic status might be jeopardized.

This put a twist on things that caused Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson to discover to his 'great surprise' that amateurism "is a quality which can definitely be measured in values of dollars and cents."

"It's amateurism based on values. Cote can accept a small gift, such as a medal or, we suppose a ring, and remain an amateur. But if the ring should be studded with a large diamond, or a ruby, or an emerald, he would, no doubt, be declared a professional because jewels of this sort have a high monetary value ...

"President" Machum's warning is doubtless quite logical, considering that the sinister shadow of Brundage hovers over the entire Olympic scene and his warning in the case of Barbara Ann's automobile is still too fresh in the minds of sports leaders to be ignored."

Fergy suggests the city and the Montreal Athletic Commission make a "liberal donation to help finance Cote overseas."

Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara finds sensible two suggestions made by Machum: that Cote be honored after the games, whether he wins or loses, and that a Gerard Cote trophy for young marathoners be established and a modified 10-mile marathon be held each year on Cote's honor.

V.L.A. Director Bluntly Criticizes House Contractors

Ottawa, June 18 — (CP)—Brig. T. J. Rutherford, director of the Veterans Land Act, Thursday bluntly criticized the selection of contractors who built houses on V. L. A.'s small - holdings project in 1945.

The project housing— now terminated — suffered from "faulty workmanship," he told the Commons committee on veterans affairs.

"The costs were so high that in order to assure that every veteran was given value for his money, the 2,673 properties have had to be written down approximately $3,000,000," he said.

The most serious mistakes had been in selection of contractors and in terms of the cost - plus contracts.

Brig. Rutherford said, however, that he is "extremely encouraged" by individual housing projects, which will be continued for several years. More than 2,180 have been compared and 1,074 more started.

Thursday's was the committee's last open meeting of the session, a highlight of which has been a series of important changes in rates of pensions and allowances for veterans.

Spokesmen Thursday stated the cases of two groups of veterans—the 1,415 survivors of Canada's Hong Kong force and the Soldier Settlers Association of Canada.

Charles A. Clark of Toronto asked on behalf of the Hong Kong veterans that they be given, retroactively, the higher rates of pay promised to men who volunteered for the abortive Pacific force in 1945.

H. C. Baker, president, and Alfred J. Sibley, secretary of the Settlers Association, renewed requests of 2,879 veterans for clear titles to their lands. They will owe the government a total of $3,124,000.

Picton Clashes With Trenton Flyers Tonight

Picton baseball team will be the guests of the Trenton Royal Canadian Air Force squad at the Exhibition Grounds tonight in a scheduled Belleville Baseball League fixture.

The Picton crew are still smarting under that defeat handed them this week by Merchants, and they are not in any amiable frame of mind. By the same token Flyers are determined to increase their figures in the win column and they figure they may as well do it tonight as any time. So it should be a fair brawl.

Game under lights and 8.30.

Chicago Fight Postponed Until Monday Evening

Chicago, June 18 — (AP)—The battle for the world's welterweight championship must hang in the balance until next Monday night.

The bout between Ray (Sugar) Robinson, 147-pound titleholder, and his challenger, Bernie Docusen, of New Orleans, was postponed because of a drizzling rain and heavy overcast last night.

They were to have met in a 15-round title bout in Comiskey Park, home of Chicago White Sox. The White Sox are using their ball park for the next three days, with Monday being the first vacant day.

Robinson must continue hard training because of the need for making the required 147 pounds a second time. He just managed to make the weight yesterday, tipping the beam at exactly 147. He was so fearful that he might be an ounce overweight that he stripped to nakedness, even taking off his shoes, before stepping onto the scales. Docusen scaled 145½ pounds.

Promoter Irving Kovin, who had counted on a $100,000 gate last night, said the postponement would cost him an additional $10,000 in expenses.

Aluminum Foil Now Being Used To Treat Burns

Toronto, June 18 — (CP) — A team of three Canadian doctors has developed a treatment for burns which is the most effective yet devised, delegates to the Aero Medical Convention in Toronto were told Thursday.

Treatment consists of application of ordinary aluminum foil directly to burn surfaces. Ordinary bandages are then wrapped tightly over the metal.

Results of the treatment, which has been in use for a year at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto, have been "most encouraging" one of the co - developers said.

The three doctors, W. R. Franks director of the R. C. A. F. Institute of Aviation Medicine, W. A. Brown, a surgeon on the staff of the Institute, and A. W. Farmer of the Hospital for Sick Children, devised the treatment on a project financed by the R. C. A. F.

Dr. Franks said that the original idea of trying aluminum foil on burns was Dr. Farmer's.

The new treatment has several features to recommend it. It is reported that it cuts down the chance of infection, allows much swifter healing and leaves the burned surface with a better appearance than previous burn treatments. Unlike the ordinary dressing, it does not stick when being removed.

"Surprisingly enough," said Dr. Franks, "there is no toxic reaction when the aluminum comes in contact with a burn surface. I can say without any reservation that it is the best treatment for burns in existence."

FEDERAL LABOR

Labor Minister Mitchell told questioners the government did not intend to seek power to take over shipping companies involved in labor trouble on the Great Lakes.

Will Sit Saturdays

The Commons, meantime, adopted a resolution to sit Saturdays until prorogation is reached.

The flood of opposition to the annuities will be developed after P. E. Cote, parliamentary assistant to Labor Minister Mitchell, explained that increased purchases of government annuities had necessitated revision of the legislation.

In addition to confirming the interest reduction, the Bill also would raise from $1,200 to $1,500 the maximum annuity which an individual may take in any one year.

Criticism of the proposals came from Lewis Menary (PC-Wellington North), John R. MacNicol (PC-Toronto Davenport), John Diefenbaker (PC-Lake Centre), Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver East), and Harry Jackman (PC-Toronto Rosedale).

Mr. Menary said the reduction in interest rates and a change in the mortality tables were severe blows against company group pension plans.

If annuities were made unattractive companies and individuals would turn to insurance companies for pensions plans.

Debate at Times Bitter

The Labor debate at times was bitter, particularly on the rejected checkoff clause.

As inserted by the Industrial Relations Committee, it would have compelled employers to collect Union dues, when asked by a certified union, for those workers who said they wanted it done.

When the bill came before the Chamber, Walter Little (L-Temiskaming) moved that it be struck out and the House adopted his motion by a "free" vote of 71 to 35 which cut across party lines. The C.C.F. voted solidly for the provision but most of the Liberals and Progressive Conservatives went against it.

The vote on the question of whether professional engineers should be covered by the code was 54 to 14 against the proposal introduced by Angus MacInnis (CCF-Vancouver East).

The CCF attempt to make the Labor Relations Board responsible for code prosecutions was defeated 75 to 9, with only David Croll (L-Toronto Spadina) supporting the CCF group.

Acceptance of the stipulation protecting pension rights of strikers represented a victory for Stanley Knowles (CCF-Winnipeg North Centre).

Can See No Solution

During discussion of trade department estimates, John Blackburn (SC-Lethbridge) charged that during trade negotiations at Geneva last year the United States was "not concerned about anybody's welfare" but her own.

Dealing particularly with the world shortage of U. S. dollars, Mr. Blackmore said he could see no early solution to the problem.

Garfield Case (PC-Grey North) said he was sorry to find that Canada's entire future was predicated on the U. S. Marshall Plan. With her great resources Canada should stand on her own feet.

She should remember that Americans were "two-fisted" in their business dealings.

He said the government had robbed the country of the "most enviable" position she ever would hold in world trade when it brought the Canadian dollar to parity with U. S. funds. Had it been left alone, the dollar itself would have reached the parity position.

Now, however, Canada had to compete with the U. S. on world markets. She would pay a great price. She was losing her present markets and would lose others in the future.

Speaker Claims Canada Would Lose Power to U.K.

Ottawa, June 18 (CP)—Loss of sovereign power to the United Kingdom is one "implication" of a Canadian Bill of Rights based on an amendment to the British North America Act, F. P. Varcoe, Deputy Justice Minister, said Thursday.

He testified before the parliamentary committee on human rights and fundamental freedoms during its study of a draft amendment proposed by a Toronto group, the committee for a Bill of Rights.

"Under our peculiar system," he said, "the moment you have the United Kingdom parliament pass this, you're subtracting from our (Canadian) legislative power .... once you substract this sovereign power from the Dominion parliament, what you're really doing is handing back to the United Kingdom part of our sovereign power."

The suggested amendment would prevent parliament or any of the provincial legislatures from abridging freedom of speech, the press or religion; requiring or imposing excessive bail; subjecting any person to "unreasonable interference" with his privacy, family, home or correspondence; subjecting any person to arbitrary arrest or detention; suspending the right of habeas corpus.

A Bill of Rights actually converted the political concept of freedom into a concept essentially legal. The courts assumed legislative power and therefore replaced the legislatures.

He cited the draft bill's ban on laws subjecting persons to "unreasonable interference." What constituted "unreasonable interference" was a matter of opinion, not of fact. So any court which made a ruling would be assuming "quasi - legislative power."

Doomed to extinction?
A duck that nests in trees and prefers wooded swamps to open water! That's the Wood Duck, the most beautiful of our waterfowl. They are well protected by law, but the draining of wetlands and clearing away of the dead tree trunks they nest in presents a serious threat to their survival. Everything you do to preserve their natural nesting areas will help to conserve the Wood Duck for years to come.

The Labrador Duck became extinct before 1900. Today 44 stuffed specimens are all that remain of this little sea-duck, showing what happens when sound conservational practices are neglected.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Too many rules have been a curse. Her game of bridge is truly shot. She certainly could not do worse if all she heard her mind forgot. With one good rule she knows real well her game would not have gone to pot.

The Horse Sense method of counting no-trump tricks is a cinch. Nothing could be easier. Why are there players who knock themselves out with intricate counts? Search me. People are funny.

Simply count one for each high card; any ace or king or queen. This tells you how many no-trump tricks your hand expects to take.

In a pack are only 12 high cards. Add yours to the number your partner has revealed. Opponents will have the balance. Give this easy count the importance it deserves. You'll like it.

Times are when you learn from partner how many aces and kings are among his high cards. From this can you tell how many queens he has. This in turn tells you how big are the opponent high cards.

Study this pair of partnership hands:

SOUTH
♠A 10 3
♥A K 8
♦Q 8 6 5
♣K J 9

NORTH
♠K 5 2
♥Q 6 5
♣A Q 10

South opened with a bid of one no-trump. Any opening of one shows five tricks. North thus learned that south had at least five high.

Six were in north. He knew right quick that opponents had no more than one high; an ace or a king or a queen. Soon was he able to find out which one of the three it was.

First north response was three diamonds. South showed nothing more with a bid of three no-trump. After four no-trump by north, six hearts by south was Kibitzer convention for two aces and two kings.

This told north that opponents had a queen. So, he went to six no-trump. Not beyond. Some would go to the great beyond.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, June 18 — (AP) — James Stewart is going to treat himself to his first vacation since getting out of the United States Army.

The lanky ex-colonel has been working hard since his discharge. He has made five pictures, two stage appearances in "Harvey," plus numerous air shows and exploitation trips.

Foreign Entourage

Rita Hayworth has written friends that she will extend her European tour to the end of August. She headlines a benefit show for U. N. children's relief in Paris June 30.

Danny Kaye is marking time until a leading lady is found for "Happy Times." He's anxious to start working so he can make the command performance in London this fall.

Odds and Ends

Shirley Temple, who is co-starring with John Agar again in "Baltimore Escapade," tells me they don't intend to be a regular film team. "One picture a year together would be about right," she says. Shirley was complaining about a "Fort Apache" ad which said "introducing Shirley's new husband."

Humphrey and Lauren Bogart are making news. They're the only stars I can find who are not (1) going to Europe nor (2) playing summer theatres.

Closeups

Louis Hayward will view the Olympic Games in London and hopes to bring his brother to the United States with him. He's a South African . . . Tarzan goes modern in his next adventure: "The Arrow of Death" The ape man will chew bubble gum . . . "Criss Cross" is designed to do for Los Angeles what "Naked City" did for New York. It will be largely filmed in city streets. Hope they don't run into the "Act of Violence" company, which is doing the same.

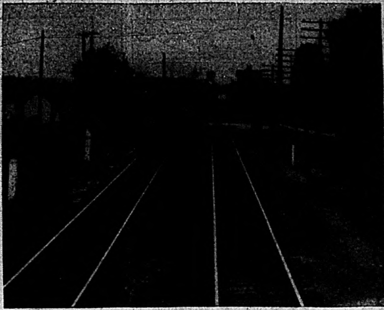
SEVEN FIREMEN HURT, 38 FAMILIES FLEE IN $150,000 BLAZE

Seven firemen were injured by flying glass, 38 families were driven from their apartments and at least eight business establishments destroyed or damaged in a $150,000 fire at the Farmers' Market building at Bathurst St. and St. Clair Ave., Toronto. Sixty-four business girls were forced to leave their dwelling wearing night attire. Many fled, carrying furniture, clothes, bird cages and valuables. Here Audrey Cann and Isobel Gilmore watch efforts to put out the blaze. Firemen battled four hours before bringing fire under control.



Taken from the cab of diesel locomotive 9000, picture above shows foolhardy driver who swung out from behind a stopped car, bounced over the crossing in front of the moving train, then stopped on the other side to watch the engine go by.

Would Increase Baptist Ministers Retirement Annuities

Windsor, June 18 — (CP) — Rev. Charles B. Duncan of Stratford today recommended to the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec that present annuities of all ministers over 50-years-old would be increased at retirement age so that all under the plan would receive at least $400.

In presenting the report of the Ministerial Superannuation Board to the 60th assembly he said the Board hopes to use $40,000 of capital funds to carry out this project.

Rev. A. S. McGrath of St. Thomas, secretary of the Baptist Lord's Day Alliance, Thursday night said officials of the Alliance are more concerned over the thinking behind the motive to repeal the Lord's Day Act rather than the Federal Government's recent proposed amendment to the Criminal Code.

He said the Criminal Code amendment would repeal an Ontario act which came into effect before Confederation and has been antiquated by the Lord's Act that was passed by parliament in 1906.

One of the main responsibilities of the Baptist Church was to impress upon the people of Canada the value of Sunday.

"FALL GUY" OF '48

A little tired of having doctors constantly poking at him, two-year-old Kenneth Liebman tries to concentrate on his toy as he rests in Fordham hospital, New York. The youngster, who has hardly a scratch to show for his six-storey fall from a window of his Bronx home, was pronounced fit-as-a-fiddle by physicians.

ssian Peace ffensive Breaks Out Over Europe

Washington June 18 (AP) — The Russian peace offensive appears to be breaking out all over eastern Europe.

American officials are still skeptical that the Russians and their allied Communist governments intend to make any major concessions on outstanding problems.

One development — hitherto undisclosed — is an offer by Yugoslavia to settle claims by the United States against the Yugoslav government. Others include:

1. Bulgaria's willingness to enter negotiations with the American supported Greek government on ways to reopen normal diplomatic relations.

2. Russia's acceptance of an American proposal for a 10 country conference looking to free navigation of the Danube.

3. Big cuts made by the Russian government in reparations claims against Finland, Romania and Hungary.

One theory here held by some highly-placed diplomats is that the Russians and their Communist associates want to build the best possible record of pro-peace activity ahead of the fall meeting of the United Nations General Assembly in Paris.

Another parallel idea also widely accepted is that they are trying to regain some of their lost prestige by claiming leadership toward world peace while seeking to identify the United States and co-operating western governments as "war-mongering" countries.

Compromise Draft Bill Passed by U.S. Senate After All-Night Filibuster

Washington June 19 (AP) — The Senate today passed a compromise draft bill by voice vote after breaking an all-night filibuster.

As it now stands — subject to House of Representatives approval — the measure would start drafting men aged 19 through 25 for 21 months service, starting 90 days after final enactment.

Approval by voice vote came after the Senate first broke the fillbuster of Senators Glen Taylor (Dem. Idaho) and William Langer (Rep. N.D.) and then got into a heated squabble over whether or not the bill actually had been passed.

Senator Irving Ives (Rep. N.Y.) presiding, first ruled that the draft compromise had passed. Then after a storm of protests he reversed this ruling and said it had not.

Taylor, who had been ruled out of order for breaking Senate rules managed to regain the floor during the uproar.

Weary Senators thought he was beginning another stretch of filibustering.

But Taylor talked only a few minutes and then gave up.

Shout Approval.

Senators applauded and shouted approval of the compromise and rushed it over to the House.

End of the filibuster and passage of the bill came after one of the stormiest scenes on the Senate floor in many years.

The roaring argument about whether the draft bill had passed or not came only a few minutes after Taylor was directed to take his seat and quit talking for violation of Senate rules.

Chairman Chan Gurney (Rep.-S.D.), of the Senate Armed Services Committee pulled a compromise draft bill from his pocket and asked Senate approval.

He listed several of the Senate-House conference decisions, reached during the fillibuster and suddenly asked for a vote.

Senator Ives called for a voice vote and there was a chorus of "Ayes".

Samuel Crowther and Norma Lewis, most seriously hurt, were taken to hospital. Mrs. Isabella Gibson, George Clarke and his wife Olive were also taken to hospital for treatment of cuts and shock.

Berlin, June 19 — (Reuters) — A little bespectacled German in Frankfurt Friday smoked what must have been the most expensive cigaret in history.

Craft Takes Blame for Slaying Prison Messenger at Kingston

Kingston June 19 (CP)—Austin Craft, 49, and Norman Urquhart, 21, were committed for trial today for the murder of 50-year-old John Kennedy, a prison messenger.

"I and I alone am responsible for the life that was taken but I did not take it deliberately," Craft said in a 30-minute speech to the court.

Both men chose to testify at today's preliminary hearing after being advised they were not obliged to do so, and that their statements might be used against them.

Kennedy was shot last April 29 when Craft, who was serving 10 years for an attempted bank hold up in Hamilton, and Urquhart, sentenced to 20 years for the slaying of Meyer Tobias in Toronto drove the messenger's automobile through the prison gates to short-lived freedom.

"I pulled the trigger," Craft said, "but I had no idea in the world of killing a man. Above all, I held no grudge or hate against Mr. Kennedy.

"God and myself know I am not guilty of murder.

"I have sorrow for the life that was taken. He was my friend."

He said he was "nervous" and the gun "went off.'

"If I am found guilty by a jury, Ill be going to another world which they say is a better one. If so, I will have no regrets.

"If I am putting a rope around my neck, that's all there is to it."

Earlier, Craft related he had fired a shot to prove to the guards the gun was real and not a toy one. He said qthe guards knew he had used a toy gun in several holdups.

Urquhart said Craft approached him in the penitentiary garage April 26 and "asked me if I'd like to go home."

"I'm doing 20 years. I had nothing to lose. So I said yes."

Urquhart said he climbed into the trunk of the messenger's automobile. Craft had instructed him to get out when he was told and get behind the wheel. At the penitentiary gate he heard Craft say: "This is it!"

Urquhart then got out of the automobile and ran around the left side of it. He saw Kennedy coming toward him with his arms outstretched and brushed him off.

Then he heard Craft call: "Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Kennedy!"

He heard a shot but could not determine whether Kennedy turned before or after the shot was fired. At any rate, he turned aside and allowed Kennedy to run past him toward the store room.

Craft and Urquhart got into the automobile and drove through the gate. They were captured four hours later.

ARMED BANDITS GET $12,000 LOOT IN DARING HOLDUP

Grab Cash In Downtown Montreal

Montreal, June 19 (CP)— Two armed bandits were $12,000 richer today but police were confident the pair soon will be apprehended.

The bandits staged one of the most daring holdups in Montreal's history Friday, pushing two employees of the Western General Hospital into a taxi a scant 100 yards from the Forum on downtown St. Catherine Street and making off with the hospital's payroll.

The hospital employees carrying the payroll were about to alight from a taxi at the hospital door when the armed holdup men forced them back into the cab and told the driver to drive off.

After dropping the hospital employees, S. Robinson and Miss Virginia Porter, the bandits ordered the driver out of the cab and took over themselves.

Police found the cab a few hours later near the Y.M.C.A. on Drummond Street, only two blocks from Montreal's busiest intersection—Peel and St. Catherine.

Police only had a "vague" description of the men who wore smoked glasses. The hospital was reported to be covered by theft insurance. Another payroll was made up immediately after the robbery.

Not long after the hospital holdup was reported, police learned that two armed bandits held up a paymaster's shack of the Anglin-Norcross Company in north-end Rosemount and made off with $215. Only the bandits late arrival kept the loot so low.

If they had arrived a few minutes earlier, they would have had thousands of dollars in pay envelopes, most of them having been picked up by the time they arrived.

Another gunman was not as fortunate, being arrested before making good his escape in another attempted robbery.

The robber, identified as Jacques Chamberland, 34, was arrested a few minutes after he had scooped $65 from the cash register of an east-end Ontario Street store.

From 14 Dollars Fund Reaches Half Million

Hamilton, June 19 — (CP)— Thirteen years ago seven municipal employees put $2 each into a fund intended for saving and the advancement of credit.

Now the fund of $14 has mushroomed to over $500,000 and membership has increased from seven to 1,640. What has become the Hamilton Municipal Employees Credit Union loans $40,000 monthly.

Fire Crews in North Need Luck To Conquer Forest Flames; Humid, Cloudy Weather Aids

(By The Canadian Press)

The Northern Ontario bush fire gamble was still a heads or tails proposition early today.

But lands department officials hoped they could call the toss.

The hundreds of men in the crews still needed luck to win the battle against flames that have blackened hundreds of square miles of timber, destroyed game and blackened lakes and streams.

The news from the weather men was better. Showers were forecast today in the fire area generally with winds light and the temperature down.

Lines have been consolidated since mid-week in the Mississagi and Chapleau Burns — accounting together for more than 700 square miles of charred trees and scorched undergrowth — despite sporadic outbreaks Thursday.

Conditions improved Friday and the Sudbury district was declared open to traffic, adding to the four previously released—Algonquin, North Bay, Gogama, Timiskaming, and Cochrane.

One new outbreak was reported in the Espanola area, east of the Mississagi forest, and fire-fighters, pumps and hose were flown in. The fire covered five square miles and was remote from lakes large enough for float-equipped planes to land.

Both the Mississagi and Chapleau blazes — between Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury, have burned over mixed forest growth of pine, spruce, balsam, birch and poplar.

High humidity and cool, cloudy weather have helped to ease the threat to similar timber stands. Both fires are spreading slowly, the Provincial Forest Protection Service said today. The Chapleau blaze is active in spots on the west side but fire lines have improved.

The Mississagi blaze was checked in several sections, particularly the Kirkpatrick Lake and Mount Lake sectors.

A fire in the Montreal River district burning in mixed growth is being held while another at Gogama north of Sault Ste. Marie was extinguished except for mopping up of small blazes.

Freedom of Initiative, Opportunity Must Continue for Canada to be Strong

By GEORGE BRIMMELL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Winnipeg, June 19. (CP) — Economic justice can best be won by free men through free enterprise, the national convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce has decided.

Friday the Jaycees placed on record their "firm conviction that freedom of opportunity and private initiative must continue if Canada is to remain strong, free and independent."

It made a further suggestion to its national executive that a committee be appointed "to encourage in member units an awareness of the need to guard against influences which may undermine or destroy the freedom of opportunity of the individual."

Decision to pass the motion unanimously came after the meeting hit an hour-long snarl over a constitutional 60-day notice requirement for motions.

The original resolution, proposed by Lorne Shirrey of Winnipeg, encountered objections from several delegates on the grounds that the procedure was unconstitutional. Some felt they could not vote because they did not know the feeling on the matter of the sections they represented.

Delegates earlier heard an address by J. S. Duncan, president of the Massey-Harris Company, Toronto, on free enterprise.

He urged them to follow the principles of free or "private" enterprise. It was a "challenge for the youth of Canada. . . . to become the ever-vigilant guardians of individual liberty and private rights, the guardians of a basic economic and political philosophy, which has proven itself."

Malaya's Unrest Spreads To Tin Industry

Singapore, June 19 (AP) — Malaya's current unrest showed signs today of spreading to the country's important tin industry.

Perak state workers handed new wage demands to Chinese tin mine owners.

Mine employees at Ipoh, centre of the tin industry and also of recent rubber-estate shootings, said the demands were stiff.

Except for the holdup slaying June 4 of a European mine manager, no bloodshed has been reported on tin properties.

Elsewhere in Perak, police arrested a 24-year-old Chinese laborer in connection with the murder Wednesday of A. E. Walker, one of three Europeans killed that day.

The country's leading organization of planters—the United Planting Association of Malaya —took issue with the defence of Sir Edward Gent, British High Commissioner to the Malayan Federation.

The association cabled, Lord Listowel, Minister of State for Colonial Affairs, to protest his statement that Sir Edward had acted with "great firmness and a considerable degree of intelligent anticipation" in the face of the terrorism.

Sir Edward declared a state of emergency in effect over all Malaya Friday night.

Weather Synopsis

Toronto, June 19 (CP)—Synopsis: A disturbance which caused showers over Southern Ontario during the night has moved rapidly eastward. Precipitation ceased in all districts this morning. Skies will clear during the day. On Sunday clear weather will prevail over the entire province with temperatures about the same as today's.

BAN MOVIES AS CONTRIBUTING TO ZIONISM

MacMillan Sails On 27th Venture Into Arctic

Boothbay Harbor, Me., June 19 — (AP) — Commander Donald B. MacMillan and 16 shipmates sail today on the 73-year-old explorer's 27th Arctic venture.

Aboard the famed 66 - ton schooner Bowdoin with the Peary polar dash veteran were 10 'green' hands, a passenger and five 'old salts,' including attractive Mrs. MacMillan.

Passenger Edward Dodd of Dodd, Meade & Co., publishers, will disembark at Sydney, N. S. and fly back to New York. The rest will collect specimens for the Cleveland Museum of Natural History and Bowdoin College, expedition co-sponsors, and chart little-known waters.

MacMillan will sail as far north as Kane Basin, 11 degrees from the pole, on the 8,000-mile, three-month cruise.

Besides Mrs. MacMillan, making her sixth cruise, the explorer has the seasoned help of four other shipmates of earlier Bowdoin expeditions.

Barney Turner of Little Current, Ont., who made the 1947 trip, is mate this year. James F. Wiles of Norway, Me., is engineer and Clayton Hodgson of Boothbay is cook. Albert Barnes of New York City, a Bowdoin College graduate, will gather specimens for the college's prospective Arctic museum.

Deluged With Offers To Buy Natural Gold

Reno, Nev., June 19 (AP)— An ex-prospector who offered natural gold for sale to the highest bidder was deluged with more than $10,000,000 worth of orders on his first day of business Friday.

E. L. Cleveland, a 40-year-old mining company president, has set up a new company to buy and sell gold in its natural state on an open market.

Cleveland says there are no restrictions on the sale of gold in its natural state.

Processed gold however, may be sold only to the Federal government $35 an ounce.

HOUSE HOPES TO END SESSION BY JUNE 30TH

Howe Says UK Has Used Bulk of Loan

By GEORGE KITCHEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, June 19 (CP)— The Commons, deep in its drive for prorogation by June 30 held its first Saturday sitting on this dying session.

High costs also came into the picture Friday, when the Chamber adopted a bill increasing the salary of the Prince Edward Island Lieutenant-Governor by $1,000 a year. Opposition and government members protested the lifting of salaries of higher officials when no relief from high living costs was provided for the little man.

The House also approved a bill providing for pensions for 13 men entering the diplomatic corps from private life and approved senate amendments to two bills already passed by the Commons.

Wheat Ceiling Lifted

In the opening stages, Trade Minister Howe announced the lifting of the price ceiling of $1.55 a bushel on Ontario Winter wheat and the elimination of an eight-cent-a-bushel federal payment which has been made to Ontario producers.

He also reported that delay in United States ratification of the international wheat agreement is keeping it from coming into force. The agreement is expected to come before parliament next week.

The clean-up of the trade department drew from Mr. Howe a statement that Britain has withdrawn $1,015,000,000 from the $1,250,000,000 loan obtained from Canada in 1946.

He said he was not yet in a position to announce details of the plan worked out with the United States film industry to ease the drain on American dollars.

John R. MacNichol (PC—Toronto Davenport) injected coal into the reconstruction debate. He told Mr. Howe that all that was needed was a railway line into the Alberta Foothills to bring out the fuel. It would cost $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 and would be a "tremendous investment."

The Alberta product was a fine high-grade fuel which could be marketed in Toronto for $14 a ton, $5 less than the American anthracite which Ontario now uses.

Transportation Difficult

Mr. Howe said he had tried during the war to move Alberta coal to Ontario but had found it impossible to transport more than 500,000 tons a year. This would not be posible until further transportation facilities were provided. Alberta's problem was not so much the lack of mines as the lack of miners.

He said the reconstruction department, established after the war, was still winding up war contracts but would be dissolved within the next six or seven months. War contract cancellations totalled $2,500,000,000. About 96 per cent of the claims resulting from the cancellations had been settled at a cost of $290,000,000 with a resultant saving of $475,000,000.

Claire Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South) said the steel price increase averaged $8 a ton and was not justified in the light of profits reported by the steel companies. Its main effect would be to boost their profits by $9,000,000 to $17,000,000 during this year.

Russian Troops Block Allied Travel to Berlin

Blockade Ordered to Keep Allied Money From Zone

Berlin, June 19 (AP) — Russian troops blocked an allied and German ground travel into Berlin today in a swift reaction to western-zone currency reform. Allied officials planned a meeting to decide what to do about it.

The Russians ordered the blockade Friday night a few hours after Britain, the United States and France had announced a new currency reform in Western Germany beginning tomorrow.

Their reported purpose was to keep worthless allied marks out of the Rusian zone. Marshall Vassily Sokolovsky, Russian commander and military governor, issued a 2,000 word proclamation early today forbidding importation of western currency new and old, into greater Berlin and the Russian zone.

Some circles, however, interpreted the Russian action as another attempt to drive the western powers from Berlin. Russian controlled newspapers renewed demands that the Allies quit the city.

Gen. Lucius Clay, American commander and military governor, said he would meet later today with British and French colleagues to decide what action should be taken against the Russian moves.

The four-power city of Berlin is surrounded by Russian occupied territory. The Russian action left only one channel — the air— by which the western allies, army and civilian personnel could reach the city from the west.

Russian troops closed the international highway used by the western powers to all traffic leading to Berlin. They allowed allied personnel to leave but not to enter the city.

Road traffic piled up at Helmstedt, where the international highway enters the Russian zone en route to Berlin.

In taking what he called "defensive measures," Sokolovsky said freight trains into Berlin from the west could continue but under a "very careful" check of the freight and of the personal belongings of train personnel.

American and British officials said this more thorough control of train personnel was "reasonable and logical" in view of the currencey revision.

American officials said they are not taking any steps for the present to break the blockade on passenger traffic into Berlin over the Helmstedt-Berlin highway.

The blockade also will stop British bus service installed after Russian regulations halted allied main travel this spring. It has blocked all American, French and British passenger and truck traffic.

Sokolovsky declared in his proclamation that Berlin is "part of the Soviet occupation zone." He said the currency reform has completed the division of Germany.

Clay rejected the Russian commander's statement and said Berlin is an international city and the Russian actions may lead to its being run on a three power basis.

SHE DOESN'T EAT

Doctors are combing their beards and their brains as they ponder the strange case of this healthy-looking girl, 19-year-old Yang Mei, who hasn't eaten in nine years, and who recently was under medical supervision for 19 days, during which she took only occasional sips of water. The girl told doctors that she suffered severe gastric pains about nine years ago and has not eaten since. She weighs about 85 pounds, and appears to be normal in every way except that she has no desire for food, and, apparently, no necessity for it.

Arab and Jewish Parties to Meet Count Bernadotte

Cairo, June 19 (AP)—Arab and Israeli delegations are expected to reach Rhodes Monday to confer with Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator for Palestine.

Bernadotte got back to that Greek Mediterranean Island Friday from a flying trip to Cairo and Tel Aviv on which he invited them to Rhodes for peace talks.

Both sides agreed to send expert consultants, but the Swedish Count said he did not know yet whether these wpuld get together in round-table conferences.

He said also it was too early to tell whether high Arab and Jewish officials would come to Rhodes later.

Bernadotte is seeking to build a lasting settlement of the Holy Land question on the base of a four-week truse now in its ninth day. He said some minor incidents might mar the truce in the next few weeks.

An American - French U.N. truce team today reported a violation outside Arab-held Nazareth.

In a report back to Haifa, Israel, the leader, Navy Commander H. D. Huxley, said Arabs in the city and Jews around it exchanged rifle fire for four hours Friday.

He said the firing broke out when Arab civilians tried to harvest grain in the no man's land and the Jews objected that this violated the truce. One Arab woman and one child were wounded slightly Huxley reported.

Air Sickness Felt More Acutely By Women, Aero Medical Men Say

By CAMERON JAMES
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Toronto, June 19 — (CP) — When it comes to air sickness the female of the species finds it more deadly than the male.

Dr. L. G. Lederer, airline medical director, told delegates to the 19th annual convention of the Aero Medical Association Friday that "the female accounted for about two-thirds of the air sickness seen in a recent survey of an American airline."

During the three-day convention, 600 delegates from 16 different countries discussed a wide variety of subjects connected with the specialties field of aviation medicine.

Experts on psychology, physiology, opthalmology, and other specialties led discussions in such phases of aero medical research as color vision, hearing, the human factor in aircraft design and survival.

One paper read by Lt. Col. Kenneth F. Pletcher, chief of the department of air evacuation, Randolph Field, Texas, described a plan under consideration by U. S. military authorities to evacuate wounded persons by air in the event of atomic bombing.

The plan called for setting up a force of military aircraft in readiness to transfer casualties to nearby cities for medical treatment.

In the panel discussion on air sickness, Dr. Lederer said a possible reason the female was less tolerant to air sickness than the male was because "the female organism perceives, detects and reacts changes in motion sooner than the male."

But regardless of sex, all normal persons will become motion sick if the motion is long enough and strong enough, he said.

Apprehended in Prince Edward County, Thursday noon, after it is alleged he had fled the scene of an accident in Belleville, on Wednesday evening, Daniel B. DesRauleau, formerly of Stanbridge, Que., will face three charges when he appears in police court on Tuesday.

DesRauleau will be charged with leaving the scene of an accident, with possession of a stolen car, and with careless driving, police stated.

Provincial police were quickly notified and the driver was followed to Rednersville where he abandoned his car. A road block was effected to prevent his escape from the county. DesRauleau was apprehended at the Carrying Place bridge next day.

DesRauleau had been working on the farm of Frank Delong, Carrying Place, and had returned to his home in Quebec. He it is said arrived back in Ontario driving a car bearing a Vermont licence which police say had been stolen.

Governor-General Invited to Open Belleville Fair

His Excellency, Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Governor-General of Canada will be respectfully requested to open the Belleville Fair scheduled for August 16, 17 and 18th, directors of the Belleville Agricultural Society decided at a special meeting last night.

His Worship, Mayor D. L. Storey will be asked to undertake the proper procedure with regard to the invitation to the Governor-General.

Reports given to the board last night indicate a banner year for the fair, which this season observes its 100th anniversary. Donations from business men and merchants, the secretary said, exceeds those in past years.

A number of increases have been made in the prize list which elevates the list to one of the best in Class B fairs in Ontario. Judges for the fair will be selected from a list supplied by J. J. Carroll, Ontario superintendent of fairs.

Space in the various buildings is being taken up rapidly by merchants and business men. Mr. Fred Denyes who visited the Peterborough Horse Show stated that a large number of horse owners and breeders expressed their desire to show at the forthcoming fair here.

New Products Of Gardens Make First Appearance

The season's initial offering of home grown-cauliflower, new potatoes and gooseberries was seen on the local produce market on Saturday.

Small cauliflower sold at a dime, while new potatoes brought 35 cents the berry box and gooseberries 25 cents the box.

Old potatoes were plentiful with peck lots fetching 85 cents and bag lots $3.75 and $4. Radishes were a nickel; celery 20 cents per head, and Ontario grown cabbage 20 cents per head.

Strawberries were freely offered with farmers generally quoting 40 cents per qt. box although a few vendors were asking 75 cents for two boxes. The rain of Thursday afternoon was stated to have benefited the berry crop.

On the inside market eggs were quoted at the usual 45 cent figure for firsts with mediums bringing 43 cents. Broilers were fairly plentiful at 50 cents the pound, while mature fowl was available at 45 cents per pound.

Several vendors offered whitefish at 40 cents lb., cleaned.

There was a large offering of young pigs with farmers generally quoting $12 each.

Cow Moose Seen In Bancroft

On their way to work one morning early this week Sid Fuller and William Poff of Bancroft could scarcely believe their eyes when they saw a cow moose well within the village limits.

A short distance north of the railroad station this monarch of the forest swam the York river to the east side, ambled over several vacant lots and entered F. W. Fisher's garden facing highway 62. Here two other residents, Mr. Ciano and his son Tony had a front seat view as they travelled north in a car. The same morning a male moose was seen west of the village limits.

This is not the first time moose have been seen in the village. The moose family apparently winter in nearby forests.

Speed and Still More Speed Craving of This Modern World

By B. U.

Are you planning a weekend in Patagonia? Chances are you won't go by oxcart in this jet-propelled age.

In days gone by—and not too lately either—steamers used to boom up and down the lakes at six knots and one propeller adjustment an hour. Moonlight cruise starting at 11.00 a.m. were popular and the Saturday excursion down the Bay, and back, was the high point of the week.

Trains whistled so far down the tracks that everyone could saunter over to the station and scee the soot covered engineer step down with a flourish, look at his turnip watch with a smile, and grandly tell the oiler that the second, and last, drive wheel on the right hand side was a bit squeaky coming around the bend at Kingston. (If you knew the engineer he might stop on a bridge somewhere and let you fish awhile.)

The only things that flew were the swallows.

Jet Propelled Age

All that is past in this jet propelled age. The only people who travel by boat any more are the well to do who can afford to do business next week. The man who used to travel to Montreal with his wife, three children, ten suit cases and a steamer trunk, has given way to the speed demon who puts a change of linen in his brief case, kisses his wife goodbye, and catches a plane for Cairo.

The modern engineer leaps out of the air-conditioned cab in a pin stripe suit, gazes hurriedly at a watch that is timed to the stars, thinks worriedly of speeded-up schedules, and goes home, rapidly, to feed his ulcer. The fireman removes his top coat, checks the fuel supply lines, sounds the horn, and has his masseur work over the index finger that is used to punch the button that feeds oil into the engine.

And the fellows who drive cars! And the women who drive cars! Anyone who putters along the roads at a quaint forty per is dated. They are immediately relegated to the dim past when skirts were long, bonnets were large, and hair ribbon was sold by the ten-yard strip.

But it is the air age that has many people worried. In forty-five years a flying sieve with a one mule power motor has grown into a six engined jet monster that whisks you to Australia for a weekend.

Ads scream, "Overnight flights to London, Paris, Berlin, Rome, Madrid. What's the rush! City officials are not going to move Bagdad into the country when they hear that you are coming. Or are they? But the question remains. Why all the speed?

Racing The Sun

Airplanes are being built now, that fly from coast to coast in four hours. The London Times printed in London presumably is now being flown daily to New York for sale in the afternoon. The plane is racing the sun and not doing too badly either, thank you. The next step, of course, is to deliver the Times in Los Angeles the same afternoon that it is printed. Then Honolulu. Then Singapore. Eventually this means that the air edition can be delivered around the world and sold in London's suburbs the same afternoon.

Word is out that the latest planes fly faster than the speed of sound. Obviously, the only improvement on this is eliminating the sound entirely. What effect this development will have on the birds is problematical. Science marches on.

Parasites From British Columbia Assist in Control Spruce Bud Worm

(By R. L.)

Cut flowers and dogs cannot be brought over from the United States without inspection and a special permit. This is a regulation of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Some time ago flowers for a funeral were sent over from the United States and before they could be passed over the border were inspected for the Japanese beetle which was prevalent at that time.

If you can guarantee that the dog sent to you as a present from the United States will not come in contact with any other Canadian dog he will be allowed to pass through.

These are just some of the regulations made by the Dominion Department of Agriculture in their fight to keep insect pests under control.

Search for Parasite

By the introduction of foreign insects as a natural means of control, the Dominion Department of Agriculture, through the Entomological Laboratory here, endeavors to control these pests which ruin crops and forests. Therefore, they must find the parasite which will prey on certain of these pests and destroy them.

One interesting example is the Spruce Bud Worm which every year destroys millions of dollars of timber all over Canada and is a big headache to all the pulp and paper mills. Thousands of dollars were spent on poisonous sprays but the worm lived on. Then it was discovered that certain parasites lived on this worm.

That was the answer!

Later it was found that there were other parasites that lived on this worm out in British Columbia but were hampered in their journey across Canada by the Rockies and discouraged by the lack of timber on the Prairies so that they never did reach Northern Ontario where the spruce and balsam trees were being literally devoured.

Centres were then set up in Lillooet, British Columbia and in a Park Reserve about 120 miles east of Quebec City.

Specialists from the Belleville staff were sent out to British Columbia and field investigations started with a crew of 50 collectors. The Spruce Bud worm is sent to Belleville from British Columbia stated Dr. A. Wilks, officer in charge. The parasites are raised in great numbers and then shipped to Northern Ontario to feed on the spruce worms.

The centre in British Columbia was set up just this year and the recent floods have set back the work considerably. The recent forest fires in the North destroyed some of the parasites so the work was held up again.

In Quebec the work is in connection with forest insect pests as well as garden insects and food insects.

College Students Employed

A number of students from Queen's University and the University of Toronto who are residents of the city are working at the Entomological Laboratory helping with the task of raising parasites. Among them are: University students from Belleville working at Department of Agriculture—Don Beavis, Campbell Cameron, Shiela Boyle, Reginald Edward, Robert Flurey, Joyce Fraser, Stanley Hagerman, Fred Hayes, Bob Temple, George Manjuras, Vincent Massey, Norman Meyers, Ann Nicholson, Marcelle Thomas, Cecilia Trudeau, Edith White, Thomas Woodley.

PARLIAMENT

In another but related field, Mr. Howe said it may take three or four years to develop iron ore mines in Northern Quebec.

Turning to America's E.R.P. program, Mr. Howe said the government wanted exporters to go after that business on their own. His department had "repeatedly" advised Canadian exporters not to depend entirely on government assistance, but rather to follow normal commercial channels.

Attacks Psychiatrists

During the veterans debate, John Blackmore (SC-Lethbridge) opened an attack on departmental psychiatrists and said he had proof they were employed occasionally to deprive a deserving veteran "of financial benefits."

Veterans Minister Gregg told the Chamber the government will consider making Canadians who fought with Allied forces eligible for veterans insurance and that veterans denied a pension on the ground their disabilities were of pre-enlistment origin now may apply for a review of their case.

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., (PC-Nanaimo) was joined by Dr. W. G. Blair (PC-Lanark) and several other opposition members in criticism of the government for charging a non-pensionable veteran $9 a day for treatment in a veterans hospital.

Julian Ferguson (PC-Simcoe North) said disabled veterans called in to Christie Street Hospital, Toronto, should be provided with taxi fares to and from trains.

Sunday School Lesson of the Week

God is Not Through

By ROY L. SMITH

Said Frederick the Great, one day in the midst of one of his skeptical moods, to his chaplain: "Sir, show me a mircale!" To this the chaplain replied, very circumspectly, "My Lord, the Jew!"

In all the history of mankind no race has ever achieved a history like that of the Hebrew race. In the nearly 3,500 years of their existence as a people they have never lived under a monarch of their own blood and kin more than about 450 years. They have never had an army at their back; they have never been in the majority; their home has been the ghetto and their hope has been in their faith.

The Doctrine of the Messiah

When the fortunes of the Hebrew kingdom began to run out and they were surrounded by foes there began to develop among the Hebrews a belief that sometime God would take a hand in human affairs, commission a divine deliverer to come to their rescue, and establish them as the ruling power of the earth.

It was not that the Jews dreamed of mastering the earth as Napoleon or Alexander did. It has been, rather, that this remarkable people has always dreamed that they were destined to rule the earth for the benefit of all mankind, establishing peace, doing justice, and bring happiness to mankind.

The central core of their hope was the doctrine of the Messiah—a belief that someday a divine leader would be raised up who would be altogether just and who would order the affairs of men in harmony with good morals, social progress, and universal goodwill.

It is a beautiful dream. Other nations have attempted to conquer the world and pay it tribute; the Jewish ideal has always embraced the ideal of service to mankind. It might be a dictatorship divinely established, but it was to be unselfish and generous.

The Christian Messiah

It was the avowed belief of the first century Christians that Jesus of Nazareth was, in very truth, the promised Messiah. That He had not performed the services which the Jews had anticipated the Christians were compelled to admit very freely. But they believed in turn that the Jews had been mistaken in their expectations. The world wide reign of peace and goodwill, accompanied by prosperity, was not to be set up as a political authority, but was to be built up as a racewide spiritual attitude. It was the Christian belief that Jesus met all the spiritual expectations which had clustered around the person of the comin and that He was therefore the "child of promise."

A World Wide Expectation

Historians and Biblical scholars have pointed out the fact that here was a world-wide expectation, about the time Jesus was born, that a wonder-child was to appear who would grow into a man who would provide deliverance of the world.

The Sunday School lesson for June 20: The Hope for the Messiah, Ezekiel 34; 11-16, 22-31; Daniel 7:13-14; Zechariah 3:8-10; 6:12-13; 9:9-19; 12:10; 13:1; John 10:14.

Among the thoughtful people of the world there was a belief that God was about to take a hand in human affairs and bring some kind of order out of chaos. Evidence of the seriousness with which this expectation was viewed throughout the ancient East is the story of the wise men who came in search of the young child Jesus (Matthew 2:1-12).

That Faith is Justified

It is one of the profound convictions of the Christian Church that God cannot be driven out of His own world. Evil may triumph for the moment, and ungodly men may rise to power, but the ultimate victory is with righteousness.

The nerve centre of the Jewish doctrine of the Messiah was the conviction that the God whom the Jews worshipped was opposen, by His very nature, to injustice in all its forms. The revelation of God which Christians see in Jesus convinces them that a right God can never come to terms with such evils as we see about us.

God may move slowly, but we can rest assured that Our God is not through.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

BY WINIFRED E. WILSON

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

"What bird is that?" asked Alice. "Something like a small Robin, but the back is greyer, it has wing-bars, and is yellowish underneath."

Before Edith could speak, a loud voice shouted, "Cow, cow; wake-up, wake-up, wake-up." The first two words came slowly, the rest very fast, one word running into the next. Then the singer, in a gorgeous orange and black costume, dashed out of the woods, and flew across the clearing.

"Your question has been answered, Alice. You must have seen Mrs. Baltimore Oriole, for here is her mate."

Excitement ran high, because this was the first time the girls had found these birds as far north as their summer cottage in the Laurentians.

Though they belong to the Blackbird family, Orioles are tropical. There are many kinds, but the Baltimore is the only species commonly nesting in Canada. The story of how the name was acquired goes back nearly 200 years. The second Baron of Baltimore had crossed the Atlantic with some colonists, and their settlement was given his name. They sent to the English ornithologist Linneus the skin of a bird which they had called on Oriole—though it did not really resemble the English bird of that name. Because the plumage was orange and black, Lord Baltimore's colors, in honor of the baron the naturalist entered it as a Baltimore Oriole.

In spite of this being one of our most strikingly beautiful birds, it is best known for its nest: a remarkable example of bird craftsmanship. Mrs. Oriole herself makes the pocket-like structure. Plant fibres and dead grass supplemented by bits of colored wool, string, or strips of cotton, are fastened firmly to a branch, but in such a way that the cradle swings with every breeze, yet lasts for many months—sometimes through four winters. In depth, and its position at the tip of a bough ensure the safety of the little Orioles.

The young are noted cry-babies. From the time when they begin to "feather out" until several days after they have left the nest they keep up a continual noise. Their mother is very good to them: attending to all their wants even in bad weather, shielding them from a too-hot sun, and defending them courageously when danger is near. They are fed insects. When old enough, the parents lead them into the woods until late August or early September.

I WANT TO KNOW...

Does a Mother need insurance?

Unless a husband and father is very well-to-do his wife should have her own insurance policy. If a mother dies when there are no funds available to pay a housekeeper, the home may be broken up and the children put out for adoption or sent to relatives.
The answer is, "Yes, a mother needs life insurance."

Noises From Space To be Investigated

Auckland, N. Z. — (CP) — A party of Australian scientists will shortly establish a research station in New Zealand to study the mysterious "noises" radiated to the earth from regions illimitably beyond the sun. The station will be at Leigh, 35 miles north of Auckland, which is especially well situated for the work, giving a clear interference pattern of direct radiation to the earth and radiation reflected by the sea.

Announcing this, Dr. C. W. Allen, principal research assistant to the Commonwealth Observatory, Canberra, stated on a visit to New Zealand that although noises from the outer universe were still a matter for determination, majority opinion thinks highly variable components of noise emanate from a comparatively small source, such as a star.

Only three or four sources of outside radiation were discernible, he added. In the case of the noise from the constellation Cygnus there were occasional quiet spells, characterized by pulsations lasting about 20 seconds. It was impossible to recognize the responsible star, but it was certainly not the whole constellation. The responsible star must produce many million times more noise than the sun.

Using modern instruments the Australian party hopes to obtain further data on the source of these mysterious sounds.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLASS, D.D.

WE'RE ALL BELOW PAR

A book agent was trying to sell a farmer a set of books on agriculture. They were designed to show him to improve all his farm methods. As the book agent pressed for a sale, the farmer grinned and said: "I don't need the books. I'm not half as good a farmer now as I could be."

What he needed was not information but stimulation.

Most of us are like the farmer—not half so good at anything as we could be. There is seldom a job being done that could not be done better. The reason is not that we can't, but that we don't. We will not be helped by being told how to do better. We are only too conscious that if we did as well as we already know how, we would do twice as well as we are doing.

We need, along with the farmer, to get stirred up on the inside of our lives. The psychologist would probably say that we need purpose; the preacher, that we need the revitalization of our inner life; the doctor, that we need a tonic. At any rate we need to begin using the resources we have, and nothing can help us so much as religion.

Kingston, June 18 (CP)—Ontario Hospital officials at suburban Portsmouth said today search is continuing for one of two patients who escaped within 24 hours of each other.

The patients are Glen Brown, 27, of Kingston and Hugh Cummings of Point Pleasant.

Cummings was found wandering around near the C.I.L. Nylon Plant Thursday. Brown is still at large. He is not considered dangers.

Raymond Massey Plans to Enter Producing Side of Theatre Business

By PAT USSHER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, June 19 — (CP) — Raymond Massey, Canadian-born actor who has given memorable performances in a number of roles, this autumn plans to go into the producing side of the theater business.

He hopes to bring to Broadway a dramatized version of "Hanging Judge," a crime novel by Bruce Hamilton. Victor Samrock and Williams Fields will be associated with the Toronto-born actor in the venture.

This won't be the first producing activity by the Canadian star. During the 20s he was one of the owners and managers of the Everyman Theatre in London. A decade later he produced, in conjunction with Gladys Cooper, "The Rats of Norway," also in London.

Massey now is en route to London to find someone to adapt the novel for the stage. It might well be Patrick Hamilton, brother of the author and himself author of the popular "Angel Street."

Well-Earned Reprieve

The "Two-weeks' notice" signs were up a few days back for 'Ballet Ballads," the lively stage version of three old legends which came to Broadway via the Experimental Theatre but since then business has picked up encouragingly, running costs have been pared and it looks as though the production will remain around for some weeks at least.

Aisle Jottings

Comedian David Burns wasn't idle long after he left "Make Mine Manhattan." Within a week he was signed for a part in "Heaven on Earth," which is scheduled to open in Boston in early August . . . Margo Jones intends to make her managerial debut on Broadway with an autumn production of Tennessee Williams' play, "Summer and Smoke."

The fate of "Sleepy Hollow" which was withdrawn after a run of little more than a week, is a sad example for enthusiasts with dreams of crashing Manhattan with a hit show.

Bird-Watching Fascinating Hobby

(Written for The Canadian Press)

By PERCY GHENT

Beginners in the fascinating hobby of bird-watching find vacation days bring a golden opportunity to enlarge their knowledge of Canadian birds.

Up in the lakelands of Quebec, Ontario and eastern Manitoba, mid-summer days and evenings have no finer enjoyment than the identification of birds often unknown or at least unfamiliar to city folk.

Laughing loons on the lake, great ospreys, or fishing-hawks hovering above creek mouth and shore lines; rose-breasted grosbeaks, sapsuckers, an occasional Arctic three-toed woodpecker, warblers of many hues flashing about the woodlands—these are among the thrills awaiting the watchers, and there are scores besides.

Even when the fishing is poor there is no cause for gloom. Birds are always plentiful, and once interest is thoroughly aroused, the first sight and clear identity of a new species for any observer can be just as exciting as hooking a 12-inch speckled trout. Binoculars and a good bird book are essential for maximum enjoyment—and keep a notebook handy to record the highspots of observation.

Extensive studies in Canada and the United States in recent years have convinced scientific students of wildlife and conservation that it is dangerous to interfere with natural checks, even when conditions seem to demand it.

Here is an example:

In one United States duck sanctuary, duckling loss, attributed to skunks, was heavy. So that the ducks could breed in peace, the skunks were trapped wholesale. With no skunks to eat turtle eggs, the turtle population increased enormously. Then ducklings began to disappear faster than ever. Snapping turtles were pulling the young ducks under water as they swam. Skunks had to be re-introduced.

Nature has her own provision for maintaining a balance, and man rarely if ever makes a better job of adjusting that balance.

In Victorian days, musk plants with their peculiar aroma, were the pride of English gardeners. They originated in, and were heavily exported from British Columbia. Now the day of glory and popularity is over for the musk plant and flower.

For reasons botanical science has not yet brought to light, the B.C. musk plant lost its charm—the perfume—after some years of cultivation in Britain. But another importation from Canada's sunset coast gave Britain a tree which has prospered abundantly—the Douglas fir of outstanding beauty and utility. Out of 200 different conifers successfully cultivated in the British Isles, more than a third originated in North America.

Tourist Season at Hand

Tourists are already coming and report says that the influx of guests is beginning to be heavier than usual and that the outlook is for the arrival of tourists at earlier dates than in past years and for one of the greatest seasons in tourist history.

Canada has many beauty spots and resorts which she is proud of and which the people of the great American Republic have found for they come year after year in ever-growing numbers.

Summer is due officially on Monday next and that should mark an increase in numbers of visitors as heralds of the much greater numbers coming about the end of June to set up residence for weeks or months at Canada's watering places and parks, scattered with such profusion by nature and aided by the hand of man through the construction of highways and camps for the holiday season's outdoor life.

The good reputation of watering places and resorts for the holidays has been carried afar by tourists who have been in this country in other years, these latter being the best advertising this country's holiday resources can have.

The utmost in hospitality, good services, courtesy and generous dealing, in entertainment and accommodation of the guests will be the heralds of unbounded success which will go far to bring more and more tourists this year, next year and in after years.

Americans are Canadians' closest neighbors whom Canadians like to visit and whom they like to have visit this country. Many thousands of them are coming this year. That it may be the best tourist season for the tourists is the wish of every Canadian.

This will be a banner year for touring in a number of countries. The people of Britain are looking for a large crowd of tourists from the U. S., many of them taking their cars with them, for which the British people have made arrangements to furnish a generous supply of petrol or gasoline so that the guests may travel wherever they like throughout the country of such wide tourist appeal, based upon history and the ties of kinship of race. Britain is allowing tourists with their cars to take in food in plenty. The British Isles accordingly will no doubt attract a very great number of travellers because of the stability of conditions there as compared with those in some countries on the Continent. Then, too, Mexixco, Central America and South America are holding out the hand of welcome to tourists from the United States and Canada. The United States will see a large number of her people go to Britain to enjoy the charms of the country, so rich in its history and with so many landmarks of progress to be seen and studied wherever the tourists may go. The United States will welcome Canadians and people from every part of the world.

So this is a year, then, in which there will be many thousands travelling far from home and this travel will have results, among them the cementing of friendships and improving understanding and good will.

Books, Reading Material

Czechoslovakia is experiencing something which the Republic could hardly have foreseen in the days before the recent communist coup — a purge of books and reading material which communism does not like.

That country is rich in its libraries, says the New York Times, gathered through the centuries. "They record a long and valiant fight against tyranny. It will take quite a while to destroy that treasure," remarks that newspaper. "Even so, the memory of a lost enlightenment will continue to shine in the hearts of its people. Some day, no matter how the shadows gather now, it will burst forth in renewed splendor."

Books have always been considered as precious by the peoples who believe in democracy for their inspiration is one of the greatest forces in human history. Books have been the flowering of some of the greatest ages in human history for they are a record of the course of culture and civilization.

There is no doubt that the world is much poorer for the loss of precious books and documents in some of the most tempestuous periods of human history. Yet it is one of the wonders of all time that so much that was precious has been saved. In the days of the barbaric invasions many documents and writings disappeared — the very thought of which is a pain to the heart of democratic people. Were some of these lost works to be found, no price would be too high for them. Today books are widely scattered and many must naturally find hiding places and in the turn of the years be found — perhaps in a better day. In fact it should be very difficult to lose or destroy all important works, for many people treasure them at their own risk if necessary. In ancient and medieval days books were few and were generally stored in prominent buildings, such as monasteries. There in the Middle Ages was a haven for culture and for books which survived the hordes of invaders and led to that great flowering of the spirit which came to Europe in the Renascence era. To the monks and the monasteries is owing the survival of learning and faith in those days when Europe was in turmoil with the milling hordes of invaders who moved in from the East.

Influence of the Church

A few days later Donald M. Fleming, speaking in the House of Commons, remarked in connection with juvenile delinquency that "one of the great problems is this insidious claim of materialist forces and materialist philosophy today, trying to make inroads upon the religious and moral teaching which has its heart and centre in the home and church. Anything we as people in public life can do to strengthen these community influences which, in turn will not supplant but will help strengthen a healthy home influence, I am sure it is our duty to do."

The breakdown of the home in so many instances and the decline of the Church, in public favor must have a great deal to do with the state of the world at the present time. It may be considered old fogeyish to suggest that things will not be set right until the church and religion are restored to the positions they once occupied but it is worth the attention of all those who bemoan what is happening at the present time and who look for a remedy. — Brockville Recorder and Times.

Male Vanity

After all, why not? Roosters strut. Peacocks dazzle. And males who sneak out the back door of Hollywood's new beauty parlor for men, creamed and waved as exquisitely as their wives, are only following nature's leading — abetted, of course, by art and commerce.

It's not only actors, we hear, but businessmen who slip in to have their hair "shaped" or to acquire that smooth, tan look. Before long, when men speak of "bleachers" it may be in reference to beauticians rather than the ball games. To be "plucked" may not infer an unfortunate business deal but something to cause a real raising of eyebrows.

Here, perhaps, is the logical culmination of the cult of muscle building which has been sweeping the country. This vast business (pardon us, art) has produced nation-wide male beauty contests, with photogenic young hearties swelling their muscles far beyond the point of usefulness and posing in brawny emulation of the sculptured athletes of antiquity. When the American "tough guy" begins to play Narcissus, it is not surprising that the tired businessman resorts to a simple mud pack. —Christian Science Monitor.

Fireproof

Quebec leads the world in production of asbestos, we are informed.

It is, indeed, a matter of pride for every Canadian that Quebec quarries yield eighty per cent of the world supply of the mineral that first gained fame as an essential of theatre curtains and today goes into jet planes.

And it is reassuring to realize that here is one natural resource that we can't waste as we waste our forests. However careless you are, you won't set an asbestos deposit on fire. — Montreal Gazette.

JUNE WEDDING

One to the left, and one the right,
With each an usher at her side,
They make a very lovely sight,
The mothers of the groom and bride.

The wedding march at last begins.
The little flower girl appears.
Then, two by two, and dressed like twins
Eight lovely friends of schooltime years.

The minister and groom await
Before the altar, candle-lit.
The maids of honor separate,
The music stills, the people sit.

Oh, happy, happy groom and bride!
Beyond the day lie grief and care.
God grant you strength when trouble-tried
Whatever must befall to bear.

As arm in arm the church you leave,
Know this: No power can do you harm
While in each other you believe,
And walk together, arm in arm.

Dr. Roy Anderson, dentist, a returned missionary from China, addressed the members of the local Rotary Club yesterday.

Ald. Woodley brought in his estimates at the meeting of the city council last night and the tax rate for 1928 was struck. It was found that owing to the building of the collegiate institute the rate will be higher; supporters of the public schools will be taxed at 45 6-10 mills and separate school supporters will be taxed at 43 9-10 mills. The general rate remains the same, 21 7-10 mills. The total assessment for the city is now $9,644,907.00.

The Packsack
of Gregory Clark

Everyone who fishes makes it a point, when in Paris, to visit the banks of the Seine to see the anglers of Paris at their extraordinary sport.

It is right in the heart of the city, of course. The river coils turbidly past, between its ancient solid stone banks. And every day, but especially on Sundays, these stone walls are populated by men of all ages, from boys to white-beards, practically shoulder to shoulder, patiently and eternally watching their quill floats bobbing in the dirty water.

They use mostly long twelve foot bank-fishing rods with delicate tips. Many of the anglers sit on canvas stools, and have some sort of rod-rest in which their rods are supported on the stone embankment while the anglers sit back, serene in the sun or rain, waiting. There is always a happy, holiday air about them. You would think they were expecting, any minute, a great rush of fish . . .

I have watched them hours at a time and never saw a fish of any kind caught. One Sunday, I fell into conversation with a well-dressed elderly gentleman with a white imperial and brisk mustache. When he learned I was from across the pond, he asked many questions about the marvellous fishing in America.

With my hands and arms extended, I demonstrated the size of the fabled muskie, the pike, the bass, the huge lake trout to be had in my country. The old gentleman pulled the enamelled pail containing his tackle from behind his camp stool. He drew out a white silk handkerchief, carefully folded, and unwrapped a tiny fish, a gudgeon he had just caught, about five inches long. He exhibited it with immense satisfaction.

"Here, on the banks of the Seine," he said, "it is not the size. It is the good luck!"

These Paris sportsmen are not interested primarily in fish. All they want is to experience the thrill of having Lady Luck smile on them, even with a minnow.

Rain-Maker Works in Reverse To Check Threat of Downpour

Medicine Hat Alta., June 18—(CP)—Regina's Donald S. Johnston goes the conventional rainmakers one better. He claims his seemingly successful "univerrscope" can go into reverse—and halt rain if need be.

Wide-eyed natives yesterday witnessed the seeming proof of his bigger claim—he threw the universcope into reverse to check a cloudy threat of raining out a Royal Canadian Mounted Police band concept. It didn't rain.

Coincidences — if coincidences they are— have been startling in latest tests of the instrument.

Seven out of eight times on which Johnston has used his electro-magnetic device on the Hat's bulging cumulous clouds it has rained. When he refrained it didn't.

Yesterday's concert over, he went back to work again and "presto" it rained later.

The universcope consists of two magnets, one suspended within the other. Johnston claims cosmic rays from the moon and lightning forks induce electric currents in them. The currents in turn are said to cause clouds to condense their moisture, dropping it as rain.

Johnston has promised near-by Redcliff that it will not rain Saturday to spoil its rodeo. In fact the directors are taking the Regina man, a commercial artist whose rain-making is a hobby to Redcliff as their guest and will padlock his universcope. It will be on display — but not in operation — at least in the moonbeam-attraction phase. If it is cloudy it may be operated in reverse.

It has rained eight of the nine days since Johnston arrived. A three-weeks' drought ended with his arrival. Showers since — whatever be the cause— have brought marked crop growth. To 68 hours' sunshine during the same period last year there have been but 18 this.

Today Johnston proposed visiting the Federal weather office to compare notes. He says he wants the government to control weather, not merely record it.

Dry ice experiments from the air are all right as far as they go, he says, but better results are possible from the ground.

"They should use the power of gravitational flow of moonbeams for energy as I do."

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

MIRRORS

Have you ever been to a scientific museum and seen a reverse-image mirror? In a reverse-image mirror, you see not a mirror image of yourself, but a true image, exactly as other people see you. It is a distinct shock to see this image, so different from a mirror image and from the way you're sure you appear. You suddenly see someone quite unlike the person you have always thought you were. Yet it is this reverse image which is the true picture of you.

Just as we look in our mirrors every day and think we know our image by heart, so we look at our daily lives. We're sure we know exactly what we are like. We see, in the mirror image, good intentions and strivings toward a better life. We see the number of times our hearts felt pity—did we express it? Our image shows all those good deeds we intended but never did. We see ourselves as we think we are.

But what would a reverse-image mirror of our lives show? For many of us, the true picture of us as others see us would be unpleasant. People judge us as they see us, not by what we intended to do but by what we have done already. A reverse-image mirror that showed our lives would stimulate us all to do better.

Unit of U.S. Jets Moved to Germany From Panama

Washington, June 18. (AP)—The United States is doubling its fighter-plane strength in Europe, air force officials said today.

This will be done by shifting a unit of jet planes from Panama to Germany.

At present there is only one group (about 75 planes) of P-47 Second World War type convention engine fighters based in Germany.

The new fighter wing will double that strength. Moreover, it will mean that the United States for the first time will have an organized force of modern jet interceptors in that troubled area.

Woman Minister Likes Her Work

Victoria — (CP) — Dr. Norah Hughes, only woman to be ordained in the British Columbia United Church Conference, says she has encountered little or no opposition in an otherwise completely masculine field.

"I have found no opposition," she said, "although there are always a few persons prejudiced at first. But it does not last long. If you do a good job, they don't care whether you're a man or a woman."

Here attending a B.C. United Church Conference, Dr. Hughes told reporters that she was ordained in 1940, going to the United Church at Hatzic, B.C., a fruit-growing centre 50 miles east of Vancouver.

"There is no difference of scope whether a ministry is in a large city or a small town," she said. "There are the same people and the same problems to be met. I work extensively with young people in my parish, but like working with all age groups. The work is thoroughly enjoyable."

Dr. Hughes was a teacher of biology at the University of British Columbia before going into the ministry.

OVER 34,000 VETS SETTLED

Ottawa, June 18 — (CP)—The Veterans Land Act has become a $173,000,000 business, Veterans Minister Gregg said Friday in a statement.

More than 34,000 veterans were settled, including 19,000 in full-time farming, of whom 2,600 are on provincial lands; 14,500 on small holdings and 600 in commercial fishing.

Full-time farming covered 3,276,000 acres, nearly a third of them in Saskatchewan. Five per cent of land being farmed in Canada now is farmed by V.L.A. settlers.

LAST OF THE DEADHEADS

School teachers rank third in the scale of feminine nobility, as I guage it, at the top, of course, are mothers, and next below mothers are nurses. It is difficult for me to analyze my own inner consciousness or reasons for this, but probably the main reason is that nurses, real nurses, trained nurses, graduate nurses, registered nurses, professional nurses are so wonderfully equipped for motherhood, especially in the "know how" of infant care and raising children. This is not to imply that some school teachers are not as competent as nurses in this vital department nor that all nurses are ipso facto capable of real motherhood, but taking them as classes I must present the accolade to nurses as being the fittest of women for motherhood.

Nevertheless the very word teacher stirs in my heart the deepest emotions—it always brings to mind the primary school teacher, typical old maid who, for fifty years, taught the children there on Chapel Street and devoted her entire life to helping others — a woman of saintly stature who left her mark on every youngster who came under her care. Just to give you an idea—it was she who started me brushing my teeth and kept me doing it in the years she lived at our house and for a good twenty or thirty years afterward. For that matter I imagine if the beloved teacher were living today and I were going to call on her I'd have to dig up a toothbrush and give my teeth a few good licks first, just so I would not disappoint her when she should ask whether I had brushed my teeth this morning.

Although I'm a sarcastic and hard-boiled, I gather from what readers tell me, I must confess that underneath that cloak I'm no blankety-blanked—well, I'm not responsible for my behavior under emotional stress. In a rash moment two years ago I offered school teachers who complied with a certain reasonable requirement A Lot of Little Lessons in the Ways of Health—a full set of about 24 volumes (booklets) dealing with questions of hygiene and health more or less in the way I deal with them here—with my compliments. The response to this was extremely disappointing.

In the course of the year the actual cost of the printing, packing and mailing of these Little Lessons free to bona fide school teachers was over eleven hundred dollars — but I wouldn't squawk about that if the project had achieved any tangible results. I was naive enough to hope that in this way I might bribe some teachers to impart to their pupils some of my concepts of hygiene, physiology and prevention of disease. Indeed, a few score of teachers thanked me for the set of booklets and told me they would make good use of them in some of their classes. But, to date, I have had no report of actual use of my silly little booklets in that way, from teacher or pupil, so I have been constrained to withdraw the offer.

Human Rights Declaration Only 'Morally Binding'

By NORMAN ALTSTEDTER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Lake Success, N.Y., June 19 — (CP) — The United Nations Human Rights Commission Friday night adopted a declaration of human rights but the document was only "morally binding" on member countries.

The 18-member commission was forced by lack of time to leave in abeyance a proposed covenant of human rights which would have been legally binding on signatories.

The vote passing the declaration was 12 to 0 with Russia, Yugoslavia, White Russia and the Soviet Ukraine abstaining. In a "minority report" including at the end of the commission's report, Russia described the international declaration as "unsatisfactory."

The document, which will be sent for ratification to the Economic and Social Council and finally to the General Assembly in Paris next September, calls for the right to education, equality before the law, property rights, and the right of every person to housing, medical care and social security.

Many compromise solutions were included in the declaration which received criticism from Russia at almost every turn. The United States was unsuccessful, however, in opposing a Soviet proposal that the declaration condemn not only discrimination on the basis of religion, sex, race or nationality but also bar "incitement to discrimination."

The United States held that a charge of "incitement" might be used to restrict freedom of speech or of the press.

Palo Alto, Calif., — (AP) — The life-sized nude in the Stanford University art gallery did seem remarkably life-like, policeman Edward Farman mused.

Then the nude moved. He covered the lady's nudity with his coat. She later was committed to state hospital for observation.

Campus residents had complained of a woman's loud singing. Farman had just about given up his search when his attention [illegible] to the nude who didn't [illegible]

Oklahoma City—(AP)—Things were going quietly Friday night until all the phones at police headquarters began to ring.

"Officer!" shouted one frantic housewife, "there's a goat eating the washing off my line."

Then the Frisco railroad called. It had goat trouble, too.

It was all too true.

A fence had given way at a packing house and 150 goats were loose in the dark.

A police squad started out, but citizens rallied around and had the goats caged up in a nearby pen before the law arrived.

Flint, Mich. — (AP) — Magician Leon Mandrake made rabbits disappear Friday night in full view of a local audience after the act police were called in to find out who made $1,000 disappear backstage from the purses of Mandrake and his company.

Binghamton, N. Y. — (AP) — A filling station operator here has to pay $100 for lighting a match to find out whether a customer's automobile needed gasoline.

Norval Huntley won a jury award of $100 Friday against Leo Scott, for fire damage to his car. Huntley said Scott used a match to "test gasoline" in the tank.

Threat of Disunity Spectre Of Every British Labor Meeting

By JAMES McCOOK
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, June 19 (CP)—The threat of disunity is the spectre at every British Labor Party gathering.

Labor has nearly 400 members in a Commons where 640 have seats. After nearly three years in power, the parliamentary Labor Party has been torn with internal divisions, especially over foreign policy, but the Attlee administration never has been threatened with defeat.

Political observers who survey the party's fortunes agree:

1. The program of nationalization, extended power over finance, House of Lords reform, social security legislation and continuation of controls has been backed by the majority of labor supporters, in parliament and out.

2. The next two years will be more difficult than the first three. One element backs Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, in support of consolidation of socialist policies. But another element would hurry ahead, natianalizing first and going into details afterwards.

3. Prime Minister Attlee, Morrison, Foreign Secretary Bevin and Sir Stafford Cripps, Chancellor of the Exchequer, agree that co-operation with private industry, a pause for the study of nationalized industries and services and development of workers' interest in all-out production are essential to British recovery. Health Minister Bevan and Hugh Dalton, now back in the cabinet, support this line with the difference that they adopt an aggressive attitude towards industry — the line that it must co-operate with the government "or else".

Morgan Phillips, party secretary, wrote in the Labor Press Service that the recent party conference at Scarborough was one of "few surprises, no shocks and of great unity and solidarity for the future. As each day passed it became clearer and clearer that this great assembly ...had got its eyes on the tasks ahead and was closing the ranks to gather strength for the electoral battle of 1950."

In contrast, Ian Mikardo, Labor member of parliament for Reading, wrote in the Labor Weekly Tribune that Morrison's speech had shown there would be no socialism in the next election program.

Largest List of Non-Party Men Running in History of Province

Fredricton, June 19 (CP) —Although the campaigning for the June 28 New Brunswick election has so far been comparatively quiet there have been surprises.

Probably the biggest came at a Moncton City Liberal nomination convention when education Minister C.H. Blakeney was defeated.

E. A. Fryers, a long-time supporter of Mr. Blakeney, won the voting to become candidate on the party ticket.

Possibly just as big a surprise was the failure of the Progressive Conservative party to name candidates to contest all the 52 legislature seats. In Gloucester, five Liberals gained seats by acclamation.

In Northumberland a Progressive Conservative convention was called and four candidates were named. But during the meeting a motion from the floor changed the meeting into an "independent" convention and the four candidates announced they would run as "independent opposition" standard bearers.

With these four off the party ticket, the Conservatives remained with only 40 candidates —just twice as many as the C.C.F..

Here again was another surprise.

C.C.F. officials said lack of a full-time organizer prevented placing more candidates in the field.

In Queens County, Mrs. Gladys West of Chipman is running under the C.C.F. banner, one of the few women ever to contest a legislature seat in the Maritimes.

Social Credit doctrine also entered the province for the first time with nomination of five candidates.

Four more independents — including E. Claude Seeley who gained a seat in the last House in a by-election victory — are running to give the province its largest list of non-party men in many years.

Hubby Could Learn if Wifie Had Some Money Tucked Away

By DOUGLAS HOW
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, June 19 — (CP) — A blow was struck for matrimonial deceit in the Senate's banking committee this week. Up for consideration was a bill to grant certain powers to Quebec's savings banks. One clause requires them to inform persons that dividends are payable to them.

This, suggested P. A. Periault of the Montreal and District Savings Bank, endangered the position of the wife who might not want her spouse to know she has the money tucked away. A letter to the house would be a dead giveaway.

He was reassured by C. F. Elderkin of the Bank of Canada. A phone call would do or she could drop down to the bank. Mr. Periault was soothed and silenced. The committee had a laugh, passed the clause.

Air Sickness

Arthur Smith, the wag who sits in the Commons as Progressive Conservative member for Calgary West, was arguing the other night that homes should be provided for M. P.'s. Further, he said, there is a great bother about getting train reservations.

"Try our lines," suggested Trade Minister Howe, the daddy of T. C. A.

"I am unlike the minister," said Mr. Smith. "I hate flying. He loves it because he gets U (University) degrees at the end of every trip. So he ought to love it. But with me flying is out."

Hieroglyphics

T. L. (Tommy) Church, former Toronto mayor and now Progressive Conservative member for Toronto Broadview, confessed something that many a recipient of his letters has long known.

Said he: "Works Minister Fournier tells me he cannot read my writing and that I should write in block letters as you do in writing your name on an income tax form."

Parental Proposing

The Senate was embroiled in its perennial divorce debate. Never one to avoid the novel, Senator Ralph Byron Horner — (PC — Saskatchewan) spoke up.

"There would be fewer divorces," he said, "if the marriage match was made by the parents of the young couple."

IRISH THEATRE DIRECTOR AND PLAYWRIGHT DIES

London, June 19 — (AP) — The death of Conal Holmes O'Connell O'Riordan, director of Dublin's Abbey Theatre, was announced Friday night. O'Riordan, 75, also a novelist and playwright died at Ealing near London. His novels included "Adam of Dublin" and "Adam and Caroline," his plays "Rope Enough" and "Napoleon's Josephine."

POLAND DENIES REQUEST OF U. S. TO PUT UP POSTERS

Warsaw, June 19 — (AP) — A government spokesman said Friday that Poland has denied a request of the United States information service for permission to distribute or display posters on such subjects as the American fight on tuberculosis and how American agriculture works.

GERMAN SAYS RUSSIAN SOLDIERS ATTACKED HIM

Berlin, June 19 — (AP) — A German motorcycle messenger for the Associated Press said two Russian soldiers attacked him today in Berlin's Russian sector. "When they saw the press plate on my motorcycle, one of the soldiers said 'Ah, U.S.A. press, you spy' — then he struck me across the back with his rifle butt." The German said he jumped on his machine and fled.

Movie Star Goes Back to School, Learns to Dress

By DOROTHY ROE

New York (AP)— Even a movie star sometimes needs a few pointers on how to dress to look her best.

Pretty Jeanne Cagney, currently appearing in "The Time of Your Life" enrolled in designer Edith Head's night classes at the University of California, Los Angeles recently to find out what was wrong with the way she dressed. She says:

"I found I was doing practically everything wrong. I always liked girly-girly things, and was likely to put on too many frills. Now I've found that I look best in simple tailored things, and I'm going to stick to my type if it kills me."

Jeanne, who has been a top student ever since her school days when she was graduated summa cum laude from New York's Hunter College took to the U.C.L.A. night classes as a small boy to a baseball bat.

Says Jeanne:

"It was simply wonderful. I never understood before how careful a woman must be in selecting the right clothes for her type. I used to be inclined to go shopping helter skelter, buy a dress here and a hat there and never stop to think how well they would go together.

Planning the Ensemble

"But Edith taught me the importance of planning an outfit as a whole, concentrating on excellent fabric and line for the basic dress or suit, and then adding a touch of drama with accessories."

The first class problem which confronted Jeanne after enrolling was to plan accessories for the same basic dress to fit the personalities of four actresses.

Another problem was to plan an outfit for a working girl who must go to her office, meet three women for tea at the Stork Club and wind up at dinner with her best beau at El Morocco. She could only carry an oversized handbag for accessories.

Jeanne solved the problem by providing the girl with a plain navy blue suit and hat, with a starched white dickey for the office. For tea she changed the dickey for a striped taffeta ascot and matching gloves. For dinner at El Morocco she removed her jacket wore a cashmere evening sweater and added a string of pearls. Jeanne says:

"Nowadays whenever I get ready to buy some new clothes, I plan my wardrobe as if it were a class problem. I concentrate on simple lines, and I have learned to co-ordinate my accessories. I've learned never to wear extreme fashions, too, but to adapt and modify them until they are becoming."

Mrs. Peter Rozon, 177 Station Street, has returned from Detroit, Mich., after visiting relatives there for the past few days.

Mr. Raymond W. Garffer and Mr. James L. Garffer, of San Juan, Puerto Rico, are spending a few days in the city. Their visit here is due to the death of their father, Mr. F. J. Garffer, whose funeral took place yesterday.

Prior to her recent marriage Mrs. MacDonald Fenn Smith, (nee Stella Morton), was entertained at a number of teas and showers. Mrs. Ralph Morton was hostess for a kitchen shower and the A.Y.P.A. of St. Thomas' Church were "at home" for a shower of crystal.

OUT OF TOWN PERSONAL

Mrs. Mabel Cook, of Halloway, has been called to the bedside of her son, J. W. M. Cook, who is a patient in Sunnybrook Hospital, Toronto.

Graduation Tea Held at Prince Of Wales School

On Friday afternoon at the Prince of Wales School, Thurlow, the pupils of the graduating class with their mothers were entertained at an afternoon tea in the primary room. Bouquets of early summer flowers with the white tea table in the centre transformed the room into a most attractive and delightful setting.

Mrs. Arthur Miles poured tea while the girls of grade seven served the guests with sandwiches and cake. During the latter part of the tea, Reuben Kline called the gathering to order and asked Richard Bashall to read an address to the school principal following which Wilma Lough presented Mr. Bird with a camera. In his reply he thanked the pupils for their kindness to him and told of his continued interest in their progress after graduation. He spoke of this year as being his twentieth year as principal of the school and remarked that there were exactly twenty pupils in the eighth grade.

In closing Mr. Bird thanked the mothers for attending the tea with their boys and girls and extended his sincere thanks to Miss Blue, Mrs. Hennesey and Mrs. Slack for organizing such a happy event.

Rev. P. Christensen Guest Speaker At Y.P.U. Banquet

On Wednesday evening John Randle welcomed a number of visitors to the annual Bridge St. Y.P.U. banquet, and acted as chairman for the following program—a rousing sing-song led by Miss Loretta McDougall, with Dana Cook at the piano. Mr. Harold McNish, a former Union member, contributed "A Perfect Day", and Donald Cook rendered a much appreciated piano solo, "Moonlight Sonata".

Donald Williams reminded Union members of the Moira Lake Camp project.

An inspirational and helpful message was delivered by Rev. Paul Christensen, who was introduced by Rev. D. C. Amos. Mr. Christensen advised that the young people faced with the problem of finding the Way of Life, would be wise to choose the Road to God. Marjorie Telford expressed appreciation to Mr. Christensen, on behalf of the Young People of the Union.

Rev. D. C. Amos pronounced a benediction, closing an evening of true Fellowship.

Fall Millinery To be on Level

By DOROTHY ROE

New York, (AP)— You're going to be level-headed next Fall.

That's the prediction of New York milliners who design medium-priced, mass - production headgear.

Current showings in the middle price bracket accent hats that sit level on the head, neither tilted over one eye nor worn perched on the back of the head.

Hats fit the head and also the hairdo. They are shown in muted fall tones of felt—copper brown, soft beige and a tone called "nostalgia green", which is a deep hunter's green.

Feathers are all over the place. Scarcely a hat shown in the advance fall previews is without a feather fancy, of some sort, ranging from small perky quills to trailing ostrich plumes.

The hats are romantic, after a fashion, and have a look of the elegant eighties about them. Small prim, firmly placed on the head, softened by veiling and decorated with feathers, they have a lady like manner.

There are no shockers among the hats shown by members of the Millinery Designers League which claims to turn out 85 per cent of the hats sold throughout America.

Without exception they are conservative and head-fitting; the kind of a hat that usually pleases a husband.

The drama in the perennial hat show will come a little later when the big-name designers show their collections. The great majority of women, who can't afford to pay $50 up for hats, will be guided by the current predictions, voiced thus by a spokesman for the group:

"No woman will be able to wear these hats on the back of her head, no matter how hard she tries. They're made to be worn straight—they're on the level."

Child Models in Demand in U.S.

New York (AP) — The child model business — sparked by doting mamas whose children are photogenic — is booming today.

An advertisement featuring a child at play, a gurgling baby or a mother-daughter combination has strong consumer pulling power. The teen-age girl model of the type that grandma called wholesome is in big demand to sell products in magazines and newspapers.

And thousands of mothers are willing to pay the expense of $50 or more to list their child with a recognized agency.

One man riding the crest of this newly expanding usiness is Walter Thornton, a veteran of the First World War who created the "pin up girl" of the Second World War. One day in 1940 Thornton dug about 5,000 photographs of girls out of the files of his famous model agency and shipped them to Fort Dix, New Jersey. The idea was a winner.

Thornton has been in the model agency business since 1931, but only in the last five or six years has he stressed child models. Today it accounts for 45 per cent of his business and is still expanding. He isn't the only one, of course, but he operates with more child models and over a wider field on a mass production basis than any other agency.

Thornton turns down 50 to 75 per cent of the 100 to 150 persons who apply weekly for their children to become models. The percentage varies with other agencies. However, your child doesn't have to be beautiful to make the grade. A youngster with unruly hair, a mass of freckles and one front tooth missing is a perfect picture of a real boy.

Acceptance a Start

If your child is accepted by an agency, your work is only beginning. A fee of $50 is charged by Thornton to cover advertising expense. You pay for the photographs, taken by any studio, but he won't accept a picture costing more than $10. That is the only fee and registration continues as long as the model is available for work.

Agencies send a selected group of photographs to clients who want to use them in their advertisements. Either that particular photograph is used, or the child itself is called in to pose.

Thornton has the photo purchaser send the fee directly to the model. He gets nothing. For posing, however, he collects a standard 10 per cent commission on earnings of $7.50 an hour to as high as $10 to $15 an hour. Children under one year are paid $10 an hour.

One 13-year-old model who has been working steadily since she was age two, had gross earnings of $10,000,000 last year. But there's a long list of models who don't make a dime.

Biggest users of models are mail order houses, magazines, department stores and manufacturers of nationally advertised products.

But the more money little Willie makes, the more money the agency makes. Thornton shoots at the mass market. He has around 1,400 child models registered and he sends their pictures individually and in a large catalogue to some 1,500 clients.

This year he is distributing his catalogue to the usual clients and also plans to sell it for $5 direct to advertisers who can select a photograph and pay the model direct. Thornton makes nothing from such sales. His profit if any after expenses, comes from the sale of the catalogue which he hopes to place with 5,000 to 6,000 firms annually.

Woman's Professional Work Need Not Conflict With Her Home Life

A professional woman need not try to be a man to make a success of her career stated Dr. Lily Mathieson of this city. Dignity, character, a sense of humor and competence are the outstanding virtues and any woman who has these should be able to take her place in the professional world with confidence.

If a woman remembers that she is a woman her place in the so-called man's world will not be disputed and a great deal of respect will be afforded her efforts.

A professional woman should have no difficulty in keeping up her home life if she is married; rather should her profession lend to her marriage if she is able to adapt her knowledge to everyday life.

Pride in Work

Dr. Mathieson feels that a woman with a profession might be happier with a man of the same profession, but should she choose as her husband someone in an entirely different field, she will find that he will be proud of the place she has taken in the community.

Dr. Mathieson is a member of the University Women's Club of this city whose aims are to further higher education among women and keep the university graduate who has become a homemaker in touch. A university education is an asset, she stated in that the concentrated education received during those years gives a woman an "inquiring mind". This education merely cuts down the years of experience she would need to come to perhaps the same conclusions about daily living and gives her, as an educated woman, a head start in the problems of life.

There are, however, she went on, many women of university calibre who have not had the opportunity to attend college, but who can quite easily develop an inquiring mind and in time accumulate experience and information which, when properly sifted through and intelligently analyzed, make her a well-informed, well adjusted happy and thoroughly normal woman.

Creative work is one of the best offsets for nerves, she said. "Take pleasure in the cakes you bake, the sewing that you do. Have at least one outside activity which will further the good of your community. Keep up with world affairs; take an interest in your husband's work and your mind will grow," she counselled.

Funds For Scholarship

Dr. Mathieson stated the University Women's Club has as its president, Miss E. Grout, director of Home Economics at the Belleville Collegiate. One of the primary aims of the association she stated is to raise $100 a year for a "student-aid" scholarship for a girl graduating from High School in the city. Her personality and scholastic record are taken into consideration. Naturally the girl to whom the money would be of greatest benefit is chosen. In order to raise this money the University Women's Club arranges teas and also sponsors amateur art exhibit in the Fall, at which prizes for the best work are given. "Penal Reforms". Well informed year with a definite objective in mind. This year's objective was "Penal Reforms". Well nformed speakers were chosen to outline this objective.

Women of India Gain New Status by Proposed Act

New Delhi (Reuters)—Women have won a big victory in the new draft Hindu Code—so much so that one member of the Indian parliament suggested recently that it be called "Hindu Women's Code" instead of the "Hindu Code."

If the present draft bill, sponsored by the law minister, Dr. Bhimrao Ramji Ambedkar, becomes law, this is what the Hindu woman, regarded in practice and assumed hitherto in law as the property of her husband, will gain:

1. Her husband will not be able to take another wife while she is living. (Polygamy is recognized in Hindu law although in practice economic factors and "enlightened conscience" severely restrict its exercise).

2. She will be able to claim separate maintenance from her husband if he is suffering from a loathsome disease, keeps a concubine, is guilty of cruelty, has abandoned her for two years or has changed his religion, and if there is any other cause justurying her living separately. (Hitherto under the provisions of Hindu law, a wife has not been entitled to claim maintenance from her husband if she does not live with him in his house.

3. The property which is given her by her parents as a dowry on her marriage will be treated as trust property and she will be entitled to claim it when she comes to the age of 18, so that neither her husband nor the relations of her husband will have any interest in that property nor will they have any opportunity to waste it and make her helpless for the rest of her life.

4. She is given a share in the property of her father if he dies intestate. Her share is prescribed as half of that of the son.

5. If she has a right to inherit property, she gets it by reason of the fact that she is declared to be an heir irrespective of any other considerations. (Under the existing law, discrimination is made in circumstances at the testator, whether she is married or unmarried, or whether she is with issue or without issue. The present bill abolishes all these considerations).

6. Under existing Hindu law where she inherits property from a female relative dying intestate, she gets only what is called a "life estate." She can enjoy the income of the property but cannot deal with the "corpus" of the property except for legal necessity. The bill converts this limited estate into an absolute estate as in the case of the male heir.

These "concessions" to the Hindu woman represented only a small, although vital part of the draft code.

While the existing law recognizes only "sacramental" marriage or marriage performed according to Hindu scriptural rites, the draft code recognizes both "sacramental" and "civil" or "registered" marriages.

The code dispenses with the condition that there must be identity of caste and sub-caste for a valid sacramental marriage and lays it down that marriage will be valid irrespective of the caste or subcaste of the parties entering into the marriage.

The sacramental marriage under the existing law is indissoluble. There can be no divorce. The draft code makes a new departure by making provisions for the dissolution of marriage and specifies seven grounds on which divorce can be obtained.

Women's Activities

MARMORA C.W.L.

Marmora.—The June meeting of the Catholic Women's League was held at the Summer home of Mrs. Teresa Warren, at Crowe Lake on Wednesday. Meeting opened in the usual manner with the President, Mrs. Charles Cook in the chair. After the correspondence was dealt with, the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Carl Heath. It was decided that the president, Mrs. Cook and the past president, Mrs. Black would be delegates to the Diocesan Convention to be held in Prescott at the end of the month. The president announced that there would be no meetings in July or August, but urged the conveners of the groups to take means of raising funds for the League during the summer month. The convener of each branch was requested by the president to prepare a paper on her convenership for the September meeting. It was decided to send a cable of congratulation to Rev. H. J. Farrell, now in Ireland on the anniversary this month of his ordination to the priesthood. Rev. Father Pickett then addressed the meeting and gave a most interesting talk on "Catholic Women".

The president presented Mrs. Warren with a gift in appreciation of her hospitality in lending her cottage for the meeting.

A discussion was then held and arrangements made for a strawberry social to be held on the church grounds on next Tuesday evening. Group 3 was requested to furnish the refreshments for the September meeting.

A few games were played after which delicious refreshments were served by Groups 1 and 2, and the meeting adjourned.

JOHNSTOWN W.A.

The Johnstown W.A. met at the home of Mrs. G. C. and Mrs. Earl Stickle for the June meeting.

The tenth chapter of Matthew was read by Mrs. Earl Stickle, Mr. Clarke offered prayer.

A piano solo was given by Mrs. Glenn Stickle and a duet was sung by Mrs. C. Curtis and Mrs. E. Bush.

Mr. Morley Clark gave a very interesting and inspiring address on Home Missions and a special collection was taken for the M. and M. Fund.

An invitation from White's W.A. to visit them at their meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Sandercock was accepted.

Plans were made for holding a supper at which the main feature is to be strawberry shortcake.

The meeting closed with the benediction after which refreshments were served.

ST. JOHN'S W.A.

Tweed—The June meeting of St. John's United Church W.A., was held Thursday afternoon in the church basement with 26 members present, the president in charge of opening exercises which included Scripture lesson read by Mrs. Sisco and prayer by Mrs. Barnett. Mrs. Chas. Ketcheson, Mrs. Harold Foster and Miss Margaret Kerr gave short reading on "Trees, God's Great Gift to Man", and Mrs. C. Sharpe sang the poem "Trees", by Joyce Kilmer.

Several items of business were discussed. It was decided to hold an ice cream and strawberry social on the church lawn.

The W.A. meeting of July and August will be suspended. The Mizpah benediction closed the meeting.

ST. PAUL'S W.M.S.

Stirling.—The members of St. Paul's W.M.S. met on Thursday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. E. G. Bailey, who conducted a short devotional service and the business. The Stewardship secretary gave an interesting reading "That is Not Mine." Mrs. Barker reported for the Mission Band and announced that Springbrook Band members will be local visitors this month. Mrs. H. David reported on Temperance, giving some resolutions made by the Dominion Board. Literature and Community Friendship secretaries reported, the latter saying that 20 calls were made during the month.

Mrs. George Pollard and committee presented the program based on the theme "Co-operation". Mrs. C. Wright read the Scripture lesson from 2nd Corinthians, and Mrs. W. Elliott commented on same. A dramatization portraying the work of student missionaries was given by the following cast—Mother, Mrs. R. B. Duffin; daughter, Mrs. W. T. Elliott, and Student Missionaries, Mrs. R. Barker, Mrs. Harold Wells, Mrs. M. West and Mrs. A. Armstrong.

Mrs. Earl Bailey introduced Mrs. Albert Empey, president of Belleville Presbyterial, who addressed the meeting on the subject of "Christian Stewardship", saying. "Stewardship is the giving of ourselves, our time, talents and possessions, to God. We need to pray more, and read our Bibles oftener, and as we read we must be ready to accept all of it. Too many of us just sort out the things we want to accept, and discard the other truths, which may prick our consciences". Mrs. Empey quoted many verses from the Bible pertaining to stewardship. "Each of us", she said, "finds time for the things we really want to do, so let us really want to take time to become good stewards."

Mrs. W. Jones offered the closing prayer, and dainty refreshments were served by the group in charge. Mrs. A. Armstrong expressed gratitude to Mrs. Bailey, to Mrs. Empey and to the program committee, all of whom assisted in making the afternoon both profitable and pleasant.

FOXBORO GUILD AND W.M.S.

The June meeting of the Ladies' Guild and the W.M.S. of Foxboro Presbyterian Church was held in the home of Mrs. Charles Bailey, Wednesday after noon, with eleven members present. Mrs. MacMillan presided. Four passages of Scripture were read by different ladies covering the theme of "The Great Commission", and Mrs. MacMillan offered prayer.

During the business period plans were made for the annual bazaar to be held in November. Members were asked to bring church literature and other good reading material to the next meeting to be forwarded to hospitals and mining camps. Miss Lena Watt invited the ladies to her home for the July meeting. It was decided that the Guild treasurer give $80 to the church treasurer. Proceeds from the recent sale of home cooking were $26.37.

Mrs. MacMillan reviewed a chapter "The Great Commission" from the study book. The hostess served homemade candy and a social time was enjoyed before the meeting adjourned.

MT. PLEASANT W.M.S.

Rawdon.—The June meeting of Mount Pleasant Rawdon's Woman's Missionary Society was held in the church on Wednesday with twelve members and five visitors present.

Mrs. John Holmes presided and Mrs. Burton Sharp was pianist. The treasurer reported $17 for May. The corresponding secretary read a letter of thanks and an invitation to visit Bethel W.A. was accepted. The Supply Secretary reported the gift of a quilt.

The Baby Band Mission Band and mothers will be entertained at the July meeting.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen opened the worship service with a poem. Mrs. Marguerite McMullen sang "Over the Way" and Miss Doris Sine read the Bible lesson. Mrs. MacMullen based her devotional paper on the 23rd psalm and pictured Life's journey, where the Soul travels unafraid until the Father's eternal home is reached.

Mrs. Bert Jeffs gave a Temperance message on "The dangers of using alcoholic liquors" and read two short stories.

Mrs. Kenneth Weaver synopsized the closing chapters of the study books which dealt with "Translators for Tomorrow", telling how twenty-three college graduates trained in the jungles of Southern Mexico in order to carry the Bible to the long neglected Indian people. "My words shall not pass away", is the story of a colporteur, who left a single copy of the Bible in a small village in Poland and found, when he returned that most of the two hundred villagers had committed the whole Bible to memory.

The messages of the Bible are always needed and mankind must never forget that there will be a Kingdom where the last shall be heard and considered side by side with the greatest.

BETHANY W.M.S.-W.A.

Mrs. David Martin opened her home for the June meeting of Bethany W.M.S. and W.A. on Thursday. A quilt was completed and a pot luck dinner enjoyed at the noon hour. It was decided that the W.A. hold an ice cream and strawberry social in the near future.

The W.M.S. president conducted the auxiliary meeting opening with quiet music played by Mrs. Eggleton. Seventeen members and four visitors were present. Mrs. C. Eggleton offered her home for the next meeting. A letter of thanks from Mrs. H. McPherson for flowers received during her illness, was read. Mrs. G. Sills was appointed group leader for the coming month.

Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. George Sills, from the 25th chapter of St. Matthew's gospel. Mrs. S. Cooley conducted the remaining program. Short readings were given by Messrs. Cooley and Grant Cole. Miss Hazel Tummon also read an interesting article. A much appreciated solo was contributed by Mrs. R. Ritz "Jesus Remembers When the World Forgets". The two final chapters of the study book were given and Mrs. Trumpour closed the meeting with prayer.

AVONDALE NEIGHBORS' AID

The June meeting of the Avondale Neighbors' Aid was held on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. K. Bird.

There were twenty members and six visitors present. Mrs. A. Daniels was in charge. Various reports were presented and several items of business discussed. Plans were completed for the July meeting, which will take the form of a picnic, at the home of a former member, who now resides in Wellington.

A poem was read by Mrs. Daniels and the meeting closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Mrs. H. Wright and Mrs. W. Denyes were in charge of the entertainment. After a humorous reading given by Mrs. M. Robson, games were enjoyed. The prize winners were numerous and each one was allowed to choose her prize from a container which held mysterious and gaily wrapped packages. This added interest and enjoyment to the game.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. C. Holmes and Mrs. H. Little assisted by the hostess.

Mrs. C. Ling moved a vote of thanks to Mrs. Bird for opening her home.

New Radios Boon To Lonely Women

By LESLIE BRODIE

Sydney, Australia — (CP) — Women of Australia's outback will soon be able to gossip with their neighbors hundreds of miles away.

The Flying Doctor service is installing new radio transmitting sets in the lonely home of the far west. These new radio transmitters costing $350 have been made specially for them in Adelaide.

They will do away with the old pedal wireless sets that have served the outback for many years.

In its early days the Flying Doctor network was used only for medical calls, but as the number of links increased it was used by the homesteaders as a means of communicating with one another and exchanging news.

Dr. A. R. U. Vickers, flying doctor operating from the Charleville, Queensland base, told a reporter that in the old days when the sets were generated by bicycle pedals the men knew the women would stop talking when they got tired of pushing the pedals.

"Now with the modern vibrator sets they say the women never stop talking — because their tongues never get tired," added Dr. Vickers.

With the new units there is no limit to the number of talkers who take the air. Most popular time is around about 5.30 p. m. when they settle down for about an hour to discuss the news from the homesteads scattered over thousands of square miles.

A memorial cairn is being erected to the founder of the Flying Doctor Services, Rev. Doctor John Flynn. The simple memorial to commemorate "the best loved man of the interior" will stand in solitude on the middle of a sun-baked arid plain in central Australia.

ONTARIO GOLF QUEEN—Mrs. Cecil Gooderham of the Toronto Club, one of Canada's outstanding golfers, yesterday won the Ontario Ladies' championship by defeating Mrs. C. H. Shuttleworth of Hamilton Glendale at the 22nd hole. Here Mrs. Gooderham, a four-time winner, receives the coveted cup from Charles S. Watson, well-known sportsman and vice-president of the host, St. George's Club. The presentation of the cup and other prizes took place in the clubhouse following windup of the five-day tourney yesterday afternoon.

Flyers Nudge Picton 5-4 In Close Battle

Pushing across one run in the bottom of the ninth the RCAF Flyers downed the Picton Athletics 5-4 in a Belleville Baseball League game at the Fair Grounds last evening to snatch their third win of the current campaign.

The airforce started big Fred Titus and the righthander was working well until the seventh inning when he threw his arm out trying to nab Duetta off second. Titus seems to be plagued with ill luck and the misfortune that has befallen him in former years seems to be dogging his footsteps again this season. It was his first start for the airmen and he looked like a cinch to win. As it was he was followed by Dunning who in turn gave way to Laing in the eighth and the victory was ultimately credited to Laing although he faced only four batters.

The Flyers scored their first run in the bottom of the second inning as Wade went all the way to third on two errors. Hornsby's single brought him in. The airmen counted again in the third as Gagnier got on on an error and came in on Dunning's timely double to deep left field.

Picton Threatens in 2nd

Picton threatened to score in the second as they loaded the bases with no one down. Dyer drove a scorching liner to the second baseman who caught the runner streaking back from third. Duetta on third broke for the plate but barely managed to scamper safely back to third as the Flyers tried for a triple play. Dobson went down short to first to retire the side.

Picton counted in the fourth as Duetta got a life on a shortstop's error. He stole second and came in as the catcher muffed Dyer's bingle.

miscued on Laing's grounder past second base.

It was a thriller for the goodly sized crowd, many of whom were ardent Picton supporters.

Dyer pitched well for the losers, striking out seven, walking none, and giving up 11 safeties for five runs over the nine in-

In the fourth Maracle singled and went to third as Hornsby doubled. Titus' single to deep left field drove in the two runs. Dyer held the Flyers scoreless from the fifth until the last of the ninth as his mates steadied behind him.

The Athletics counted once in the seventh on a single and three walks and they tied the ball game in the eighth on two hits and a Flyer error. Dunning who had relieved Titus in the seventh went out as Laing came in to stop the rally. McDonald grounded out short to first to retire the side.

With two men away in the 9th Robertson and Gagnier singled. Robertson went to third on a dropped ball and came home with the winning marker as McDonald nings canto. The airmen used 3 pitchers with Titus striking out five, walking one, and allowing 4 scattered safeties for two runs over six innings. Reliefer Dunning walked three and gave up two runs in the one and two-third innings he worked and winning pitcher Laing gave up no hits, no walks, and no runs during his one and one third inning stint.

Locke Takes Nine-Stroke Lead At Halfway Mark

Chicago, June 19 (AP)—Bobby Locke's magic wand, a rusty, hickory shafted putter — has cast its spell again over the professional golfers.

The South African, who will return home this fall rather than compete on the United States winter circuit, today entered the third round of the $15,000 Chicago Victory Golf Tournament with a nine-stroke edge on the field. Locke carved a 65, six under par, on the 6,587 yard Milothian course, yesterday to post a halfway tally of 130. He also had a 65 on opening day, breaking the 10 year old course record by a stroke.

The 12 under par 130 tally tied the record 36 hole low posted in P.G.A. sponsored tournaments.

Locke required a total of 50 strokes 25 each round, on the greens. He one putted 18 of the tricky, sliding carpets, two-putted 16 and chipped in from the fringe on two others without putting. A nominal two putts per green, or a total of 72 for 36 holes is considered standard.

Nine strokes behind Locke was Clayton Heafner of Charlotte, N. C., with 70-69—139. He was followed at 141 by Errie Ball of Chicago and Skip Alexander of Legington N.C. Grouped at even par 142 were Jackson Bradley, Jim Ferrier, Dick Metz, Ed Furgol and Johnny Bulla.

Mrs. C. Gooderham Wins Fourth Ont. Golf Title

Toronto, June 19 — (CP)—Mrs. Cecil E. Gooderham of Toronto has won the Ontario Ladies' golf championship for the fourth time.

She took the 1948 championship yesterday at St. Georges Club at suburban Islington by edging Mrs. C. H. Shuttleworth of Hamilton in a spectacular final match that required four extra holes.

It was the second successive year extra holes were played. Ada Mackenzie of Toronto last year defeated Mrs. M. H. Curer of St. George's at the 19th hole to win the title. Miss Mackenzie was eliminated by Mrs. Gooderham in yesterday's semi-finals.

In the secondary final of the 33rd, five-day tourney, Mrs. J. B. Seawright of suburban Scarboro defeated the colorful Miss Jo Anna of the Lookout Point Club, Welland, to win the championship consolation.

Miss Anna — in "new look" ballerina skirt and broadbrimmed hat — and Mrs. Seawright waged a tight battle. Mrs. Seawright was three down in early stages but came up from behind to square the match.

The end came when Miss Anna missed a long putt on the 18th and conceded.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

BY GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

According to a letter received today from Oscar Pierce, Trenton, Ontario Softball Association executive member, a disgraceful affair took place at Point Anne the other night following the game between the Canada Cement team and Wooler. Pierce states that Umpire A. Ethier, of Trenton, lodged a complaint with him following "the action of certain hoodlums."

• • •

Pierce goes on, "Ethier was the umpire behind the plate. In the top half of the tenth the runner on third came home with what proved to be the winning run on a throw-in from right field. The play at the plate was close and the runner was declared safe by the umpire, as in his judgment the catcher failed to tag the sliding runner. At the conclusion of the game a group of hoodlums began throwing stones at Ethier. While he was not hit, several dents were put in the body of his new car and one stone hit Ethier's wife in the face, but fortunately caused no injury as it was a glancing blow. No attempt was made on the part of any member of the Point Anne team or of the fans present to quell such unwarranted rowdyism nor was any attempt whatsoever given by way of protection to the umpire."

• • •

The above is a copy of a letter sent by Pierce to Frank Feaver, Secretary of the OASA, Hamilton. The charges included are serious and the OASA will likely take some action on the matter. The Lakeshore Softball League executive has called a special meeting for Tuesday night to inquire into the charges and the surrounding circumstances. The meeting will be held in Trenton at which the umpire in question and OASA executive member Pierce will be present.

• • •

The above-mentioned incident has happened at an inopportune time. Softball, which nearly died a lingering death during the last few years made a spirited comeback effort in this district this year with the formation of the Lakeshore Softball League It appears to be on the come-back trail but disgusting incidents on the part of a gang of "hoodlums" as they are called does not do the game any good.

• • •

Fans like spirited action in any kind of sport. The occasional fight is welcomed by the fans. Arguments in baseball and softball lend color to already colorful games. But rank rowdyism where an official is attacked by rabid hot-headed partisan fans should not, and will not be tolerated.

• • •

We know the majority of the Point Anne softball team personally. They are fine sportsmen and fine athletes who have proven they can take defeat in a sportsmanlike manner. We do not believe the Point Anne team had any part in the proceedings, nor that they would tolerate such hoodlum tactics. However someone apparently has been at fault. Surely there are officials up there, or fair-minded fans who could at least have stepped in and stopped the alleged stoning of the official mentioned.

• • •

The affair, if proven as charged, will not add to the popularity of the Point as an athletic community nor to the prestige of its supporters as sportsmen. We do not hold any brief for Umpire Ethier. In fact we know him by sight and that is all. But the point is, he was in charge of the game, called the play as he saw it, according to evidence, and was the victim of an unprovoked attack by Point Anne fans. And we believe that those involved do not represent Point Anne fandom as a whole.

• • •

If softball is to continue as one of Point Anne's major sports, and if the fans expect to see outside teams come to their village to play, some action to safeguard the persons and properties of visiting players and officials should be taken. We understand there is a police and fire department in the village, and these could be enlisted to keep law and order insofar as games with outside teams are concerned.

• • •

According to the Royal Golf Association, the Seagram Cup emblematic of golfing supremacy in Canada, will be available by the time the Canadian Open tees off. However, at the present time the trophy is reposing peacefully in a Montreal Customs office for the simple reason no one has the keys to open the case.

• • •

Bobby Locke, South African plus-foured links ace, won the mug last year, and as was the right took it to his native South Africa to show the home town boys what he won up here, besides plenty of American and Canadian dollars.

• • •

As is the custom the Seagram Trophy was shipped back to Canada for competition this year. There are two sets of keys to the locks of the trophy case. One was shipped separately to Canada while the other is in the pocket of a man who left Canada for South Africa last summer, but who was sidetracked and has been travelling about Europe since. Meanwhile the customs officials won't release the box because they can't look inside it.

• • •

A simple solution of the matter is to let the case remain where it is, without any further bother. For in our opinion the hon. Mr. Locke will repeat his victory, and it merely means shipping the mug back again. . . . .

• • •

CANADIAN SPORT SNAPSHOTS

By KEN JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, June 19 (CP)—Bobby Locke, the South African wonder man of golf, has won another supporter who boosts him as favorite to win the Canadian open at Vancouver next Sept. 22-25.

George (Belleville Intelligencer) Carver says Locke will be hard to beat when he defends his title in the Canadian golfing classic.

Says Carver: "Locke, whose 16-below-par win at Toronto Scarboro last year made him the first man to take the Seagram Golf Cup outside North America, has been playing his usual excellent golf throughout a winter of campaigning in the United States. He's a definite entry to defend his title and the gold cup over the Shaughnessy Heights course at Vancouver."

Thinks Morton Rates

Laurie (Galt Reporter) Brain does his bit for Ab Morton, Galt's top-notch marathoner.

Admitting that Gerard Cote of St. Hyacinthe, Que., will no doubt get the No. 1 Olympic berth for Canada, Laurie still thinks that Morton, who finished fourth in the recent marathon trial at Hamilton, should gain a berth. Eyeing a rumor that Ab will be the third man on the team, Brain says:

"It will be a rank injustice to the game little Galt galloper if he is ignored."

A bad case of stomach cramps threw Morton off the pace at Hamilton, he adds.

"Morton's terrific success last season when he captured the first two official marathon trials, beating both Cote and (Walter) Fedorick (of Hamilton) in the process, should not be ignored," Laurie writes.

Sport Shorts From Britain

By ALAN HARVEY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, June 19 (CP)—Sweet peas and petunias bloom in a London site today because of a woman novelist's faith in a fleet filly.

The novelist, Miss Noel Streatfeild, collected £60 ($240) when Sheila's Cottage, defying 50-1 odds, won the 1948 Grand National at Aintree. Miss Streatfeild invisted the proceeds in beautifying the bombed site, near her Elizabeth Street apartment in Belgravia.

For three weeks, she gave every spare moment to clearing debris from the site. Amused and admiring neighbors watched as she made space for a garden in the shattered cellars of what once was a hotel.

Soil was "imported" from Surrey at £5 a load. Water was carried from a nearby house. Late in May the first results appeared—sweet peas, petunias and nasturtiums. Later snapdragons, stocks and chrysanthemums will be seen.

Miss Streathfeild argues that bombed sites are "depressing." People with a feeling for gardening, she says, should do something about it.

The test Cricket matches between England and Australia have the experts guessing. England hasn't won the Ashes since 1926 and the popular odds are 2-1 that she won't do it this time.

English spirits were given a lift in a recent match when 19-year-old Malcolm Hilton of Lancashire, left-hand spin bowler, twice bowled Australia's mighty Don Bradman. London newspapers played the story on page one, gave it all the sentimental trimmings—including, among other things, that Hilton's financee was in the stands the second time Bradman was retired.

The gossip columnist of the Evening Standard hints that a painless way of avoiding income tax has been found—in the royal and ancient game of gold. Members of one club, the columnist says, play each other for £500 a round, some of the money probably representing black market profits.

Depositing £500 in a bank might cause some eye-brow lifting in these austerity days, but the golfers get around that by explaining, if questioned, that the money comes from golfing bets. Money won in gambling is tax-free.

Norwich, England (CP) — Farmers who lease land from the Air Ministry on licence and do not know whether they will be "here today and gone tomorrow" are asking for security of tenure to obtain maximum production.

LIZARDS' TRUSTEE

Sydney, Australia — (CP) — A solicitor has accepted the trusteeship of 60 lizards belonging to a friends who died, because of an interest in the study of reptiles. He has grappled with 20-foot pythons, so the lizzards are no problem.

Stan Musial's Big Bludgeon Sparks St. Louis Cardinals In Drive for Top Position

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Stan Musial is on the warpath again and the fortunes of St. Louis Cardinals are rising in the National League pennant race.

The Donora, Pa., clouter has hit safely in 10 of his last 11 official trips to the plate to boost his league-leading batting mark to .405. His terrific hitting has sparked the Cardinals to three straight victories.

In addition to pacing the circuit in batting, Musial is in the running for every other important individual offensive honor. He leads the league in runs scored, hits, and triples.

Musial went three-for-four Friday as the Cards outslugged the Giants 12-8 in New York. Howie Pollett handed Giants their fifth straight defeat.

The fleet outfielder entered the game boasting a string of seven straight hits. He singled in his first trip to make it eight in a row, filed out in his second, singled in his third, homered in his fourth and walked in his final.

The third-place Cardinals remained 1 ½ games off the pace of the front-running Boston, who came from behind and nosed out Cincinnati Reds 5-4.

The second - place Pittsburgh Pirates turned back the Phillies 2-0 to remain a half game behind the Braves. Elmer Riddle limited the Phils to five safeties for his eighth victory.

Chicago Cubs scored four runs in the eighth to overcome a 4-2 deficit and went on to beat the Dodgers 6-4.

All activity in the American League took place at night. The second-place Philadelphia Athletics nipped the first-place Cleveland Indians 5-4 to pull to within a game of the tribe. St. Louis Browns edged New York Yankees 2-1 and Chicago White Sox beat Washington Senators 5-2.

At Cleveland, the A's came from behind and scored twice in the seventh inning when Bob Lemon, fourth Cleveland pitcher, walked Sam Chapman and Rudy York with the bases loaded.

In a well-pitched game at St. Louis, Cliff Fannin held the Yankees to three hits. Tommy Henrich homered for the lone Yankee marker in the sixth. Frank Shea was the losing pitcher.

Kingston Ponies Trim Buds 5-3

Kingston, June 19. —Kingston Ponies turned back the Geneva Red Birds by 5 to 3 here last night and won the series 3 to 1.

Bob Hingst, hurling for the locals, threw a neat four-hitter and spaced the safeties through three innings. In the fourth and fifth frames, Hingst struck out five batsmen, the last three in succession. He issued only three walks in registering his third victory of the campaign.

Ponies collected 12 safeties at the expense of Clyt Therault and in their collection were doubles by Joey Perez and Scotty O'Neill and a triple by Bill Reardon.

Corbys Rally To Defeat Belle Glass 13-12

Leading the ball game by six runs going into the bottom of the sixth inning the hapless Belleview Glass nine came apart at the seams and Corbys poured 9 runs across in the last two frames to win the ball game in the bottom of the seventh 13-12. It was the third straight setback for the Glass, and Corby's second win.

Both teams showed plenty of power at the plate with each side collecting an even dozen hits. Corbys opened the scoring in the bottom of the first inning as Mills who got on an error came in after a single and two walks. With the bases loaded and two men down Fraser struck out and the catcher dropped the ball. He immediately stepped on home plate as the runner from third was forced.

A home run by Kimmett into deep centre field was the only counter for the Glass in the second. Corbys counted three in their end of the second on two walks and three hits. Belleview Glass came back in the third to even the score, getting three runs on two doubles and two singles.

The Belleview bats went to work in the fourth to pile up 3 more runs on doubles by Ross Empy and pitcher Joe Barnhart. The Glass pushed another run over in the fifth and two more in the sixth.

Corbys were six runs down going into their end of the sixth but three singles, two errors, and a passed ball gave them four runs. A walk and two hits netted the Glass nine, two more in their half of the seventh and Corbys came to bat needing five runs to win. Wagar led off the seventh with a homer to left field. Two hits, an error and a fielder's choice counted three more for Corbys and with the score all tied up and a runner on third with no one away A. Empy came in to relieve Barnhart.

Corby catcher Storms took the second pitch and blasted it to deep left field where it was taken for the first out. The runner on third beat the throw to the plate and the ball game was over.

Losing pitcher Barnhart pitched six innings striking out five, walking five, and giving up 12 hits for 13 runs. K. Baldwin went the route for Corbys striking out 16, walking four, and giving up 12 hits for twelve runs. Baldwin and Hunter batted three for five for the winners.

Line-ups:

Belleview Glass: L. Carr 3b; Arnott ss; Barnhart, p and cf; B. Coates 1b; K. Kimmett lf; A. Empy cf and p; Means 2b; R. Empy c; A. Bourett rf.

Bookie Trims Blue Blood At Ascot Meet

London, June 19. (AP)—Britain's blue blood horse players were gone from fashionable Ascot today with nothing in their pockets and regrets in their hearts. The bookies trimmed them all.

Throughout the four-day Royal Ascot meeting, the long shots rolled home with a monotony that brought smiles to the round, red faces of the bookmakers and frowns to the society bettors.

There was a record turnover of £1,000,000 ($4,000,000) on the pari-mutuels, a figure never before touched in British racing.

Solunar Tables:

The Character of the Rise

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solunar Tables)

One of the fascinating things about fishing is the uniformity of the pattern of behavior of all of the fish in a given area at any given time. Usually, if you look closely enough into the matter of probable causes, you can find the reason or reasons for the way the fish conduct their daily affairs. After all, fish are not thinking creatures. They react entirely according to the dictates of nature. If they had even one grain of sense or reasoning power we wouldn't be able to catch them with the methods we use.

We know why fish do a great many things and we are learning more about them each year. There is still much to learn, but we are adding gradually to our fund of information. Rather recently we have learned that barometric trends have considerable bearing upon what fish do. How they know whether the glass is rising or falling has yet to be determined but the fact remains that they do know and that they shape their behavior accordingly.

Different Behavior

One evidence of this typical uniformity of behavior is what might be called, for want of a better term, the character of the rise. You have noticed that on some days the fish will take a lure with a savage, smashing strike that sends tingles all along your spine. On other days they take slowly and methodically, usually with a slow head-and-shoulder roll. And, quite characteristically, they all go about things in exactly the same way.

While a "smash rise" is a thriller without question, my preference would be to get along without this dubious pleasure. Usually a fish that smashes at a lure is a lightly hooked fish. Conversely, if the fish takes with an unhurried rise, nine times out of ten he is deeply and solidly hooked.

Rules Difficult to Set

Of course, it is always dangerous to set up hard-and-fast rules of fish behavior. Just when you have things nicely settled to your own satisfaction, they come up with a new and unexpected quirk that completely upsets the apple cart. However, I think that it is safe to say this. Fish that are feeding steadily or that are ready to feed in case an easy meal puts in its appearance usually take with an easy, confident roll which means that your lure is fairly and solidly taken. Smash rises, on the other hand, usually are from fish that are not actively on the feed. Thus, the strike is a frantic, hurried, spur-of-the-moment affair that results more often than not, in a lightly hooked or a lost fish.

It is in the anticipation of just this sort of behavior that your Solunar Tables come in so very handy. Solunar Periods are the normal, natural feeding times. If conditions are favorable, the fish conforms to a set pattern of behavior at these times. The smash strike is a rarity during Solunar Periods with the result that most of the fish that you take are deeply and solidly hooked.

So once more let me urge you to plan your days in the open with the aid of the Solunar Tables. Believe me, it pays big dividends in sport.

Solunar Periods

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

The days given are for June 20th to June 27th inclusive. All times D.S.T.

Three Homers In Second Mark Kiwanis Jrs. Win

Following their Wednesday 5-2 victory over the RCAF, Belleville Kiwanis Juniors maintained their undefeated record last night, defeating the Wellington baseball team 10-1 in an exhibition game in the lakeside village.

Kiwanis used Joe Nolan and Don Semark on the mound with Russ Soules doing the receiving. Alex Tait and Mac Green did the pitching duties for the village squad and were touched plentifully by the Belleville bats.

Galbraith, Lockyer and Donovan hit home runs for the Kiwanis in a heavy second-inning splurge.

Art Wright, Kiwanis pitcher, finished the game for the village crew, allowing only one run.

Million-Dollar Gate May Greet Battle of "Joes"

New York, June 19. —Sol Strauss, acting promoter of the 20th Century Sporting Club, announced tonight that the advance sale for Wednesday's Yankee Stadium heavyweight title fight between champion Joe Louis and challenger Joe Walcott had reached $700,000.

The advance sale indicated a gate of between $800,000 and $1,000,000 and this amount, plus the profits from motion picture, radio and television rights, will lift the gross receipts well above the $1,000,000 mark, Strauss said.

He said the movie rights would total $500,000 and that the radio and television fees would add another $100,000. A crowd of between 50,000 and 35,000 was expected.

Betting prices dropped from 14 to 5 down to 12 to 5 in favor of Louis in man-to-man wagering today. Bookies were offering 6 to 5 that Louis would not win by a knockout and 3 1-2 to 1 against Walcott winning by a knockout.

The purport of a lead should not be overlooked. Its meaning you should heed before your goose is cooked. The slightest kind of hint your braincells fail to stress may be a needed link to bind you to success.

Say you are south as declarer at six no-trump in this deal.

NORTH
♠K 5 2
♥Q 6 5
♦A K 4 3
♣A Q 10

WEST	EAST
♠Q J 9 8 4	♠7 6
♥J 9	♥10 7 4 3 2
♦J 9 7 2	♦10

SOUTH
♠A 10 3
♥A K 8
♦Q 8 6 5
♣K J 9

Opening lead from west is spade queen. Does it have any meaning that may do you some future good? Could be. Study what it tells you.

A queen seldom starts unless it is in sequence; Q J 10 or Q J 9. Could be, of course, that a player may open with it in a combination that is phony. But it is not likely in such a spot.

In any case, declarer should at least consider what the opening lead may show. Your south hand has the ten of spades. So, count west for the jack and nine. Revise your reckoning later, if necessary.

If he has the jack it matters not whether you take trick one with dummy king or south ace. But if east happens to have the jack, it may be safer to use dummy king first. Do so.

If diamonds break, your 12 tricks are easy. So, start cashing tops in that suit. Very soon you learn that west has a diamond trick. Therefore, you dare not lose a trick in spades.

To see what else west may be holding, take three clubs and three hearts. Then take three diamonds. On the third round you see that he has left only one diamond and nothing else but spades.

If you can get him to lead a spade from jack and nine, it will run to your south ace and ten. With a spade lead from west, even if east has the jack your south combination will take both tricks.

So, lead your fourth diamond and throw west in. He must now come back a spade. You can sit back and wait with the web you have spun.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, June 19. (AP) — Today's movie stars have taken a tip from the frequent news stories of former film favorites who died broke.

Stars of a previous generation were fabled for making and spending millions. Many of them ended on skid row or in homes for aged actors. To guard against such a fate, present-day stars are investing their earnings in businesses that will provide for them after their faces have lost their draw at the box-office.

Most popular investments of the stars are ranches, which provide recreation and often (but not always) profit. Gary Cooper owns a shooting lodge and dude ranch in Idaho and Sydney Greenstreet backs a hop farm in Britain. Cattle ranchers include Joe McCrea, Fred MacMurray, Walter Brennan, Ginger Rogers and Victor McLaglen.

But Hollywood's stellar capitalists don't stop there. Jimmy Durante has started a music publishing business. Humphrey Bogart has profited on his sea-going hobby of manufacturing aluminum dinghies. Fred Astaire has a flock of dance studios and a money-making horse, Triplicate.

Anita Louise and her husband operate a string of theatres. Dick Powell runs a correspondence flying lessons outfit and manufactures ice boxes. Andy Devine and Frances Langford-Jon Hall operate flying schools. June Haver, Paulette Goddard-Burgess Meredith and Kathryn Grayson-Johnny Johnston have furniture and antique stores.

Roy Rogers earns over $200,000 a year by endorsing 41 different products like belts and cowboy outfits. Others: Red Skelton, apartmnets; Lew Ayres, lending library; Constance Bennett, cosmetics; Brian Donlevy, gold mine; Maureen O'Sullivan, kid furniture; Bob Cummings, hardware store; John Wayne, parlor games.

Bears, Redwings Stage Fifteen Innings Tie

Jack Banta's poorest pitching performance of the season came at a very inopportune moment as far as the hard-throwing right-hander of Montreal Royals is concerned.

Strikeout and shutout king of the International League in 1947, Banta had posted seven straight victories for the front-running Royals going into last night's game with Syracuse Chiefs.

Manager Leo Durocher and three of his coaches from the parent Brooklyn Dodgers were on hand to watch Banta strut his stuff.

For five innings Banta lived up to his reputation but the Chiefs caved the roof in on him in sixth, scoring seven times on six hits, a pair of walks and an error to walk off with an 8-5 victory.

The loss cut the Royals margin to a half game over the runner-up Newark Bears who fought Rochester Red Wings to a 4-4 15-inning tie.

Rochester jumped on Bob Porterfield for four runs in the first four innings, knocking Porterfield out of the game with three runs in the fourth. The Bears came back with three in the sixth against Johnny Mikan and one in the eighth to send it into overtime.

Max Surkont, who entered the game in the sixth, went the rest of the way for Rochester while Frank Lamanna, who took over in the ninth, finished up for the Bears.

The game was called because of a circuit ruling that prohibits the start of any inning after 12:50 a.m.

At Jersey City, Hank Perry pitched Buffalo Bisons to a 2-0 triumph over Jack Kraus and the Giants.

Chet Laabs poled his 17th homer with one on in the sixth inning to account for the only runs of the game.

Waterloo Tigers Chalk Up 11th Straight Win

(By The Canadian Press)

Amateur baseball fans witnessed seven senior games last night as four Ontario leagues held scheduled fixtures.

In the Intercounty loop, Waterloo Tigers won their 11th game by defeating Brantford Red Sox, while the Stratford Nationals — London Majors game was called at the end of the ninth with the score tied 1-1 as rain fell steadily. Niagara district fans saw league - leading Welland Stokes hand Lewiston Merchants an 11-0 blanking, and Niagara Falls come from behind to edge North Tonawanda Dodgers 6 - 5 in 12 innings.

A two-hit pitching chore by Lefty John Barbeau gave Garson a 7-2 win over Coniston, while Copper Cliff Redmen trounced Sudbury Shamrocks 11-5 in the Nickel Belt circuit. The lone Timiskaming League game saw McIntyre Mackmen beat Porcupine Combines 5-2 to strengthen their third-place position.

Three Red Sox errors helped as Waterloo pounded out 14 hits in their 9-4 win over Brantford. Don Bauer tripled in the third inning with the bases full. Milt Schmidt's four-bagger was the lone earned run for Tigers.

Dumouchelle went the distance for the winners and got into a lot of trouble with men on bases. He gave up nine hits but fanned nine to help him out of the rough spots. Don Bauer and Fisher paced the winners at bay with three hits each. Parker and Hann had two apiece for Sox.

There were two men out in the ninth with Stratford leading 1-0 when Wacky McMackon spanked the ball over the fence to tie the score for London as rain fell steadily. Umpire Reid Buck called the game after Nats failed to break the tie in their last time at bat.

Nats scored their lone run in the fifth on Jo-Jo Kalmusky's fielder's choice, McGillivray's second hit and Jim Loader's single. Lefty Allen of Stratford and Bill Wagner of Majors waged a pitchers' duel throughout. Allen allowed seven safeties and Wagner six.

Bill Buntrock, making a comeback after two years' illness, gave up but three hits while leading Welland to their 11-0 victory over Lewiston. He didn't yield a single until the third batter faced him in the seventh. He also aided the hitting attack with two doubles. Stokes collected 13 safeties off two Lewiston hurlers.

Ed McBee spearheaded the Welland assault, hitting safely three times in four tries, including a home run and a double. Jenkins, Johnson and Peters were the lone Lewiston players who hit safely.

Houcks came from behind in the ninth inning by scoring two runs to tie the score at 5-5 before going ahead to defeat North Tonawanda 6-5. Manager Don Senese again went the route for the winners, yielding 10 hits. Houcks were able to touch Moeller and Gewrys of North Tonawanda for nine safeties.

Rienzo and Worral led Houcks' hitting attack with two in four trips to the plate, while Rados and Kijowski collected three safeties in five tries for the losers.

Charlie Hews' single and Armand Lemieux's double were the only hits the Coniston team could collect from Johnny Barbeau as he hurled Garson to a 7-2 victory. Barbeau struck out eight and walked five.

Bill Soliski was tagged with the loss when he put the winning run on base before giving way to Johnny Luptak in the sixth. Garson touched Luptak for three hits and scored four runs to break a 2-2 deadlock and win the game. Jim Cantwell was the only player to collect two hits.

Sudbury's 11-5 loss to Copper Cliff dropped the Shamrocks out of the cellar spot. Young forksider Al Laine was shelled from the Shamrock hill in the seventh after singles by Rocco Canapini and Herb Perigoe and a double by Bert Keaney accounted for four Copper Cliff runs. Maurice Hogan finished the game and was hit safely twice for another run.

George McShane pitched the entire game for McIntyre's 5-2 victory over Porcupine. He allowed 10 hits. Combines took a 2-0 lead in the first when Lou Romualdi's double drove in two runs. McIntyre collected a single run in the second and went ahead 3-2 in the fourth and 5-2 in the seventh.

Today, Waterloo plays at Guelph; Brantford at Kitchener, and Galt at London, in the Intercounty loop, while Welland invades Niagara Falls Houcks' home grounds in the Niagara District loop. The only other game is between Kingston and Oshawa in the Central Ontario circuit.

Life Begins Again For Plucky Child

Toronto (CP)—The day before her recent 14th birthday anniversary, Ruth Mckee underwent a successful operation for a heart ailment she had had since berth.

It ended, doctors hope, her old semi-bedridden life of tonics and warnings against exertion.

Ruth was a puny child before her school days and lasted only six months in kindergarten before being sent home to a life of enforced quiet. Teachers gave her lessons at home during the intervening years.

Doctors attributed the ortuble to stoppage of one of the heart valves. After the operation she was told to "take things easy" for a year—then there is no limit to what she can do.

Coinciding with her hospital discharge was the arrival of a letter from an English woman thanking her for a food parcel. Ruth had given her teacher a basket of groceries when Toronto children contributed to a wedding gift for Princess Elizabeth.

Whalebone--Why and Wherefore

The English girl who was once a friend of Hitler has died in Oban after being ferried from the lonely Atlantic island of Inch Kenneth, where she had been living with her mother . . . And now can be told . . .

From Transatlantic Mail

The return of the factory ships and 50 other British whalers to their home ports after a successful season in the Antarctic, during which some 4,000 whales were caught by them and about £3,000,000 worth of by-products gathered, is a reminder that included in that harvest is a supply of whalebone for the making of brushes.

It should, perhaps, be made clear that whalebone is not obtained from all whales, nor is it part of the skeleton of the mammal. It is a growth in the upper part of the mouths of some species, provided by nature to assist in securing the necessary amount of food.

The sperm whale, for example, produces no whalebone. On the contrary, it has two rows of teeth in the bottom jaw; they are not used for mastification but simply as a means of holding the larger sea-creatures upon which this whale feeds.

Whalebone as a material for brush-making is practically wholly derived from but three species of the mammal—the blue whale, the fin whale, and the sie whale. The blue and fin whales are the largest of the whale family, specimens of blue whales 90 ft. in length and weighing up to approximately 90 tons have been caught.

The whalebone or whalefinners, as they are termed in the trade, are obtained from the top jaw, extending all the way round it, numbering anything up to 800, or an approximate weight of from 10 cwt. to 15 cwt.

Color And Texture

In the blue and sie whales the material is of a blue-black color, while in the fin whale it is greyish with streaks of white, but there are invariably in this species a quantity of wholly white finners, located on the right-hand side of the head and extending for a distance of 4 ft. from the snout.

Another interesting thing is that the make-up of the species varies, the blue and fin whalebone being of a coarser grain than that of the sie, which is explained by studying the texture of the hair or fibre which extends along the outer edge of the plate.

The whalebone whales feed upon krill or plankton, a small, shrimp-like body, and the purpose of the whalebone is to act as a strainer in order to retain this small sea life.

Swimming with its mouth open through a shoal of plankton, the whale closes its mouth and expels the water through the whalebone plates, the food then passing to the stomach as much as a cwt. or more having been found in one section of the digestive organ.

The procedure for rendering the whalebone suitable for manufacture is by first cutting clusters of about 10 to 15 finners from the mouth, each of which is singled out separately, scraped and cleaned of all flesh and fat, washed, dried and packed.

On arrival at the cutting factory the material goes through a further process of cleaning, soaking, and steaming to make it ready for the last stages.

Cutting Process

In these the solid plates are cut into various textures, according to the type of brush into which the whalebone bristles, as they are called, are incorporated, and they may be either in the natural color, bleached, or dyed.

The hairy extensions on the edges of the finners of the fin whale and the blue whale—they being the only species suitable for this treatment—are also dressed for brush manufacture.

Whalebone bristles can be supplied in any length or texture to suit the design of brush—anything from a twisted wire bottle cleaning brush to the big rotary brooms for motor road-sweepers.

The work of preparing and cutting whalebone is one which calls for great experience, and in the case of Devine and Co., Ltd., with their works at Old Ford, more than 68 years have been spent in meeting the needs of brush makers, in particular, although they give their attention to other industrial needs.

Characteristics

Whalebone, because of its lightness, strength, and springiness, has been found useful in sporting gear—for the handles of cricket bats, hockey sticks, and fishing rods—while some years ago Mr. W. G. Devine, the managing director, invented a dart which had the shaft fashioned of whalebone.

Mr. Devine is an authority on the subject. He has spent a good deal of time on whalers, and has thereby acquired a close knowledge of the origin, characteristics and capabilities of whalebone, and he is always ready to place that knowledge at the disposal of those to whom whalebone can be of service.

Its use for brushes is expanding, but there are many other calls for this material of such unique qualities.

Up to a couple of generations ago whalebone was extensively used in corsets as well as for "bonning" other garments to keep them conformed to the lines decreed by the fashion of the day. The "new look" has led to a revival in that demand, and the whalebone cutters are ready to meet it.

Other Uses

Other uses today are for petershams, drawer and showcase runners, scientific instruments, surgical appliances, water-divining rods, and veneers for such purposes as the backs of hair-brushes jewellery and cigarette boxes, where the grey whalebone of the fin whale, when polished is most attractive.

It appears that the peculiar suitability of whalebone for some purposes was recognized as long ago as the ninth century, one of its first uses being for plumes in helmets. There is a reference in the Froissart chronicles of five centuries ago to "Gantlettes of steele and baleyn," or baleen—the old name for whalebone, while the fact that in the 17th century it was priced at £700 a ton indicates the value placed upon it even then.

There have been considerable changes in recent times in the whaling industry. The majority of whales are now caught in the Antarctic, the catchers operating from floating factories, although whaling operations are still carried on from the north-west coast of Norway and the Faroe Islands, the latter being conducted from shore stations.

Nothing Wasted

The floating factories, some of which are between 14,000 and 20,000 gross tonnage, are able to dispose of from eight to ten whales a day, the catch being hauled on to the deck through an opening in the stern of the vessel and flensed there.

Oil is the primary objective and hardly anything is wasted; the blubber, structural bones, and all internal organs being consigned to the appropriate "cookers" to extract any oil from them. The procedure at the shore stations follows on similar lines, the whales being drawn up on to a platform for flensing as the cutting-up is termed.

The flesh is now of considerable commercial value. Great quantities are processed to form feeding stuffs for animals, while an increasing amount is being frozen and marketed for human consumption.

One other important change is in the rigorous control exercised over the industry. This action has been rendered necessary by the fact that among the thousands of whales caught each season under modern methods are many young and immature ones. It has to be kept in mind that the whale is very slow-breeding, calving once in two years, and the young take a similar time to reach full maturity.

In order to secure as much definite information as possible in the effort to protect the future, detailed particulars of each whale caught are noted, both prior to and during flensing on both floating factories and at shore stations.

The record includes the date of capture, specie, sex, overall measurements, bodily proportions, description of external characteristics, blubber, food, parasites, and biological details.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was thinking about starting to get reddy to do my homewerk, and I said to pop, Hay pop, is it wrong to fite in a good cause?

Is the fite over? pop said, and I said, Yes sir.

Then it's not wrong, pop said. Who were you fighting with and what was the good cause? he said, and I said, I had a fite with Sid Hunt because he insulted my honor.

Sutch as show, pop said, and I said, He claimed I was scared to fite Skinny Martin, so I told him I'd fite him instead, for insinuating I was a coward.

I seem to recall that Sid is smaller than Skinny, pop said, and I said, Yes sir, but he's no smaller than I am, hardly. So I challenged him up and down to a fite, and he dared me to hit him ferst, so I dubble dared him to hit me ferst.

That was a quick anser, pop said, and I said, Yes sir, but Sid claimed he dared be ferst so he was going to stand by his rites, so I gave him a little push and he claimed pushing wasn't hitting so I dared him to even push me back and I'd beet him up so bad he'd have to be iddentified in a hospittle, and he claimed I better not try it because he'd make sutch a mess out of me I'd need 2 hospittles for all the pieces, and just then Reddy Merfy butted in and claimed he'd push our faces both in at the same time if we didn't get bizzy and show a little action.

So you got down to action, pop said, and I said, Yes sir, we shook hands and called the fite off just to teach Reddy Merfy to mind his own bizzness.

It served him rite, and by gollies I've got a good mind to write out a full report of the incident and send it to the United Nations as a good example, pop said.

Probably saying it sourcastic.

The Real Story of Unity Mitford

(By G. Ward Price in Overseas Mail)

Unity Mitford's short life of 33 years was a tragic one, and its tragedy was of her own seeking.

The story begins with schoolgirl curiosity and pushfulness.

In 1934, the year after Hitler came to power, Unity Freeman-Mitford ("Baba"), fourth daughter of Lord Redesdale, was taking art classes in Munich.

Here was a girl both beautiful and brave, qualities that were to bring her much unhappiness.

For they had as their counterparts a mental arrogance and rashness of behavior which led her to find delight in flouting public opinion.

Frequent Guests

"Baba" heard that Hitler often went to dine with a few of his intimates at a little Italian restaurant called the "Osteria." With her sister Diana she began to go there too. Their presence was noticed by that new world figure, the German "Fuehrer."

It would, indeed, have been difficult to disregard two young women of such remarkable blonde beauty as the two Mitford girls, and it was not long before Hitler sent his A.D.C. Brueckner over to their table to ask if they spoke German, and, if so, would they take coffee with his party.

The Mitford sisters, and especially Unity, became frequent guests at Hitler's parties. It is easy to understand the appeal which their company had for him. They were lovely to look at, gay, completely self-confident and could talk to him with an amusing frankness that no German, whether man or woman, would have dared to use.

There was no more in it than that — but "Baba" came to see herself in the role of an Egeria—a strong feminine influence supporting and encouraging a great man—for she soon adapted herself to the attitude of unquestioning, awestruck admiration which almost the entire German nation assumed towards the Fuehrer.

Jealousy Aroused

It was natural that Hitler's openly avowed preference for the society of this young English aristocrat should arouse much jealousy among the somewhat dull and dowdy female relatives of the other Nazi leaders.

There used to be whispers in dark corners that Unity was a secret agent planted upon the Fuehrer by the diabolically clever British Secret Service.

But Hitler cared nothing for criticism. He liked the Mitford girls—Diana was often in Germany with her sister—and did not hide the pleasure he found in their lively chatter.

I remember how his face changed when they made an unannounced appearance at Cologne on the evening of the day that he visited the Rhineland to mark its military reoccupation in defiance of the Treaty of Versailles.

He had entered the Dom Hotel with his face cast in the sombre expression of the resolute war-lord, when suddenly he caught sight of the Mitford girls standing in the front rank of the crowd of German officials and their wives waiting in the hall. "Was! Ihr beide da?" ("What! You two there!") he exclaimed, and rushed forward to seize their hands in both of his.

Party Members

The Fuehrer made both of them members of the Nazi Party, and put his signature at the back of the badges they wore as a guarantee that their right to them should not be challenged.

It sometimes was, for one of the Nazi rules was that German women should not wear make-up, which used to lead to "Baba" being denounced by indignant females as either a disobedient member of the party or else a wearer of its badge without authority.

That same badge nearly got her into more serious trouble in London almost exactly ten years ago. She wore her swastika emblem at a Socialist demonstration in Hyde Park.

It was characteristic of her bold temperament that she mingled with the excited crowds wearing this provocative device. The result was that she was seized by the mob, who kicked her and were hurrying her towards the Serpentine to throw her in when half a dozen policemen rushed to her rescue and escorted her from the park.

She lost her badge, however, and a few weeks later Hitler gave her a new one, with which she soon appeared in Prague, where she had more adventures, being stopped on a country road and searched, this time by the Czech police.

I remember her describing this incident to me the next day, and showing me the special "revolver permit" which Hitler had personally signed for her, to authorize her to carry a pistol in her handbag.

One had no inkling then of the use "Baba" Mitford would ultimately make of her little weapon.

By this time the war-clouds were plainly gathering over Europe, and Baba's trick of posing as a Nazi began to take on a more dangerous aspect.

'On Their Side'

In May 1939 I visited her parents' house in London. Her brother, Tom Mitford, who was killed in the Burmese campaign, said to her as the party was breaking up: "Well, goodbye, Baba. I suppose you will have gone when I get back tonight."

"Where are you going?" I asked his sister?

"Munich," she said. "I'm going to stay there till November."

"That's crazy,' I said. "We shall be at war with Germany before then, and you may find it very difficult to get home.'

"Why should I want to come home?" she said. "If there is a war I shall be on the German side."

Yet it turned out even more grimly than "Baba" Mitford had expected. When the war came in September she stayed on in Munich, as she had said, and sent several messages to Hitler asking that he should let her come and see him.

Always Shadowed

But Hitler, pleasant as he found her society in peace-time, was taking no risk of that kind in war. He made no reply to these appeals.

Unity Mitford was left her freedom to move about in her little car, although she did not know that everywhere she went she was shadowed by a Gestapo man.

Ultimately that saved her life. Made desperate by Hitler's refusal to receive her, "Baba" found herself a girl without a country.

In her overweening folly she had renounced her nation, her family and her friends for the sake of one who had cast her off.

One day she drove in her little car to the Englischer Garten, a Munich park, and there, taking the small revolver which Hitler had authorized her to carry, from her handbag, she fired a bullet into the base of her skull.

It did not kill her. The Gestapo man, watching from a discreet distance, rushed up and drove her to hospital. There Hitler gave orders that she was to be given the best possible attention. He sent her flowers, but, though he was himself in Munich, never went to see her.

When, after two months, 'Baba" Mitford was fit to be moved, a telegram was sent to her father, Lord Redesdale, by way of Switzerland, saying that "Baba" would be taken in a German railway ambulance to Berne, whence her family could make arrangements to have her brought back to England.

For a time she was in hospital at Oxford. Then her mother took her to live at a small house in a quiet part of that county—an isolated, almost friendless existence, for "Baba" was kept under police supervision as a result of her own reckless folly in the past.

She was a much-changed "Baba." On one occasion she showed me the scar on her neck where the bullet had gone in.

God had saved her life, she said, and now she wanted to lead a very quiet and domesticated life. She would like to marry and have a family, she said.

And now, still young, she has passed out of a world where she was her own worst enemy.

Yu'An Hee See Laughs

By Sax Rohmer

It next appeared, this slinking shape, at a spot east of the treasure house of Jo Lung. At the end of a little courtyard upon which several mean residences opened, a blue shaded fanlight was dimly illuminated.

The lurking figure became merged in shadows once more .. then immediately opposite a narrow alley it stood watching.

At the far end of a dim yellow light was visible. The indeterminate shape darted across, then swiftly slipped aside, and exercising a strange affinity with darkness, became magically lost again....except that reddish eyes—like the eyes of a watching leopard—gleamed in the dusk.

Someone was coming out — someone who had stopped dead at the moment that that elusive thing darted across his path.

There was a moment of silence ....a soft whistle—two minor notes. It was answered from the lee of a high wall. Thereupon a reed-like voice spoke rapidly in Chinese: "All is here. Follow swiftly. Do not show yourself."

Yu'an came out into the street. Beside him was a small figure so muffled in a brown fur coat that, beyond the fact that she was a woman, no one could have identified her. With no glance to right or left they set out in the direction of the river.

Ten paces they had gone when a figure appeared from the alleyway and glided in the same direction. Close behind him, stooping, ape-like came another. And this singular procession headed toward the Thames.

A wicket gate was opened, and a deserted yard crossed. Out onto a wharf Yu'an led, and down slippery wooden steps to where, riding the sluggish tide, a boat was moored. Jo Lung stood in the bows ready to assist his passengers on board. This accomplished, the following shades, one swift behind the other, leaped on board also.

As Jo Lung cast the painter loose and took to his oars:

"Quick!" Yu'an spoke the word in Chinese upon a note high with excitement. "Which of you has it?"

A large, claw-like hand was stretched back to him....and in it was the green-bound memo book!

"How many?" he asked.

"One."

Whereupon he began to laugh, that high, uncanny laughter which seemed to harmonize with the creaking of Jo Lung's oars.. Jo Lung rested on his oars, and:

"Police patrol," he said. "Shall I pull for the bank, my lord?"

"Fool! They would hear the oars. The tide is carrying us down to those barges. Stand by, my friends, with the hook, and when we reach the first of them, cling tightly. Should the patrol pass inside—we may be detected. But they will probably pass outside.

* * *

"Cut outside those barges, Mason," said the officer in charge of the river police launch. "I want to get a closer look at that smart motor cruiser lying in the Reach."

"It belongs to Mr. Van Steyn, the American sportsman. It has been under repair in Bulker's yard."

"What's it doing out in the stream, then?"

"I suppose the repairs have been completed, and they meant to go down this evening but were held up by the fog."

"Where the devil are they going? This is no season for motor cruising?"

"I don't think there's anybody on board except a scratch crew. They intend to take her round to Cowes, I expect."

"Is that so? Well, edge in close, dead slow, and let's have a good look."

The river police drifted alongside the spruce-looking craft — a forty-foot motor cruiser. Her paint work was very new, but of a queer, battleship gray, unusual in pleasure boats. She had four lights on, but there was nothing to show that there was anybody aboard.

But when, half an hour later, Jo Lung's party drew alongside, two very active Asiatics appeared above the bows of the motor cruiser. Having assisted Yu'an and the woman on board, they rapidly hauled up and disposed of a great number of small packing cases stowed in the stern of the boat.

These contained the opium destined for Australia—which Dawson Haig had been covering.

It had been removed that night under the very noses of the police and was now safe from their curiosity!

In the luxuriously appointed little cabin of the cruiser, Yu'an drew from the pocket of his fur-lined coat a string of blazing fire opals, roughly threaded on waxed silk. He threw them around the long slender throat of his companion.

"Tonight, I can afford to be generous," he said. "They suit you, Orange Blossom, who are all fire and ice...."

* * *

Dawson Haig pressed irritably again and again upon the bell beside the wicket gate of Jo Lung's warehouse door. His light blue eyes sparkled dangerously. No report had come from any of the men surrounding the premises; and, believing that the elusive Big Chief, having caused murder to be committed upon the person of a Scotland Yard officer, was about to elude him again, he was prepared to stick at nothing.

Then the wicket gate opened, and a neatly groomed and imperturbable Levantine stood before them, staring with apparent surprise past Dawson Haig and the detective sergeant to where a group of plain-clothes officers and two uniformed men might be seen in the narrow street.

"Good-evening," he said, smiling in apparent confusion. "I'm afraid you have alarmed me."

"Indeed," said Haig. "I'm sorry. I am a police officer, and I hold a warrant to search these premises."

"Really!" the Greek exclaimed. "But on what grounds have you obtained this warrant?"

"Harboring a man wanted for murder!" was the grim reply. "Come on, Warrender."

Haig turned to a group of men who had followed him in, and:

"Along the yard," he ordered. "Bear to the left and you'll find a door. Through it and into the warehouse. There are five small cases there, consigned from Birmingham per R.M.S. Wallaroo to Sydney. When you find them — let me know."

"One moment!" Polodos was the speaker.

"Well?" Haig turned to him as two men set off. "What is it?"

"Only this," the Greek continued smoothly: "Your suspect cannot very well be hidden in one of the small cases you speak of! And the door in question is permanently locked. The warehouse beyond is leased to Messrs. King. Are you sure, inspector, that your warrant extends to their premises?"

Dawson Haig stared at the speaker. That official red tape which trammels the movements of an officer of the Criminal Investigation Department danced before his eyes visibly, and he stifled language unsuitable to the occasion, as:

"Hell, inspector!" came a hail from the far end of the yard. "There's a door here, but it's locked. Are we to smash it?"

"No!" Haig shouted. "Come back." He turned to Warrender, smiling unmirthfully. "It doesn't matter, anyway," he added. "They'll have had the stuff out by now...."

In due course the search party reached that business-like office upstairs, and:

"You see," said Polodos, smiling and pointing to a number of books open on the desk, "I was hard at work. The staff, of course, has been gone for hours.

Dawson Haig stared into liquid dark eyes, as unreadable as the riddle of the Sphinx. A sudden wild urge rose to his brain — to take this slimy hypocrite by the throat and to choke him until he coughed up the truth. But:

"I'll just glance over your accounts, Mr. Polodos," he said..

Outside in the Chinese quarter, at four points unsuspected by the police, blue lights were burning, for no orders had been given to extinguish them. When, half an hour later, the search party left the treasure house of Jo Lung, Dawson Haig drew Warrender aside.

"Take charge, Warrender," he said, "and stand by. Wait for me here. I've bungled this job badly."

He set off through deserted streets.

And presently he found himself in a mean little yard with three doors opening upon it....that yard from which the one who laughed, the Chinese woman and two shadows had come out an hour before. All three doors were closed. No light was visible.

There was a constable on duty at this point, and:

"You're absolutely sure," Haig challenged, "that nobody has gone in or come out?"

"Positive, sir."

"Carry on," Haig snapped.

He suspected this to be the Big Chief's private entrance. But if he dared to force it he would be in bad trouble. He muttered savagely, and walked away.

The light of a grey and comfortless dawn was stealing through the Temple.

"Well, Matt," said Dawson Haig, "You asked me to let you know, so you have only yourself to blame!"

Kearney, in dressing gown and pajamas, nodded, smiling:

"I'm glad you came. And we're both used to late hours. Fill your glass and go ahead."

"Come to this," Haig continued. "I should have started by covering the rat-run out of Three Colt street. I only suspect—but all the same I'm moderately sure— that the leakage was there. But if King Rat is inside he won't get out! Every hole is stopped. Unfortunately, I think King Rat has slipped away again.

"The horror with the tusks undoubtedly followed you — God knows how—for the memo book ....Yes! stroke your throat! You are lucky to have one intact. Incidentally so am I! Those cunning devils must have spotted poor Norwich for a police officer. They tackled him first, you see—failed to find the notebook, and then came after you."

Matt Kearney shuddered and poured out whisky.

"They were warned in some way, or Eddy would have netted them on the way back. These people are artists—one must admit it. That display of day books and ledgers was surely intended to lead up to the one entry—the one to which the Greek drew my attention."

"You mean the sale, some time after Norwich and I were there, of a set of opals to a mythical customer?"

Dawson Haig nodded.

"For the considerable sum of two thousand pounds in cash," he added savagely. "Which cash, when I challenged him, the Greek produced from the safe. Infernally clever. Damnably, poisonously clever. I'm skirting the edge of this case, Kearney. I'm a thousand miles from the heart of it."

"Personally," Kearney confessed, "I'm very uneasy about those entries in the memo book."

"Not half so uneasy as I am," said Dawson Haig. "Something you have told me tonight— but which you didn't mention in the note you left—has given me a clue....perhaps too late!"

"What did I tell you?"

"About that squealing laughter. It was the Big Chief you heard—King Rat! Any doubt I ever had about his real identity, you have settled! I know now whom I have to deal with."

"I'm afraid I don't follow."

"I'll try to make it plain. I can tell you, at last, because I know I was right. You remember I went to Singapore a year back? ....I was following a clue which I hoped would lead to the breakup of a big drug ring—and I knew (note this point) that Jo Lung was one of the group. They dealt in stolen property (and other merchandise as well.)

"Guess where that clue led?"

Kearney shook his head; he was listening intently.

"To the villa, or rather, palace at Johore Bahru, of the Marquis Yu'an Hee See—ex-admiral of China!"

"But you don't mean that he—"

"I mean," Haig went on quickly, "that he declined to see me. A highly burnished secretary informed me that his excellency had left Singapore two days before. He was full of regrets. Of course, I had no alternative but to pretend to believe the liar. I was skating on thin ice, and I knew it. Yet I was sure, Matt—I was sure."

"And as I left the place I heard someone laughing! Yes! I couldn't credit it at first any more than you could! Then I remembered something....

"The marquis had been shot in the throat just prior to the breakup of that old regime under which he held his commission as Admiral of the Fleet! His vocal chords were affected. The incredible laughter I heard was the laughter of Yu'an Hee See!"

Matt Kearney sprang up. "You mean that—"

"I mean that Yu'an Hee See is Big Chief—King Rat! And he was at Jo Lung's tonight. It was his memo book that you picked up. You have heard how it was recovered."

Raging Fire Nearly Wipes Out City Of Castries, St. Lucia

Millions of Dollars Damage, Thousands Are Homeless

Castries, St. Lucia, Windward Islands, June 21 — (CP)—Food and shelter became enormous problems today in what remains of this island capital of 24,000.

A fire that broke out at 8 p.m. Saturday and raged unchecked for eight hours all but wiped out the city. No lives were lost.

Thousands were left homeless by the blaze and food was scarce because all grocery stores and most warehouses were destroyed. Nearly all light and telephone service was knocked out and it would be weeks before it could be restored.

All ordinary business came to a standstill because stores, small industries, banks, the post office, law courts, the Castries Town Board, the daily newspaper, hotels and all government buildings were razed. Damage will run into millions of dollars.

As many persons as possible were quartered in homes not caught in the path of the fire. Others huddled in tents and makeshift shelters on the edge of town or in open fields.

Truckloads of food were being rushed to the capital from the outlying parts of the 233-square-mile island. Appeals went to other British Caribbean colonies for help.

The fire spared the dock area and the Canadian National Steamships freighter Canadian Challenger unloaded a small cargo of foodstuffs Sunday. A British warship was expected with relief supplies.

The blaze broke out in an uptown business block — its origin was unknown — and raced thru the city practically unchecked. A long drought had lowered water pressure in the mains so that hoses were almost useless. United States troops brought in fire-fighting equipment from nearby Beane Field but it could not stem the holocaust.

20 Persons Killed In Jewish Area In Cairo

Cairo, June 21 — (AP) — Police investigated today two explosions which killed 20 persons and injured 41 in the Jewish quarter of Cairo's bazaar district.

The blasts let loose early Sunday some three minutes and 150 yards apart. Five houses were destroyed and about 20 damaged. Eighteen of the dead were found in the debris. Two died in hospitals.

Saleh Murtaga Bey, sub-chief of public security, said Sunday night he believed the explosions were accidental, the result of faulty storage of materials the Jews used to make fireworks.

But, he added, police still are seeking five Moslems who lived in a Jewish - owned house at the centre of the first explosion. They have not been located.

Soon after the disaster, 300 policemen encircled the quarter.

Murtaga Bey said they arrested seven Jewish boys with two push-cart loads of unexploded gelignite. It was not fused.

ONE-HOUR WORK STOPPAGE ASKED BY UNION SEAMEN

Want Four Companies To Lose Licences

Toronto, June 21 (CP) — The Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) today called for a one-hour work stoppage in Canada by "the whole labor movement" as violence was reported at four Ontario centres in the 16-day-old shipping dispute.

President Harry Davis of C.S.U. called for the work stoppage if the Federal government fails to cancel licences of four lake shipping companies with which the union is in dispute.

He repeated union charges that the captain of the Canada Steamship Lines vessel Maple Heath fired at pickets who attempted to board the ship near Cornwall. The lockmaster said no shots were fired.

Police said today in Gravenhurst that 13 members of the rival Canadian Lake Seamen's Union and two Toronto taxi drivers were attacked in a tourist camp near the Muskoka centre.

It was the same group of C.L.S.U. seamen who were assaulted in Toronto's Union Station Saturday when they attempted to board a train for Parry Sound.

George Potter, 20, crew member of the Saskatoon (C.S.L.), was waylaid in Toronto by several men and bashed over the head with an iron bar.

The lockmaster at Farran's Point, near Cornwall, said no shots were fired although the captain of the Maple Health threatened to shoot. He said the boarders were repelled by live steam.

C.S.U. Director's Statement

Mike Jackson, Great Lakes Director for the C.S.U., said the purpose of the delegation was to get the government to "bring to task" shipping companies that have been refusing to recognize that union as the bargaining agency for their crews.

He repeated the charge that a shotgun was fired at C.S.U. men who tried to board the Canada Steamship Line freighter Maple Heath near Cornwall, Ont., during the weekend.

Dog Scares Postie

London, Ont., June 21 (CP)—An experience with a dog left postman Harold Morningstar a bit shaken today.

Delivering mail in the East End he opened the unlocked front door of a house and tossed in the mail. As he closed the door, a large police dog leaped through the glass on the verandah.

The dog was stunned and cut by the glass. He retreated into the house and didn't bother the postman.

Mr. Morningstar said the woman of the house thought he broke the glass by slamming the door but is version was corroborated by a milkman eye witness.

Mountbatten Bids India Farewell, Self-Rule by People Complete

New Delhi, June 21 (AP) — Earl Mountbatten retired as governor General today and free India's self-rule by her own people became complete.

Oriental splendor and western pageantry blended as elder statesman Chakravarthi Rajagopalachari took the oath as Mountbatten's successor.

A slender figure in white homespun nationa lgarb, Rajagolalachari, 69 stood against a background of rich, red velvet drapes embroidered in gold and swore to perform the duties of his new office.

An advocate of communal harmony and secular government he then delivered a message to the people saying that "what disturbs the peace of India is internecine discord, pure and simple, and it is utter folly."

Less than three hours earlier Earl Mountbatten, attired in the gleaming white uniform of a rear admiral, bade farewell to the land whose people called him "one of us." Then he took off for England with his wife and daughter.

About 100,000 persons thronged the municipal grounds Sunday night to say goodbye.

One of his last official acts was to commend India's draft agreement for compromising the question of Hydrabad's accession to the Indian union. Dispatches from Madras Sunday night said the Nizam of the Princely state had turned down the action "politely, but firmly."

Rajagoopalachari, popularly known as C.R. — came here by plane from Calcutta Sunday night landing in a rain. According to Hindu teachings that means he brought peace and prosperity to his new assignment.

A lawyer, a skilled political strategist and administrator and an expondent of Mohandas K. Gandhi's policy of non violence he is regarded as one of the most brilliant men in India.

Republicans Confident Their Candidate Will Beat Truman

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Philadelphia, June 21. (CP)—Republican Party workers today opened their National Convention certain that this time they are selecting the next president of the United States.

After 16 years in the wilderness, the Party believes that whoever they pick will defeat President Truman in the elections next Nov. 2.

For three days there will be oratory and formalities. Possibly voting on the candidates will start late Wednesday. With so many candidates in the field it may take many ballots.

Meanwhile the convention platform drafters completed the party's policy document Sunday. It went today before the full 104-member platform committee for approval. Tuesday or Wednesday it will be laid before the convention for ratification.

Its exact wording is a deep secret until the full platform committee acts. But some persons close to the drafters said it will:

1. Pledge the party to shun isolationism and to continue the bi-partisan policy of international co-operation and United States aid for countries resisting Communism.

2. Reaffirm the Republican stand for creation of a permanent fair employment practice commission, for enactment of anti-lynch and anti-poll tax legislation, and call for an end to race segregation in the armed forces.

3. Refuse to yield to organized labor's demands for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor law but: restate the 1934 platfrom declaration that the Republican Party is the historical champion of free labor and assert a set of principles intended to appeal to the working man.

Few among the voting delegates or the 12,000 or more privileged guests or even among the more than 1,200 correspondents crowding into Convention Hall, seemed at all certain about the party's choice.

But in the milling throng around the Broad Street headquarters it seemed as though the general belief was in a victory for Governor Thomas Dewey of New York.

Former Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota had far-sightedly reserved the most strategic spot for his headquarters — right off the main lobby of the Convention Headquarters hotel.

The third leading contender, Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, has retired to less pretentious quarters in another hotel.

Speaker Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, tired from all night sessions of the House of Representatives, was able to croak that he would "certainly" accept the nomination if it were offered him.

Governor Earl Warren, of California is not putting on any special show to draw support but is a willing candidate.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, who hasn't even tried to be a candidate but would serve if drafted, is expected here today as a spectator but not as an active candidate.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, who is increasingly talked of as a compromise candidate if the leading contenders deadlock, has been here a week as chairman of the platform committee.

Talents Campaign Works Wonders For Small Church in Haliburton

Haliburton, June 21 (CP) — The "good and faithful servants mentioned in the gospel of Matthew Sunday were the congregation and friends of the United Church in this village of 800, about 90 miles north of Peterborough.

In a little more than two months, they had increased a capital of $1,000 by $1,575 and brought nearer realization the proposed renovation of the church, estimated to cost $8,000.

Rev. Gordon Smyth, the 27-year-old pastor in his first charge, was pleased the way the plan worked. Last spring, he borrowed $1,000 from a bank on his own signature. At services April 4, he gave a crisp $5 bill to 100 of the congregation. The other half of the amount went to friends, some of them in high places.

They were urged to put the money to work. They did.

Town clerk Gilbert Windsor bought six bags of seed potatoes, and expects to harvest 60 bags. He has paid a deposit on his talent until the harvest.

Twelve year old Cecil Watt doubled his talent money selling dew worms.

Robert Bishop, hote owner, and his wife, Jane, saved $43 by waiting on table and cooking for a few days when help was short.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Baker raised $22 by selling magazine subscriptions. Stewart Baker, 14, their son, doubled his money mowing lawns and selling rhubarb.

Randolph Tyler tanned a few hides, turned them over to a glove manufacturer.

With $4,500 raised previous to the talents campaign, the church is short only $2,000 of the objective needed for improvements.

MAIN NORTHERN FIRES CONTINUE, NO RAIN FALLS

Two Fires Lay Waste 800 Square Miles

(By The Canadian Press)

The huge Chapleau and Mississagi fires in Northern Ontario timber lands continued today and hundreds of firefighters prepared for their 27th consecutive day of battle.

More than 800 square miles have been laid waste in the two fires.

Meanwhile, authorities mustered men and equipment to fight a new outbreak northwest of Espanola, spreading rapidly over six square miles of hilly terrain.

Forestry department officials said they feared strong winds might speed the flames, creating a dangerous situation when everything was needed in the warfare on the Chapleau and Mississagi fronts.

The fire was only seven miles from the large Indian reserve of Nemegon, and 10 miles from the town of Sultan.

Flames swept over yet another large area in the great Chapleau game preserve. Rain has not fallen in the area for almost three months.

In the Mississagi blaze, firefighters were still waging a losing battle in the dangerous Mount Lake region where the forests were described as "dry as a bone."

An R.C.A.F. Mitchell Bomber will be used today to seed clouds with dry ice if conditions are favorable.

Weather forecasts were not promising. Scattered showers are expected in some districts but leaders of the fire crews have stressed that drenching rainfall is needed to lay the menace.

In Quebec, forestry officials estimated fires in the Abitibi region in the northwestern part of the province have burned over more than 100 square miles.

Guard Stabbed At Penitentiary, Will Recover

Kingston, June 21 — (CP) — Cecil M. Kemp, a guard at Kingston Penitentiary was stabbed twice in the stomach Sunday by a convict. The wounds were not serious and Kemp is resting easily at his Point Pleasant home near Portsmouth, today.

Kemp was taking the convict's dinner to him in his cell when the convict, whose name was withheld by authorities, jumped at him.

The knife used is believed to have been fashioned by the convict. One of the two thrusts of the knife pierced Kemp to a depth of an inch and a half although the blade did not penetrate the inner lining of the stomach.

The convict swung the knife a third time but it struck the guard's leather belt and bent. When the convict found himself without a weapon, he returned to his cell. Before leaving to receive medical attention Guard Kemp locked the cell door.

Fortunately a doctor was at the prison at the time and the wounded guard was given prompt attention. One stitch was required for each wound.

Walker, driver of the wagon, was thrown clear when the second section of the express crashed into the vehicle.

The mangled bodies of two unidentified men were found beside the Canadian National Railways tracks near Glencoe, today. They are believed to have been struck by a freight on the railway line which connects St. Thomas with Sarnia. Officials are investigating the possibility that the victims may have been escaped patients of the Ontario Mental Hospital at St. Thomas.

Three young men were drowned when an automobile rolled off a wharf at Berthierville, 40 miles northeast of Montreal, but four others escaped. The victims were Roland Plante, 18, Yvon Guevremont, 19, and Daniel Theriault, 21, all of Berthierville.

Turns Down Offer To Hold 1950 Br. Empire Games

Montreal, June 21 — (CP) — The Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto has turned down an offer to hold the 1950 British Empire Games on its grounds and so far no offer has been made to any other Canadian city, it was learned here today.

In making the offer to the C. N. E., the Canadian Olympic Committee was relying heavily on the fact that the Toronto grounds was the likeliest spot in the Dominion for holding both track and aquatic sports.

It was proposed that the C.N.E. raise $50,000 toward expenses of Commonwealth countries sending teams.

The games were last held in Canada in Hamilton in 1930. If was Canada's turn again when the war intervened. Now the offer to Canada to stage the renewal in 1950 has been repeated by the British Empire Games Association.

If Canada does not stage the 1950 games they will be held in New Zealand, which already has expressed willingness to have them.

Asks Canada Sign World Wheat Price Agreement

Ottawa, June 21 (CP)— Trade Minister Howe today asked the Commons to ratify a five-year international agreement under which 36 countries guarantee to stabilize world wheat prices.

He moved the adoption of the multilateral pact, drafted at Washington earlier this year, which would provide a $2-a-bushel ceiling and a sliding scale of floors for the five-year period beginning Aug. 1 this year.

John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, promptly termed the agreement "inadequate" and "imperfect" but conceded that it probably would pass the House "unanimously."

Mr. Howe said the agreement will be inoperative if it is not approved by the United States Congress before July 1.

He reviewed the provisions of the agreement, which would cover the sale of 500,000,000 bushels of wheat annually by the three major exporting countries of the world—Canada, the United States and Australia. Canada's share of the annual sale would be 230,000,000 bushels, which equals her exportable surplus.

He said the government has supported international efforts, to stabilize the world wheat price since the end of the war.

The agreement would require no additional legislation as long as present authority exists under the Canadian Wheat Board.

He said the agreement in no way would affect surpluses available for export over Canada's quota of 230,000,000 bushels. Nor would it affect the four-year wheat agreement with Britain covering the sale of 600,000,000 bushels.

Royal Family Like Other Britons Will Get Free Medical Attention

London, June 21 (CP) — The King and Queen and other members of the Royal Family will register for free medical attention when the government's new National Health scheme becomes effective July 5.

"The King and Queen set the example for the nation in any authorized national plan," a Buckingham Palace official told The Canadian Press. "They were, in fact, among the first to hold national registration cards and ration cards."

Under the health scheme Their Majesties will hand their registration forms to Dr. E. C. Malden, the King's physician at Windsor. Dr. Malden will be entitled to about 18s ($3.60) a year for each.

All members of the Royal Family who register will receive normal as well as specialist services, a ministry of health official said. The bill will be charged to the State, as in the case of all other British citizens.

This will put the King and Queen's consultants in a rather novel position. They will be paid for a service which hitherto they have regarded as an honorable duty, for no doctor's bill is ever sent to Buckingham Palace. It is the only service they accept free.

Another piquant situation is created by the fact that Lord Horder, physician in ordinary to the King, has fought bitterly against accepting patients under the new scheme. He led a "last ditch" stand against leaders of the British Medical Association when they urged members to co-operate recently.

Raging Fire Nearly Wipes Out City Of Castries, St. Lucia

Millions of Dollars Damage, Thousands Are Homeless

Castries, St. Lucia, Windward Islands, June 21 — (CP)—Food and shelter became enormous problems today in what remains of this island capital of 24,000.

A fire that broke out at 8 p.m. Saturday and raged unchecked for eight hours all but wiped out the city. No lives were lost.

Thousands were left homeless by the blaze and food was scarce because all grocery stores and most warehouses were destroyed. Nearly all light and telephone service was knocked out and it would be weeks before it could be restored.

All ordinary business came to a standstill because stores, small industries, banks, the post office, law courts, the Castries Town Board, the daily newspaper, hotels and all government buildings were razed. Damage will run into millions of dollars.

As many persons as possible were quartered in homes not caught in the path of the fire. Others huddled in tents and makeshift shelters on the edge of town or in open fields.

Truckloads of food were being rushed to the capital from the outlying parts of the 233-square-mile island. Appeals went to other British Caribbean colonies for help.

The fire spared the dock area and the Canadian National Steamships freighter Canadian Challenger unloaded a small cargo of foodstuffs Sunday. A British warship was expected with relief supplies.

The blaze broke out in an uptown business block — its origin was unknown — and raced thru the city practically unchecked. A long drought had lowered water pressure in the mains so that hoses were almost useless. United States troops brought in fire-fighting equipment from nearby Beane Field but it could not stem the holocaust.

20 Persons Killed In Jewish Area In Cairo

Cairo, June 21 — (AP) — Police investigated today two explosions which killed 20 persons and injured 41 in the Jewish quarter of Cairo's bazaar district.

The blasts let loose early Sunday some three minutes and 150 yards apart. Five houses were destroyed and about 20 damaged. Eighteen of the dead were found in the debris. Two died in hospitals.

Saleh Murtaga Bey, sub-chief of public security, said Sunday night he believed the explosions were accidental, the result of faulty storage of materials the Jews used to make fireworks.

But, he added, police still are seeking five Moslems who lived in a Jewish - owned house at the centre of the first explosion. They have not been located.

Soon after the disaster, 300 policemen encircled the quarter.

Murtaga Bey said they arrested seven Jewish boys with two pushcart loads of unexploded gelignite. It was not fused.

Less than three hours earlier Earl Mountbatten, attired in the gleaming white uniform of a rear admiral, bade farewell to the land whose people called him "one of us." Then he took off for England with his wife and daughter.

About 100,000 persons thronged the municipal grounds Sunday night to say goodbye.

One of his last official acts was to commend India's draft agreement for compromising the question of Hydrabads accession to the Indian union. Dispatches from Madras Sunday night said the Nizam of the Princely state had turned down the action "politely, but firmly."

Rajagoopalachari, popularly known as C.R. — came here by plane from Calcutta Sunday night landing in a rain. According to Hindu teachings that means he brought peace and prosperity to his new assignment.

A lawyer, a skilled political strategist and administrator and an expondent of Mohandas K. Gandhi's policy of non violence he is regarded as one of the most brilliant men in India.

ONE-HOUR WORK STOPPAGE ASKED BY UNION SEAMEN

Want Four Companies To Lose Licences

Toronto, June 21 (CP) — The Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) today called for a one-hour work stoppage in Canada by "the whole labor movement" as violence was reported at four Ontario centres in the 16-day-old shipping dispute.

President Harry Davis of C.S.U. called for the work stoppage if the Federal government fails to cancel licences of four lake shipping companies with which the union is in dispute.

He repeated union charges that the captain of the Canada Steamship Lines vessel Maple Heath fired at pickets who attempted to board the ship near Cornwall. The lockmaster said no shots were fired.

Police said today in Gravenhurst that 13 members of the rival Canadian Lake Seamen's Union and two Toronto taxi drivers were attacked in a tourist camp near the Muskoka centre.

It was the same group of C.L.S.U. seamen who were assaulted in Toronto's Union Station Saturday when they attempted to board a train for Parry Sound.

George Potter, 20, crew member of the Saskatoon (C.S.L.), was waylaid in Toronto by several men and bashed over the head with an iron bar.

The lockmaster at Farran's Point, near Cornwall, said no shots were fired although the captain of the Maple Health threatened to shoot. He said the boarders were repelled by live steam.

C.S.U. Director's Statement

Mike Jackson, Great Lakes Director for the C.S.U., said the purpose of the delegation was to get the government to "bring to task" shipping companies that have been refusing to recognize that union as the bargaining agency for their crews.

He repeated the charge that a shotgun was fired at C.S.U. men who tried to board the Canada Steamship Line freighter Maple Heath near Cornwall, Ont., during the weekend.

Dog Scares Postie

London, Ont., June 21 (CP)—An experience with a dog left postman Harold Morningstar a bit shaken today.

Delivering mail in the East End he opened the unlocked front door of a house and tossed in the mail. As he closed the door, a large police dog leaped through the glass on the verandah.

The dog was stunned and cut by the glass. He retreated into the house and didn't bother the postman.

Mr. Morningstar said the woman of the house thought he broke the glass by slamming the door but is version was corroborated by a milkman eye witness.

ACTION LIKELY AGAINST SECRET BODY

London, June 21 — (Reuters)—The Foreign Office was understood today to be preparing for action against a secret organization with headquarters in London which, according to one report, is recruiting Jewish fighting men in Britain and sending them to Palestine by an underground route.

Republicans Confident Their Candidate Will Beat Truman

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Philadelphia, June 21. (CP)—Republican Party workers today opened their National Convention certain that this time they are selecting the next president of the United States.

After 16 years in the wilderness, the Party believes that whoever they pick will defeat President Truman in the elections next Nov. 2.

For three days there will be oratory and formalities. Possibly voting on the candidates will start late Wednesday. With so many candidates in the field it may take many ballots.

Meanwhile the convention platform drafters completed the party's policy document Sunday. It went today before the full 104-member platform committee for approval. Tuesday or Wednesday it will be laid before the convention for ratification.

Its exact wording is a deep secret until the full platform committee acts. But some persons close to the drafters said it will:

1. Pledge the party to shun isolationism and to continue the bi-partisan policy of international co-operation and United States aid for countries resisting Communism.

2. Reaffirm the Republican stand for creation of a permanent fair employment practice commission, for enactment of anti-lynch and anti-poll tax legislation, and call for an end to race segregation in the armed forces.

3. Refuse to yield to organized labor's demands for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor law but: restate the 1934 platfrom declaration that the Republican Party is the historical champion of free labor and assert a set of principles intended to appeal to the working man.

Few among the voting delegates or the 12,000 or more privileged guests or even among the more than 1,200 correspondents crowding into Convention Hall, seemed at all certain about the party's choice.

But in the milling throng around the Broad Street headquarters it seemed as though the general belief was in a victory for Governor Thomas Dewey of New York.

Former Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota had far-sightedly reserved the most strategic spot for his headquarters — right off the main lobby of the Convention Headquarters hotel.

The third leading contender, Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, has retired to less pretentious quarters in another hotel.

Speaker Joseph Martin of Massachusetts, tired from all night sessions of the House of Representatives, was able to croak that he would "certainly" accept the nomination if it were offered him.

Governor Earl Warren, of California is not putting on any special show to draw support but is a willing candidate.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, who hasn't even tried to be a candidate but would serve if drafted, is expected here today as a spectator but not as an active candidate.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts, who is increasingly talked of as a compromise candidate if the leading contenders deadlock, has been here a week as chairman of the platform committee.

Talents Campaign Works Wonders For Small Church in Haliburton

Haliburton, June 21 (CP) — The "good and faithful servants mentioned in the gospel of Matthew Sunday were the congregation and friends of the United Church in this village of 800, about 90 miles north of Peterborough.

In a little more than two months, they had increased a capital of $1,000 by $1,575 and brought nearer realization the proposed renovation of the church, estimated to cost $8,000.

Rev. Gordon Smyth, the 27-year-old pastor in his first charge, was pleased the way the plan worked. Last spring, he borrowed $1,000 from a bank on his own signature. At services April 4, he gave a crisp $5 bill to 100 of the congregation. The other half of the amount went to friends, some of them in high places.

They were urged to put the money to work. They did.

Town clerk Gilbert Windsor bought six bags of seed potatoes, and expects to harvest 60 bags. He has paid a deposit on his talent until the harvest.

Twelve year old Cecil Watt doubled his talent money selling dew worms.

Robert Bishop, hote owner, and his wife, Jane, saved $43 by waiting on table and cooking for a few days when help was short.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Baker raised $22 by selling magazine subscriptions. Stewart Baker, 14, their son, doubled his money mowing lawns and selling rhubarb.

Randolph Tyler tanned a few hides, turned them over to a glove manufacturer.

With $4,500 raised previous to the talents campaign, the church is short only $2,000 of the objective needed for improvements.

Mrs. D. Lawlor, Still Mateless, Returns Home

New York, June 21. (CP)—Mrs. Dorothy Lawlor, the 28-year-old "wife-for-$10,000", was back home but still mateless today after a husband-hunting expedition which took her as far south as the Dominican Republic.

The blonde divorcee went two weeks ago to Daytona Beach, Fla., to met tavern-owner Dan Wicker who accepted by phone her offer to marry anyone for $10,000. Mrs. Lawlor learned that Wicker has a wife.

"I had a wonderful time," said Mrs. Lawlor who plans to spend the next few days getting re-acquainted with her two children at her parent's home.

Mrs. Lawlor flew from Florida to Trujillo City, the Dominican Republic Capitol, at the invitation of a business man there. She said her host was "a very charming gentleman."

MAIN NORTHERN FIRES CONTINUE, NO RAIN FALLS

Two Fires Lay Waste 800 Square Miles

(By The Canadian Press)

The huge Chapleau and Mississagi fires in Northern Ontario timber lands continued today and hundreds of firefighters prepared for their 27th consecutive day of battle.

More than 800 square miles have been laid waste in the two fires.

Meanwhile, authorities mustered men and equipment to fight a new outbreak northwest of Espanola, spreading rapidly over six square miles of hilly terrain.

Forestry department officials said they feared strong winds might speed the flames, creating a dangerous situation when everything was needed in the warfare on the Chapleau and Mississagi fronts.

The fire was only seven miles from the large Indian reserve of Nemegon, and 10 miles from the town of Sultan.

Flames swept over yet another large area in the great Chapleau game preserve. Rain has not fallen in the area for almost three months.

In the Mississagi blaze, firefighters were still waging a losing battle in the dangerous Mount Lake region where the forests were described as "dry as a bone."

An R.C.A.F. Mitchell Bomber will be used today to seed clouds with dry ice if conditions are favorable.

Weather forecasts were not promising. Scattered showers are expected in some districts but leaders of the fire crews have stressed that drenching rainfall is needed to lay the menace.

In Quebec, forestry officials estimated fires in the Abitibi region in the northwestern part of the province have burned over more than 100 square miles.

Guard Stabbed At Penitentiary, Will Recover

Kingston, June 21 — (CP) — Cecil M. Kemp, a guard at Kingston Penitentiary was stabbed twice in the stomach Sunday by a convict. The wounds were not serious and Kemp is resting easily at his Point Pleasant home near Portsmouth, today.

Kemp was taking the convict's dinner to him in his cell when the convict, whose name was withheld by authorities, jumped at him.

The knife used is believed to have been fashioned by the convict. One of the two thrusts of the knife pierced Kemp to a depth of an inch and a half although the blade did not penetrate the inner lining of the stomach.

The convict swung the knife a third time but it struck the guard's leather belt and bent. When the convict found himself without a weapon, he returned to his cell. Before leaving to receive medical attention Guard Kemp locked the cell door.

Fortunately a doctor was at the prison at the time and the wounded guard was given prompt attention. One stitch was required for each wound.

31 Persons Die As Accidents Take Huge Weekend Toll

Four Children Are Burned To Death at Negauc, N.B.

(By The Canadian Press)

Thirty one weekend fatalities were reported as residents of Eastern Canada took to waterways and the open road.

A Canadian Press survey shows 15 traffic deaths, nine drownings, an electrocution, four children burned in a fire and two unidentified men mangled by a train.

At Negauc, N.B., four childen were burned to death and their mother suffered critical burns when their home in this Northumberland county village was destroyed by fire early today.

Dead are: Simone, eight, Jacqueline, six, Leola, four, and a two-month-old baby, children of Mr. and Mrs. Elzear Breau.

The blaze was said to have started after the kitchen stove exploded when Mrs. Breau attempted to light a fire in it with kerosene.

Mrs. Breau was rushed to hospital at nearby Tracidie. A fifth child was away from home when the fire started.

The flames swept rapidly through the wooden house and spread to a nearby barn.

One man was killed ant five injured today when a Canadian Pacific Railway Montreal-Toronto express struck a milk wagon at Lakeside, Que., about five miles west of Montreal. The dead man was tentatively identified as W. White, 42, of Lakeside. The injured, all described as in serious condition, were riding in the milk wagon to the station. E. Walker, driver of the wagon, was thrown clear when the second section of the express crashed into the vehicle.

The mangled bodies of two unidentified men were found beside the Canadian National Railways tracks near Glencoe, today. They are believed to have been struck by a freight on the railway line which connects St. Thomas with Sarnia. Officials are investigating the possibility that the victims may have been escaped patients of the Ontario Mental Hospital at St. Thomas.

Three young men were drowned when an automobile rolled off a wharf at Berthierville, 40 miles northeast of Montreal, but four others escaped. The victims were Roland Plante, 18, Yvon Guevremont, 19, and Daniel Theriault, 21, all of Berthierville.

Royal Family Like Other Britons Will Get Free Medical Attention

London, June 21: (CP) — The King and Queen and other members of the Royal Family will register for free medical attention when the government's new National Health scheme becomes effective July 5.

"The King and Queen set the example for the nation in any authorized national plan," a Buckingham Palace official told The Canadian Press. "They were, in fact, among the first to hold national registration cards and ration cards."

Under the health scheme Their Majesties will hand their registration forms to Dr. E. C. Malden, the King's physician at Windsor. Dr. Malden will be entitled to about 18s ($3.60) a year for each.

All members of the Royal Family who register will receive normal as well as specialist services, a ministry of health official said. The bill will be charged to the State, as in the case of all other British citizens.

This will put the King and Queen's consultants in a rather novel position. They will be paid for a service which hitherto they have regarded as an honorable duty, for no doctor's bill is ever sent to Buckingham Palace. It is the only service they accept free.

Another piquant situation is created by the fact that Lord Horder, physician in ordinary to the King, has fought bitterly against accepting patients under the new scheme. He led a "last ditch" stand against leaders of the British Medical Association when they urged members to co-operate recently.

Turns Down Offer To Hold 1950 Br. Empire Games

Montreal, June 21 — (CP) — The Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto has turned down an offer to hold the 1950 British Empire Games on its grounds and so far no offer has been made to any other Canadian city, it was learned here today.

In making the offer to the C. N. E., the Canadian Olympic Committee was relying heavily on the fact that the Toronto grounds was the likeliest spot in the Dominion for holding both track and aquatic sports.

It was proposed that the C.N.E. raise $50,000 toward expenses of Commonwealth countries sending teams.

The games were last held in Canada in Hamilton in 1930. It was Canada's turn again when the war intervened. Now the offer to Canada to stage the renewal in 1950 has been repeated by the British Empire Games Association.

If Canada does not stage the 1950 games they will be held in New Zealand, which already has expressed willingness to have them.

Asks Canada Sign World Wheat Price Agreement

Ottawa, June 21 (CP)— Trade Minister Howe today asked the Commons to ratify a five-year international agreement under which 36 countries guarantee to stabilize world wheat prices.

He moved the adoption of the multilateral pact, drafted at Washington earlier this year, which would provide a $2-a-bushel ceiling and a sliding scale of floors for the five-year period beginning Aug. 1 this year.

John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, promptly termed the agreement "inadequate" and "imperfect" but conceded that it probably would pass the House "unanimously."

Mr. Howe said the agreement will be inoperative if it is not approved by the United States Congress before July 1.

He reviewed the provisions of the agreement, which would cover the sale of 500,000,000 bushels of wheat annually by the three major exporting countries of the world—Canada, the United States and Australia. Canada's share of the annual sale would be 230,000,000 bushels, which equals her exportable surplus.

He said the government has supported international efforts, to stabilize the world wheat price since the end of the war.

The agreement would require no additional legislation as long as present authority exists under the Canadian Wheat Board.

He said the agreement in no way would affect surpluses available for export over Canada's quota of 230,000,000 bushels. Nor would it affect the four-year wheat agreement with Britain covering the sale of 600,000,000 bushels.

HOOKS SEVEN POUND TROUT

Carl Shaw, George Street, had the good fortune to land a seven pound trout over the weekend. Measuring 27 inches in length and 15½ in girth, the fish was taken with a lengthy struggle at Birch Lake, north of Cloyne.

Jim Werden, Bridge Street East, hooked himself a couple of good-sized trout to keep in the running.

THREE MINOR BLAZES

Three fire alarms were turned in at the local fire department over the weekend, all for minor blazes with but little damage being reported in any instance.

Early Saturday evening firemen were called to 80 West Bridge Street where a small rubbish blaze was reported in the sunporch, while later the same evening firemen were called to 252 Coleman Street where a chesterfield was reported ablaze. Firemen stated the blaze had started from a cigarette.

Sunday evening at the home of George McCaw, Wallbridge Road the kitchen partition caught fire from an electric hotplate. Small damage resulted as the blaze ran up the wall before being extinguished.

POLICE CIRCLES QUIET

Police circles, both city and provincial, were quiet over the weekend with activities in the city department being limited to routine matters, while provincial police reported no serious highway accidents in the immediate district.

Several speeders were apprehended for travelling over the 30-mile limit on Dundas Street and were called upon to pay speeding fines, while also there were a few minor motor accidents resulting in dented and scratched fenders.

A district resident complained his car had been broken into Saturday evening while parked on a local parking lot with a new fine shirt and other articles of wearing apparel being stolen.

"Finders, Keepers" These Boys Believe

"Listen, mister", shrilled two Front Street urchins this morning pointing to a grating under which gleamed a shining twenty-five cent piece. "Williya please help us get our quarter outta there?"

The passer-by stopped, lifted the grating, and a grimy youngster scrambled down and retrieved the coin.

A few minutes later, the passer-by paused at a nearby tobacco shop to make a purchase. Sure enough, there were his two small friends loading up with ice cream and chocolate bars.

"Where did you get the money?" the proprietor, who knew the youngsters, inquired.

"Aw, we just found a quarter, didn't we, Bill?" said one.

The observing eyes of the youngsters had spotted the coin under the grating—and quick thinking proved not only convenient but profitable.

Male Labor Scarce For Canning of Peas

Canning factories in the Wellington district expect to start processing of the pea crop this week.

The crop is reported to be a heavy one, but, canning factory officials are not a little concerned over the labor question.

One stated that male labor is extremely scarce, and that factory representatives are scouring the county and district for help.

The first peas are expected to arrive at the various plants on Friday.

Allen Simmie Heads Life Underwriters

Allen Simmie, district manager of the Great West Life Assurance Company was elected president of the Quinte Life Underwriters Association at the final meeting held in the St. James Hotel, Trenton. Special guests included Mayor Kenneth Couch, Trenton and V. Wray Fairweather, CLU, Sun Life of Canada, Cornwall, regional vice president of the Eastern Ontario district.

Other officers for the coming year are, past president, Frank Creeggan; 1st vice, Jack Murphy; 2nd vice, Charles Lundy; secretary, Ralph Knowlton; treasurer, Perry Everett and directors, Eric Cooper, Harry Sagar and Harry Phillips. The new officers were installed by Mr. Fairweather.

The regional vice president charged the new officers to show leadership in the coming year that the association may continue as a source of inspiration to its members and an influence for good in the conduct of business. He stated that the life of the association depends upon the active contribution of every member and that only by the cooperation of each individual in the association can we hope to realize the principles upon which it is founded.

Mayor Couch Guest

Special guest was Mayor Ken Couch of Trenton who extended a warm welcome. Mayor Couch expressed his sincere appreciation of the work of the underwriters, urging the life underwriters to carry his message particularly to the young people of the community.

President Frank Creeggan, chairman of the meeting, reviewed his term of office. Pres. Creeggan expressed his personal thanks to the members of the association for the excellent co-operation that had been given him during his year in office. He mentioned the excellent publicity which had resulted from the Round Table Forum held on Radio Station CJBQ under the auspices of the Belleville Lecture and Study Club. The Public Relations Banquet had also been most successful and it was strongly recommended that the incoming executive carry on both types of public relation meetings in the coming year.

The guest speaker was Mr. Fairweather, C.L.U., who took as his subject "The Life Underwriters Association—Past and Present." In his address, the speaker outlined the early history of the association, from the year 1906 when it was formed with a membership of some 300, to the present time with its over 5,400 members.

Mr. Fairweather listed many of the beneficial results that have been accomplished by the association in this period of time, mentioning particularly the licencing laws which were passed to guard against improper persons being permitted to sell insurance; the sponsorship of institutional advertising; enactment of uniform life insurance legislation in eight provinces; the training courses which lead to the designation of Chartered Life Underwriter (C.L.U.); and finally, the co-operation of the association with the Canadian Life Officers Association and the Superintendent of Insurance on all matters concerning our business, acting as a watch dog of all legislature which might affect our policyholders.

The speaker urged the life underwriters to safeguard the free enterprise system as the life insurance business is one of the great corner stones of our economy. Any tampering with our system would result in hardship to our holicy holders who are daily depositing funds to provide security in the future for themselves and their dependents.

Mr. Fairweather concluded by urging each life underwriter to study his business thoroughly so that he is equipped to give professional advice to his clients. In this way he can raise both himself and the life insurance business in the eyes of the public.

The speaker was introduced by Arthur Burke and the thanks of the association were expressed by William Oliver.

Pres.-elect Simmie took over the gavel for the balance of the meeting. He thanked the members for the honor of leading them in the coming year and requested their full co-operation in the work ahead in 1948-49.

58 CHILDREN KILLED IN TRAFFIC THIS YEAR

Toronto, June 21 — (CP) — Fifty-eight children have been killed in traffic accidents throughout Ontario during the current school year. Last year 67 were killed. In a statement issued Sunday, the Ontario Highways Department urged motorists to prevent further child traffic fatalities by driving carefully during the summer holidays.

Resorts Crowded by Picnickers Taking Advantage of Fine Weather

Taking full advantage of the beautiful summer-like day, district residents literally took to the highway on Sunday with all highways seeing a record amount of traffic for the young season.

Summer resort spots for the first time this season proved a real drawing card for a considerable portion of the travelling public with picnic spots in the district being well populated throughout the day. Roadside tables along the provincial highways were also put into good use by motorists as they paused in their travels to enjoy lunch.

Possibly the most popular of the district resorts yesterday was the ever-popular Sandbanks in Prince Edward county where all afternoon the sand dunes were dotted with picnic parties and family groups taking full advantage of ideal weather conditions.

In the majority of cases Dad and Mom were much in evidence as they kept a watchful eye on the activities of the junior members of the family as they cavorted in the sand or tested the water temperature in West Lake.

This year picnic parties at the Sandbanks will have the added convenience of a refreshment booth where 'pop' and other commodities associated with picnics can be conveniently secured. An old bus which formerly carried passengers on Toronto streets has been transformed into a refreshment booth and yesterday was doing a brisk business in catering to the wants of picnickers.

Other resort spots in the Bay of Quinte area were reported as seeing the first real activity of the fast-approaching holiday season which will conclude with the re-opening of school in September.

Plan to Assist Ex-prisoners Find Suitable Jobs

Ottawa, June 19 (CP) —Plans for assisting prisoners of penal institutions to get suitable jobs on their release were discussed here by the National Employment Committee at a two day meeting it was announced today.

In effect, the plan suggested was designed purely for the purpose of better assisting persons discharged from penal institutions in obtaining and holding suitable employment. The committee considered that suitable employment was essential to the rehabilitation of prisoners.

Keen Competition At Archery Meet

First of several archery competitions to be held during the season, the district contest for aspiring Robinhoods sponsored by Fleet Sporting Goods at Rossmore over the weekend was productive of keen competition as well as considerable fun for the contestants.

Archers from the Marmora club, as well as from various clubs in the Prince Edward district competed for top honors in both the men's and women's sections with contestants from the garden county piling up the greatest number of points. Silver cups, suitably engraved, were awarded to the winners.

Says Y Secretaries Should Be Religious Leaders

Ottawa, June 21 (CP) —Christianity does not recognize an iron curtain and today an increasing number of Y.M.C.A. clubs in Poland are proving that point, Hartley Fowler of the International Committee of the Y.M.C.A. said yesterday.

Before the Second World War, Mr. Fowler told an eastern Ontario-Quebec regional conference is the 'most competent legislative sociation there were only three Y.M.C.A. associations behind the "so-called iron curtain" in Poland. Today there were 14 and 11 boys' camps.

"My only regret," said the speaker who recently concluded a tour of Europe in connection with the World Youth Fund, "is that we can't get into Russia."

The conference concluded a 3 day discussion of Y.M.C.A. needs and found the greatest was for more emphasis on religion in Y.M.C.A. work.

A.J. Davis of Belleville said the association secretary primarily should be a religious leader. "The gospel must be brought out of the theoretical clouds and made into something that youth can readily recognize," he added.

Supersounds Used To Detect Cancers, Smash Them

Chicago, June 21.— (AP) — Hidden cancers are detected by their echoes of sounds in a new kind of attack on this disease exhibited Sunday at the annual meeting of the American Medical Association.

The cancers echo, not to ordinary noises but to supersounds, inaudible to human ears. They are much higher in pitch than a dog whistle.

These same sounds are used in attempts to destroy internal cancers, by shaking them to pieces.

The new cancer attack was shown by Doctors J. F. Herrick and E. J. Baldes of the Mayo Foundation Institute for experimental medicine.

The supersounds are made by crystals. They are transmitted to the body by water or oil between the vibrator and the skin. The sound travels in a sharply focussed beam.

U.K. Asks U.N. To Control Haifa Until Truce Ends

London, June 21 — (AP) — Britain has asked the United Nations to control the port and military installations in Haifa between the time British troops leave and the Palestine truce ends July 9th.

The last British troops are due to leave Haifa in about 10 days.

An authoritative source said Britain feels that the Jews would gain a military advantage, in violation of truce terms, if Israel took over the installations before the truce ends.

Haifa is within the area awarded the Jews under the United Nations partition plan.

Rhodes — (Reuters) — Four Arab experts arrived today at the Rhodes headquarters of Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations Palestine mediator, and four Israeli experts are expected tomorrow.

It was stressed that the experts are "not empowered to negotiate with the mediator on a political level and have been named solely for the purpose of advising him on technical points on the Palestine problem."

Canada Unlikely to Enter Regional Pact Unless U.S. Participates in West Union

—ST. LAURENT

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, June 21 (CP)— Canada's official views on any proposed regional security pact under the United Nations charter was on the parliamentary record today.

In the first Saturday night sitting of this dying session, External Affairs Minister St. Laurent told the Commons the government felt Canadian adherence to Europe's western union would be "very little use" unless the United States also entered the pact.

If war should break out, there might be "great value" in a regional pact in which the western European countries, the U.S., the United Kingdom and Canada guaranteed each other's security.

Mr. St. Laurent also dealt with the Newfoundland question and expressed hope there would be a "clear-cut" vote in the second referendum to be taken July 22 on the question of whether the crown colony is to have responsible government or union with Canada.

The house opening was quiet. Justice Minister Ilsley said he was not in a position to answer question about a reported loyalty test aimed at screening Communists from three key government departments.

In the external affairs debate, Mr. St. Laurent said Canada was being careful not to "prejudice" the chances for a peaceful solution in Palestine.

Play Part in German Treaty

He reiterated that Canada still wants to play an important part in the drafing of any German peace treaty.

Under questioning, Reconstruction Minister Howe predicted that synthetic rubber from the Polymer Corporation plant Sarnia, will be able to compete with natural rubber, and reported that Canada's jet planes still are in the development stage at Malton.

Dealing with a recent steel price increase, he said the boost had been authorized to keep the steel industry in operation. The government had held the steel price for two years while increases in wages, freight rates and scrap iron had gone into effect.

Clarie Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South) protested against the price jump and said it was a mistake.

A side debate on wartime housing developed and Mr. Howe said he believed municipalities have the right to increase taxes on houses built by the Crown-owned Wartime Housing Ltd.

E. D. Fulton (PC—Kamploops) suggested the government pay half the increased taxes on wartime houses in his riding. The government should take this step if it was interested in low-rent housing.

The minister read a statement in which he estimated that Canada would have some $1,600,000,000 worth of exports available for countries participating in the European recovery program.

Commercial Atomic Power

On appropriations for atomic energy, Mr. Howe gave fresh information on the development of the new power.

He told the Chamber he could hold in his hand a small cylinder of metallic uranium containing as much power as could be developed from 500,000 tons of coal.

However, many problems would have to be solved before commercial atomic power became an economic reality. Meantime, atomic developments were reaping dividends in medicine, biological research and industrial application.

C.C.F. and Progressive Conservative members pressed again for government action to develop Canadian coal resources, but Mr. Howe said the shortage of qualified miners was the main stumbling block.

Howard Green (PC—Vancouver South), Angus MacInnis (CCF—Vancouver East) and Garfield Case (PC—Grey North) called on the government to lead the way in construction of a paved trans-Canada highway.

Mr. Howe replied that the Federal government had no responsibility for highways except to open new areas in such places the northwest territories.

Mr. Gillis made a one-man stand for the building of the long-discussed bridge over Nova Scotia's Strait of Canso. He suggested the government use its reconstruction project funds.

Strike Balloting R.R. Brotherhoods Is Completed

Montreal, June 21 (CP)—Strike balloting among 112,000 members of International Brotherhoods employed by Canadian railways ended today and spokesmen said counting of votes would start immediately with results expected to be announced in a few days.

The strike ballots were distributed several weeks ago after a negotiating committee representing the brotherhoods rejected a conciliation board majority report recommending a seven-cents-an-hour increase for rail workers. The workers had originally sought a general 35-cent increase.

Another 28,000 workers, members of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees and other Transport Workers (C. C. L.), have already completed a strike ballot and spokesmen announced last week they had voted 97 per cent in favor of a strike to back their demands.

The Canadian Brotherhood's demands are similar to those of the International Unions and their strike ballot was taken after they also rejected a conciliation board majority report recommending a seven-cent raise.

AMNESTY FOR PEASANT LEADER

Manila, June 21 — (AP)—President Elpidio Quirino tonight proclaimed amnesty for the Hukbalahaps after Luis Taruc, leader of the armed peasants, had voluntarily surrendered.

Taruc and his estimated 50,00 followers were given 20 days to surrender their arms.

Rush Proceedings To Head Off New Coal Strike

Washington, June 21. (AP)—The United States government rushed legal proceedings today to head off a new coal strike over miners' pensions.

A three-man presidential inquiry board called in John L. Lewis and soft coal operators for questioning on their contract dispute.

The board has a Wednesday dead line for sending a report to the White House.

The miners start a 10-day vacation this Saturday, but before they are due to return to work July 6, the present contract expires.

There is one chance of getting a new coal agreement before the miners' vacation starts. Judge T. Alan Goldsborough has announced he will rule tomorrow on major points involved in the miners' welfare fund legal tangle.

All along the coal operators have contended that Lewis' plan for $100 monthly pensions for aged coal diggers are illegal and too expensive.

Lewis counters that the mine owners have "stalled" a full year in paying pensions and other agreed benefits from accumulating a 10-cent-a-ton royalty.

Police believe the same arsonist set both fires. Unsuccessufl in two attempts, it is feared he may try again.

70,000 Greek Troops Slug Way Northward

Athens, June 21 — (AP) — An estimated 70,000 Greek troops slugged their way into the northern Pindus mountains today in an effort to smash the Communist rebellion.

Six divisions, backed by planes and artillery, jumped off Sunday night in the greatest offensive of the long civil war. The operation is aimed at wrecking the guerrillas of Markos Vafiades in their main stronghold.

Seven thousand rebels — the Greek army calls them bandits—are reported in a 1,000-mile square Grammos mountain area along the Albanian border.

The army, in its offensive, is trying to sew up this rebel pocket on three sides, on a line roughly south from the Albanian border to Ioannina, from Ioannina east and north to Grevena and from Grevena north to Nestorion and the Albanian border.

Before the operation could start, 28 heavily-fortified machine-gun posts north and west of Nestorion had to be taken.

The army tried to blast them with 25-pound artillery shells and 250-pound aerial bombs. That proved futile and infantrymen were sent in and cleaned the position out with bayonets. The army said guerilla casualties were heavy.

Two of the three squadrons in the Greek air force are backing the army's play and 100 pieces of artillery are pounding rebel positions on the Mount Grammos approaches.

Best available estimates are that Markos has some seven brigades and several independent battalions under his command in the fighting zone.

A correspondent for the Athens newspaper Ethnos sent a story from Larisa that three guerilla battalions, 1,000 men, had surrendered at the village of Mylia, between Grevena and Metsovon. There was no official confirmation of this report, either.

The project, operated by the Manitoba government in co-operation with the Indian Affairs Branch, covers 250,000 acres and provides a means of livelihood for 500 Indian, half-breed and white trappers and their families.

UNION CLAIMS SHOTGUN BLASTS FIRED AT PICKETS

Lockmaster Says No Shots Fired Although Captain Threatened to Shoot

Toronto, June 21 — (CP) — The Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) today stuck to its story that three shotgun blasts were fired at a dozen pickets who tried to clamber aboard Canada Steamship Lines freighter Mapleheath at Farran's Point near Cornwall.

But the lockmaster at Farran's Point said no shots were fired although the captain threatened to shoot. He said the Mapleheath crew repelled the boarders by turning live steam on them.

One C.S.U. man who said he was present during the clash early Sunday told reporters some C.S.U. men crept aboard the Mapleheath and fought with the crew until driven off with live steam.

The incident, which brought a C.S.U. threat to call a one-day general strike on the Great Lakes was the liveliest weekend development in the dispute between the C.S.U. and four shipping lines which refuse to sign contracts with it on grounds it is Communist-led.

The C.S.U. said it would send a delegation to Ottawa today to ask the government to cancel the licences of Canada Steamships, Sarnia Steamships and Colonial Steamships. The other line in the dispute is Northwest Steamships.

The steamship companies manned their ships with members of the rival Canadian Lake Seamen's Union (Ind.)

Obey Order to Leave Property

C.S.U. pickets at Cornwall observed an order given by Cornwall city council to get off city property. They set up on a lot owned by a C.I.O. union.

The crew of the Colonial Steamships freighter Laketon reported they were beaten up at St. Catharines by men who boarded the ship at dawn. On behalf of the C.S.U. Aage Antonsen at Thorold denied responsibility for the attack.

Cecil Minniker, 21, of Barrie, said one of the invaders had a fire axe. The man took a swing at Minniker's head but another crew member, Frank Pine, caught the blow on his wrist.

Four men were arrested in Toronto Saturday on trespassing charges afer a waterfront disturbance arising from the picketing of the C.S.L. vessels Kingston and Saskatoon.

Earlier there was a brief flurry of fisticuffs between members of the rival seamen's unions at Toronto's Union Station.

Twenty-eight-year-old Lorena R. Berg, above, of Woodstock, Ill., was hostess on the United Air Lines DC-6 which crashed near Mount Carmel, Pa., reportedly killing all aboard. The plane reportedly crashed in a wooded area, and burst into flames so intense that rescue workers were unable to approach the wreckage. It was reported that Earl Carroll, noted theatrical producer and Mrs. Jack Oakie, were passengers aboard the ill-fated plane.

This is Summer

Summer is here. Spring which has seemed rather cool at times made good on the last day and made a Sunday which was much enjoyed by everyone.

Many poets have written of spring and some anthologies contain more bits of poetry about summer than the earlier season. Among the poets whose lines are numbered in support of summer are Robert Burns, Ballantine, Blake, Bryant, Mrs. Hemans, Rossiter Johnson, Longfellow, Christina Rossetti, Scott, Edmund Spenser and Thomson.

To Spenser summer is the jolly season:

> "In a thin silken cassock, colored green,
> That was unlyned all, to be more light."

One of the happies poetic expressions is that by Byron in his lines to "The Isles of Greece," says that "eternal sunshine gilds them yet."

Longfellow in his "A Summer Day by the Sea," says:

> "O summer day beside the joyous sea!
> O summer day so wonderful and white,
> So full of gladness and so full of pain!

He also knew summer as a season of intense heat:

> "Very hot and still the air was,
> Very smooth the gliding river,
> Motionless the sleeping shadows."

Probably many persons who think of poetry at this time will give the palm to Burns:

> "Now simmer blinks on flowery braes
> And o'er the crystal streamlet plays."

Another angle on summer appears in these lines of Rossiter Johnson in "Ninety-Nine in the Shade":

> "O for a lodge in a garden of cucumbers!
> O for an iceberg or two at control!
> O for a vale that at noonday the dew cumbers!
> O for a pleasure trip up to the pole!"

Summer has a multitude of appeals, its very heat brings holidays to millions of boys and girls, it brings vacations as a recreation from the havoc of a year of work on the nerves and muscles of adults who then learn to shift the sense of burden, care and responsibility and revive their flagging spirits by the lake or seashore, in long tours or in visiting in city but mainly in the country and at watering places.

It is not all a season of intense heat. It has very much more than just the height of warmth of the whole year, it is the great time of the growing season and it brings up to harvest the crops, the various harvests being reaped from the beginning to the end of summer and later.

Summer stands for a sense of freedom from the ordinary restraints of the weather by which humans are bound. The heavy burden of clothes is largely shed and many almost become sun worshippers in their addiction to tanning. It spells freedom to a great number when the restrictions of other seasons disappear. It is a time which especially to the young of school age make the greatest strides in growth and in replenishment of their vigor and health. They come back to school after their long holidays tanned like berries, hale and bright. Theirs is what might be called a permanent freedom at least for more than two months to live with nature as nature intended them to live.

The Strawberry

The strawberry has arrived and now fills its place in the diet and in the preparations against the days when there will be no crops of berries being harvested — in the months of the year when epicures have to depend upon canned strawberries and strawberry jam if they want strawberry flavor.

This berry has established with the aid of women of various societies a festival, something which no other berry has achieved. The very suggestion in the name strawberry makes the mouth water, and summons up in the mind visions of cream and ice cream in association with the strawberry and also of course the shortcake. The true epicure knows the riches of the berries and the cream and the cake.

Unfortunately the season is not a long one. Like many good things it is all to brief. But strawberry growing is fortunately one of the greatest established gardening industries. That it will continue to occupy the same hold on the palate and the mind of everyone far into the future is a safe guess.

It has the quality that makes man wonder how nature could produce so delicious a product as the strawberry which appeals by its color and general appearance and by its exquisite flavor.

Salvation Army at Work

Among the agencies at work extending help and co-operation with the people of the sections of the country which were the victim of unprecedented floods, which caused immense destruction, claimed many lives in Canada and the United States and caused large numbers to be driven from their homes, whole settlements being forced to move, is the Salvation Army. The task is a vast one requiring united effort such as the Army can offer. From the first sign of distress this great religious and social organization has been at work looking after distressed humanity.

The task of looking after the needs of the flood victims, many of whom have lost all, is one requiring the help of such a body as the Salvation Army.

Weather Bureau

Complaining about weathermen is not very fruitful, says Woodstock Sentinel Review, if one is not prepared to come forth with a concrete suggestion. By far the best such suggestion is provided by a correspondent of the London Times:

"No one would wish to denigrate so invaluable and efficient an institution as the Meteorological Office, and it is clearly difficult to forecast accurately the weather conditions which will obtain in particular and small localities over short periods of time. In view of this, has not the time come for us to demonstrate our emincipation from belief in the perfectibility of science by appointing to the staff of the Meterological Office some trustworthy farmer, preferably with a tendency to rheumatism, who can, as the occasion demands, stand on the Air Ministry roof — or the Horse Guards Parade — and sniff?"

As the Twig is Bent

Speaking at the graduation exercises of Corpus Christi Separate School Father Francis French pointed up a truth which in this age, cluttered with signposts and too often without destination, needs to be emphasized. The truth that the onus of responsibility for the training of children is on parents, not teachers. We need good schools and good teachers and education all through life, but it is in the home where conduct and character must first be imparted — there where the twig must be bent.

With our propensity for education fads, with all our new techniques of social sciences, in our slogans about freedom and democracy, too many of us have forgotten this. We talk about making people free in order to make them good. We overlook the truth that people first must be made good in order to fit them to be free. In other words, the qualities of honesty, of truthfulness, of obedience, of reverence, must come first — and must be taught — in the home.

There is the cradle of man's future. — Ottawa Journal.

Apples at School

There's something wholesome about apples. They're so clean and smooth and lovely to look at and even better to taste. They make you think of the good things of life, and rule out the bad.

Mr. Alban Tracey, Ottawa architect, probably thought so, too, when he wrote his will, which leaves a trust fund of $1,000 to provide a hamper of No. 1 McIntoshes each Hallowe'en and each Christmas for the children of No. 2 Public School at South March, which he once attended.

Or maybe he figured it was about time there were apples for the kids instead of just apples for teacher. — Windsor Star.

Any one thing in the creation is suficient to demonstrate a Providence to a humble and grateful mind. — Epictetus.

TRAINED TO BE ROBINS

Three robins left the nest today.
The mother sent them on their way,
And as she bade them all goodbye
I wondered was it with a sigh?

I've watched her through the window pane
Her fledglings small begin to train,
And with devoted patience give
Instruction in the way to live.

I've seen her take them to the ground
And show them how and where is found
The food that suits the robin best,
And what to use to build a nest.

Last task! She taught them how to fly
With coaxing 'til they dared to try.
Then sent them off with loving trust,
Prepared to live as robins must.

Gain in Tourist Trade Offset By Spending Abroad

Ottawa, June 21 (CP)—Canada's tourist trade may be doing more business than ever before, but it is offset by the number of dollars Canadians are spending abroad.

Visitors last year spent $245 million in Canada, about $23 million more than they spent in 1946, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported Saturday. But on the other hand Canadians travelling abroad spent $167 million, nearly $31 million more than they spent in 1946.

As a result Canada's net receipts from the international tourist trade declined to $78 million from $86 million the previous year, said the DBS.

Spending of Americans visiting Canada totalled $235 million, compared with $216 million in 1946, and of Canadians in the United States $152 million, compared with $130 million for the previous year.

On overseas travel, including traffic between Canada and Newfoundland, Canadian expenditures last year climbed to $15 million from $6 million in 1946. Expenditures by overseas tourists increased to $10 million from more than $6 million.

Comparison of last year's gain in tourist expenditures in Canada with the $56 million gain in 1946 and the $46 million gain in 1945, would indicate 'that the rapid growth in the tourist trade which characterized the immediate post-war period had tapered off appreciably in 1947,' the DBS observed.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

By

EARL L. DOUGLASS, D.D.

ARE WE READY?

Some months ago I received a letter from one of my readers which contained the following: "It is no wonder Russia, Mexico, and other nations have put a curb on religious teaching. God hasten the day when the fallacy of ancient Bible teaching will cease throughout the world. Then and only then will the people of the world begin to understand life and have peace."

In a statement of this sort, Catholics, Protestants, and Jews have the issue squarely put before them. There seems to be today a definite and well-organized attempt on the part of certain persons to destroy religion and the institutions which have grown up about it. This desire may have existed in the past; now it seems to be implemented and supported by a definite and persistent program of action.

Are we ready to meet this challenge? We see in a statement of this sort what would happen to us if communism got any foothold in this country. If we have learned anything from the past war, it is that ideologies cannot be destroyed by military equipment. They must be destroyed by the power of a better ideology. The only cure for atheism is deeper and better religion on the part of those who now profess it. Letters like this cause one to wonder whether we are ready for the challenge.

4,000 Gaspe Fishermen Busy On Cod Catch

By CLIVE BRIAND

Douglastown, Que., June 21 — (CP) — The rocks and landing stages of 40 Gaspe Peninsula villages were white with drying cod today as the fishing season got into full swing. But you can take it from veteran Joe Levesque the angler's thrill is lacking for the 4,000 men and boys who annually catch 35,000,000 pounds of cod.

"The life of a Gaspe fisherman is hard," said Joe, who has fished out of nearby Cape des Rosiers for 40 years. "The cod is no game fish. When he takes your hook he lets you haul him up without a fight. But if you get a flatfish or a flounder, well, that's another story."

Cod is the main catch for the Gaspesian who ships his dried fish to the southern European markets, where it is a food staple.

Gaspe fishermen work in much the same manner as their ancestors who came from Brittany two centuries ago. But there is one exception. The present-day fisherman uses a boat powered with a one-lung gas engine.

Inshore craft are manned by one of two fishermen who fish anywhere from one to 10 miles out. Larger craft work the nearer banks, 12 to 15 miles offshore.

Simple Equipment

The only fishing equipment consists of lengths of cod-line and big hooks baited with herring or capelin and weighted with lead. The fisherman drops his line to the sea bottom in shallow water, draws it taut and takes a turn or two around a peg on the gunwhales.

Each fisherman handles two lines, holding them between his fingers and thumbs. When he feels a series of jerks he hauls up the line and drops the fish into the bottom of the boat.

With good fishing, a pair of fishermen can almost fill a boat in a few hours. But hand-lining is pretty monotonous.

"If you get a flat-fish or a flounder it provides some diversion," said Joe Levesque. "He tries to flip-flap away when you get him near the boat. And if you get a shark or a dog-fish, then that's a real thrill."

With a boatload of cod the fisherman comes home to his stage where he pitchforks his catch ashore. Then, with deft hands, despite the numbing cold of the water, he guts, heads and splits the cod while his family lays it flat, flesh up, on flakes or rocks to dry.

Just before sundown the fish is turned skin up to protect it from the dew. That process may go on daily until the fish is dried and ready for shipment at the end of summer.

Toronto, June 21 (CP)—Accused of robbing a woman passenger who left her purse on a chair while she danced Saturday night on a Lake Ontario excursion steamship, Walter Welsh, 24, of St. Catharines, employed aboard the boat was arrested here Sunday on a theft charge. The woman, Lyla Kobold of Toronto, told police $5 and some personal belongings were taken.

ARE YOU TRAINING FOR DIABETES?

The United States Public Health Service conducted a survey of 3,500 citizens of a Massachusetts village in 1945-46 and found that there were 40 cases of diabetes known to the physicians in the village, but the routine tests of the 3,500 citizens revealed that 30 of them had diabetes and had not yet learned of their condition. You may remember if you have read this column very long, that medical authorities say that 25 per cent of the entire population of the United States are carriers of the potentiality or tendency and may pass it on to their children, even though they themselves never develop actual diabetes.

Now if there are 30 unrecognized diabetics in a population of 3,500 in one community, it is not unreasonable to estimate that there may be over a million unrecognized diabetics in the United States today.

In many instances these diabetics will turn up with such conditions as retinitis and gangrene advanced perhaps beyond remedy before their diabetes is discovered. This is a cogent reason why every man and woman should undergo a regular physical or medical examination at the age of thirty-five if he or she has not done so before. An examination by his or her family physician, not by a "specialist" or a "clinic". This is particularly advisable if he or she has accumulated slacker flesh after thirty. In the booklet Training for Diabetes (for copy send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope) I say:

> People who are training for diabetes generally take on superfluous flesh and carry the excess for ten years or more before they finally achieve diabetes.

Notice I say nothing about weight. One man aged 40, 68 inches tall may be in far better physical condition than another even if he weighs 20 pounds more than the other man of the same age and height.

After all, our American standard of living is well suited to bring on diabetes in the thirty-odd million persons whose functional capacity to handle carbohydrates is limited to begin with.

These, it seems to me (remember, I'm no authority) are the chief contributing factors in the development of diabetes:

1. Most persons derive most of their daily calories from refined carbohydrates — white flour, white sugar, syrup, cornstarch, potato with jacket or peeling discarded.
2. Owing to our universal employment of transportation, train, trolley, subway, bus, taxi, private automobile, elevator, escalator etc., most of us get very little exercise.
3. The ultra-refinement of our modern diet keeps the daily intake of vitamin B complex of most Americans down to somewhere between 50 and 100 international units of thiamine (B), as compared with a daily intake of 600 units of Americans a century ago when unrefined (entire wheat) flour and unrefined (open kettle) molasses were staples of the American diet. Vitamin B is "poor man's insulin", remember?

That's all—if you want to amuse yourself attributing diabetes to "nervous" temperament or anything like that, I get off here.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

All Right

Is it all right to get your teeth cleaned by a dentist? I mean, does it injure the enamel? Dentists say once the enamel is broken or lost it can never be replaced. (T. H.)

Answer—Yes, in fact no one but your dentist can clean your teeth safely, and no one can have clean teeth unless he has them cleaned regularly ("prophylaxis") by his dentist. That includes removal of tartar or other deposits by scaling, polishing, and filling of any wee cavities the dentist discovers. It is only the old timer who arbitrarily asserts that enamel cannot be restored. Of course spontaneous heading or repair of cracks or losses of enamel may occur just as spontaneous healing or filling of small cavities occur, if the individual's nutrition is correct. Send twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope for booklet "Save Your Teeth". Do not use a clipping.

It is Stupid

As a constant reader please send me your pamphlet "It is Stupid to Suffer from Piles." (A. L. C.)

Looking Ahead in Ottawa:

Plan of Cabinet Ministers Introducing Legislation in Senate to Continue

(By The Ottawa Staff of The Canadian Press)

Ottawa, June 21. (CP)—The Senate experiment of having Commons Cabinet Ministers enter the Chamber to introduce legislation will be revived next session, says Senator Wishart Robertson, government Senate leader.

It was tried once this session, when Transport Minitser Chevrier explained the bulky bill to redraft the Canadian Shipping Act.

Senator Robertson, father of the idea, says plans were made to have other ministers introduce bills, but were delayed.

The purpose of the change is to redistribute the parliamentary load more equitably between the two Chambers and to hasten the legislative process.

The Commons is expected to debate the government's new Income Tax Bill next Friday.

The new bill abolishes many of the discretions now left in the hands of the Minister of National Revenue. It provides for the establishment of an Income Tax Appeal Board to hear appeals against income tax assessments.

To bring an appeal before the Board, the taxpayer will have to deposit only $15. A $400 deposit is required to bring a similar appeal before the Exchequer Court.

In the event that Newfoundland votes to enter Confederation next month, Canada is planning to send a mission to that country to look into the question of the future of its defence facilities.

Choice for the head of the Mission is reported to be C. M. (Black Mike) McEwen of Montreal, who as an air vice marshal commanded the All-Canadian No. 6 Bomber Group in Britain during the Second World War.

Steel Shortages, Rising Production Costs Plague U.K. Car Industry

By MICHAEL O'MARA

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Stratford-on-Avon, England, June 21 (CP)—The story of post-war production in the British automobile industry is a success story, yet executives are far from happy.

Export figures have soared to all-time highs, total production is nearing pre-war figures and rising rapidly, and there is little major labor difficulty.

But rising production costs and material shortages have raised considerable doubt whether the industry can continue to expand its overseas trade.

"In the question of costs and prices. . . we're still driving with the brade on," F. I. Connolly, President of the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders told correspondents touring motor factories in the Midlands.

Shortages, notably of steel, have slowed many production lines. The Jaguar Cars Ltd. factory in Coventry, which turned out 200 units weekly before the war, now is geared to handle 250—but only 110 are driven off the lines.

The Ministry of Supply says that steel is lacking for a program of 315,000 cars yearly for export and 160,000 for home sales, the original target. Supplies probably would restrict total production to about 400,000 with the domestic market sacrificed to overseas sales.

Among other shortages which plague the industry are building supplies. Factories, especially in battered Coventry, find it difficult to get construction permits. At Dagenham, Essex, a spokesman said the Ford Motor Company factory is "desperately short of space" because of building restrictions.

Another headache is short shipping space. The export program is all-important but thousands of cars and tractors pile up outside factories awaiting shipment allocation .

Waste by Canadians Scandalizes Britisher

Montreal, June 19 (CP) — Harry Cohen, Birmingham, Eng., businessman who has just completed a Dominion wide tour, took a few verbal potshots at Canadians before sailing for home today. He said:—

Beautiful music, by the choir under the direction of Miss Leona K. Riggs, enhanced the service. "Praise My Soul", as the processional hymn, "The Lord's Prayer" as part of the ceremony and "Where'er You Walk" during the signing of the register were sung. Mr. S. Alec Gordon presided at the organ.

White and blush pink peonies with ferns effectively decorated the altar of the church.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an original gown of snowdrift tulle and Chantilly lace fashioned with deep decollette silk basque, the over-bodice of lace styled with long, tight sleeves and a short, full peplum falling to a graceful point in the back. Layer upon layer of tulle formed the bouffant, finely gathered skirt which was worn over stiffened taffeta petticoats. A finger-tip veil of tulle illusion held by her tiny cap of lace, embroidered with flower medallions, each caught by a single pearl. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis.

Mrs. Ronald K. Pile, of Toronto, as matron of honor, chose an original model of sea-foam tulle over taffeta styled with a finely tucked Empress bodice with a low portrait neckline and tiny cap sleeves intricately pleated. The softly gathered skirt was worn over a hoop and fell into a graceful sweep at the back. She wore a matching half-hat of pleated tulle and carried a bouquet of multi-colored gladioli petals.

MAYBEE—TWIDDY

The marriage of Betty Georgina Twiddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Twiddy, R.R. 5, Belleville, and Charles George Maybee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Maybee, was solemnized in Cannifton United Church, June 12th., with Rev. John R. Trumpour officiating before a background of Spring flowers and lighted candles. Wedding music was played by Mr. Grant Wilkin, and Miss Barbara Cornell, of Belleville, was the soloist, singing "I Love You Truly" during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in a floor length model of the traditional white satin, with a coronet of white carnations holding her veil. Her only jewellery was a pearl necklace with matching earrings, and she carried a cascade of red roses.

Miss Margaret Francis was the bridesmaid, wearing pale blue taffeta, with rhinestone accessories, and carrying pink and white carnations. The flower girls were twin sisters, Misses Jean and Joan Twiddy, who wore pink taffeta dresses, with coronets of flowers and carried matching nosegays.

The groomsman was Mr. Clare Twiddy, a brother of the bride and the ushers were Messrs. Leonard Maybee, brother of the groom, and Earl Yateman.

Assistants at the reception were also in the bridal procession, including Misses Doris Twiddy, Dorothy Feeney and Eileen Reid, gowned similarly in blue taffeta, with Mrs. E. Yateman in plum colored taffeta, all wearing floral headdresses, and carrying matching nosegays.

Guests were seated by Mrs. R. Lockyer and Mrs. J. S. Wilkin, and refreshments were in charge of Mrs. E. Nicholson, Mrs. W. Archibald, Miss Elsie Smallhorn, Mrs. J. S. Wilkin and Mrs. R. Lockyer.

Three grandmothers were present: Mrs. John Archibald, of Cannifton, in her eightieth year, was celebrating the anniversary of her wedding fifty years ago and was the recipient of the bride's bouquet; also Mrs. W. Johnson and Mrs. S. H. Twiddy, to all of whom toasts were proposed. A great uncle and aunt of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wilkin, presented a corsage to Mrs. Trumpour, since Rev. Mr. Trumpour had officiated at their marriage twenty-eight years ago. Mr. Trumpour proposed a toast to the bride, to which the groom responded. Toasts to the mothers and fathers were proposed by Mrs. R. Lockyer and Mrs. Ernest Maybee respectively, to which the bride's parents responded by singing a duet "An Apple Blossom Wedding".

For travelling to Toronto and points in the United States, the bride chose a suit of maroon gabardine, with white accessories.

Following their return, Mr. and Mrs. Maybee will reside in Belleville.

Out-of-town guests were present from Toronto, Campbellford, and Harold, Ont.

Women's Institutes Hold Annual District Meetings

North Hastings

Eldorado—The 40th District Annual meeting of North Hastings Women's Institute was held June 8th in the Eldorado United Church, with District President, Mrs. E. Moore of Madoc, presiding. In spite of the heavy down-pour of rain there was a large attendance. The church was beautifully decorated with early summer flowers. Mrs. Jas. Bailey of Eldorado, graciously welcomed the delegates and visitors; Mrs. Beatty of Madoc, led in community singing, with Mrs. Hulin of Madoc, at the organ. Mrs. Bailey introduced five new branches, organized during the past year, and expressed the wish that all would have a happy day. The new branches are Paudash, McArthur's Mills, Carlow, Queensboro and Madoc Juniors. Rawdon Juniors were also organized, but were not represented. Mrs. Clater of McArthur's Mills responded.

Minutes of the last District Annual were read by the Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Barlow of Bonarlaw, with a report of the executive meeting. The president urged that a large representation of branches attend this meeting, as planning the program for the convention entailed much work, which should be shared by all branches. The District financial statement showed that after paying expenses only a small amount remained in the treasury. Financial reports from the branches showed a substantial bank balance. The auditors' report was accepted.

Prospective Visitor From England

A letter was read stating that Mrs. Brain, of England, intends visiting Canada this summer, and would appreciate meeting several Women's Institute branches with the object of exchanging helpful ideas. After some discussion it was decided to have a rally at Ivanhoe the week of Sept. 5th with a pot luck dinner, each branch contributing one number for a short program, with a collection towards defraying Mrs. Brain's expenses.

Mrs. Moore, in her presidential address, spoke of the five new branches, and said she had visited each one, and thought there was a possibility of at least two more new branches, Maple Leaf and Greenview.

At present there are sixteen branches and an additional membership of one hundred and fifty. Mrs. Moore expressed gratitude for the kindness and co-operation given to her, and wished the incoming president every success.

Other Interesting Reports

Reports of standing committees were given with many new and useful suggestions, which should be of value in planning programs. Miss Hopkins discussed these reports. The Girls' Work report deserves special mention. Miss Hopkins spoke of her visit to North Hastings, and said she had coached for twenty-seven years, and felt that her work is now showing results.

Mrs. Clifford Clancy exhibited a number of books and pamphlets available to the Institutes, which will be helpful for newcomers to our country, and for mothers of small children.

Mrs. Wallace, a member of Rylestone Branch, contributed a much appreciated solo.

Mrs. Mitchell, Provincial Director, spoke informatively of the work of the Board. There are 1,350 Women's Institutes, 52 Junior organizations and a membership of 38,000, which the Board hopes will reach 50,000 this year. 153 British Institutes have been adopted by Canadian branches.

Dinner was served in the Church Hall to more than 100 visitors by the ladies of the Eldorado Branch.

Miss Hopkins answered the unusual number of queries from the Question Box.

Mrs. Holbert of Huntingdon Branch sang very beautifully, "In The Garden of Tomorrow."

Highlights of the Madoc and Rawdon Junior Institutes were given. These young branches are very enthusiastic, and interesting meetings were reviewed. An outstanding address was given by Mrs. J. Horsepool, of Faraday Township, who is serving her second year as Councillor. She spoke on "Woman's place in civic affairs."

Playing her own accompaniment, Mrs. Rundle of Marmora sang, "Now is the Hour."

A resolution that an assistant be appointed to help the president, rather than divide the district, was introduced by the Madoc Branch. It is felt that the district is too large to be covered by the president alone, but the idea of an assistant was left in abeyance for the Provincial Board's consideration. A discussion re the raising of the membership fee resulted in a negative decision.

Mrs. Mitchell conducted the election of officers with the following results:

ELECTED DIRECTOR

Guelph, June 21 — Grant Morrow of Peterborough was elected a director of the O. A. C. Alumni Association on Saturday.

V.O.N. NEWS

"I won't be able to go shopping with you today, after all," Helen said over the phone to Betty. "I'm taking little Mary down to have her pre-school physical round-up", she continued, "and I just can't believe she'll be going to school next Fall."

"But, whatever is a physical round-up?" queried Betty.

"Oh, you know, the usual check-up on tonsils, weight, measurements, sight and hearing tests."

"But, my gracious, why do that now? put in Betty. "Why not wait until the time comes," and then get ready."

"It seems all the public health authorities find that this is best possible time for physical check-ups. If any abnormalities are found, then they have plenty of time to be under a doctor's care, before school begins."

"I suppose, too," added Betty, "a small child going to school for the first time, has many adjustments to make, without adding health complications. Immunizations and inoculations are upsetting enough, without having to conform to formal school restrictions also. Being thrown among a host of strange children for the first time is an ordeal. I think I'm beginning to understand that the easier the adjustments are for the pre-school child the better."

"I agree," replied Helen, "and it's something for a mother to have the summer season ahead with the assurance that her child's health is all in order."

Annual Picnic Of Sacred Heart School is Held

Marmora, (Special) June 21 — The annual school picnic for the children of Sacred Heart Parish Marmora, was held on Sunday afternoon at Tipperary Hotel, of Mr. James McGrath, Crowe Lake.

The weather was perfect except for a prevailing wind. Parents accompanied the children, and made the event a real social gathering. The program for the afternoon began with water sports for one hour, then running races were conducted for boys and girls of different ages. A tug of war between forty boys proved very interesting and this was climaxed by a tug-of-war between 20 men whose strength overtaxed the quality of the rope which sent everyone sprawling on the ground.

Following this a game of soft ball between members of the Junior Holy Name Society also proved very interesting. At the conclusion every one gathered into family circles to enjoy picnic lunches on the grounds. The following children were winners in the field activities.

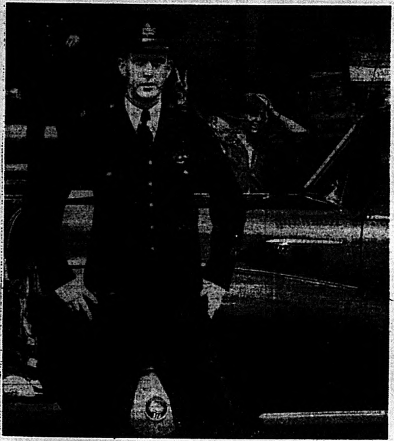
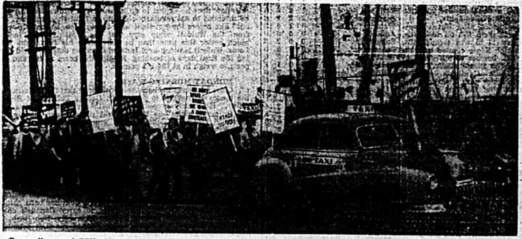
More air-minded than ever is Leon Bellaess of Verdun, Que., veteran of six war years in the RCAF. He has devoted more than $1,000 and 1 1-2 years of spare time to building the nearly-finished 90-hp craft, pictured beside a Dakota, above. Bellaess' wife and son are shown with him.

Fourteen pupils, seven boys and seven girls, made the trip to Niagara as guests of the Dufferin Old Boys' Association. They enjoyed their first train ride, first look at Niagara Falls, first boat ride to the foot of the falls, first tunnel trip and first full-scale dinner, frogs' legs and all, in a hotel. From the Rainbow Room of the General Brock, Bob Forbes, Old Boys president, indicates points of interest.



"V" sign is given by Jack Derhousoff, Canadian Seamen's Union member, arrested by police at Canada Steamship Lines pier, Toronto, on Saturday. Blood trickles down his face as he is escorted from pier shed. Alert policeman in foreground tried, good naturedly, to dodge in front of cameraman.

Toronto police, keeping order along the waterfront Saturday during a 'demonstration of sympathy" for the Canadian Seamen's Union, had some difficulty sorting the strikers out of the holiday crowd bound for the island. The officers formed a cordon along the Canada Steamship Lines property and kept the strikers moving on the sidewalks.



In Cornwall several CSU pickets wore gas masks to indicate they are prepared for any use of gas.

Jolliffe Urges Bill of Rights

Toronto, June 21 (CP) E. B. Jolliffe, Ontario C.C.F. leader, Saturday, called for reintroduction of a bill of rights in the Ontario legislature when the Provincial House next opens.

Such a bill failed to obtain passage at the last session, he said in a speech prepared for delivery at a garden party.

"Yet a few days ago we find a justice of the Supreme Court of Ontario upholding the validity of a restrictive convenant — a convenant which bars certain people from purchasing certain land, solely for racials reasons...

"In fairness to the judge I must point that he emphasized it of the Young Men's Christian Asbodies to discuss and determine what is best for the public good and to provide for it by the proper enactments!...In other words the judge puts the whole problem right back where it belongs —in the legislature."

DUTCH IMMIGRANT LOSES IMPLEMENTS IN FIRE

Elgin Mills, June 21 — (CP) — In Canada for only 10 weeks, Jan Beingauwen got something of a shock when he saw many of the farm implements he has been using go up in smoke. Jan, with his wife and baby, came from Holland and is a tenant on Angus farm near here. The fire razed a barn.

FIGHTS WITH ARABS

Thomas Forester Alexander, above, wearing an Arab army uniform, is the son of Eire's minister of the interior. He has been fighting as a volunteer with the Arabs in Palestine for many months. Recently wounded, near Haifa, he was taken to an Amman hospital, and is now fully recovered. Alexander has rejoined King Abdullah's Trans-Jordan regular army.

985 Cadets Gather At Camp Ipperwash

Camp Ipperwash, June 21 (CP) —Parade square, drill hall and long empty barracks echoed marching feet and military commands once again as 95 collegiate and technical school cadets from all across Ontario converged on this army camp Sunday.

Two hundred cadets will remain at the camp for six weeks— 120 for special motor transport training, 80 for a signals course and the remaining 785 will be in camp 10 days. Ranging in age from 14 to 18 the boys represented almost every Ontario centre with cadet army corps—east as far as Cornwall, and north to Timmins, Kirkland Lake and Sault Ste. Marie.

Picton

Historic Chapel Scene of Annual Service Sunday

Picton (Special)—The historic Conger Chapel, just east of Picton, was the scene of the annual service yesterday afternoon. A capacity crowd gathered to hear Rev. A. R. Whattam, of Toronto, speak. From the high pulpit, with its sounding board overhead, he spoke of the inspiration to be derived from the past, and urged that the examples set by the pioneers be taken as a model today. The choir of Picton United Church directed by A. A. Benvie rendered special music.

The Conger Chapel is also known as the White Chapel, and is one of the shrines of Methodism in this area. It was erected by pioneer settlers of Prince Edward County in 1809. Most of the donations towards its erection were in the form of farm produce. The edifice is well preserved and the interior is exactly as it was when built. Huge beams support the flat balcony. In the cemetery surrounding the church, lie many of the county's pioneers.

Hungry Bruin "Too Scrawny" To Shoot

Mamora (Special)—James Gordenier reports the presence of a bear on property he purchased a short while ago north of Beaver Creek bridge. He has been cutting brush there and Tuesday evening as the time for quitting was near at hand he heard the unmistakable growl of a bear. The next evening he saw what was apparently the same bear but the animal did not invite a shot because of its scrawny hide. "I hope it is paying a return visit in the fall" said the hunter jocularly "for it was a big one and its pelt would be more valuable then."

Cleveland Defeats Athletics In Double Bill as Tribe Fans Set New Attendance Record

By RALPH RODEN
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Bill Veeck, major league baseball's No. 1 showman, is a happy guy today.

Cleveland fans set a major league attendance record yesterday to fulfill one of Veeck's pet ambitions.

A total of 82,781 fans paid to see the American League's front-running Indians take both ends of a doubleheader from Philadelphia Athletics. The crowd topped the previous high of 81,841 set May 30, 1938, for a twin - bill between Boston and New York Yankees in New York.

Wednesday night the Indians will have a program celebrating the second anniversary of Veeck's purchase of the club and outside of a victory over the Yanks, Veeck would like nothing better than to set a fresh attendance mark.

The Athletics jumped on Bobby Feller for a 3-0 lead but the Indians staged a four-run seventh inning rally and went on to score a 4-3 triumph. The Indians breezed home in the nightcap, 10-0 behind the four-hit pitching of Bob Lemon. The victory was Feller's first since May 19.

In the nightcap, the Indians scored seven runs in the first 3 innings against Phil Marchildon of Penetanguishene, Ont., who went the route for the Mackmen.

A's Drop to Third

The defeats dropped the A's from second to third place as New York Yankees moved into the runner -up slot by taking both ends of a twin bill from the Browns in St. Louis 4-2 and 6-2.

Joe DiMaggio clouted three homers, one in the first game and two in the second, to spearhead the Yankee drive.

Boston's fast climbing Red Sox trounced Detroit Tigers 8-3 to move over the Tigers into fourth place It was the Sox' fifth victory in a row and 13th in their last 16 starts.

At Chicago, Washington Senators divided a doubleheader with the White Sox. The Sox won the opener 8-5 and the Senators the nightcap 4-1 to end an eight-game losing streak.

The National League's pace-setting Boston Braves also swept a doubleheader, beating Cincinnati Reds 5-4 and 4-1 in Boston. The victories boosted Boston's margin to 1½ games over the runner-up Pittsburgh Pirates who divided a doubleheader with the Phillies in Philadelphia.

The Pirates, after Dutch Leonard beat them 9-0 on four hits, collected 11 to win second tilt, 7-5. Ralph Kiner clouted his 18th and 19th homers of the year to feature the Pirate attack.

St. Louis Cardinals split a doubleheader with New York Giants winning the first game 7-2 but dropping the finale 6-4.

Home runs by Terry Moore, Stan Musial and Enos Slaughter enabled Murray Dickson to coast home in the first game.

Chicago Cubs downed Brooklyn Dodgers 6-4.

Oshawa Takes Twin Bill From Kingston Locos

Oshawa, June 20. (CP)—Oshawa Merchants shook off Kingston's threat for third place in the Central Ontario Baseball League race here Saturday afternoon when they took both ends of a double header from the Limestone City Locos, 6-4 and 6-3.

A home run, with two men on base was the winning blow for the homesters in each game. Stan McTaggart hurled six-hit ball for the Locos in the first game and deserved a better fate, leading all the way until the ninth with a man out.

His infield played poorly behind him, Red Knight having four errors at shortstop and the other three infielders dividing four other errors. In the ninth pinch hitter Gord Hanna opened with a single. Beefy Bathe, another insert, grounded to Lorne Ferguson, who threw low to second, leaving both safe. Then Bill Dell slashed a home run drive over Ferguson's head, to score three runs for the last minute victory.

McTaggart had to relieve Cy Young early in the second game. Locos played much better afield, but this time the Merchants had a big edge in hitting. It was Freddie Bigwood's homer in the sixth with two men on base due to a walk and Kingston's only error that turned a 3-3 tie into a 6-3 win for the Merchants.

WEEKEND STARS

(By The Associated Press)

Pitching, Bob Lemon, Indians—Shut out Philadelphia Athletics 10-0 in second half of doubleheader at Cleveland. Fanned 10, walked two in becoming first pitcher to win 10 games.

Batting, Joe DiMaggio, Yankees—Clouted three homers, one in first game and two in second, to lead Yanks to 4-2 and 6-2 victories over St. Louis Browns.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

BY GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

Gordie Muffit, Batawa righthander flashed his old time form in Peterborough on Saturday and fashioned a fine four-hit hurling chore to hand the Men 'o Murphy their first setback of the season. The Shoemen turned back the Petes by a 4-2 count in front of a big crowd of Peterborough fans and the show was one of those old-fashioned dingfights that are eye-pleasing to say the least.

* * *

Muffit struck out ten and walked two, edging Edger, Petes ace in a fine hurling duel, although the Batawa bludgeons accounted for nine safeties. Kennedy Watson and Bridgeman stole the batting thunder for the Shoemen, the former getting three for four, one of them a two bagger. Bridgeman and Watson got two each.

* * *

Oshawa Merchants proved before a home-town crowd on Saturday that they are still a force to be reckoned with in COBL circles, turningg back the Kingston Locos in both ends of a double bill. Gordie McTaggart, Napanee ace, was called to Kingston colors and was robbed of a victory in the ninth when Oshawa rallied to score three runs and overcome a one-run Limestone lead.

* * *

Oshawa and Batawa, fresh from their weekend tilts clash in the Fair Grounds here tomorrow night, and after their respective performances on Saturday, should give fans hereabouts a diamond treat. The game will get underway under the lights at 8.30.

Aubrey Coe's Kiwanis Juniors after two weeks idleness from league play swing into action at the Fair Grounds tonight where they clash with the Picton Athletics. The last time these squads met the juniors nudged the Picton squad by a 4-2 score on the Picton diamond. The local youngsters have yet to taste defeat this season and they'll be all out tonight to maintain their unbeaten string. In all probability Bobby Bunton will get the pitching nod for Kiwanis while opposing him will be the Picton ace, Frankie Dyer. Game gets under way at 8.30.

Rummaging around the Wellington Park over Sunday, we were told by some of the baseball-minded natives of the village that the Kiwanis team who played an exhibition game with the village crew last week, made a hit with the fans over there. They defeated the home-brews 10-1 in a one-sided struggle but the city guys played championship ball. They hit all the village pitchers and finally Art Wright was loaned the team to finish the job anl he did right nobly holding his mates down over the balance of the pastime.

Those fleet-footed Mercuries of the University of Western Ontario Mustangs backfield have "done gone done it again." On Saturday Don and Bob McFarlane, Jack Parry and Bill Larochelle, tightened their saddle girths, kicked up their heels, and tossed dust in the eyes of all and sundry competitors to give their Alma Mater six new championships. Huge Bob broke his own record in the 400-metre run; Parry annexed the 200-metre run. Don McFarlane romped home ahead of the pack in the 1,500-metre jant while Larochelle won the 400-metre hurdles. 150 athletes took part in the Zone 2 Olympic trials.

Meanwhile Gerard Cote, Quebec policeman and the best marathoner to do his stuff in the continent this year won his fifth title by taking the 10,00 metres run. Cote trailed Lloyd Evans, of Montreal all the way until within fifty yards of the finish. Spurting with plenty of reserve strength the slim Quebecer dashed home the winner a scant six feet ahead of the Montrealer.

According to news despatches from the Pompton Lake training camp of Joe Louis, the heavyweight champion has declared "If he (Walcott) couldn't lick me when I wasn't my real self, how does he expect to do it now." The Brown Bomber said he intended to eat regularly right up to fight-time and not "dry out" like before the last fight with Jersey Joe. Meanwhile word from the Walcott camp says that the challenger is "feeling much better this time than he did before his first fight with Louis. Walcott is being kept isolated from the outside world during the final days of training. He tips the beam at 196 and expects to weigh in at 194 1-2 pounds.

Robinson Defends Welterweight-Title In Chicago Tonight

Chicago, June 21 — (AP) — Welterweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson has a 15-round title date with 21-year-old Bernard Docusen at Comiskey Park tonight.

Robinson's third title defence originally was scheduled at Comiskey Park last Thursday, but the promoters called it off because of rain

Robinson, beaten only once in 88 bouts since 1940 and a knockout winner 58 times, had to starve and peel down to complete nakedness to make the 147 welter poundage last Thursday noon.

Docusen, a fancy Johnny-come-lately from New Orleans with only two defeats in 58 fights, tipped the commission beam at a lean 145½ in the first scaling.

Joe Louis 5-13 Favorite To Retain Crown

By FRED KERNER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, June 21 — (CP) — Joe Louis makes his 25th defence of the heavyweight boxing championship Wednesday night at Yankee Stadium in the eagerly - awaited return 15-rounder against Jersey Joe Walcott.

This might conceivably be Louis' swan song after an 11 - year reign as king of the heavies and it will be witnessed by a crowd of around 55,000 who are expected to pay close to $1,000,000.

Louis now is a 5 to 13 favorite to retain his crown and a 5 to 6 choice to flatten his New Jersey opponent from whom he won a disputed decision last December.

By ring time Wednesday, those odds might approach 1 to 2 or less since Louis' record of past performances shows he never failed to knock out a troublesome opponent in a return bout.

Willie Davis, Lee Ramage, Nate Brown, Max Schmeling, Bob Pastor, Arthur Godoy, Abe Simon, Buddy Baer and Billy Conn will all testify to that.

But the record hasn't disturbed the aging Walcott — who admits to 34 but whose friends whisper ages closer to 40. He has been gearing himself to go the limit, hoping once again to dismay the champ with his shifty, elusive tactics. Optimism in the Walcott camp is high and there is much talk of a Walcott knockout victory.

Louis, after a painfully sad start at his Pompton Lakes, N. J., training camp, looks a little more like his old self. He is not as fast afoot as he used to be, but the viciousness of his punches which brought him to the heights has been reappearing in recent sparring bouts.

Joe's handlers say they are delighted with his return to form and are looking forward to a quick knockout. Louis himself has said he will stop Walcott fast but the Bomber has been training to go all the way, nonetheless.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 21 — (AP) — On the eve of the second Joe Louis-Billy Conn fight, Francis Albertanti was asked for his prediction . . . Francis, a sharp guy with words as well as with eyes, replied approximately in these words: "Conn looks great; he's fast, he's in condition, he's boxing beautifully. I think the bum will get knocked out." . . . That's about how his department regards Jersey Joe Walcott's chances against Louis. Jersey Joe looks great, but we think an aroused Louis, in better condition, must have learned something from his mistakes in the last fight. Sooner or later he'll catch Jersey Joe making a mistake and knock him stiff.

Monday Matinee

Jersey Joe Walcott has been wearing heavy boots, training with a double mat under the ring canvas and with heavy tights covering his legs with the idea that his ring garb will feel light and make him faster . . . Cleveland Indians will celebrate the second anniversary of Bill Veek's gaudy regime Wednesday night.

Busboy's Holiday

Willie Pool spent his day off from his job in a Cleveland cafeteria at the race track the other day, but he gave it a new twist. . . . Willie, a former jockey and brother of a more famous rider, Earl, laid aside his chef's apron and cap, went out to Ascot Park and rode Takeitfromme to a victory. He still can do 115 pounds.

End of the Line

More than a ton of American baseball equipment is being sent to Holland to outfit teams there. We'd like to see them playing in wooden shoes.

Gerard Cote, Fleet-Footed Cop, Wins Fifth Race

Montreal, June 21 (CP) — Aspirants for Canada's Olympic canoeing, sailing and track teams strutted their stuff in Montreal during the weekend.

One victorious sailor won the right to represent the Dominion at the games while the canoers and trackmen advanced to the finals being held at St. Catharines and Montreal, respectively.

Paul McLaughlin, 29-year-old Toronto sailor from the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, breezed home with two straight triumphs in the firefly dinghies class to gain an Olympic berth. He defeated Ottawa's Bruce Kirby and Winnipeg's Jim Richardson.

Two other men with racing skill, Douglas Carman and Bruce Kirby, both of Ottawa, advance to the final trials in the swallows class at Toronto next Friday.

The track and field zone meet at Molson Stadium was a failure as far as competitors meeting the zone standards goes. Only Ottawa's nifty miler, Don Scott McEwen, a student at Glebe collegiate, bettered the zone mark. McEwen did the 5,000 metres in 15:55, five seconds faster then the required time.

Gerard Cote, the cigar-smoking policeman from St. Hyacinthe, Que., breezed home in the 10,000 metres but his time fell more than 35 seconds short of the stand. However Cote had already qualified for the Olympics by taking the marathon trial at Hamilton.

In the women's division, there were two, two-time winners. Rhoda Wurtele of Montreal, who has already competed for Canada in the Olympics as a skier, heaved the javelin and discus the farthest to take those events. The other double winner was Doly Moore of Montreal who took both the 100 and 200 metres.

Bisons Belt Ball For Eleven Homers Against Chiefs

Not even the New York Yankees or Babe Ruth's and Lou Gehrig's heyday can boast of the slugging feats written into the International League's record book by Buffalo Bisons yesterday.

The Bisons belted 10 homers in crushing Syracuse 28-11 in the first half of a doubleheader and added another roundtripper in outslugging the Chiefs 16-11 in the second game.

Anse Moore, former Detroit Tiger, was the heaviest Bison mauler. He banged three four-baggers in the first game including one with the sacks jammed and drove in nine runs. Moore hit another in the second game.

Outfielder Johnny Groth, and relief pitcher Saul Rogovin hit two four-masters apiece in the first game slaughter and Johnny Bero, Larry Barton and Chet Laabs socked the others. Laabs' blow was his 18th, tieing him with Baltimore's Howie Moss for the league leadership.

Available league records show that the previous high for most homers by one club in a game was seven, by Baltimore, Buffalo and Newark. The major league record is eight, set by the Yanks.

Frank Davis homered for the Chiefs in the first tilt and Clyde Vollmer whacked two and Jodie Beeler one for the Chiefs in the nightcap making it a total of 15 for the day. The two teams walloped 20 doubles and one triple in the two engagements for a total of 135 bases.

Rochester Red Wings beat Jersey City Giants 7-4 in the first game, thanks largely to two circuit blasts by rookie Frank Gravino.

In the finale the Giants turned back the Wings 7-4 when Sal Yvars exploded for a grand-slam homer in the seventh and final inning.

Five homers, four of them in the third inning by Lou Welaj, Al Gionfriddo, Duke Snider and Jimmy Bloodworth sparked Montreal Royals to a 9-5 win over Newark Bears. The Bears came back to take the nightcap 3-2 to remain a half game behind the front-running Royals.

Toronto Maple Leafs divided a twin-bill with Baltimore Orioles. The Orioles took the first game 6-4. Toronto won the second tilt, 1-0 with veteran Jim Konstanty outpitching rookie Lyman Linde.

Toronto, June 21 (CP) — The time honored shout of "kill the umpire" is as old as baseball itself, but every once in a while someone starts to take it seriously.

It happened when Kitchener Panthers were playing Stratford Nationals a week ago. Happily, the belligerent fans didn't accomplish their aim.

The incident, as recounted by Dan (Kitchener-Waterloo Record) Odette, had its elements of comedy in the early stages. Reid Buck, the man in blue, differed with Kitchener outfielder Frank Slota on whether he was standing in the proper position at the plate. Slota told Buck he was through as an umpire five years ago.

"Get out of the game," roared Buck.

"I'm wrong," Slota amended, "you were through 10 years ago."

"Get out of the park," Buck snapped.

"It wasn't ten years ago — it was 15," said Slota.

Buck's jurisdiction fell short of ordering the player out of town so the argument fell flat. But there was more to come.

Trailing 3-1 in the bottom of the nine, the Panthers put two men on base. The next batter was catcher John Slota (the Slotas had a lively afternoon.) An inside pitch flicked somewhere around his bat handle and the rhubarb began.

A number of eye-witnesses — and Slota — claimed the ball hit his hands. Umpire Buck ruled it had hit his bat and rolled foul. Demoralized, the catcher hit into a double play to end the game.

Odette counted more than 100 fans who swarmed onto the field apparently after Buck's scalp. Police ran interference and got the ump to the dressing room where he stayed till the mob dispersed.

No Excuse

Odette felt Buck had called it wrong. His umpiring had been bad enough to justify a special meeting of the Intercounty Baseball League to do something about it.

But Odette and most of his Western Ontario colleagues held no brief for the bloodthirsty Panther partisans who wanted to ride Buck out of town on a rail. Admitting that only a few had violent intentions, Odette read them a lecture on deportment:

"A crowd attack is both unsportsmanlike and cowardly."

Kramer Takes Over U.S. Pro Tennis Title

Jack Kramer dethroned Bobby Riggs as United States professional Tennis Champion Saturday. Kramer, who defeated Riggs decisively in their cross-country indoors series, turned back the two-time title-holder, 14-12, 6-3, 6-3.

Liverpool Soccer team completed its 11-game tour of the United States and Canada, Sunday and kept its unbeaten string intact with an 8-0 win over Kearny All-Stars in Newark.

A world record of 11 seconds for women's 80-metres hurdles was set Sunday by Mrs. Fanny Blankers-Koen, Dutch Olmypic hope, who beat her own official mark of 11.3 seconds.

The United States Senior golf team defeated Canada 36 1-2 to 8 1-2 Saturday for the Duke of Devonshire Cup at Southampton, N.Y. It was the 19th consecutive victory for the United States in the matches, first played in 1918.

Bob Feller announced Saturday he is cancelling all of his public appearances off the field for the rest of Summer in an effort to get back into the winning column. "I have notified my commercial sponsor that for the rest of the summer I will be unable to appear at their various awards, luncheons or any other public functions."

New York Giants have released outright veteran pitchers Bobo Newsom and Thornton Lee and announced the recall from Minneapolis of Southpaw Monte Kennedy.

Hailstorms and heavy rain flooded the Queens Club Courts and caused the abandonment of the finals of the London Tennis championships, Saturday. All titles and prizes were shared. California's Bob Falkenburg split the men's single's crown with Eric Sturgess of South Africa. Miami's Doris Hart and Mrs. Margaaret Osborne Dupont of Wilmington, Del., shared the women's title.

Letter to The Sports Editor

To Sports Editor,
Dear Sir:

In answer to a letter and comments which appeared in your column (Chips Off The Old Block) Sat. June 19, referring to an unfortunate incident which took place after a Trenton vs. Point Anne Can. Cement team at Point Anne on June 15, Mr. O. Pierce, O.A.S.A. representative of Trenton claims to have had a complaint from umpire A. Ethier of Trenton on two or three counts. I cannot believe Mr. Ethier told Mr. Pierce that "Hoodlums" attacked him. Unless he considers children ranging in age from 3 to 7 years are usually called (Hoodlums), who act without intelligent thinking, which seems to be general among children of that age and older. I am writing this to state we do not nor do we tolerate any one calling our children (Hoodlums) by Mr. Ethier, Mr. O. Pierce or anyone else.

I am not defending the children for throwing stones, as I have already taken steps to prevent the reaction of same at any games in Point Anne, Feeling that I am responsible for the conduct at the games, I should receive a letter of apology from Mr. Ethier, Mr. Pierce, or both of them, for calling our children (a gang of hoodlums). As for Mr. Pierce sending a letter to the Belleville Intelligencer, without first checking the facts of the case there should also be an apology.

As far as I can tell here are the facts:

1st: At every game we have a policeman present, not in uniform, as a rule, but never the less he's there, which blows Mr. Pierce's story sky high. The unfortunate stone throwing happened about 20 minutes after the game had finished and all local fans had left the grounds, except the bat boy and myself and several cars from Trenton. I was engaged in putting my equipment in my car, when someone called that kids were throwing stones. I went immediately to the call about 25 yards away and as I went around the cars the children saw me and ran for home. At that time they were not throwing stones. Of course I recognized them and not being shown or seeing any damage done, I immediately went back to my car. This once more blows Mr. Pierce's story sky high, as I was the only one there and I went to the aid of the defenders, and Mr. Pierce had said no one came to attempt to stop the riot, created by his so called (Gang of Hoodlums) 3 to 7 years.

Personally I feel, had I been in Mr. Ethier's place I could have taken care of the riot myself. Why Mr. Pierce thought so surely that Mr. Ethier's call in the 10th inning had anything to do with children of that age throwing stones at the umpire about 20 or 30 minutes later is more than I can figure out.

I would like to state, Mr. Editor, while I'm writing, that any team or umpire who come here to play or work will receive the sportsmanship they expect and always have received from our local fans and players, which never before have been challenged, and I sincerely hope it never will be again.

I am signing my name on behalf of the Canada Cement Club Softball Team and local sporting supporters.

I remain sincerely yours,
Frank Sedore,
Manager C.C.C. Softball Team.

Locke Coasts To Easy Chicago Golf Victory

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

Chicago, June 21 (AP) — The boys dusted off the record books today after Bobby Locke captured the Chicago victory championship with a 72-hole total of 266—18 strokes under par and a margin over Ellsworth Vines of 16.

The chipping and putting wizard from South Africa fired a final round 66 over Midlothian's par 35-36—71 layout. He posted a pair of 65s to break the course record in his first two trips of the tournament and added a third round 70.

His 16 stroke winning edge was the best since 1945 when Ben Hogan blasted 261 to beat Byron Nelson by 17 strokes in the Portland, Ore., Open.

The 266 tally of the 30-year-old Locke was the best ever carded in the Chicago victory meet. Hogan's 270 last year was the previous record.

However, Locke's score was far from being the lowest 72-hole tally in P.G.A. books. Horton Smith carved a 241 over the Sand Greens at Evergreen, Colo., in the 30s. Nelson posted a 259 in the 1945 Seattle Open; Craig Wood had 264 to win the Metropolitan Open 10 years ago.

But Locke's 266 at Midlothian must go down as one of the greatest tournament winning scores. Although the course measures but 6,587 yards, the lightning last, tricky greens, narrow fairways and heavy rough make it a fine championship test.

Dutch Harrison, who struggled for a 295 to finish far down the list voiced the opinion of most of the pros at Midlothian.

"Locke's score was phenomenal for such a course."

Alexander was third for 70 for 283. Johnny Bulla of Phoenix was fourth with a 71 for 284. Groupped at 285 were George Fazio of Conshocken, Pa., Jimmy Walkup of Chicago, Dick Metz of Arkansas City, Kas., and Jim Ferrier of San Francisco.

Batawa-Oshawa Win Weekend COBL Games

Fans saw action a'plenty in 9 Senior Baseball League games played in Ontario during the weekend.

At Kirkland Lake the home town, Temiskaming league - leading Greyhounds shaded Hollinger Bombers 5-4. Batawa Shoemen handed the first-place Peterborough Petes a 4-2 defeat — their first Central Ontario Baseball League reverse.

In another Central Ontario fixture at Oshawa, Oshawa Merchants took both ends of a doubleheader from Kingston Locos 6-4 and 6-3. Guelph Maple Leafs won a 2-1 victory over Waterloo Tigers at an Intercounty League contest at Guelph. Playing at home, Kitchener Legionnaires trimmed Brantford Red Sox 8-4. London Majors trounced Galt Terriers 14-4 at London.

Niagara District Senior League Welland Stokes stopped the Niagara Falls, Ont., Flores 5-4 at the Falls. In Sudbury the local Shamrocks shellacked Coniston Buzzers 18-10 in a Nickel Belt League fixture.

Kirkland's Greyhounds gained a 2-1 edge in the third when Bert Armstrong hit a circuit clout, bringing in a run. The boys from Timmins stole the lead in the fifth when Magnotich and Ryan rallied. Then Greyhounds evened things up in the eighth and scored the winning run in the last half of the ninth.

Their loss didn't shake Petes from the top of the heap but it did give the Bata bunch a firmer grip on second place. Kennedy of the winners pounded out 3 hits for four, while Bridgeman and Watson smacked two hits each. The trio got seven of Batawa's nine runs.

Winning blow for Oshawa Merchants in both games was a home run with two men on bases. Stan McTaggart hurled six-hit ball for the Locos in the first game, leading until the ninth. Then Oshawa scored three runs for a last-minute victory — one of them Bill Dell's game-clinching homer.

In the second game Oshawa won, even though out-hit by Kingston 11-6. Merchants hit steadily for 12 safeties. Freddy Bidgood's homer in the sixth frame turned a 3-3 tie into a 6-3 lead for the winners.

Guelph Maple Leafs chalked up their third straight win with 3 hits in the 12th inning. The loss was the third of the season for the league-leading Tigers. Frankie Liscombe's bunt in the 12th with one out and the bases loaded brought Jackie Luckman in with the winning tally. Pitcher Red Arnott started for Waterloo but gave way to veteran Cy Bricker in the 10th, with one out.

The Kitchener - Brantford struggle was featured by nine extra base hits. Red Sox got three triples and four doubles—two by Tom McGratton. John Bain socked a homer and Shorty Miller hit a double for the 4th-place Legionnaires.

Russ Evon's powerful bat paced London Majors. League batting champ last year, he hammered out three triples and a double in four trips to the plate. Galt's Eddie Bush was replaced on the pitching mound in the fourth by Chuck Mercer. Maynard stepped in for Mercer in the seventh inning and finished the job.

Welland's success was due to slick work by relief hurler Ronnie Hansen. He allowed only four hits in 7 1/3 innings. Labnock sparked the victors with three hits out of four trips to the plate. Meagher and Harper drove two hits each for Flores.

Maurice St. Amour of Shamrocks registered his sixth consecutive pitching victory. He was nicked for 10 hits, struck out six Buzzers and walked three. His batting contribution to Sudbury's win included a sixth-inning home run, a double and a single to drive in five runs.

McFarlane-Led Mustangs Take Six Track Titles

London, Ont., June 21 — (CP) — Led by the big McFarlane brothers, University of Western Ontario tracksters more than fulfilled fondest hopes of coach Murray Monie in the Olympic trials and Ontario track championship here Saturday.

The Westerners took six championships and broke two Dominion records.

Bob McFarlane did the 400 in 47.3, clipping .2 from his own record. The team, composed of the two McFarlanes, Jack Parry, and Bob Pierce, chalked up a 42.3 record in the 400 relay, three tenths better than the previous mark.

Western began to show its form early in the day when Hill Larochelle finished the 400-metre hurdles with a time of 54.8, eight-tenths of a second off the mark set in 1936 by Alumnus Johnny Loaring.

Londoners finished one - two in the 100 metres. Ted Haggis, West Track Club member took the event in 10.5 with Parry of Western at his heels.

Don McFarlane had little trouble in the 800 metre race, handily defeating Gord Haight of Hamilton in 1.56.

UNDERSTANDING= MODERATION

Understanding comes to us when we see things through the other fellow's eyes . . . when we listen through the other fellow's ears . . . when we consider the other fellow's point of view at all times.

It's the key to happy living together. For it leads us to weigh our words and shape our actions for the common good.

Happily a Canadian characteristic, it's this understanding which leads us to choose the path of moderation in all things . . . moderation in our thinking, moderation in our spending . . . moderation in our pleasure, moderation in the enjoyment of whisky. For understanding makes us realize that moderation benefits not only our own selves, but our families, our communities and all of Canada.

You have held some hands that look too strong for simple routine action. No need to fib about them. If necessary, better bids can be found to fit such situations.

Hold the north hand shown here:

♠A Q 7
♥K Q 6
♦A 4 3
♣J 9 6 2

Your partner in south opens with one club. Absolutely no doubt in your mind that game of some kind is in your pair. If nothing else, it must be in no-trump.

Opener promises at least four high cards. You have five. And they are five in a very favorable position with what partner holds. These nine are bound to be enough for a no-trump game.

Bids follow the order of choice in T-A-N; takeout, assist, no-trump. With no biddable suit for a takeout, look for an assist. With adeqquate support for clubs you have an assist.

Game in clubs takes 11 tricks. Opener says he has at least five suit tricks. Your hand has a count of five. These ten are not enough for game in a minor. You are sure of game in no-trump but not in clubs.

If you assist clubs it would be untrue to jump without seeing enough for game. If you assist without a jump, partner is not forced to bid again. He may pass and you miss a no-trump game.

Usually in such holdings you have a biddable suit for a takeout. This you can safely do without a jump. Because a new suit takeout is forcing for one round. It assures you another chance to bid.

But here you have neither a forcing takeout nor a forcing assist. Although rule says an assist comes before no-trump, rule is no fool.

It tells you when to jump and why.

This is a case where a jump response of two no-trump would be best. If necessary, the club assist can be shown later. But you may never find it necessary.

An act with good reason is always in season.

It was occupied and its owner, E. L. Brown, frightened away the intruders, who dropped an estimated $1,000 worth of loot from the other house in a driveway.

Hollywood, June 21. (AP)—Sir Ralph Richardson, who has arrived here for his first Hollywood film, indicates he might stay for more.

The nighted actor, who looks like a younger streamlined Nigel Bruce, is playing in "The Heiress" with Olivia Dehavilland and may remain here for another film or two.

Sir Ralph has tacked a sign on his dressing room that expresses his attitude: "Actor available; reasonable rates; no waiting in line."

Stirling Memorial-Dedication Service to Honor Heroes of World War II

Stirling — Stirling and community did honor to its glorious dead at a Memorial and Dedication service held Sunday afternoon last, when a large crowd paid tribute to those who gave their lives during World War II in a service at the local cenotaph. Approximately fifty members of the Canadian Legion from Stirling and Frankford, under the direction of Sgt. Major H. Skillicorn, and led by Stirling Citizens' Band, paraded to the Memorial Park for the service. Members of the families of those who gave their lives were seated at the front of the cenotaph, while the band and Legion members lined up on opposite sides.

The service was conducted by Rev. C. C. Brazill, with the Scripture lesson read by Rev. R. W. Barker. Rev. (H.) Capt. A. S. McConnell, M.B.E., of Trenton, a former rector of St. John's Anglican Church, was the speaker, and brought an appropriate and inspiring message to the large gathering. Capt. McConnell unveiled the memorial with these words:

"To the glory of God and in memory of those from Stirling and community who gave their lives in World War II, I now unveil this memorial."

A dedicatory prayer by Rev. W. H. V. Walker was followed by the Last Post, a two minutes' silence, and Reveille, played by bugler Bob Hulin.

Prayer was offered by Rev. R. W. Barker and Rev. C. C. Brazill read the names of the fallen as follows:

Coolidge Ashley, Stanley Dainard, Ivan H. Martin, Aubrey Rodgers, Donald Stapley, Ralph Stapley, Alvin Stoneburg, Jack Wood, Irvine Woodbeck and Maurice Woodbeck.

Floral tributes were placed at the cenotaph by Geo. Noble, president Stirling Branch of the Canadian Legion, by Ernest Dainard, Mrs. Frank Wood, Mrs. Hiram Rodgers, Mrs. Oliver Stapley, William West and Mrs. Russell Stapley.

Following the singing of "Abide With Me" Rev. Brazill pronounced the Benediction.

Pittsburgh (AP)—William G. Tyus finally retaliated for the seven months his family lived in a hotel because landlords didn't like to rent to persons having children.

Tyus, a newspaper copyreader, with three young sons, got a house the only way he could. He bought one.

That was in 1945. Recently he accepted a new job in Detroit. He decided to rent his house—but with a difference.

The ad in the paper read: "Any people wanting to rent must have children."

A few hours after the ad appeared the house was let — to a couple with four children.

Little Benny's Note Book

After supper ma said to pop, William, suppose somebody came to you for advice in regard to adopting a baby?

I'd tell them to pick a quiet, pritty one with no parts missing, pop said, and ma said, Now William, I'm serious. This woman had a loss in her family and she wants to know if she would be wise to adopt a baby.

She cant be very wise if she has to go around asking, and you'll be wise if you let her make up her mind for herself, pop said. Some babies tern out to be a credit to everybody concerned, and others grow up to be duds. That's something nobody can tell in advance, not even the baby itself he said, and ma said, You mean hereditty.

That's a good werd for it, pop said. A bawlling, spindly, cantankerous baby may grow up into a famous football player and scrupulissly honest bank president, but on the other hand some of our meenest looking cut throats were once beautifull appeeling babies that wouldn't say Boo to a sour formula, he said, and ma said, Well that's so, naturelly, but how about the other side of the picture? I mean the baby has no garantee that you'll provide it with the proper environment, so dont you think it's unfair and one sided to insist on a garanteed hereditty? she said.

By gollies you've got a sharp point there, pop said. Who is this woman that wants the advice? Anybody I know? he said, and ma said, Well, you've heard me mention her problem. Her name is Mrs. Armbruster and she's been inconsolable ever since Wigway died, she said.

Yee gods, are you speaking of the woman who lost her 10 year old goldfish? pop said, and ma said, Now William, Wigwag was no ordnerry gold fish. It had a triple tail and real intelligence. Mrs. Armbruster's frends always inquired about him, she said.

Me not hearing what pop said on account of him saying it to himself behind the sporting page.

Rodeo Rider Dies Imitating Brother

Electra, Tex., June 19—(AP)—Buckshot Reynold' do or die bid for fame as a rodeo rider ended in tragedy Friday.

A shout went up from the 3,500 spectators here Wednesday night as the 16-year-old youngster came tearing out of the chute riding a bucking bull describes as "a particularly bad one."

The bull lunged downward. The boy's head struck full force against the animal's horns. He held on. The bull lunged a second time. Again the boy's head was hurled against the bull's horns. He still held on. Suddenly his grip relaxed. He fell off into the dust of the rodeo arena, his head battered.

Spectators leaped over the barricades and carried Buckshot to hospital. He died Friday.

Buckshot's friends said he was trying to follow in the footsteps of his brother, Fess, a professional rodeo performer.

The bike track is six miles long is well lighted. The bicycles were specially built for the underground job.

"NOT THIS TIME" — FRENCH PRESIDENT

In Bordeaux to open the Bordeaux wine festival, President Vincent Auriol of France indulged in a mild form of heresy when he spurned some fine snorts of vintage Bordeaux wine in favor of a glass of milk. He had already sampled some of the finest vintages of the famous city, and he took the attitude that discretion was the better part of valor. Notice the odd expressions on onlookers' faces as M. Auriol lifts the cow nectar to his lips.

Yu'An Hee See Laughs

By Sax Rohmer

"But, what happened—in Singapore?"

Dawson Haig finished his drink and shrugged his shoulders.

"On my way back to Johore Bahru," he replied, "I was ingeniously lured into a Chinese Bath of Feathers—that's all!"

"Bath of Feathers?"

"Exactly, Kearney! It's too late to go into details. Incidentally, though, I got out again....and there was no possible connection between this dastardly attempt and my call on the marquis!"

"I failed, old man — failed miserably. My name with the chief was mud. Yet, you see, I was on the right track. Yu'an Hee See was in Limehouse tonight. Yu'an Hee See directed the murder of poor Norwich! I know, now—because you heard him laughing....".

"Good God! Haig, an idea.... he may be sailing in the Wallaroo!"

Dawson Haig nodded— and grinned.

"I hadn't overlooked that possibility. Detective Sergeant Durham sails in the Wallaroo as far as Marseilles."....

"I'm glad of that," said Kearney.

Haig stared at him very hard, and:

"Most blandly," he said, "the Greek gentleman I've mentioned referred to their establishment in Stamboul, tonight. He was safe. There's about as much chance of getting justice in Stamboul as of finding a gold mine in Shoreditch. But the Stamboul branch, as well as that in Limehouse, doesn't deal exclusively in stolen goods, or even drugs. The marquis is interested in a third industry— possibly based upon Stamboul but probably not."

"What do you mean?" Kearney asked excitedly.

"Slaves!" Haig replied. "Yu'an Hee See is the biggest slave trader in the east!"

Eileen, a light sleeper, was awakened by the revolutions of the screw of the Wallaroo. She sat up with a start. Dim grey light was shining through the slatted shutter over her stateroom window. She jumped out of bed and peeped out across a deserted deck. That dreary panorama of the Lower Thomase was slipping by, a drab and desolate picture.

She watched for a while, then closed the shutter with a bang and turned up the light.

The expensive-looking box of cigarettes which Dawson Haig had brought lay in a net rack above her head. Eileen took out a cigarette and lighted it.

She sat on the side of the bed hands clasping one upraised knee. The panic of waking alone in that grey morning had left her. As she sat there smoking and reflecting upon a hundred and one things, but chiefly upon the problem of whether she should write to Dawson Haig as she had said she would do, or whether she should wait to see if there was a letter from him at Marseilles, she became aware of something....

Someone—someone who had a regular, heavy tread—was pacing the deck on which her stateroom opened. As this promenader passed and repassed, she experienced a rising curiosity respecting his identity. No doubt a fellow passenger, unreasonably awakened, as she had been, and who, despairing of further sleep, had gone out for a walk.

Presently she heard his returning footsteps approaching from the after end. She turned off the light pushed the shutter aside and peeped out.

She saw the promenader— a big man in a double-breasted blue overcoat; a man who wore a bowler hat, and who glanced aside with what seemed like definite curiosity as he passed her door. He was fresh complexioned and had blue eyes—very friendly-looking blue eyes.

There was nothing in the least degree alarming about him, except that he seemed to be interested in her cabin. Also, she had not noticed him among the passengers who had come aboard at the King George Dock.

Eileen reclosed the shutter and turned in. And Detective Sergeant Durham, noting that her light had gone out again, passed along B deck to another cabin which interested him. He stood near the portable filling his pipe, and then moved on.

Opening a heavy door he stepped into a cross alleyway, then turned left into another running forward and aft. Peering curiously at the door of one stateroom, which was on the hook, he proceeded further to another:...

Some passengers on the night cross-Channel steamer from Boulogne noticed a grey motor cruiser which passed them in a dead calm sea about halfway across. Her extraordinary turn of speed excited their curiosity.

They must have been even more intrigued could they have witnessed the arrival of this mysterious craft off the French coast.

Stealing through the haze of a grey and cheerless dawn the mystery boat edged in, point by point, to where a lazy swell played idly upon a shelving beach beyond which lay desolate sand dunes stretching in the direction of Boulogne.

Stern on the flat beach they lay, showing no lights, their propellers turning lazily. Presently a boat came out from a shadowy inlet, the entrance to which was invisible in that half light. Two rowers labored at the oars, and very shortly drew alongside.

Those five small square cases which had come from Limehouse were transformed from the motor cruiser to the boat. Orange Blossom then stepped gingerly into the little craft, supported by Yu'an Hee See, who followed her. Finally came Jo Lung. As the boat swung away:

L. P. LEADER CHARGES C.C.F. GAINS DUE TO L.P.

Regina, June 19 — (CP) — A. A. McLeod, Ontario leader of the Labor Progressive Party, said Friday night the efforts and policies of his party were largely responsible for the gains made by the C.C.F. in the Ontario election.

"We played a big part in the election of the 22 C.C.F. members," he said in an election campaign address to approximately 85 people. "I say here categorically they would not be in the Ontario Legislature today if it were not for the efforts and policies of the Labor Progressive Party."

AFTER RUSSIA CLAMPED DOWN ON TRAVEL

The Soviet military administration in Berlin issued new regulations making it virtually impossible for any German from the Anglo-American-French zone to travel in the Russian sector. The order specified that Germans must have written permission from German administrative bodies under Russian control to visit the Soviet sector. The order has, of course caused untold hardship to those who were en route to Berlin when the order was issued. This photo shows a girl sleeping on her baggage at Helmstedt railroad station while her younger brother busies himself with the tired little dob.

Port of London At Standstill

London, June 21 — (CP)—The vast port of London was practically at a standstill in the grip of a 6-day dock workers' strike now involving 17,000 men. And with settlement deadlocked, the government was reported considering using the army to unload vital food cargoes.

As Londoners read in their morning papers that their next week's meat ration may be threatened by the work stoppage, dock workers flouted a new call by transport and general workers to go back to their jobs.

At Liverpool, an attempt to start a sympathy strike failed to gain support.

A total of 117 vessels, including a number of Canadian ships, are tied up by the strike which started from a grievance of 11 men over extra pay for unloading dirty cargo. Forty-seven of the ships are loaded with food — including 30,000 tons of meat — and 70 are loaded with general cargo.

ART INTEREST GROWS

Ottawa — (CP) — Additional functions taken on by art galleries may be a factor in the growing interest in art among Canadians. On a Sunday afternoon the Art Gallery of Toronto drew a crowd of more than 10,000 persons. Other cities from Halifax to Vancouver have reported similar increases in attendances.

U.S. Foreign Aid Program Seen Imperilled

Washington, June 21 — (AP)—The Truman administration's foreign aid program Saturday was imperilled by "two immovable objects" setting $1,000,000,000 apart on the Senate- House of Representatives Conference Committee on foreign aid funds.

Senator Styles Bridges (Rep. N. H.), chairman of the joint Committee, applied the "immovable" label after efforts to reach a compromise between the House appropriation and a Senate figure broke down completely Friday night.

Bridges made plans to get the group together again Saturday. But he was pessimistic over chances to reach agreement before Saturday night's scheduled Congressional adjournment.

Senator Robert Taft (Rep. Ohio), chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee, was more confident. "These things always happen," he told reporters, "but they generally get together again."

"I am prepared to stand with Senator Vandenberg's view of what is essential to carry out our normal commitment," he said.

Vandenberg (Rep. Mich.), led the fight for Senate adoption of the $6,125,710,228 fund to be used during a 12-month period. But the House cut that sum, and voted to spread it over 15 months — thus increasing the cut on the issue of the program's duration the conference group was hopelessly deadlocked.

Representative John Taber — (Rep. N. Y.), who engineered the slash in the House, told reporters after Friday night's fruitless session:

"There is no agreement on anything. It's over."

Victim of Brutal Assault Identifies Man as Assailant

Gordon Harvey Charged In Teresa Dowling Case

Toronto, June 22. (CP)—Gordon Harvey, 21, was charged today with assaulting eight-year-old Teresa Dowling in a suburban York Township field May 17. He was remanded without bail to Thursday.

The child suffered a fractured skull, inflicted by her stone-wielding assailant. Apparently left for dead, she was found the next day in the field covered with branches. She was not criminally assaulted.

Police said today Teresa had identified Harvey Monday night as she and two police officers scoured the North Toronto area on a routine search for her attacker.

Officer said that Teresa suddenly pointed to Harvey on a street north of Eglinton Avenue. He was immediately taken into custody.

The charge is aggravated assault. Police declined to release any details of Harvey's background.

After her recovery in hospital, Teresa said she was approached by a man, who told her to accompany her "to see wonderful things."

Clothing Torn to Shreds

Witnesses saw the pair enter the field. It was not until the next morning that she was found by searching police.

Her clothing was torn to shreds and her face covered with blood. She could only say: "I'm scared". She was taken to hospital, where an operation was performed to relieve pressure on her skull.

Rewards totalling $1,500 were posted for the capture of her assailant. On May 25 police arrested Walter Winckler in Crystal Beach, Ont., after they said, he confessed to attacking the child. When his confession was found to be fraudulent, Winckler was charged with creating a public mischief.

Police said the field where Teresa was found is less than two miles from where the body of 11-year-old Arlene Anderson, a paralytic, was discovered ravished and murdered last Aumumn.

An apprentice boilermaker, Harvey is the father of a 12-day-old baby.

CLASH THREATENS TO PLUNGE STATE INTO CIVIL WAR

Armies of Israel and Irgun Battle Over Landing of Arms Ship

Tel Aviv, Israel, June 22 (AP)—A clash between Irgun Zvai Leumi and Hagana, the army of Israel, over the landing of an Irgun arms ship threatened today to plunge the new Jewish state into civil war.

Shooting developed when the arms ship sought to land its forbidden cargo on the beach at Natanya, 18 miles north of this city. The ship was moved overnight into the Tel Aviv bay and grounded within a block of the waterfront headquarters of the United Nations.

Importation of arms is barred under the United Nations four-week armistice.

A muffled explosion sounded and a big cloud of white smoke shot up from the central beach district following the clash between the Hagana and Irgun men. Nature of the explosion was not immediately determined.

Propellers on the Irgun craft churned for the first time since it was grounded about 60 yards offshore shortly after midnight. It held its position and made no attempt to back off into the sea. (The propellers might be used to offset the pull of the tide).

Despite scattered shooting and fish fighting, Israeli soldiers failed to bar a group of civilians, presumably members of Irgun, from reaching the ship. Eleven civilians waded into the water and swam to the ship. An Israeli corvette stood by, a half-mile out to sea.

Threaten Blood Battle

An Israeli communique reported the clash with Irgun, a former underground fighting force. An Irgun broadcast said "some of our people have been killed and wounded" and threatened a "blood battle between Jews" if the attacks on Irgun did not cease.

The Israeli government imposed censorship for 24 hours on news about the ship and its landing. United Nations officials said truce observers were sent at once to the scene of the beaching, since a violation of the U.N.'s four-week armistice, now in its second week, may be involved.

The government's statement and the Irgun broadcast were the only facts permitted by censorship to be sent abroad on the clash.

Grave Concern Expressed

Israeli leaders made no effort to conceal their grave concern at the turn of events. Many regarded it as the long-expected showdown between the extremist Irgun, and underground group during the British mandate and the army.

There are some indications here that clashes continued during the night. Roadblocks thrown up by soldiers stopped all civilian traffic in central Israel. There were extra guards on duty in Tel Aviv and carloads of infantry could be seen moving through the streets.

By an agreement April 27, later ratified by the action committee of the world Zionist organization and the Jewish agency, Irgun agreed on a program of joint action with Hagana. By that fact, Irgun was barred from initiating operations without approval of Hagana, which was to have overall charge.

Later, however, Irgun held to its independence in some ways.

On June 7 it warned that it was not ready to "surrender" to the truce terms for Jerusalem. It took the attitude that Jerusalem was outside Israel and that it was free to act there.

TWO EXPLOSIONS 3,000 MILES APART CLAIM 5 LIVES

Identical Buildings Of Firm Pulverized

Kenvil, N.J., June 22 —(AP)—Two explosions some 3,000 miles apart pulverized identical nitroglycerine buildings and took a toll of five lives at Hercules Powder Company plants here and at Pinole, Calif., Monday.

A company spokesman dismissed any possibility of sabotage as the cause of the two widely-separated blasts and described it as "just a coincidence."

Three were killed and six others injured in the New Jersey blasts at 11:36 p.m. EDT. Four hours later the California explosion occurred, killing two workmen there.

"The explosion was in a building barricaded with earthen ramparts and with steel doors. The men inside would not have committed suicide and there was no chance of it being set off from outside.

"It was just a coincidence that there were explosions in two Hercules plants on the same day. We go along for years without an accident," he said.

The dead in the New Jersey blast were Angelo Togno, 36, Donald B. Pew, 35, and Frank J. Micklich, 44. All three were acid operators.

The California blast was felt as far as 20 miles away and resounded throughout the northern San Francisco Bay region. Victims of that blast were Rollie Buckley, 49, and John Leighty, 35.

Hill Plans Trip Thru Falls Rapids In Barrel

Niagara Falls, Ont., June 22 (CP)—A second trip through the treacherous waters of the Niagara rapids in a barrel is planned by William (Red) Hill Jr., in a few weeks, it was learned here today. Hill, it is reported will make the trip in a 'cigar' shaped barrel nine feet long, at the end of July or early in August.

Back in 1945 Hill successfully "shot" the rapids in a barrel to inaugurate a memorial fund to his father, the late William (Red) Hill, hero of many rescues from the Niagara River. The second trip is planned to augment that fund.

Hill's father made three trips through the rapids in barrels and on the last occasion, in 1931, was caught in the swirling eddies of the whirlpool. Young Red, then 17-years old, swam out into the water to tie a rope around his father's barrel and start him on the last lap of his voyage down the river.

Montreal, June 22 — (CP) — A widow of a man who died in a Canadian internment camp during the Second World War has entered a claim against the Canadian government in Ottawa, it was learned here Monday.

The petition entered by Salluste Lavery, Montreal lawyer, was on behalf of Mrs. J. Maurice Scott and included a request for damages totalling $233,496.

Mrs. Scott's husband, Maj. Scott, died in a camp at Konowski, Alta., after being arrested in Montreal on charges of being the right-hand man of Adrien Arcand, pre-war fascist.

Cominform Said 'Meeting Somewhere in C. Europe' To Decide on Strategy

London, June 22 (CP)—Reports circulated widely in Europe today that the cominform is meeting "somewhere in Central Europe."

Mme. Genevieve Tabouis, writing in the Paris newspaper France Libre said that the cominform is meeting in the Castle of Sinaia, near Bucharest, former summer Royal Palace of former King Michael of Romania.

In Rome two informed communist party officials here said today that cominform leaders are meeting "somewhere in Czechoslovakia" to map strategy.

Usually trustworthy sources said the top communist leaders of the continent are attending, presumably from all nine countries in the international communist "information bureau" organized under Russian leadership in Poland last fall. Cominform headquarters are in Belgrade.

Mme. Tabouis said that among the leading communists at the meeting were Jacques Duclos of France, secretary of the French communist party; Palmiro Togliatti of Italy; Erno Geroe, Hungarian transport minister; A. A. Zhdanov, a member of the Russian Politburo, under whose guidance cominform was organized; and two German communist leaders, Otto Grotewohl and Wilhelm Pieck.

Mme. Tabouis said that this was the first time German communist leaders had been "summoned to a cominform meeting" and she concluded that this meant "the creation of an East German state is not far off."

Togliatti and Duclos are known to be absent from their homes. There was information in London that Togliatti had passed through Warsaw a few days ago in the company of Zhdanov.

The countries whose communists are represented in the cominform are Russia, Italy, France, Romania, Bulgaria, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

Abbott Claims C.P. Story On Removal of Taxes "Without Foundation"

Ottawa, June 22 (CP)—Finance Minister Abbott told the Commons today that the question of the removal of the austerity program excise taxes was "a matter of government policy which will be announced in due course."

At the same time, he said that as Finance Minister he had "no alternative" but to say that a Canadian Press story predicting their removal was "without foundation."

He recalled that he had stated repeatedly in the Chamber that the levies, introduced last November in the dollar conservation program, would be removed just as soon as this was felt to be "justified."

Mr. Abbott was replying to a question of privilege raised by J. M. Macdonnell (PC-Muskoka-Ontario), who charged that the report was a "gross budget leak" and a "gross breach" of the privileges of members of parliament.

The minister acknowledged that it was "most unusual" for a minister of the crown to comment on a report of that kind.

He called Mr. Macdonnell's attention to the fact that when the enabling legislation was before the Chamber earlier in the session he had said that the taxes were of a "special temporary" character and would be removed as soon as possible.

Of Mr. Macdonnell's protest that the story reported the government was considering whether to remove the taxes by order-in-council, Mr. Abbott pointed out that the legislation gave the government just such power.

Minister Quotes Clause

He said he understood that Mr. Macdonnell had said in protest Monday that removal of the taxes by order-in-council would be "flouting parliament."

He then quoted a clause in the bill giving the government power to declare any part of the pertinent sections of the Excise Tax Act inoperative "by proclamation."

"I stated repeatedly during the debate on the taxes that these taxes would be removed when circumstances justified their removal," Mr. Abbott added. "I have had several delegations call on me and I have reiterated that point to them.

"All I can say now is that the time when and the extent to which these taxes will be removed is a matter of government policy which will be announced in due course and not by any rumor in the newspapers."

The CP's informant said the government is anxious to drop special excise taxes imposed in last Novembers dollar-saving austerity program and only the question of timing remains to be settled.

This source said that the basic reason for lifting taxes was that they had failed in their objective of reducing consumption of durable consumer goods, the aim announced by Finance Minister Abbott in disclosing the austerity program last Nov. 17.

The informant said the government already has decided to remove the excise taxes and was about to announce the decision when a group of Ontario Liberals approached Prime Minister Mackenzie King last week to protest against the lack of tax relief in last month's budget.

Effect of this action, with the subsequent publicity given it, was said to put the government in the embarrassing position where it had to defer the tax repeal lest the step be regarded as a weakening of its position in the face of pressure from its own supporters.

The question now, the CP informant said, was that of timing.

The government recognized that removal of the taxes would put a brake on the rising cost of living by bringing down the prices of the commodities concerned.

These include such items as sporting goods, outboard motors, pleasure launches, firearms, oil burners, motorcycles, musical instruments, cameras, radios, phonographs and most types of electrical appliances used in the home.

CHEST THUMPING DESCRIBED AS TIME-WASTING

CCF New-Comer Gives Members Slight Rebuke

Ottawa, June 22 (CP)—Representatives of Canada's major political parties engaged in some political chest-thumping in the Commons Monday, but their efforts were described as time-wasting by one of the Chamber's newest members.

Arthur Williams, introduced at the start of the day's sitting as the C.C.F.'s new member from Ontario constituency, let go the verbal blast in his maiden speech. He bluntly told members that he was not elected in a federal by-election June 8 to "come down here and waste time in this kind of debate."

The debate he meant was one in which party representatives praised their own platforms and criticized those of their opponents.

It all started when Clarie Gillis (CCF-Cape Breton South) and Donald Fleming (PC-Toronto Eglinton) gave different reasons for the C.C.F. victories in three recent by-elections.

Mr. Fleming said the C.C.F. advances are the result of "Liberal compromises with the Socialists." Mr. Gillis said Mr. Fleming's analysis sounded like the "wailing of a lost soul." The C.C.F. victories, said Mr. Gillis, reflect the "disintegration" of the free-enterprise system.

C. E. Stephenson (PC-Durham) charged that the C.C.F. would not be in the Ontario legislature today if it did not have the support of the Communists.

Rodney Young, new C.C.F. member for Vancouver Centre, hopped to his feet when the charge was made and denied in his maiden speech that he had received the support of the Communists.

Owen Jones (CCF-Yale), who was introduced with Mr. Young and Mr. Williams, did not get into the political debate, but made his maiden speech in a discussion on British Columbia floods.

Fugitive in Grave Caught by Cops Imitating Funeral

Rome June 22 (AP) —Black clad policemen carrying flowers and imitating a funeral arrested a fugitive wanted for attempted murder Monday. He had been hiding for three weeks in a grave.

Palermo dispatches said the police, looking for Gioacchino Montesano on charges that he tried to kill his wife and sister-in-law, traced their man to a cemetery.

Day after day they visited the cemetery, dressed in mourning and carrying wreaths so as not to alarm the fugitive. Monday they went to the cemetery.

From ten feet under the ground, where he had been reclining on the bones of some long departed residents, Montesano emerged and surrendered.

Investing officer will be Air Vice Marshal E. E. Middleton, C. B. E., air officer commanding central air command at Trenton.

Fire in Picton Fair Grounds Causes Huge Loss

Two Boys Admit Playing With Matches in Stables

Picton, June 22 (CP) — A $70,000 fire in livestock exhibition buildings Monday was started by two boys who admitted playing with matches, police said today.

The boys, aged 6 and 7, dropped a match into an oil can in one of the horse stalls, which started the blaze racing through the buildings.

Two artillery firefighters from R.C.S.A. headquarters jumped for their lives when flames almost trapped them on the second floor of the cattle building.

Four race horses and some equipment were taken out of the building.

Picton—Two members of the Royal Canadian School of Artillery (AA) fire brigade were forced to leap from a window to the ground twelve feet below as a cloud of flame cut off their escape from an upstairs portion of a building destroyed by fire Monday afternoon. Sgt. Ivan Arseneau suffered a broken leg, while Bdr. Tex Robinson, who made a similar leap, escaped uninjured.

The $70,000 fire swept through buildings on the Fair Grounds owned by the County of Prince Edward and used by the Agricultural Society for its annual shows. A cattle barn, more than one hundred feet long, two horse barns, each forty feet long, and several hundred feet of box stalls were burned to the ground.

A favorable wind aided Picton and army firemen in saving the huge Crystal Palace and building used to exhibit poultry, which were nearby. The east end of the cattle barn, had been converted into a residence and was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Adams and family. Some of the contents in the upstairs portion were lost.

Horses Led to Safety

Four race horses were led to safety as the flames swept with lightning rapidity through the frame buildings. The veteran driver, Byron Ryckman was in the horse barn at the time but was not aware of the fire until informed by Mervyn Haight, who first saw the fire, then confined to sheds along the road side. Haight and Whitney Dainard assisted in leading the animals to safety, and in pulling out equipment used by the horsemen. A sulky owned by Herb Payne was burned.

The cattle barn and sheds were empty at the time except for 300 bags of calcium chloride owned by the town. This was ruined.

Paint Blistered on Homes

The Free Methodist Church one hundred feet distant, as well as many homes, had paint blistered as a result of the intense heat. Men with hose extinguished embers which fell on the roof of the Bata Shoe Company plant near by.

The loss is partially covered by insurance. At its session last week, County Council had named a committee to review insurance on the building with a view to increasing it. No action had yet been taken.

MORE PROCESSED CHEESE

Ottawa, June 22 — (CP) — Canada's processed cheese industry last year was valued at $21,652,000, an increase of 34 per cent over that of 1946, the Bureau of Statistics reported Monday. Output of processed cheese totalled 38,387,323 pounds valued at $14,367,406.

W.E. (BILL) MASON DIES IN SUDBURY IN 66TH YEAR

Owner and Publisher of Sudbury Star and North Bay Nugget

Sudbury, June 22 — (CP)—W. E. (Bill) Mason, 66, owner and publisher of the Sudbury Star and North Bay Nugget, died in hospital today. He suffered an acute attack of coronary thrombosis last June 8.

The thick-set, white-haired publisher whose full name was William Edge Mason loved a fight whether it was in the field of politics, business or sport. But he found the tension of the Ontario election too much for him and entered hospital the day after the Progressive Conservative party, which he supported, was returned to power.

The veteran newspaper man, who also operated radio station CKSO in Sudbury, rallied almost daily until his condition took a turn for the worse Monday.

One of the northland's best-known figures, Bill Mason was considered a "tough" boss but he molded many men who gained prominence in journalism throughout the country.

Amassed a Fortune

The outspoken man who amassed a fortune from various enterprises had an Alger-like career. He started as a printer's devil and although he directed all branches, until the last he had a fond interest for the "back shops" of his two newspapers.

A power behind the scenes in both provincial and federal politics in the north, Bill Mason always had time for sport. He backed numerous athletic ventures in Sudbury and was on the executive of the Sudbury Cub Wolves when that team brought the Dominion Junior Hockey Championship to the Nickel Belt in 1932.

Believer in Youth

A great believer in youth, Mr. Mason used to say: "The way to run a newspaper is to have young men at the helm — and an old bird like me on the bridge."

Never a man tied to convention, he dictated a change in format on the North Bay Nugget from standard newspaper size to its present tabloid style.

Bill Mason believed in ploughing back earnings into property and equipment. His recently-completed addition to the Star building here stands as another monument to his faith in the future of the Nickel Belt.

At death he may have been a millionaire but Bill Mason came up the hard way and always championed the underdog. He threw the same unharnessed power and unflagging energies into charity endeavors as he did into business.

His driving spirit made him outstanding among chairmen of Red Cross appeals here, rolling up successes in drives unequalled in the Dominion. In 1946 he was awarded an honorary life membership in the organization.

In 1941 he organized the Sudbury and district blood-donor service and personally supervised and directed it continuously until 1947.

Six Men Anxiously Await Results Of Republican Choice for Presidency

By CLYDE BLACKBURN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Philadelphia, June 22 (CP) — Six men today anxiously watch the Republican National Convention and know that all but one of them — and possibly all of them — are doomed to disappointment before the gavel falls on the last session.

Here are the leading contenders in the order that dopesters believe their chances stand:

Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York, 46, a native of Michigan, one-time choir singer who won fame as racket - busting district attorney of New York.

Dewey barely lost the nomination to dark - horse Wendell Willkie at the convention here in 1940, won it in 1944 in Chicago and was defeated for the presidency by Franklin D. Roosevelt. He has been elected twice as governor of New York and defeated once.

Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, 59, son of a former president, somewhat isolationist but able and often a brilliant worker in the front line of the party organization. He has fought a number of international legislative measures.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, 66, who has not campaigned or offered but is willing to be drafted. He is an Isolationist turned militantly Internationalist.

Former Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota, 41, three times governor and holder of a distinguished navy record in the Second World War, has been campaigning steadily for two years. A Liberal-minded Internationalist, his campaign at first marked him as a real threat but he is reported to have lost ground by recent leanings toward the more Conservative element in the party.

Governor Earl Warren of California, 57 years old, descendant of Scandinavian forebears, a handsome, genial six-footer,

Couple Give Away Family of Seven, Sign Adoptions

Miami, Fla., June 22 (AP) — William Harvey, 36-year-old radio announcer, and his wife, Billie were ready to start life anew today —after giving away their seven children.

Harvey and his wife Monday signed adoption papers for the youngsters, ranging in age from nine months to eight years.

"Now perhaps they will be able to have the things we couldn't provide for them," Harvey said. "I have a heart condition," Mrs. Harvey added. "The doctors tell me I have only another two or 2 1-2 years to live. I couldn't face the prospect of putting the children in a home, not knowing how they might be kicked around."

POPE NOT ILL

London, June 22 (Reuters) — Press reports that Pope Pius is ill were strongly denied by the Vatican radio today. The Pope is in "perfectly good health and carrying out all his duties," the radio said.

Seamen Requested To Vacate C.I.O. Cornwall Property

Cornwall, June 22 — (CP) — Officials of Greater Cornwall Textile Joint Board and Local 779, Textile Workers Union of America served notice on the C.S.U. today to vacate C.I.O. property on Water Street East.

The C.S.U. had moved its encampment from Central Park to the C.I.O. property on the weekend following a request by city council to vacate the park.

The executive board of the Greater Cornwall Textile Joint Board, representing approximately 4,000 workers, and the executive board of Local 779 (Courtaulds Canada) Limited voted unanimously to call upon the C.S.U. to leave the textile property which had been taken over without permission.

PREDICT DATE OF BIRTH

London, June 22 — (CP)—The Sunday Pictorial said in a front page, single-paragraph story that "doctors attending Princess Elizabeth have told her that Saturday, Oct. 17, is the probable date for the arrival of her baby."

Barbara Ann Wears Ring; Everybody Giving Them but No Engagement Yet

Ottawa, June 22 (CP)—Canada's first lady of the ice blades now professional is wearing a big diamond ring....but she is not engaged.

Rumor has Barbara Ann Scott tied to George Fulford, Jr., of Brockville, son of a former Liberal member of parliament. And the ring is his, she doesn't deny. But as far as being engaged, well....

"Of course, those rumors aren't true," said H. H. Caldwell of Prescott, where Barbara Ann and her mother, Mrs. Clyde Scott, had dinner Monday. Mr. Caldwell is her close friend and financial adviser.

"She has a whole drawerful of rings," declared Mr. Caldwell, whose phone also had a ring — from half a dozen Ontario newspapers anxious to know what Canada's most prominent skating star has in mind.

Even more abstract was the rumored future father-in-law of Barbara Ann. The former Liberal member and successful manufacturer agreed that the big diamond ring Barbara Ann is wearing is his son's....so is a fraternity pin on her jacket.

"George (his son) was engaged last summer, too, you know," he said, admitting that the young couple are pretty serious. "If the rumors are true he is a very lucky young man."

George Junior, eight days short of 21, previously has been mentioned as a successful suitor of the figure skating champion. "All I can tell you is that they like each other,' said his father. "They're together all the time."

Madoc, June 22 (Special) — Funeral service for John McKenzie was held on Monday afternoon in St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc. The minister, the Rev. M. W. Heslip conducted the service basing his remarks on 12th verse of the 99th Psalm. Rev. W. A. Hunter a former minister and friend of the late Mr. McKenize assisted in the service.

Pall bearers were Messrs. F. E. Brown, George West, Fred Curry, Dave Moore, Ben Miller and Lloyd Blue.

Interment took place at Greenwood cemetery where Dr. S. R. Beatty had charge of the Masonic service.

Certain Repairs Must be Made To 18-Inch Main

Due to unforeseen circumstances, the work entailed in laying the 18-inch watermain across the river, below the lower bridge will have to be partially undone to make certain repairs to the pipe in one or two places. This pipe was laid during the earlier months of the year.

At present work is underway in an attempt to drain the accumulated water out of the trench on the west side of the river. This is greatly hampered by subterranean springs and river water seepage through the stone wall. An area of about 6 x 20 feet has been enclosed with sandbags and filled in with cinders. This has prevented most of the seepage into the trench. The wall near the trench is also being banked with cinders.

The repair of the pipe will require the services of a diver, who will be working under eight to ten feet of water in the middle of the river.

Summer Cottage At Rednersville Burns to Ground

Smouldering ashes are all that remained today of a summer cottage located one-quarter mile east of Rednersville, near the bay front. Fire completely destroyed the building and its contents shortly before nine o'clock Monday night while the owner, Nick Panos, proprietor of the Devon Lunch, Front Street, was in a city theatre.

Origin of the fire has not been ascertained. Mr. Panos stated this morning that he left the cottage about six-thirty and left for the city. Everything was in good order, and no fires were left lighted. The cottage was wired for electricity.

Not a thing was saved from the flames. Furniture, clothing and sports equipment went up in smoke.

Neighbors noticed smoke pouring from the cottage about 8.45 but on arrival, flames were sweeping through the building and salvage of contents was impossible. Other cottages in the vicinity were not damaged. Loss is estimated at about $4,000.

TAKES OWN LIFE

Kirkland Lake, June 22 (CP)—Police said today that Mike Chizewskie, 50, of Kirkland Lake took his life Monday by exploding dynamite near his head.

They said they believed Chizewskie, who suffered from an uncurable illness, placed dynamite on a stump, sat down against it and lit the fuse.

Police traced Chizewskie's identity through two bus tickets. Coroner J. F. Edis ordered an inquest.

Four Carriers Of Intelligencer Build Own Boat

Four Ontario Intelligencer carriers, average age thirteen years have built themselves a nine-foot sailing dinghy with a 4-inch beam. Like regular old timers they followed the blueprint from the Illustrated Mechanic magazine and built their boat all by themselves.

The material the boys used was plywood and the frame is oak. It is a square sterned dingny with a semi-"V" bottom. The color scheme they chose is white with red trimmings and appropriately named "Skippy".

These boys, Hugh Barclay, Wayne Bovay, Buddy Batchelor and Bob Jeffries saved enough from their paper routes to build their boat which amounted to around ninety dollars. Hugh supervised the job and the other three were able assistants.

The sails presented somewhat of a problem. Hugh's father bought him the sails but they proved to be too heavy. The boys were then advised by some of the veteran boat builders at the wharf to buy the light cotton used by the airforce on the wings of the planes. "Those boys have done a good job," they said, "and as long as they can handle the dinghy competently it will prove to be seaworthy."

The dinghy would hold two adults or four small boys.

Hugh did a great deal of the work by himself using only hand tools and his own ingenuity. He has also built a raft so that he can easily sail from his home on 231 Dundas Street down to the wharf to inspect his boat.

Garden Fairyland Delights Young And Old Visitors

The next time the children want some new place to go for a different kind of afternoon walk take them over to 31 East Moira Street and knock on the door.

This is Mr. C. A. Moore's home and he will be only too happy to show you around. At the back and side of his house Mr. Moore has his garden; not an ordinary garden but one full of magic things that spin with the wind. In a small crystal pool there lives a little man and his home is a tiny red windmill. He has a brown wrinkled face that bobs in and out of the door of his house.

Two funny men with red hats and black beards saw a log between them with a tiny cross-cut saw and a fat washerwoman goes rub-adub-dub in a miniature tub with every puff of wind.

There are pink fairy shoes that grow on a bush and while Mr. Moore says they are wild orchids and very rare, anyone with half an eye can see they are shoes about one inch long, and who would wear shoes one inch long?

There are flowers that only come out in the morning and some that bloom in the evening. Red roses, yellow roses, pink roses and roses bright as sunset, are everywhere. A little white dog pokes his nose out of a bush.

Inside his house Mr. Moore has hundreds of books, poetry travel, adventure. Model sailing ships from Quebec with the captain aboard, and old mahogany chair with lion heads for arms. An old china grandmother and grandfather sit on the mantel shelf and two elves stand on either side of the fireplace holding tiny black buckets filled with coal.

Mr. Moore has a real home filled with the things he loves, compact, cozy and colorful. Gardening is his hobby and when he isn't gardening he is working at his job on the Canadian National Railroad Mail Service where he has served for 37 years.

LITTLE GIRL HAS "BIG ADVENTURE" ALONE

"Ooh mummy, I wasn't a bit sick," cried little eight-year-old Hilda Shea when she phoned her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garnet B. Shea, Toronto, from Chicago.

The little girl, shown here with T.C.A. stewardess Gwen Carlisle, starting a "big adventure" when she flew alone to Chicago to meet her aunt, Mrs. R. W. Raynor. She will remain in Chicago for a week and then she and her aunt will go to a summer cottage on Lake of the Woods. Hilda wasn't a bit frightened when she left Malton airport and was thrilled by the prospect of the flight. Perhaps she gathered some of her courage from her grandfather, Murtagh Shae, who was the first Canadian to ever win the American Single Skulling championship.

Owner of St. Bernard Finds Feeding Costs Not as High as Many Believe

Those people who have always longed for a St. Bernard but have refrained from getting one because of the enormous amount of food which they think he must consume and the amount of room his huge bulk would take will now be interested to know that it only costs one owner $2.00 a week to feed a St. Bernard of 180 pounds weight—a 10-inch span of head and six feet of height standing up. Contrary to the belief that a huge dog like a St. Bernard must be fed frequently a St. Bernard only requires a wash basin of kennel food once a day. The proof of this? Ask the man who owns one. Mr. W. J. Shepherd, 233 Dundas Street, E., who owns "Jo" a nine-year-old St. Bernard (Alsatian type) has had him since "Jo" was two months old. He brought him from Richmond, Quebec.

Jo is better than a smaller dog because he stays out of doors, winter and summer. He sleeps in Mr Shepherd's garage and during the winter only requires a bale of straw to keep him warm. He is a lovable affectionate dog and very fond of children. However, his imposing size makes him a very alert watch dog.

Jo is well known around the market in the city. One of his jobs is to cart tomatoes after they have been picked and are ready for sale. He has his own special harness and is always ready to go to work.

Miss Belleville Contest to be Held By Optimist Club

In view of the success with which the venture met last year, the Optimist Club of Belleville will again hold a "Miss Belleville" contest this year, it has been announced. The contest will be staged July 15th when the local club holds their second annual beauty contest and dance.

Last year the Optimist beauty contest was held in conjunction with the Old Home Week program and saw two young girls chosen as "Miss Belleville" and "Miss Eastern Ontario" respectively. In view of last year's success the club has decided to make the beauty contest an annual affair.

As was the case last year the winner of the beauty contest will be entitled to follow in the footsteps of "Miss Belleville" of 1947 who so creditably represented the city in the "Miss Canada" contest at Hamilton. No expense is being spared to make July 15th a memorable evening for aspiring young ladies in Belleville.

Entries to the beauty contest are now being accepted and the entry form and prize list may be found elsewhere in this edition.

Brantford Will Extend City's Boundaries

Brantford, June 22 — (CP) — City council will start negotiations immediately with Brantford township council and with the Ontario Department of Municipal Affairs, to extend the city's boundaries.

Council found such action inevitable because the city is now bursting at the seams and there are virtually no lots available in the city for industrial, commercial or residential building.

Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation will be asked to raise the rents being charged for 600 war-time houses here in order that the annual grants paid to the city in lieu of taxation may be raised to the level of normal taxation.

The original proposal was to raise the rents by various figures, depending upon the size and valuation of each house. However, council adopted an amendment providing for a flat increase of $2.50 per month to each tenant.

$100,000 Damage In Hardware Store Fire at Brantford

Brantford, June 22 (CP)—Loss of $100,000 was recorded when fire gutted the Elliott-Wedlake hardware store on Colborne Street, Brantford's main business street, during the early hours of this morning.

Thirty firemen poured water on the flames which started in the basement, and gradually rose through to the roof, fed by paints, turpentine and other volatile substances in the hardware stock, as well as electrical equipment in large quantity. The aerial truck was used to good advantage to keep the flames from the roofs of adjoining buildings and in three hours the flames were extinguished.

The store stock was completely destroyed.

Dick Bishop, 19, gave the alarm when he saw smoke pouring through the store front. He and Police Constable Charles Wager gave the alarm through the apartments on each side of the stricken building. For the first time, searchlights were used by local firemen to give direction to the aerial ladder workers. Flames broke through 45 minutes after the arrival of the firemen.

It was Brantford's first big blaze since the Metropolitan Store fire, Christmas night, 1930.

Forest Rangers Pray for Rain As Fires Roar

By The Canadian Press

Forest rangers looked to clouding skies today as the only ally that could effectively halt Northern Ontario's raging forest fires.

Heavy rain was needed to halt the path of destruction that has scored a black trail of ruin across nearly 1,000 square miles of rich timberlands.

Monday the fire situation worsened as 24 new fires broke out to add to the difficulties of fire battlers struggling to contain the giant Mississagi and Chapleau blazes between Sault Ste. Marie and Sudbury.

An R.C.A.F. Lancaster bomber went up with 500 pounds of dry ice to try additional rain-making experiments but cloud conditions were not favorable for seeding and the load was brought down again. Further flights will be made today.

Eleven of the new fires were in the Sudbury district. These were quickly brought under control and 25 of their fire crews released to aid in carrying on the Mississagi fight.

Terrible devastation in stands on spruce, balsam and pine lay in the wake of the two blazes. The Mississagi holocaust raced to the east, north and west while the Chapleau blaze raged eastward.

North of Sault Ste. Marie another fire along the Montreal River also spread considerably. Dense smoke hindered movement of fire rangers along its spreading flanks. Several hundred more men were recruited from dozens of northern centres Monday and forestry officials rushed them by plane, boat and truck to the danger spots.

In the Hearst area, 15 pulpwood camps in the path of a fire were put on the alert by forestry officials Monday night as flames roared northward under variable winds. Smoke from the area, 30 miles south of Hearst, covered the town.

Russians Accept British Proposal For 4-Power Talks

Berlin, June 22 (AP) — The Russians today accepted a British proposal for four-power talks on currency reform in Berlin, the Russian licensed German news Agency said. The conference may decide whether the city is to have one kind of money or two.

The agency said Marshal Vassily Sokolovsky, Russian commander in Germany, proposed that representatives of Britain, the United States, France and Russia meet at 2 p.m. (8 a.m. EDT). It said P. Maletin, chief of the Russian military administration's Finance Department, would attend.

Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British Military Governor, had invited the Russians to confer on the monetary situation in Berlin, which now faces the prospect of having two currencies — that introduced by the Allies in western Germany and money soon expected to be produced by the Russians.

Sir Brian bluntly told the Russians they had no more rights in the four-power city than the western Allies, although Berlin is an island deep in Russian-occupied territory.

Such a meeting would be the first four-power commanders' session since March 20, when the Russians stalked out of the Allied Control Council.

Berlin and the Russian zone are in the grip of spreading economic paralysis as a result of the currency reform initiated by Britain, the United States, and France in western Germany.

The Russian announcement came a few hours after the German economic conference for the Russian zone presented Sokolovsky with a currency reform proposal, designed to go into effect soon in Berlin and the Russian zone.

The commission said the measure was an answer to western currency reform and intended to "protect the population and economy of the Soviet occupation zone."

Yesterday Clay suspended the movement of United States military freight trains to Berlin rather than allow inspection of their cargoes by the Russians, who said they had to do it because of the currency reform.

POLICE LOSE QUARRY

Chatham, June 22 (CP)—During a chase of 70 m.p.h. through nearby Thamesville today, Chief H. McFarlane fired two shots at a fleeing car but lost his quarry on the River Road near Harwich.

Seeing two men close to Snobelin's stockyard he stopped his car and left to investigate at the stockyard office. As he left his vehicle, a late model black car sped away. Ignoring his order to halt they continued without lights and the officer fired two shots at the speeding car.

Checking the office, nothing was reported missing.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., of Massachusetts, 45, a war veteran and son of a senator, is not campaigning for the candidacy but may be a compromise choice.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur is not here but is represented by his comrade in arms, Gen. Jonathan Wainwright, who has campaign headquarters here and is plumping for the Supreme Allied Commander in Japan.

Senator John Bricker of Ohio, 55, is not a candidate but is available.

IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Brantford, June 22 — (CP) — Norman Knight, 22, suffered severe abdominal injuries today when a revolver accidentally discharged. The accident occurred in the home of R. J. Guest, West Brantford, shortly after 2 a.m. Police said that the victim was showing the revolver to Robert Guest and Ken Smith, who reside, at the Gilkinson St. home.

The bullet entered his abdomen continued through the intestines and emerged from his back.

His condition was described as serious.

GRAIN SHIPMENT AT LOW EBB

Montreal June 22 (CP) —Shipments of grain from Montreal were reported by shipping men today to have dropped to a low ebb and the drop was blamed on the slow movement of grain from western farms.

During the first 18 days of June 6,800,000 bushels of grain passed through the port compared with 10,000,000 bushels during the corresponding period last year.

Girl Injured As Car Overturns

Runner-up in last year's "Miss Belleville" beauty contest, Miss Joyce Bernhart, 19, suffered injury Monday night when the car which she was driving turned over on Highway No. 2 east of Belleville. The young woman was admitted to hospital where she was attended by Dr. C. McVickers of Deseronto.

Miss Bernhart was driving west on the four-lane highway when the car went out of control and rolled over several times coming to rest on its side in the centre of the highway. Owner of the car, R. F. Johnson, was uninjured. Miss Bernhart sustained back injuries.

The accident was investigated by O.P.P. Cpl. Ervine and Constable H. Bolster.

Greek Squeeze Aimed at Sealing Off Guerillas

Athens June 22 —(CP) — A Greek Army squeeze aimed at corking up 7,000 Communists in a rocky pocket along the Albanian border appeared to be under way today.

Dispatches from the front said two army columns are moving toward an apparent juncture not far from the frontier, one from the Nestorion sector, the other from the region of Konista.

Frontline reports showed the 9th division has advanced more than 10 miles in a northeasterly direction from Konista. Units of the 1st and 15th divisions were reported six miles west of Nestorion. This would place the columns about 10 miles apart.

Both were said to be meeting increasingly stiff resistance.

The Grammos Mountain pocket last major stronghold of Markos Vafiades' guerilla forces in Greece, is approximately a thousand miles square, roughly bounded by the Albanian border, a line drawn south of Ioannina, from there east and north to Grevena and from Grevena north to Nestorion and the frontier.

The 9th division driving from Konista on the western flank of the pocket, was reported to have reached a point Monday night only eight miles from Kykorrachi a main rebel base and perhaps Markos' headquarters.

Most army officials agreed, however, that the main battle for the Grammos stronghold has not yet been joined.

Judge Approves Monthly Pension Plan for Miners

Washington, June 22 (AP)—Justice T. Alan Goldsborough today gave John L. Lewis a legal go-ahead for his $100 monthly pension plan for miners.

Judge Goldsborough dismissed a plea of Ezra Van Horn, trustee for operators on the United Mine Workers (Ind.) welfare fund, for a court order to block payment of pensions for retired miners.

The judge said he found the proposal for payments "reasonable and proper."

The proposed system of payments was evolved by Lewis and Senator Styles Bridges (Rep. N. H.) Bridges became neutral member of the welfare board and sided with Lewis in setting up the plan.

Van Horn refused to approve the payments and went into court to ask that it be declared illegal.

Judge Goldsborough said the plan, which was only tentative and may be changed as experience dictates, does not violate either the 1947 coal work contract, made last July, or the Taft-Hartley labor act.

The plan provides $100 a month for U.M.W. members who are 62 years of age or older and who have worked in the pits for at least 20 years.

Paramount Needs for City Outlined by Jamieson Bone

Flood control for the Moira River, a system of sewage disposal and the construction of a new fire hall and police station are four of the paramount needs for the city of Belleville.

This was told to members of the local Kinsmen Club Monday evening when the club was addressed by Ex-Mayor Jamieson Bone who outlined his personal views on both municipal and national government.

Industrial expansion was of first importance in developing a city but with new industries came the demand for more services such as sewers, water mains and schools. The result was that taxes remained unchanged despite increased assessment.

In previous years the failure of Belleville to expand industrially meant that its young people moved to other centres where opportunity beckoned. Today that has changed and there are many serious minded young business men in the city.

Referring to the construction of a new sewage disposal system for the city Mr. Bone stated the cost of this project should not be saddled on the property owners, but rather should be charged against the public utilities for payment out of profits.

Opposes Exemption

As representative of the Property Owners' Association, Mr. Bone stated he was happy to see the provincial government assume a greater portion of the cost of education. He was opposed to exemption from taxation such as is enjoyed by government and Church property. He stated that in England, Government property was assessed along with that privately owned.

The speaker compared the lack of profits shown by government operated facilities in Canada such as the C. N. R., the C. B. C. and the T. C. A., claiming that private enterprise in the same fields had shown profits.

Mr. Bone concluded by urging that higher quality men be chosen to represent the people in parliament stating that no man should be nominated who is not of potential cabinet material.

President Art Cruji presided over the meeting which saw a discussion of future club policy regarding the raising of funds for the proposed swimming pool project. The club voted a grant of $50 to the Kiwanis Fresh Air Camp at Roblin Lake.

W.E. (BILL) MASON

Born in Walkerton

Closely interwoven with the history of Sudbury and its progress as the hub of the world's nickel industry, Mr. Mason was born in Walkerton in Bruce County on March 4, 1882.

A second-generation Canadian he came to Sudbury in 1907. His father, David Mason was born in Bruce County and his mother at Durham in the adjoining county of Grey.

Eldest of a family of six, Bill Mason learned the printing trade in the Walkerton Telescope, a weekly. Before the advent of the linotype, electric light or even waterworks, he served his apprenticeship at $1 a week for the first year. He received a raise to $2 a week the second and $3 the third year.

As assistant foreman on Saturday Night, Toronto, he earned $15 a week and the year previously at 22, he married the former Alice Maude Tinlin of St. Catharines. She predeceased him in 1945.

His initial job in Sudbury was as foreman of the city's first daily newspaper, "The Northern Star." It was practically a one-man enterprise and Mr. Mason kept the plant going for six months, only to see it collapse for lack of capital.

Ten leading citizens met and asked Mr. Mason if he would take charge of all phases of the newspaper. With little knowledge of finance, administration or policy direction at the time, he said he would do his best with the $3,000 they advanced him.

Active in Sports

The original promoter of the Sudbury Parks Commission, Mr. Mason was largely instrumental in founding Lakeside Park, nucleus of today's baseball and Memorial Park. He was named honorary life member of the Nickel Belt Senior League two years ago.

It had been several years since Bill Mason putted a golf ball or swept in a curling rock but until his death he was a member of the Idylwylde Golf and Country Club and the Sudbury Curling club.

Associated with many organizations, projects and developments in Sudbury, he was chairman of the Civic Auditorium Committee and instrumental in obtaining the site for the new proposed civic centre. He was a director of the Sudbury District Chamber of Commerce and past chairman of the former Sudbury Board of Trade.

An honorary member of the Canadian Legion, Mr. Mason donated the Legionnaires with the site of the Legion Memorial Hall. A director of the Sudbury district hospital committee, he was also a member of the Sudbury Fish and Game Protective Association.

Besides a brother, George, of Galt, Mr. Mason is survived by two sisters, Mrs. A. McLellan and Mrs. S. Rutherford of Galt; three nieces, Mrs. William Cornish of North Bay; Misses Mary and Jean Rutherford of Galt; and three nephews, Robert Mason, Alan McLellan and Jack Rutherford of Galt.

His brother Stuart, of Goderich, well known newspaperman, died in 1945. A sister, Mrs. Geo. Helwig, of Sudbury, died in 1941.

Funeral arrangements will not be made, until arrival here of relatives.

CHILD AND MATCHES BLAMED FOR FIRE

Toronto, June 22 — (CP) — A 14-months-old boy who lit matches he was playing with burned down his parents' house today at suburban New Toronto.

The child, his sister, Joyce, four, and his mother, Mrs. Geo. Franklin, escaped uninjured.

London, June 22 —(Reuters)— The 1,820-ton motor vessel Altalena sent out an S O S this afternoon reporting that she was being fired upon by coastal batteries at Tel Aviv, according to a message received in London.

The S O S said: "We are on fire. Many wounded. Please help. They are using machine-guns on us. Many killed. Cannot use receiver.

Six Powers Agreed

The Six Powers of the London Conference have begun their work to bring Germany into the recovery program, says the New York Times. "Nobody can foresee the circumstances in which the question will be finally settled or the European framework into which Germany, now supine and divided, must eventually be fitted."

The Times believes the present division will not be permanent and comments that the aim of Western statesmanship should be to keep the solution as fluid and provisional as is consistent with the apparent necessity of providing the Germans with some hope of life and regeneration and relieving the German economy of a deadweight that can sink the ship."

The paper notes that "the plan as it stands, accepted by all concerned as the lesser of two evils, is a momentous step down an unknown road."

Remarking on France's decision to go along with the rest of the West, it is said that she "still has her attention fixed on the French-German problem and this approval indicates that the policy, even the fears, of yesterday do not apply to the questions of today."

New Settlers From Abroad

Canadians know the glow there is in living in Canada, but many of them, that is those who were born here, did not require to have the training some of the new immigrants of this age will pass through, in accommodating themselves to the life and customs and viewpoint of their new land. These immigrants come to Canada's shores, following the gleam and feel the Canadian soil. Those who come from the Continent of Europe and those who come greatest joy when they set their foot on from Britain look upon North America as a land of great promise, still young. It is with a great hope and no doubt some trepidation they come for there will be so much that is new to them. Now native Canadians have been all their lives in a Canadian setting and look upon it as the only setting and the natural setting. For they love this Dominion for all she has been and is to them and their families.

But the newcomer will have problems. One for the non-English-speaking is that of acquiring the language. To know the language is one of the keys to a nation's heart and therefore the newcomers will strive earnestly to make themselves familiar with our words and phrases and our outlook. But they have the inspiration of the ancestors of native Canadians for these former had to come, numbers of them at least from foreign lands, to know the English or French tongues and Canadian ways and conditions.

The New World is still new to the new citizens. That is their fond hope.

Canada has always honored the immigrants who have come to join those here in helping to make this land one of the choicest lands on the face of the globe; practically all Canadians will say it is the chosen of all lands in which to live. And Canada will honor the latest newcomers and welcome them. In these latter is a great promise of being citizens of the future of the purest democratic type and outlook. The newcomers do not look for an effortless life, they expect to work and labor for they know that work and co-operation with their neighbors are the secret of a nation's progress as well as of individual growth and prosperity. They will join with the Canadian people to help make this land the choicest country in which to live, a land of prosperity, happiness and freedom. To achieve this they will throw their tireless efforts into all they do.

They have come here to get away from the effects of economic conditions which have borne heavily upon the people especially of the lands ravaged by two wars and their consequences. They come here as to a tranquil land because they are lovers of liberty. They have been selected and screened as likely to make the finest type of citizens — to just such a class this country is pleased to open its doors and bounds of freedom. In settling here they will have the hearty co-operation of the Canadian people who greet them gladly to the broad expanses of this land stretching thousands of miles from ocean to ocean to share in the possibilities that lie ahead and to assume their share of the burden of progress and to help in developing the honorable heritage which is Canada's.

Non-English-speaking persons will be encouraged to learn the tongue for knowledge of a country's language is one of the ways in which to come into the full heritage of its freedom. Knowledge of the customs will come quickly and will be one of the great means of participating in the interests of the country. Many who are not conversant with English (or French, if the newcomer is moving into a section where this tongue is spoken) will soon become fairly proficient in the new tongue. For language and the literature of a country are two of the important keys to a country's heart and to understanding of the national spirit. The native Canadian has come by this naturally by being reared here; the newcomer from lands afar gets it by dint of hard study and earnest endeavor.

Besides the language and the literature there is the inspiring history of Canada, of which many newcomers have heard much for they come in the same spirit as that in which the early Canadians came. History is an expression of a nation's life and Canada's history is full of romance and the proud story of exploration and development and of triumph over difficulties. It helps the newcomer to find his way into the fullest participation in our life, makes easy the initiation into Canadian customs and into the full understanding of the laws and privileges of Canadian citizenship.

Canada owes so much to the original settlers, the French and English who developed this nation from ocean to ocean and from the Forty-Ninth Parallel to the frozen north. She will owe much too to the newcomers of today who are making history.

The migrations which have been going on for some several centuries to the New World have contributed to the making of western world civilization by their contribution from the various Old World nations. They were made up of heroic people who in the early days entered the almost unknown world. Migrations since the close of the Second World War will add to the richness of the Canadian heritage for the newcomers are already Canadians in spirit and have the mood of enterprise and courage which this country needs and is pleased to have in Canadian life.

Displaced Persons

Decision of Congress to allow entry of 200,000 displaced persons to the United States, over and above normal quotas, emphasizes the wisdom of Canada having commenced more than a year ago to accept such people, says Windsor Star.

By getting in early, the Canadian immigration teams had opportunity to select the best of those available. In view of the United States program, it would be advisable to speed up our own. The time will arrive when those still in the displaced persons camps are the old, the infirm, or people who otherwise would not be the most desirable to bring to Canada.

Merchant Shipping

Although Britain's merchant navy lost more than 11,000,000 tons of shipping during the war it is now only 1,000,000 tons short of prewar strength. This was stated by Mr. Alfred Barnes, Minister of Transport, June 8th at a press conference in London. Great Britain, he said, entered the war with 16,900,000 tons gross shipping. At the present time, and after substantial rebuilding which reflected great courage on the part of owners to order at present prices, the country possessed 15,700,000 tons gross.

HOUSE RULE NO. 20

A note from the board of directors once more,
To members with little and members with plenty:
"We think it advisable now, as before,
To call your attention to Rule Number Twenty.
However, to please you our servants have striven;
For service rendered, no tip shall be given."

House Rule Number Twenty! No tipping allowed!
A note from the board, and I smile as I read it,
For I wonder how many there are in my crowd,
Well knowing the law, who are willing to heed it?
It's the rule of the house, and though I shouldn't say it,
It is only the tight-fisted ones who obey it.

The Ten great Commandments brought down from the Lord
On a tablet of stone and presented by Moses,
Are easier to keep than this rule of the board
Which to banish the custom of tipping proposes.
The grateful and generous member will break it;
And if offered a tip, the employee will take it.

The Packsack of Gregory Clark

Leaving Prestwick in Scotland to fly to Montreal, I picked a small purple aster from the flower border at the airfield and put it in the little silver gadget I wear in my lapel, with water in it, for keeping posies fresh.

A small incident occurred on the flight which is of no importance to my story; but the radio men were at the airfield in Montreal to interview us passengers. And when my time came to address the mike, all I could think to say was that, whatever else might be wrong with the journey, it was short enough; for did I not have in my lapel, as fresh as a daisy, a little purple aster I had plucked in Prestwick, a few hours ago?

When I got from the airfield to my hotel in Montreal, there were five Scotchmen waiting for me at the registration desk: tall, sandy, boney Scotchmen; short, wide, bandy-legged Scotchmen. They wanted that aster. Separately, unknown to one another, they had heard the radio and raced like mad to intercept me at the hotel. I told them my wife was of Scottish descent, and I wished to wear the flower fresh another three hundred miles, and give it to her.

When I got to my room, there was a phone call waiting — a gentleman named Cameron from Peebles, unknown to me. The bell hop came in while I was conversing with Cameron, bringing six slips of paper with urgent telephone numbers on them. All Scotchmen I had never heard of. All wanting that wee aster, that gowan, that flure, they called it.

Ten more came in person before I caught the night plane west. They had me paged at dinner. They knocked on my door. There were four telegrams from suburbs of Montreal and two long-distance calls.

I refreshed the water in the little gadget; and with my bags, piled into a taxi for the airfield.

"Ye wudna," said the taxi driver in a hoarse voice, "be the gentleman wha wore the . . ."

"Here!" I cried. "Take it!"

He took it as though it were the jewels of the Madonna.

The Scotch are a strange, great race.

"CHRIST THE REDEEMER"

The prisoners in the concentration camp at Los Banos were doomed to die on the morrow. The men — so it was said — would be murdered in the morning. The women would meet their fate later. Over in the American camp, word of this desperate situation was brought to the commander by two young Filipino guerrillas. He knew the danger and therefore only asked for volunteers. But more men offered to go than he could possibly take.

In the concentration camp, the prisoners slept through the night unaware either of danger or of impending rescue. Suddenly, at seven in the morning, the sky was filled with opening parachutes. At the same moment the ground attack began. Every prisoner was rescued alive. But two of their rescuers were instantly killed and many of our soldiers lost their blood.

Now if you had been a prisoner at Los Banos, would you be ashamed of the men who gave their blood for your salvation? Would you ever dream of going back into the slavery from which you had been redeemed at so great a price?

So we, who have been in the slavery of sin, were redeemed "with the precious blood of Christ, as of a Lamb without blemish and without spot." Let us therefore walk worthy of so great a sacrifice.

(Reg. U. S. Patent Off.)

Britain Ranks Biggest Exporter Of Cars in World

Dagenham, Essex, England, June 22 (CP) — The British automobile industry is breaking production records and pouring every car it can spare into overseas markets.

Only "top-priority-essential" buyers can get a car in the domestic market and delivery takes months. One story going the rounds concerns a sales department with one car for disposal. It had to decide who got it — a doctor, a midwife, a civic official or a bishop, all of whom had a priority rating.

Britain is the biggest car-exporter in the world. April shipments topped American figures for March — most recent month for which statistics are available here — by more than 500 units, totalling 23,300 cars and 6,600 trucks and buses, despite the fact United States total production dwarfs that of Britain.

The Ford Motor Company Ltd. plant here even claims success in the bailiwicks of Ford of Windsor and Ford of Dearborn, Mich.

British Ford, the country's largest producer, has accepted orders from Canada for 1,200 vehicles since the Dominion lifted import restrictions early this year. About 200 have been delivered. Proportionate figures obtain in the United States.

A Ford spokesman said a particularly fast selling line in the hard-currency area is the light delivery truck, more manoeuvrable in traffic and cheaper to maintain than its American competitors.

Britain's biggest single market is in western Europe, where about 40 per cent of exports go. Australia and South Africa are close behind. The North American market is said to be growing.

Before the war many export sales were killed by the difficulty of obtaining spare parts for British cars. Now Austin Motor Co. Ltd., of Birmingham sends 21 engines to maintenance agencies abroad with every 100 cars exported. Seventeen rear axles are among other spares sent in the same "parcel."

MOST PEOPLE SUFFER FROM CALCIUM DEFICIENCY

Fourteen of 41 patients with varying degrees of heart failure (or say impaired efficiency) experienced benefit from calcium gluconate, even when they had not responded to other forms of treatment, including digitalis, reported Rogen in Glasgow Medical Journal. Well, who cares? I don't know, but I cite the report here just to counteract any arbitrary warning from the politicians who control the wishy-washy AMA that there is any danger involved in getting one's daily requirement of calcium.

Most Americans do not get enough calcium or do not utilize the calcium they get. This is not my notion but the conclusion of recognized nutrition authorities.

Now at the beginning of the hay fever, hives, eczema, hyperestetic rhinitis or sine-sinusitis season is a good time for everybody to boop his or her calcium intake, either by including in the daily diet a quart of milk or its equivalent in calcium rich milk products—skim milk, cheese of any and every kind, buttermilk, sour milk or cultured milk beverages; or by supplementing the diet with a fair daily ration of calcium and vitamin D, or both.

Among the common complaints which seem to respond well to increased calcium intake (nutritional improvement) in many instances are hay fever, spasmodic or bronchial asthma, recurring hives or giant hives (angioneurotic edema), recurring or chronic eczema, hyperesthetic rhinitis, rhinorrhea, temperamental coryza, spurious "sinus trouble", migraine or periodic sick headache frequent "nervous" or "neuralgic" headache, allergic sensitivity, adult tetany (leg cramps) and "growing pains" in children, and in elderly folk a good many vague conditions regarded by the victims and often by their doctors as "rheumatiz."

Do try to bear in mind, stupid, that I am not advising you to take calcium as medicine.

I am talking about calcium in nutrition.

So you will please not "try" any kind of calcium for a week or two and cite my advice as your warrant for the experiment. In no instance do I advise any one to take more calcium than nutrition authorities believe every one requires daily to maintain good nutrition.

If you decide to boop your calcium intake, therefore, remember you must carry on the program for several weeks at least before you can expect any good results.

I have a booklet The Calcium Shortage, available on written request if you inclose ten cents and stamped self addressed envelope. Mention your particular trouble, if it is one of the complaints mentioned as the manifestations of calcium deficiency, and I'll send you also a pamphlet dealing with your condition—that is, if I have one about it.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Blood-Building Foods

What foods build up blood? (Mrs. S. J.)

Answer—Milk, eggs, beef, oats, wheat, greens, liver, peas, beans, apples, oranges.

Have You Tried Penicillin?

Have Ben Told large doses of penicillin will render a man sterile. Received five million units for a neck infection.
(L. R. M.)

Answer—It has no such effect. Now I received every conceivable query about the powers of penicillin except one about its capacity for general housework.

Vague

Would you define medical words a bit more clearly—the exact meaning cannot be found in an ordinary dictionary.
(R. A.)

Answer—I try to do so, sometimes at risk of irking reader by repetition. It would help more if you mentioned an instance or two of my use of medical words without defining them.

Vitamins and Minerals

Can vitamins and minerals be taken without gaining weight? I have taken several different vitamins at the direction of various doctors, but have done nothing but add 23 pounds weight which seems to aggravate the pain and tired feeling of my arthritis.
(S. L. A.)

Answer—No.

Inhaling Smoke

Girl friend does not believe that inhaling cigarette smoke will predispose to development of tuberculosis. (M. P.)

Answer—No.

Neighbors Worried

You should hear my neighbors prophesying all sorts of dire results "some day if not now" when our children run around without sweaters, wraps and the like on cold days and play in bathing suits in the rain. Yet the children have not yet caught even scarlet fever, chicken pox, measles or whooping cough although they have been exposed at school. They are six and eight. More power to your fine teachings.
(Mrs. F. R. A.)

Answer—Yeah, I've heard 'em—and I always get a laugh out of it.

Armed Forces Pitched Greatest Peacetime Battle in History

Vancouver, B.C., June 22 (CP)—Armed forces pitched their greatest peace-time battle in history when they attacked the treacherous flood waters of the Fraser, the defence department said today.

It took three regiments of men, several squadrons of aircraft and more than 50 naval vessels to attack the national disaster that nearly swamped the whole of southern British Columbia.

"When Premier Byron Johnson declared a state of emergency and placed Col. T. E. Snow in command May 30," the department said in a statement, "the largest peace-time effort of Canada's active and reserve navy army and air forces in aid of the country swung into high gear."

In all, nearly 3,000 officers and men of Canada's army were called to duty; 50 assorted naval craft manned by over 500 naval officers and ratings were kept busy night and day; squadrons of air force Dakotas, Lancasters, North Stars and others flew 757 flights and totalled more than 1,000 hours in the air.

Within hours of Col. Snow's "D-Day" orders to army commanders, soldiers by the hundreds were fighting side by side with civilians, bolstering the dikes with army sandbags. Nearly 500 reserve army and 50 active army troops were flown by the R.C.A.F. from western and prairie commands.

Cansos, Hudsons, Venturas, Beechcraft and even Harvards were pressed into the air force task to fly urgently-needed equipment to isolated areas. A daily photographic survey of the valley to assess flood damage was done by two R.C.A.F. Dakotas.

R.C.A.F. Holds First Wings Parade Since End of War

Ottawa, June 22 (CP) — A colorful air station ceremony at Centralia, Ont., Monday marked the first Wings parade of the R.C.A.F. since the end of the Second World War.

Fifteen former bomb aimers and air gunners saluted and received their pilots Wings from Air Marshal W. A. Curtis, Chief of the Air Staff.

Attending were Air Vice Marshal Middleton, Air Officer Commanding R.C.A.F. Central Air Command, Trenton, Ont., and Group Captain Lister, Commanding R.C.A.F. Station Centralia.

Former bomb aimers graduating included:

Flt. Lt. C. C. Willis, top-scoring pupil and winner of the Scroll of Honor, Kars, Ont., Fo. R. A. Swartz, DFC and Bar, West Lorne, Ont.

PICTON FAIR FIRE

While most of the buildings had been standing many years, improvements had been made each year and last fall the cattle barn had been rewired at a cost of $1,000.

The tar roof on the cattle building, put on two years ago, sent smoke clouds rolling high into the air and attracted a crowd of several thousand from the district. The intense heat kept spectators at a distance, in what was the most spectacular fire seen here in half a century.

Will Use Tents

Loss of the buildings will not prevent the holding of the annual Fair in September, several directors stated. Tents can be used to house livestock, while smaller exhibits are housed in the central hall known as the Crystal Palace, a model of the famed structure that stood in London, England.

Members of the R.C.A. were given special praise for their work in connection with the fire. The two men wer ecut off on the second floor of the Adams' residence in the end of the cattle building, when flames broke through a wall and raced towards an open window. They followed the crowds' cries of "jump", risking falling on several stakes in the ground.

No cause for the fire has been ascertained but may have been caused when a cigarette butt was tossed from the highway, as the sheds formed a fence along one edge of the park.

CHEST THUMPING

First reading was given to a bill which will make it possible for the dependents of some civilians killed during the war to apply for government pension. The legislation affects the dependents of merchant seamen, salt-water fishermen and civilian pilots who ferried aircraft overseas.

A bill authorizing the Saskatchewan government to sell to veterans school lands transferred to it by the Dominion in 1930 was adopted.

In the political debate, Mr. Fleming forecast the "anihilation" of the Liberal party "unless this government wakes up and takes action to reduce taxes and combat the rising cost of living."

"I am no alarmist," said Mr. Fleming, "and I do not think government defeats in these by-elections and the election of 22 C.C.F. members in Ontario can be traded to the fact that all who voted were Socialists....

Claims Govt. Failure

"They were prompted by the government's failure to grapple with the twins of high living costs and high taxes."

Last week, six Ontario Liberals had interviewed Mr. King and protested the government's price and tax policies. This was evidence of a "stirring in some Liberal bosoms" along lines the Progressive Conservatives had long advocated.

Then J. S. Sinnot (L — Springfield) had disclosed the text of letters he sent to the prime minister and Finance Minister Abbott, predicting the "annihilation" of the Liberal party if present taxation was continued.

This was another 'hopeful sign' that individual Liberals are 'waking up.'

In the external affairs debate, External Affairs Minister St. Laurent said Canada has considered bringing before the United Nations Russia's refusal to allow persons to leave the Soviet Union. The government had tried to get some people out of Russia, but the Russians refused to recognize their dual citizenship.

In debate on the wheat agreement, Trade Minister Howe said there were "fair indications" that the United States would ratify a similar agreement later this year. The agreement, setting ceiling and floor prices among the signatory nations for five years, is dependent on U. S. ratification for effectiveness. But Congress rose Saturday without ratifying it for the new crop year starting Aug. 1.

Approve Principle

The agreement covers sale of 500,000,000 bushels a year by Canada, the U.S. and Australia to the 33 importing signatories, with prices held within a $2 ceiling and floors scaling down to $1.10. Canada's yearly commitment is 230,000,000 bushels.

All major parties approved the principle of the international agreement, but the opposition opposed various individual features of the instrument.

John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, declared its price range was too low and questioned that it could operate without the inclusion of Argentina, a major wheat exporter. Argentina's refusal to enter the agreement was its "chief weakness."

John A. Charlton (PC-Brant) said the ceiling price provided by the agreement is "not high enough." It was 13 per cent less than the current world wheat price.

Canadian farmers had taken losses on their wheat during the last years. The government now was asking them to "turn the other cheek and that it be slapped too."

"I think it will do much to stabilize agriculture," Mr. Howe said. It would be "very much" in the interests of Canada.

The British Columbia flood question was revived by George Cruickshank (L-Fraser Valley). He urged the government to announce without delay the amount of financial assistance it plans to give to the flood-stricken areas of B.C.

Wellington on the Lake

Just a quiet lakeside village
Nestling on Ontario's shore,
Famed for nature's lavish beauty
And for its historic lore;
Beautiful when autumn glories
Paint a picture wondrous fair,
But beneath its Junetime splendor
What can with its bloom compare?

Flowers in gorgeous summer colors
Bloom in gardens trim and neat,
And the park along the lakeside
Lure the weary, restless feet;
As I gaze upon its beauty
Of this spot by nature blest,
Then I know why the first settlers
In this place found home and rest.

KING—BENNETT-POSTE

Tabernacle United Church parsonage, 246 Church Street, in Belleville, was the scene of a quiet, but very pretty marriage ceremony on Saturday, June 19, when Dorothy May, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Bennett-Poste, exchanged vows with Donald Roy King, son of Mr. R. R. King, of White Rock, B.C., and the late Mrs. King, with Rev. F. R. Harback, B.A., B.D., officiating.

The bride wore a charming gown of ice blue, with matching shoulder length veil, pink lace mitts and matching slippers. Her corsage was of pink roses and bouvardia. Her sister, Gertrude, who wore rose with navy accessories, was bridesmaid, and the groomsman was Mr. Gordon Phillips, of Ottawa.

For a reception at the residence of the bride's parents, 19 Forin Street., large bouquets of peonies, yellow lilies and phlox were used to lend a festive air to the already attractive rooms, where the bride's mother received in a becoming coral gown with black accessories, wearing a corsage of white carnations and cerulean blue cornflowers.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Fawkes, and daughter Margaret, of Toronto; Maj. and Mrs. D. L. Bennett, and daughter, Jane, of Newcastle; Mrs. H. J. Gibson, of Picton; Mr. George Brown of Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Phillips of Ottawa.

For travelling the bride chose an ensemble of navy blue with pink accessories.

Mr. and Mrs. King will reside in Ottawa.

PLATO—BURTT

Rev. A. A. Rogers, Shannonville, officiated at a marriage in the United Church, June 19th., when a profusion of white and pink peonies were used for decoration and wedding music was played by the church organist, Mr. Douglas Campbell, with Miss Ruby Brown, as soloist. The bride was Olive May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold S. Burtt, of Shannonville, and the groom was Allan Plato, the son of Mrs. T. Plato, of St. Catharines.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white brocaded nylon, with a bertha neckline, the net yoke held with pearl clips, and long sleeves tapering over the wrists, while the full skirt was fashioned in hoopskirt style. Her fingertip veil was held in place by a coronet of roses and lilies-of-the-valley, and she carried a bouquet of red roses.

The maid of honor was Miss Marilyn LeChanse, in a gown of aqua nylon, featuring a fitted bodice with a scalloped bertha, the back showing tiered ruffles and a bustle bow. Long mitts and matching headdress were worn and she carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Junior Miss Donna Burtt, a niece of the bride, was the flower girl wearing yellow organdy, with a headdress of sweetpeas. She carried a nosegay of sweetpeas and carnations.

Mr. Jack Fyfe performed the duties of groomsman, and the ushers were Messrs. Cecil Murless and Jack Pitcher.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Hotel Henley, where Mrs. Burtt received the guests in a dress of turquoise blue jersey, with white accessories, and a corsage of pink carnations. She was assisted by the groom's mother in a dress of Elizabeth blue, with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

For travelling to Ottawa and Eastern points, the bride chose a dress of grey and red, with white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The Flowers of June

The wild rose blooms in beauty
  Beside the rural way,
The buttercup is glowing
  Throughout the gladsome day,
And in the fragrant meadow
  Gleams clover, red and white—
Oh! how the flowers of June time
  Bring gladness and delight!

Beside the old gray farm house
  The peony blushes red,
The snowball in the garden
  Nods a knowing head,
The rose, so soft and fragrant,
  Blooms modestly near by—
What like the old-time flowers
  To gladden heart and eye!

O sweet, sweet flowers of June-time!
  Your beauty brings again
Memories of by-gone summers,
  Past pleasures and past pain;
And though your blooms are fleeting,
  They bring in every truth
  The essence of the summer,
  The spirit of our youth.

CERTO

You get 50% MORE Jam or Jelly with CERTO

AND RESULTS ARE SURE!

Sounds almost unbelievable — until you know the reasons why. Certo is nothing but "fruit pectin" — the natural substance in fruit which makes jams "jam" and jellies "jell." It's extracted from fruits in which it is most plentiful for better, quicker, easier jam and jelly making.

1. Short boil — That's why, when you use Certo, you don't have to "boil down" your fruit to make it set. A one-to-two-minute full, rolling boil is enough for jams . . . a half-minute-to-a-minute for jellies.

2. Extra yield — The short Certo boil saves all the precious fruit juice which, in long boiling, goes off in steam. You get an extra yield of 50% more jam or jelly.

3. Saves time, work — What a lot of time and work it saves, too! The old long-boil way you'd have to boil and stir many times as long.

4. Fresh fruit flavour — colour — With Certo you use fruit at its peak of flavor and colour and not the under-ripe fruit used in long-boil recipes. The Certo boil is too short to spoil this lovely taste and colour. They stay right in your jam or jelly.

5. No failures — You'll have no failures if you follow exactly the recipes provided with Certo. Different fruits need different handling, so there's a separate tested recipe for each one.

Means to Control Price-Mention On Air Approved

London, Ont., June 22 — (CP) —Suggested means of controlling price-mention advertising in radio were approved here Monday by the Ontario Regional Organization of the Canadian Association of Broadcasters. Representatives of 28 leading Ontario radio stations attended.

Today, the C.A.B.'s national management committee will correlate recommendations of regional boards across the country and prepare them for presentation to the CBC.

Mention of prices in radio advertising comes into force for a six-month trial period starting Sept. 1.

Believed unique in Canada is CKLW, Windsor, which by special arrangement has been able to use price advertising for 15 years. William Carter, representing CKLW, explained the principles under which the station operates.

"We must avoid being very holy during our trial period and then going hog-wild on price-mention advertising afterwards," Jack Radford, of CFJM Brockville, told the meeting.

He recommended setting a code of operation to control the advertising.

The Ontario regional group recommended the following:

"That stations be very cautious in accepting business from transients; misrepresentation of prices, relative to local merchant or local situation should be carefully avoided. In the markets where better business bureaus are located, careful checking with this office is suggested. The mention of prices on the air is going to open a new field with transients who may be fly-by-night operators, and unless they are controlled they are going to have serious repercussions on your local market."

"That wherever possible all accepted continuity be in the hands of the station by 3 p.m. local time the day preceding the broadcast."

Regarding frequency of price-mention announcement, the Ontario group decided that on participating programs (presented by the radio station itself) there should be three price mentions per quarter-hour, and not more than one repeat of the price in each announcement; in sponsored programs there should be one announcement in five minute period, two in a 10-minute period, three in 15 minutes, and five in an hour.

Four Associations May be Joined Into One Chapter

Kirkland Lake, June 22—(CP) —Three men were appointed as a committee Monday to find the easiest and quickest way to raise $500, the sum of which will be the share of the Ontario chapter of the Muinicipal Finanee Officers Associations in the formation of a joint organization.

The committee, comprised of W. W. Gardhouse, treasurer, York County; F. F. Weldon, clerk treasurer, Victoria County; and L. J. MacPherson, auditor, Kingston, is the first committee nominated at the three-day convention of municipal officials which opened Monday.

It was learned that a gathering of four provincial bodies will be held in Toronto Friday to discuss the possibility of joint action for the development of practical study material for those in municipal office.

The four associations which may join together for this purpose are the Association of Rural Municipalities, the Association of Assessing Officers, the Ontario Municipal Association and the Ontario Chapter of the Municipal Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada.

Professor J. Crawford of Queen's University, Kingston, acting as sercetary of the convention, said there were a number of elected officers and members of municipal staffs who would like to learn more about their jobs.

He said proper study material will be compiled to assist those individuals to get a better grounding on municipal government and affairs.

Scientists to Probe Sea Floor Off Bermuda for New Marine Life

By MARTIN DIER
(Canadian Press Correspondent)

Hamilton, Bermuda, June 22 — (CP) — Exploding fish must be faced by a group of United States scientists preparing for an expedition to study marine life in the Atlantic deep off Bermuda.

The scientists, who will put to sea from Hamilton aboard the Caryn, may have to piece together disintegrated marine life before their studies begin.

The problem results from the fact that fish inhabiting great depths are built to withstand the terrific pressures. When they are caught and brought to the surface they explode in the lessened pressure.

Dr. Fritz Haas, a biologist who is heading the expedition, said animal life on the ocean bottom still is practically unknown.

"Bermuda is unique in its location," he continued. "It is situated on a steep ridge of the ocean bed and has deep water close to the shore.

"We shall collect from the ocean beds whatever we find. We hope to discover some rare specimens and some fish which have never been seen before. We also want to study animal conditions in the depths where the sun doesn't penetrate."

The scientists are charged with an additional task — to make accurate models of the unknown deep sea fish for public showing in the Chicago Natural Museum. Ronald Lambert, an artist and photographer, will have the job of making drawings of the fish or their disintegrated parts as they are brought to the surface.

Other scientists in the party besides Dr. Haas are Leren P. Woods an icthylogist from the Chicago Museum, Mrs. Marion Grey, a specialist on deep - sea fish and Dr. Robert Haas of the University of Illinois.

Tired Campaigners Enter Home Stretch In Sask. Election

Regina, June 22 (CP)—Weary campaigners entered the home stretch today—the last day during which political broadcasting is permitted before Thursday's Saskatchewan election.

Final addresses are scheduled here for C.C.F. Leader M. J. Coldwell and Premier T. C. Douglas. Premier Douglas goes to Weyburn and Mr. Coldwell to Rosetown. Federal Agricultural Minister Gardiner will go to Melville, and Walter Tucker, Provincial Liberal Leader, to Rosthern.

Mr. Tucker is confident of victory for "democracy", which he said Monday "is on the march in Saskatchewan" and will "defeat the C.C.F. government by an overwhelming majority on June 24th."

Speaking to a rally of more than 2,500 persons, Mr. Tucker said election of a Liberal government would result in a "surge of good will" for Saskatchewan all across Canada.

He spoke in support of W. G. Brown, Liberal, and Alan Embury, Progressive Conservative, both candidates for the two-member Regina city constituency.

Premier Douglas, on the other hand, urged voters to trust their own hearts when they vote Thursday.

At Kamsack, Mr. Coldwell told an election meeting the C.C.F. party now is "fighting a coalition." He said the movement faced its "greatest test."

He described the C.C.F. as the "middle group between Communism and totalitarianism on one hand and monopolies on the other."

He said the Saskatchewan government of the last four years was the only government in Canada ever to attempt to give farmers absolute security.

Power Supply To be Restricted Next Fall, Winter

Toronto, June 22 — (CP) — Chairman Robert H. Saunders of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission said Monday there is "no doubt" restrictions of power supply will be required next fall and winter.

The commission was already considering the type of restrictions to be imposed, he told a meeting of the Ontario Municipal Electrical Association.

Demand for power in May, 1948, was increased six per cent over May, 1947. Present indications were the December, 1948, peak would be 8.77 per cent higher than during December, 1947.

"Our additional resources will come close to meeting the increased demand, but will not meet any part of the backlog or build up any reserve," he said.

He predicted it would be necessary to impose restrictions by Oct. 1.

"My belief is that we who have the duty to supply electric energy to people must not leave those whom we represent in doubt," said Mr. Saunders. His statement recalled a sudden, unannounced power cut-off last year which tied up industry for hours.

He said industry could help by staggering working periods. Between midnight and 7 a.m. the commission has available an excess of energy.

Brighteners

Los Angeles — (AP) — Police received a $30,000 traffic fine Monday but don't intend to keep it.

The money came from Harold Simpson, stationed in Shanghai, where the currency situation is somewhat inflated. Officer Pete Zook said Simpson's letter read, in part:

"Regarding a warrant just received in forwarded mail regarding your desire of having me appear in court . . .

"Due to the uncertainty of my return to the U. S. A., I am enclosing 30,000 local dollars. You see, it is unlawful to send U. S. money from China."

Zook said it is unlawful to accept Chinese money here, so back it will go.

Shanghai, — (AP) — Latest Chinese inflation sidelight:

Associated press correspondent Harold Milks rode the train from Nanking to Shanghai Monday for a fare of 2,520,000 Chinese dollars.

The latest black market exchange rate in Shanghai is 2,600,000 to $1.

Milks' 194-mile train ride cost him less than $1.

Manila — (AP) — When the mechanized west meets the manpowered east, the twin form weirdly wonderful results:

An American - educated Chinese has just opened a Manila supermarket, the first in the Far East. It is identical with the rest in North America, except that each wire grocery cart is equipped with a Chinese boy to push it for the customer.

The Manila Overseas Press Club has acquired an automatic elevator — but the old operator is still on duty, punching the buttons for patrons.

Manila also has installed its first traffic light since the war. It is an object of civic pride, but it never has been turned on; a policeman stands at its base and directs traffic as of yore.

PERFORMANCE FOR THE GOVERNOR

Arriving in New York from Albany, Governor and Mrs. Thomas E. Dewey are treated to an impromptu performance of 18-months-old Dennis Berg, who balances on the hand of his dad, Adolph Berg, of Leviton, L.I. The governor later left for Philadelphia to be on hand for the opening of the Republican National convention that may bring forth the biggest event of his life.

Saguenay Power Vitalizes Great Aluminum Industry

(By The Canadian Press)

A long time ago nature gave the Saguenay river a 200-foot drop and that is the chief reason there now is a $300,000,000 aluminum industry at Arvida, Que.

That, and the further fact that the Saguenay, after making its big drop, flows smoothly 100 miles to the St. Lawrence and the sea.

It is a graphic illustration of the importance of power and transport.

Bauxite, the chief raw material, comes 3,000 miles from British Guiana; cryolote from Greenland; fluorspar from Newfoundland; other items from Denmark and the United States, all into Port Alfred on the Saguenay's big Ha-Ha Bay, (whose odd name has various misty explanations). From there it goes 20 miles overland to Arvida.

And back from Arvida come aluminum ingots, 90 per cent for export, chiefly to the United States and Britain.

Aluminum is not the only contribution of the Saguenay, nor its last 200-foot drop at Shipshaw, near Arvida, its only one. Earlier it is tapped further up ta Isle Maligne as it comes out of Lake St. John, and then at Chute-a-Caron, to make possible a great pulp and paper industry as well as the peacetime aluminum industry.

The development at Shipshaw, which delivers 1,500,000 horsepower, was built as a wartime measure to feed an expanded Arvida plant.

Many Canadians visit the Arvida plant, 1 1-2 miles wide by 3-4 of a mile wide, with 37 miles of railway inside its walls, its long lines of "pots" where fluid aluminum bubbles and is poured like water from great cauldrons.

160 Employees Of Oshawa Firm Out on Strike

Oshawa, June 22 — (CP) — Employees of the Skinner Co., Ltd., believed to be the sole Canadian manufacturers of certain parts supplied to Canadian automotive firms, went on strike at 7 a.m. this morning. The 160 employees are members of the Local 222 of the United Automobile Workers (C.I.O.)

The local is asking a 25-cents an hour boost across the board. The company has proposed an increase of nine cents, with the understanding that this should be frozen until the next wage increases are granted to employees in customer plants.

Union officials said their demand is based on a recent settlement of wage disputes in the United States which was based on increases in living costs.

Britain to Continue To Press Russia For Compensation

London, June 22 (Reuters) — Britain will continue to press Russia for compensation for the loss of the British airliner which crashed near Berlin last April with the loss of 14 lives after a collision with a Russian fighter. Hector McNeil, Minister of State, in a parliamentary reply Monday said the Russians were legally responsible for compensation.

Sauer May Become Greatest Home Run Hitter in History Of Cincinnati Ball, Now Has 20

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Hammering Hank Sauer, in his first full year in the major leagues, gave promise today of blossoming into the greatest home run hitter in Cincinnati baseball history.

The 29-year-old outfielder yesterday tied a club record for the most home runs hit by a righthanded batter when he blasted his 20th four-bagger of the young season. The blow enabled the Reds to nip the Phillies 4-3 in a night game in Philadelphia.

Until yesterday, Ernie Lombardi, in 1939, and Frank McCormick in 1944, were the only righthanded batters in Cincinnati's long history to hit 20 home runs in one season.

Sauer, who now is one up on Pittsburgh's Ralph Kiner for the National League home run leadership, needs 10 more to tie the club record by any batter. Ival Goodman, a southpaw swinger, slammed 30 home runs for the Reds in 1938.

Alpha Brazle bested Warren Spahn in a brilliant southpaw pitching duel to give St. Louis Cardinals a 1-0 victory over the league - leading Braves in a night game in Boston.

The Braves, however, maintained their 1½-game margin on the runner-up Pittsburgh Pirates who were defeated by the Dodgers in a night game in Brooklyn 5-2.

Branca Has Eight

Ralph Branca, Dodger righthander, allowed the Pirates eight hits to register his eighth victory of the season and his sixth in a row. Branca also snapped a four-game losing streak for the sixth-place Dodgers. Jackie Robinson got two of the Dodgers' five hits off losing pitcher Vic Lombardi.

Allie Reynolds, who came to New York in a trade with Cleveland, pitched the Yankees to an easy 13-2 triumph over his former Indian mates in a night game in Cleveland. The victory cut Cleveland's first - place lead over the Yankees in the American League pennant race to 2½ games.

The Yankees accumulated 18 hits. They included home runs by Joe DiMaggio and George Stirnweiss. It was DiMag's 15th.

Three consecutive doubles after two were out in the last half of the ninth inning drove in four runs and gave the Browns a 9-8 victory over Philadelphia Athletics in a night game in St. Louis. Joe Coleman, fourth athletic pitcher, was charged with the loss.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

BY GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

The male may be deadlier than the female of the species—in some things, that is, but here's a fishing episode that proved that the weaker sex, in the face of a piscaterial emergency can rise to heights if need be.

• • •

It happened on Salmon Lake. The gentleman and the lady, veterans of the rod, rode the light boat in the teeth of a brisk wind. Choppy waves licked at the gunwales. But the gentleman and his wife were fish-intent and spume-crested waves held no fear for them.

• • •

The staccato putt-putts of the motor were drowned in the symphony of gusty wind and slapping water. Slowly the craft battled its way up lake. The man, hand on throttle watched the long copper line flash in the foamy water. The rod, equipped with a large reel, swung and bent as the lady waited patiently for the strike.

• • •

Then it happened. Came a sudden jerk and the rod curved in a sharp arc as the line taughtened. The lady straightened in the seat. And then started a stiff battle between fish and angler that lasted for what seemed an hour. The wind freshened and the craft was buffeted by the rising waves. The lady, jaw set in a determined line, fought the fish doggedly. Then she tired a bit and rested the reel on the gunwale. "Shall I stop the engine?" came the voice of her husband above the noise of the wind.

"No," she answered. "Keep the blankety-blank thing going. How can I keep him on the hook if you stop the boat." The man nodded. He acknowledged the wisdom of the feminine remark.

• • •

A few minutes later the fish was brought alongside. It proved to be a grey trout weighing somewhere in the neighborhood of six pounds. But it was six pounds of fighting fish fury—and far from beaten even at this stage of the game.

• • •

As the lady manoeuvred it close to the boat, the gentleman grabbed his trusty landing net. Twice he endeavored to enmesh the fighting fish and twice it eluded his efforts. Then he managed to get the steel hoop of the net under it and he raised the fish, balanced precariously on its perch, above the water.

• • •

Now such a manoeuvre is not according to the rules of good fishing. The lady had visions of her catch slipping literally through her fingers. She was going to land this beauty, if it took her last "New Look", her fishing line, rod, and for a moment she thought "Right at this moment I'd swop the old man for it, the way he's behaving."

• • •

So in an effort born of near-desperation she gave the line a strong jerk. The fish tottered on the hoop of the net, rose in the air and flopped in the bottom of the boat. The effort, however, caused the lady to fall over backwards in the boat with her catch flailing dying efforts near her. As the gentleman gazed, the smile ready to flash on his face turned to a look of amazement. An ominous red stain began to spread over his wife's dress. He had visions of tragedy. Who would believe a story that a six-pound fish had bitten his wife somewhere and caused fatal injuries on the high seas of Salmon Lake?

• • •

But his fears were short lived. A minute or so later the lady scrambled to a more dignified position. The husband pointed to the stained dress. "That's nothing" she said. "Where's that fish?"

He pointed to the bottom of the boat where the fine trout now lay still. Then he motioned to the red stain. "That," quoth the lady, in tones that could have been so much sweeter, "is nothing more than what is left of a glass of tomato juice that was placed on the seat beside me."

• • •

Later it was revealed that such had been the force of the jerk on the line delivered by the lady, that one of the hooks on the lure was broken and the other straightened out. A few more inches to windward, and the fish, two tempers and probably a husband might have been lost.

Tonight Bill Easton's Batawa Shoemen and Doug Sutton's Oshawa Merchants hold the baseball spotlight in a COBL clash under the floodlights at the Exhibition Grounds. Both squads have the sweet taste of victory in their mouths after their respective defeats of Peterborough and Kingston on Saturday. And both squads are ararin' to go after the weekend rest. With the exception of Peterborough the home teams haven't been having much luck thus far in the COBL race, and Batawa broke the Petes streak on Saturday. With Muffit back in championship form, the Shoemen should be hard nuts to crack from now on, as their hitting has been fairly consistent. Game goes at 8.30.

Kiwanis Juniors Take Trenton 14-6 In Weird Game

What started out to be a Midsummer Night's Dream of a ball game ended in a nightmarish finish at the Exhibition Grounds Monday night as the Kiwanis Juniors continued their unbeaten way in the Belleville Baseball League by disposing of the Trenton squad by a 14-6 score.

For five innings the boys played heads-up baseball. Juniors gave Joe Nolan, who was starting his first game as a junior hurler, and who deserved a better fate, a nice lead and the young lefthander seemed headed for certain victory when the roof fell in, and covered both teams.

The slim junior southpaw was breezing along allowing but three scattered hits for five scoreless innings, with a neat five-run lead. In the sixth he issued a walk and a hit and caused the next batter to fly out. Both runners advanced and third baseman Lockyer threw an easy ground out over the first baseman's head and two runs scored.

Practically the same set-up occurred in the seventh. The first batter rapped out a single and Johnny Green tossed a high throw outside the diamond. Lesperance hit. Coe went out and Haffey laced out a single. Coursal walked and the score was all tied at 5-all when Art Wright took over. The young righthander finished the game allowing three hits for one run, Nolan struck out four and Wright three.

Started One of Their Own

Trenton not to be outdone by the sudden if brief blow-up of the Juniors started one of their own only on a much grander scale. In their half of the seventh, fourteen Junior batters faced two Trenton hurlers and the explosion was productive of nine runs for five hits, two walks and three errors with a hit-by-pitcher throw in for good measure.

Hughie Carswell started on the mound for Trenton and he lasted until midway in the seventh when Ellis was rushed in to stem the Junior tide. Carswell was touched for nine hits for eleven runs, while Ellis allowed one clout for three runs with his mates kicking the ball around behind him. Trenton committed seven miscues all told.

Bradshaw paced the winners attack with a triple and a single. Bush got a couple of singles and Johnny Green Jr. scratched out a pair of clouts. Soules hit a two-bagger while Lockyer, Reeves and Nolan kicked in with one hit each.

Had Double, Single

Coe had a double and single for Trenton while Haffey picked up a pair of hits. Coursal clouted a two-bagger and Brown and Lesperance contributed two each to the lost cause.

Russ Soules, Juniors' starting catcher was heaved out of the game by Umpire Eddie Schreider in the sixth when a pushing match started at the plate between Soules and Bossin, Trenton third baseman who was batting. A play was in the making at third base, and Soules claimed Bossin interferred with the throw. The players started a hugging match and both teams raced to the scene of the fracas. Bossin, however, who remained in the game promptly struck out.

New York, June 22 — (AP) — Jersey Joe Walcott has boxed 110 rounds and done about 350 miles of roadwork since he began training for Joe Louis 10 weeks ago . . . Louis has worked almost as hard in preparation for his heavyweight title defence . . . yet 70 miles the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie are a bunch of guys who'd say they're a pair of sissies . . . oarsmen claim that the toughest of all athletic contests is a rowing race and they've shortened the intercollegiate test at Poughkeepsie to three miles, from four, because post-war oarsmen aren't up to the longer grind . . . certainly they spend more hours in training than any fighter or football player . . . our guess is that either Louis or Walcott would fold up in less than a mile of rowing in a varsity shell and that not one of the 88 oarsmen in the 11 varsity boats at Poughkeepsie could stand up for a full round against either of the Joes...

Let's You and Him Fight

Eleven years ago today, Joe Louis won the heavyweight boxing title from Jimmy Braddock. Tomorrow, weather permitting, he'll defend it for the 25th time . . . that's eight more than the total number of title defences by Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney, Max Schmeling, Jack Sharkey, Primo Carnera, Max Baer and Jim Braddock . . . Joe's predecessors . . . Louis was the youngest man ever to win the heavyweight title; he already has held it longer than any other champion, and when he finally loses it he'll be one of the oldest men to drop the championship. Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack Johnson were 37 when they were dethroned and Jess Willard was 36

"I'll Get Him Quick" Says Louis Before Last Fight

By WILL GRIMSLEY

New York, June 22 (AP) — Confidence radiated from both camps today as champion Joe Louis and challenger Jersey Joe Walcott enjoyed a brief lull before their 15-round heavyweight title bout tomorrow night at Yankee Stadium.

"I'll get him quick" was the cold prediction of the Brown Bomber, who announced this 25th defence of his crown will be his "last" ring outing.

"He's ready" was the tag handlers put on Walcott, the amazing comebacker who almost snatched the title last December.

Odds favoring the champion remained firm at 5 to 13.

The weatherman, meanwhile, gave the outdoor attraction a temporary blessing, promising a cloudy, humid day but no rain.

Ticket sales continued brisk but promoter Mike Jacob's hopes of a $1,000,000 gate appeared certain to fall short. The Twentieth Century Sporting Club is counting on a turnout of around 55,000, a gate of approximately $900,000.

Louis put in his final training licks at Pompton Lakes, N. J., yesterday, turned up with a black eye and announced afterwards, "I think I'm 50 or 75 per cent better than I was for the last fight."

The discolored optic not serious, was a parting gift of one of the champ's sparmates. The champion scaled 213 after his last drill but expects to hit between 214 and 215 when he weighs in Wednesday noon.

Jersey Joe, who finished tapering off Sunday, planned to break camp at Greenloch, N.J., today and move to New York to await the weigh in. He will check in at around 195.

Jersey Giants Nip Maple Leafs In Last Frame

(By The Associated Press)

Although he prefers to pitch for Montreal Royals, Big Hank Behrman continues to demonstrate that he could be of use to the parent Brooklyn Dodgers.

Behrman was recalled by the Dodgers recently but when he voiced his preference for the Royals the Dodgers left him with their International League affiliate.

The 26-year-old righthander turned in his eighth victory of the season last night, pitching the first-place-Royals to a 7-3 conquest of Newark's Bears. He has lost only two games.

The triumph increased the Royals' margin to 1 1-2 games over the Bears.

Syracuse's third-place chiefs turned back Rochester Red Wings 4-2 although collecting only three scratch hits off southpaw Ken Johnson. Johnson was wild, walking nine men and four of them figured in the Syracuse scoring.

Buffalo Bisons continued their heavy slugging, trouncing Baltimore Orioles 10-4. The Bisons collected 11 hits including roundtrippers by Anse Moore, Larry Barton and Johnny Groth.

Scoring four times in the ninth inning, Jersey City Giants snapped a 6-6 tie and beat Toronto Maple Leafs 10-6. Sal Yvars' three-run four-master was the big blow in the Giants' winning rally. Oscar Judd of Ingersoll, Ont., making his first start since hurling a no-hitter against Syracuse on June 14, went the distance for the Leafs while Tex Kraus worked the complete game for the Giants.

By PHILIPPE ADLERE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Montreal, June 22 — (CP) — Wednesday, so far as the heavyweight division of the box fight business goes, is the big night. But if there is agreement in any Canadian town on who will hold the world title when Joe Louis and Joe Walcott leave the Yankee Stadium ring that town differs from Montreal.

For instance Andy (Montreal Standard) O'Brien heaves his bulk to the typewriter to pound out a call in favor of Jersey Joe. Down the hall a bit Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara comes out for the champ still to be champ.

Here's Why:

Andy: "Louis' legs are obviously minus the spring they used to have . . . Walcott's legs are the legs of a young fighter. Walcott showed a style that baffled Louis and there's no reason for believing he can't do it again."

Baz: "This time we think Louisles. will win because he is a better man and he hits harder. We think he will be hitting a lot in the early rounds. He is slow and lumbering but he is in condition. We always believe in stringing with the champion even if we feel Louis is near the end of the line."

Oh, well.

More from Andy

Nine-Hole Course At Yellowknife Officially Opened

Yellowknife, N. W. T., June 22 — (CP) — Yellowknife's compact nine-hole golf course, the most northerly in Canada and one of the farthest north in the world, has been opened by 50 enthusiastic members of the Yellowknife Golf Club.

the official opening originally was scheduled for midnight Monday night, the night the sun does not set but the members, many of whom are business men, set it ahead to Monday afternoon because "you can't play golf all night and work all day."

The course is carved out of rock and bush adjacent to the Yellowknife airport and offers a real test to the most ardent golfer.

The brain child of two of the settlement's leading business men Percy Atkinson and Sandy Scott, the course has been built entirely by volunteer labor.

Workers toiled since early last summer to complete the course and thus add another game to the settlement's long list of outdoor sports. Atkinson, manager of the Yellowknife Branch of the Bank of Toronto and president of the local Board of Trade, rates the little course as "tops."

"While we haven't grass greens and lush fairways at the present time, they will eventually come. We have big plans for our course for the future, but right now we are tickled to death with what we have accomplished," he said.

Scott, manager of the Hudson's Bay store, is equally enthusiastic. He's a fellow who likes his golf and he's missed it since he was posted to Yellowknife.

The longest hole on the course is the seventh, a 355-yard par four, while the shortest is the first, a 150-yard par three. Both are well trapped and tough. The members also have a temporary clubhouse.

The opening of the course made golf history and, says the members, who knows some day it may provide a Canadian champion.

APPROVED BY SENATE

Ottawa, June 22 — (CP) — The government's labor code was approved in principal Monday night by the Senate.

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L-Ontario), piloting the bill through second reading, described it as a move toward uniform labor legislation for the whole Dominion.

It affects directly only the estimated 300,000 employees under federal jurisdiction — in industries such as shipping, railways and aeronautics. But it provides for any province to adopt its principles in whole or in part, with the Dominion paying the cost of any such provincial administration.

Western Racing Takes Terrific Strides Since '25

Winnipeg, June 22 — (CP) — Western racing has taken terrific strides since R. J. Speers ran the first organized thoroughbred race meet at Whittier Park here in 1925.

This is the view of a man fully qualified to talk about past and present prairie racing. He is Emanuel Johansen of Calgary who started racing in 1923 in Vancouver when he trained Herb Fuller's 15-horse stable.

Born in Denmark, Joe — unknown to many racetrackers by any other name — landed in New York in 1905 when he was 15 and went into the cattle business with varied success. Hard years practically wiped him out but he kept going. Landing in Edmonton in 1912 the cattle and butcher business occupied him until the winter of 1920 when nearly everyone in his district was cleaned out. Racing followed.

In the early days of the prairies nearly all the horses were either American or eastern bred, with the majority from the States.

Today western breds can go anywhere and hold their own, Joe said. Men like R. J. Speers and D. J. Kennedy of Winnipeg have given the game a boost with their interest in breeding. Kennedy, a comparative newcomer, has a breeding farm stocked with top mares. Speers has led Canadian breeders on occasion. Others are in the breeding business in a smaller way and make a real contribution to western and Canadian racing.

Joe breeds a few himself at the Chinook Park race track in Calgary, which he owns and uses as a training ground. There are half-a-dozen home-bred colts in his 13-head string this year. Joe, incidentally, trained Great Northern, winner of the opening handicap at Chinook when it opened in 1925.

The greatest horse he has ever owned? Joe says the present star of his stable, Amsterdam out of My Ella is perhaps not the fastest but certainly best in view of consistency and adaptability.

Fearlessness One Big Thing In Walcott's Favor

(Editors Note: Here is how Jersey Joe Walcott looks to a noted psychiatrist. Dr. J. L. Moreno is studying both Walcott and Joe Louis, and trying to pick the winner by scientific methods. It worked in 1935 when he chose Louis over Max Baer.)

By J. L. MORENO, M.D.
(Copyright, 1948, By The Associated Press)

Greenloch, N.J., June 22 (AP) —One big thing in Joe Walcott's favor is that he will fight only one Joe Louis.

Every other challenger has had to fight two. One was the flesh-and-blood Louis, the other was the myth of Louis' invincibility. They suffered psychological knockouts before getting into the ring, were full of fears, sometimes paralyzed.

Walcott will enter the ring fearless. He has disposed of the old idea that there is no defence against the murderous punching fury of Joe Louis.

Walcott has a defence in his style of fighting. He has speed. He knows Joe Louis' way of acting in the ring. He knows how to wait for the strategic moment.

One way to gauge a fighter, scientifically, is to measure how many punches he throws per minute, how many he takes in return. How many hurt, and how he acts in an emergency.

In a round, Walcott throws punches ranging from a low of 10 per minute to a high of 25. This averages a punch every third second.

He was the target for about half as many punches as he threw.

Two Seconds Between Punches

Walcott's rate of throwing punches means that he has, on the average, two seconds between punches to fill in, to do something else. The more and the longer the pauses between punches, the more time a boxer has to get worried, or to let fears rise in his mind. The ideal fighter would be one who lets one punch follow another, with pauses between them practically zero until his opponent is knocked out.

Walcott leaves a great deal of time for secondary or preparatory activities, such as footwork, intense watching of his opponent trying to avoid any punch that might hurt himself, thinking what the momentary situation requires. He's cautious and guards against taking unnecessary chances.

Walcott appears to be older than his actual age in years.

He appears self-confident and unworried.

He has an inner lifeline of reassurance. The story he can tell himself to build up his morale is that he has knocked Louis down, that he should have won last December's fight.

But while Walcott appears confident, there are signs of certain fears and uneasiness at his camp. Although all his associates declare they are confident, they don't all act that way. They have a fear. The way some act toward questions is not a sign of complete supreme feeling of coming victory. They want to win. But there are certain emotional loopholes in their armor.

ONE INJURED IN TORNADO

Ashland, Mo., June 22 (AP) — One man was injured, one house destroyed and three other dwellings damaged by a small tornado which struck the east edge of this small central Missouri town Sunday night.

Buford Sapp, 44, suffered a concussion, but his wife, their 4 children and his mother-in-law escaped injury when the twister demolished his home.

Ashland, with a population of about 450, is 12 miles north of Jefferson City.

Vancouver After British Empire Games in 1950

Vancouver, June 22 — (CP) — Pacific coast sportsmen are determined the 1950 British Empire Games should not remain siteless for long. They think Vancouver can — and should — stage the games.

F. N. A. Rowell, national chairman of the track and field committee of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, today voiced the opinion of many sportsmen.

"Track and field athletics in Canada would receive a severe setback if the British Empire Games, which have been offered to Canada for 1950, were held elsewhere."

Monday in Montreal the Canadian Olympic Committee announced the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto could not accept a proposal the 1950 games be held on its grounds because of other commitments.

After the eastern announcement, Bob Osborne, chairman of the B. C. branch of the Canadian Olympic committee, wired east for details of the proposal. The C. N. E. had been asked to raise $50,000 toward expenses of Commonwealth countries sending teams. He said Monday night he thought B. C. could sponsor the meet if various groups — the Pacific National Exhibition, the Vancouver Board of Trade, the Tourist Association — co-operated.

Nineteen fifty will mark the fourth meeting of the Empire Games. Canada was host to the first series at Hamilton in 1930. Subsequent meets gathered in 1934 in England, and in 1938 in Australia.

"Flavoured with Pulp Mill Waste"

VANILLA from waste pulp mill liquor . . . rock wool insulation from blast furnace slag . . . Yesterday waste . . . today, useful products contributing to Canada's industrial advance which has made us one of the world's great manufacturing nations — with greater, more interesting, more varied opportunities than ever before for the talents and enterprise of young Canadians.

Today our vast natural resources are being developed not only more extensively than ever before. Canadian science and initiative are developing them more intensively too.

FROM THE waste liquor of our pulp and paper mills now come ethyl alcohol, vanilla flavour, yeast, some forms of plastics. New developments convert our saw-mill waste into kraft pulp; slash from sawing into insulating board.

OUR NATURAL gas is now the source of a great new fertilizer production . . . Sulphur fumes are processed into sulphuric acid . . . From formerly waste hydrogen comes a Canadian nitric acid . . .

NEW METHODS developed by Canadian scientists extract additional metals from Canadian ores . . . a whole range of minor metals are now the valuable by-products of our lead-zinc ores . . .

"OPPORTUNITIES HERE . . ."

LAIRD MILLER of Jarvis, Ontario, "started at the bottom" in a local industry 20 years ago, has advanced to a position of responsibility today. 13 years ago he took over the failing local newspaper, has built it up until it has gained recognition as one of Canada's outstanding weeklies. He has served eight years as Councillor, four as Reeve, on his municipal council; last year was elected to the Board of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association.

LAIRD MILLER says: "I'm glad I stayed in Canada when others were seeking success elsewhere. There have always been opportunities here for those ready to take advantage of them — but never have there been so many, or such a variety, of them as there are today."

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Turner Twist is not his name. But he has a grand system. He misquotes what someone else says. Then he uses his statement to prove the other fellow is wrong. Some listeners fall for it, too.

He was heard to remark: "This guy Gordon is nuts. He claims no hand should be opened with less than four high cards. Too many games would be missed that way."

What I have said is that a hand should have four high cards to open with a bid of one. Many hands containing less than four high should be opened. But not with the bid of one.

Openings of two or three or four need not consider how many high cards they have. If they happen to have four or more, it is purely incidental. Such openings guarantee other things.

An opening bid of four in a major promises not a thing except a long suit. The same goes for an opening of five in a minor. In either no guarantee is made of high cards.

An opening of three in a major shows a powerful suit with a sure outside trick in an eight trick hand. The same goes for an opening of five in a minor. Either could have only three high cards.

An opening of two in a suit simply says it has at least nine tricks. It usually has more than four high cards. But it may have less. As in the hand shown here:

♠A K 10 7 6 5 4
♥None
♦None
♣A 9 8 7 6 5

This hand contains nine tricks. Only three of them are high cards. Six of them are hearts. It is an opening of two spades. And a good two spade opening, too.

. A few live and yearn to speak out of turn.

BEREAVED BY CRASH

Too young to understand, 19-month-old Margaret Ann, reflects the grief of her mother, Mrs. Jean Casmer of New York, over the fiery death of their husband and father, William, on the ill-fated DC-6 that crashed in Pennsylvania killing all 43 persons aboard. Cause of the crash still remains a mystery.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, June 22 (AP)—The old cry of "I didn't raise my girl to be an actress," doesn't go with Betty Hutton. "That's a lot of slush," says she.

"I've 'had a ball' being in show business all my life. I've met the President of the United States and I could meet the King and Queen if I went to England. In what other line of work could I do that? And why shouldn't I want my daughter to get as big a kick out of life?"

Betty said she doesn't intend to force her children into the acting profession. The desire has to come from within them. So far, Lindsay, 19 months, has shown theatrical tendencies, but Candy, six weeks, hasn't yet displayed much acting talent.

Betty started in the hard way—dodging vegetables at amateur nights in Detroit 3.2 beer gardens.

Today's Feature: Nostalgia Alley

Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray are doing their seventh film together, "Family Honeymoon." It hasn't always been a winning combination, Claudette observed, citing "Maid of Salem," one of her two flops (the other: "Zaza.") "It was awful," he said. "I remember how Fred and I danced the minuet in an apple orchard, looking like a couple of jerks...."

Mary Astor gets a twinge of nostalgia playing Narmee in M.G.M.'s "Little Women." Her first job was a lead in the same opus for a Chicago stock company—Ray Bolger, who dances with Marilyn Miller (June Haver) in "Silver Lining," never appeared with the great dancer, but he recalls practising a few steps with her in her kitchen years ago. They were going to appear in "On Your Toes" together. Three days later she died....

Star Will Trail Olympic Torch In Cosy Auto

By JACK SULLIVAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, (CP) — Likable Ken (Sandy) Duncan, 35-year-old Oxford graduate and England international track and field star, has a knack of seeing the world on other people's money. He's been doing it since 1934.

Sandy has been an all-expenses-paid visits to Canada, Australia, Germany and now he has picked up the choicest—and strangest—job in the August Olympic Games preparations. He'll sit in the plushy cosiness of a limousine on the 1,500-mile Torch relay route from Bari, in Southern Italy, to Calais, on the French coast.

His job is to trail Torch runners at a lazy eight-mile-an-hour pace and represent the Organizin gOlympic Committee at ceremonies at Bari, Lausanne, Switzerland, and Brussels. He speaks French "passably well" and hopes he'll get by on it.

It won't be an around-the-clock job for Sandy. He travels by day, will scoot ahead of the runners to the town where the Flama is due the following morning and wait for them.

While he is taking in the sights at night far ahead of the torch-bearers, an automobile supplied by the National Olympic Committee of the country will take over. Sandy's car, and the others, will carry extra torches, "for emergency" and an extra runner.

Sightseeing Trip

Sandy and a British driver will leave London, July 13, pick up Italian runners at Bari six days later and cross Italy, Switzerland, France, Luxembourg and France again. His job ends at Calais July 28, the limousine will be transported by ship across the Channel and he'll motor to London.

He says he doesn't think he'll be bored en route. He won't be allowed to duck out of the car and "limber up" with the runners, and he'll spend his days "taking in the scenery".

Duncan's travels started in 1934 or 1935—"I don't remember which"—when he went to Canada as a member of the Oxford-Cambridge track team which met an Amateur Athletic Association club at Montreal. He won the 100 yards, long jump and discus events.

. In 1936 he was an official at the Berlin Olympic Games and two years later captained Britain's track team in the British Empire Games at Sydney. This European trip is voted his best, but he has one suggestion:

"Now, if only I had a blonde to go with it. . ."

Kitchener Moves Into Third-Place Tie in League

(By The Canadian Press)

Manager Bob Schnurr's two-hit performance as Kitchener Legionnaires blanked London Majors 3-0 to move the winners into a third-place tie in the Intercounty League, highlighted senior baseball activity in Ontario last night.

Stratford Nationals pounded out a 7-4 decision, while the Brantford-Guelph tilt was postponed as floodlights were being installed in the Guelph ball park. No other Intercounty games were scheduled.

Up north, Coniston Buzzers defeated Garson 7-5 and Frood Tigers walloped Creighton Cuos 13-4 in the Nickel Belt circuit. The lone Niagara district senior game saw Niagara Falls Flores edgt St. Catharines Saints 6-5.

Ten Billion New Marks Authorized

Frankfurt, June 21 (AP) —Allied officials said tonight the issuance of 10,000,000,000 new marks has been authorized for western Geramny.

The officials said this is the maximum amount of the new "Deutschemarks" German banks will be allowed to circulate after the completion of currency reform. Issuance of of the new marks started Sunday in the British, United States and French zones.

Germany now has about 10 times more money in circulation than before the war. There are an estimated 100,000,000,000 marks circulating.

If the international value of the mark is set at 30 cents, the total issue of new money would be worth $4,000,000,000. The officials said they are unable to say how much of the new money will be put into circulation in the near future.

First visitors to Northern Ontario's fishing country since the travel ban was lifted June 17 were three teen-agers from Dayton, Ohio, winners of an outdoor girl contest. They had never been fishing before, because Ohio rivers are polluted by factory waste, they explained. Unloading baggage from plane at Pine Falls are Lois Anderson and Dorothy Puckett (above) and Virginia Hundley (on float). The girls voted canoeing as much fun as fishing.

British Workingman Still Dislikes "Big Boss" Even if it's Labor Govt.

By STUART UNDERHILL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The British workingman does not seem able to overcome his aversion to the "big boss" even when it's the Labor government.

It is the Labor government's proud boast that there have been far fewer strikes and working disputes in the last three years. But many government officials have been hurt and puzzled that reforms haven't brought contentment among workers.

The unrest among coal miners has been typical. Their wages have gone up, working conditions have improved and they have won countless concessions since the mines were nationalized in January, 1947.

Sporadic strikes have shown that the men are still far from satisfied. They don't like the plans to close uneconomic mines, they resent the constant exhortations to work full time and they grumble that the bureaucratic operations of the National Coal Board are "inhuman."

The dock strike which broke out last week and paralyzed the port of London had traces of the same discontent. The strike began in resentment over the disciplinary action against a gang which had refused to unload a difficult cargo at the existing rates. It spread like wildfire and more than one observer thought it found the tinder in the men's dislike of "regimentation."

Since the war the government has organized an elaborate "decasualization" scheme which guarantees the dock workers a regular minimum wage.

"Few classes in Britain have enjoyed such improvement as dockers. But the young men come to me and grumble that now they are members of a pool they can't change employers. They resent the discipline they have to accept in order to guarantee security and efficiency," said one government official.

Business Spotlight

(By The Canadian Press)

United States presidential nominating conventions seem likely to act as unsettled influences on security markets until they are decided, and to diminish chances of any broad advance.

New York Monday had its sharpest overall decline in a month in active trading with losses of one to two points numerous and The Associated Press average of 60 ostocks falling .7 to 70.5, a low since June 7. Oils went against the trend and the general market seemed to be levelling off at the close.

Canadian markets have not been consistent with American exchanges recently, failing for instance to join in their activity, but they are likely to be influenced strongly by New York's uncertainty. At the moment they seem to be watching and waiting perhaps entering summer doldrums, though pursuing some special angles of their own.

Toronto Monday was typical. It dragged through the early session with little change, then dipped in the afternoon, possibly from inertia and certainly without any splurge of trading volume since April 8.

Papers, utilities, steels and foods led a drop of more than two points in the exchange's index and base metals joined in the declines for almost a point.

Western oils, which lost only a quarter point, seemed to be pursuing their lethargic decline since May 21, though they are off only five points in that time and possibly are waiting for something new to resume the advance which had characterized them earlier. Refining oils also were off.

Golds lost .76 from what seemed lack of interest, but made the best balance of the day between losses and gains.

A number of issues over the whole market managed new highs for the year and a few stocks attarcted special attention, up or down.

Montreal also was irregular and light, with banks and utilities up in the averages, and industrials, papers and golds off.

WANT A MONKEY?

Vancouver — (CP) — Fred Edge says he will gladly trade Bongo, his pet monkey, for an apartment. "A paper clip I gave him was promptly jabbed into a light socket, short-circuiting the lights all over the building. Then curtains, blinds and everything that could come down came down . . . A few minutes later an eviction notice was pushed under my door."

OMEA Approves 60-Cycle Change In Principle

Toronto, June 22 — (CP) — An expected 80,000 kilowatts from the opening of the Stewartville plant and the Polymer steam plant, along with other additional sources will come close to meeting the increased demand for power in 1948, Chairman Robert H. Saunders of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission told the Ontario Municipal Electric Association Monday.

The added kilowatts, however, 'will not meet any part of the backlog, or build up a reserve."

Mr. Saunders said that, in his opinion, Hydro has "weathered the post-war demands extremely well, and . . . need not take a second seat to private industry."

"10 years," he said, "the December power demand had increased by about 1,000,000 kilowatts. Dependable peak capacity increased by 591,000. "It therefore will be seen that the restrictions imposed on Dec. 10, 1947, were an absolute necessity."

He went on to say that power restrictions will be necessary this fall and winter, and the type of restriction to be imposed is being worked out. Present estimates now are that they will become necessary about Oct. 1.

The O.M.E.A., in a special one-day session, approved the proposal to standardize cycle frequency in the province at an estimated cost of $191,000,000.

Chairman Saunders said the commission will add 1,347,000 horsepower in generating stations at a cost of $210,947,000. This is exclusive of the proposed St. Lawrence power development.

R. L. Hearn, general manager and chief engineer of the Hydro Commission, said still greater industrialization and demand for power is indicated.

The building of a $21,000,000 steam plant at Windsor is part of the hydro expansion program and is not related to the standardization plan, said Mr. Hearn in reply to Mayor J. S. Beck of Brampton.

Tube Shortage For Housing Is "Critical"

Chatham, June 22. (CP) — Following information received from W. E. Annderman, assistant manager of the Page-Hersey tubes of Welland, E. J. Bedard, chairman for publicity of the Ontario branch of the Master Plumbers and Heating Contractors of Canada, said the situation re the shortage of tubing for housing is "critical".

Current shortage is due to extremely large demand for tubes in sizes used in house construction and shortage of importation of scalp steel from U.S. mills.

Strikes in mills and mines in the U.S. threw production "out of gear", the Welland firm official stated and that importation figures are down 63 per cent from those of 1945.

Yu'An Hee See Laughs

By Sax Rohmer

"You will receive your orders tomorrow," said Yu'an Hee See rapidly in Chinese.

A yellow face surmounted by a woolen cap peered down from the deck of the cruiser, and:

"I hear, my lord," the man replied, and disappeared.

There came a whirr of powerful engines, a deep forceful churning, and the grey streak shot away southwest, swiftly to be swallowed up in morning mist. The two rowers bent to their oars.

Some distance up the little creek, flanked by coarse sea grass, a landing stage projected, and beyond might be seen the roof of a wooden hut. At this landing stage the party disembarked.

Yu'an Hee See stood staring out through the open doorway of the hut until the men had carried in all five boxes. "They must stay here for the present," he said, pointing to the floor.

A board was quickly prized up by one of the two. Its removal enabled a large section of the floor, a concealed trap to be lifted. Rough wooden steps led down into darkness. The Chinaman watched the boxes being stowed in their hidden cellar. When the work was completed and all traces of this hiding place concealed again:

"Come," he said to the woman, "we have no time to delay."

Perhaps half a mile away, guarded by a clump of funereal trees, a small farm might be seen. The woman was ill-shod for the journey, and clung to her companion's arm, silent and fretful. Jo Lung walked behind.

The farm appeared to be deserted. They crossed a weed-grown courtyard. Jo Lung unlocked the door of a broken-down barn.

There, a vision of blue enamel and gleaming silver plate, appeared a large French touring car. Jo Lung disappeared into the gloomy shadows of the barn, while the others made themselves comfortable in the car, the Chinaman solicitously spreading a fur rug over his companion's knees. When Jo Lung returned, he wore a blue and white uniform with a smart, peaked cap.

"Paris," said Yu'an Hee See — "straight to headquarters."

"The fact remains," said Dawson Haig, "there isn't a scrap of evidence to connect the establishment of our friend Jo Lung with the murder! If we could have produced the notebook—it might have proved to be a hanging matter for somebody. But, legally, it's valueless as evidence."

Kearney nodded. They had just finished lunch in a Strand grill-room. He sipped his coffee thoughtfully. Two days had elapsed, and little or nothing had been done.

Dawson Haig lighted another cigarette. "That it contained valuable clues is proved by the steps taken to recover it, but these clues or what you and I can remember of them, frankly convey very little. In the next place, I certainly had a glimpse a horrifying glimpse in your rooms, of the murder of Norwich. But, as you have pointed out, my description might be that of anything from a ghost to a wild animal!"

Kearney laughed. "That's true enough," he admitted.

"You have seen the medical report on Norwich? The doctors agreed that he was bitten by long, curved teeth. So far, no one has been able to identify an animal possessing quite such teeth....

"In short, the establishment of Jo Lung, with valuable property stolen from all over the world, with its so-called burglar alarms, and other novel features, must carry on as usual entirely undisturbed by Scotland Yard!"

He looked up, his keen blue eyes gleaming savagely across the little table.

"In spite of the fact that one of the most dangerous criminals in the world used the place as his London base, and that some hired killer of his murdered one of the best men in my department only two nights ago! Not to add that a consignment of drugs, which may have been worth several thousand pounds, was lying about there under our very noses—but, you may take my word for it, is there no longer."

"That horrible laughter I heard would certainly point to the fact that Yu'an Hee See in person was at Jo Lung's on Friday night."

"I'm almost certain," Haig snapped, "he was on the dock when the crates were removed from the Wallaroo! He was the fur-coated man who slipped through the gates just before I spoke to you! That was his car ahead of us—but we failed to overtake him in the fog. He drove straight to Jo Lung's!"

He sighed, knocking ash from his cigarette.

"The remote possibility that he may himself be joining the ship at Marseilles, I have dealt with, as you know. Durham is on board. But his first message was admittedly not encouraging. It merely consisted of the words 'Nothing to report.' I take this to mean that there is nothing suspicious about the occupants of the cabins mentioned in those mysterious notes."

"One of which is Eileen's!"

"I know," Haig groaned, "and I can't get that fact out of my mind. I have checked the curious entry relating to 'Suleiman Bey's'. Paris notified us this morning that there is a certain restaurant of that name near the Moulin Galette. It's never come under police notice, however. All the same, I'm going across this afternoon. I should like to locate Jo Lung. The inquiry as at a standstill here...."

• • •

The Restaurant Suleiman Bey, adjoining the Place Pigalle, in contrast to its apparently more prosperous neighbors, seemed to be a quiet little place, with sleepy curtained windows and a glimpse when the door was open, of a narrowed counter where Turkish coffee might be purchased by weight. Beyond was a curtained door.

The night was wet, and patrons were few, but presently two men entered. The one who led, a gaunt, pale-faced fellow, had something of the appearance of the traditional artist, notably a shock of greying dark hair, a small mustache, and a straggly beard.

Since real painters have long since fled that district, his appearance was no doubt illusory.

He was accompanied by a man who might have passed for an American tourist. When, on entering, he removed his soft black hat, he revealed a closely cropped head of dark brown hair crowning a clean-shaven truculent face. He was buttoned up in a white waterproof, and keen blue eyes were visible through the lenses of tortoise-shell-rimmed spectacles.

Apparently the artistic gentleman knew the place well, for he nodded to a stout lady who stood behind the counter raised the curtain in the opening beyond, and the two entered a long, rectangular room.

Faded plush seats lined one wall, broken by a buffet and a draped opening. A number of tables were covered with check cloths, badly holed where cigarettes had been laid upon them; and a little stair at the further end led up to curtained doorway.

Only six customers were present: four of these around a table near the staircase, two upon the settee. The new arrivals ordered coffee.

Their order was taken by an Arab waiter, very dirtily dressed. As he departed, both stared without apparent signs of interest, about the room. The group of four by the staircase, three men and a woman, might readily be classified, in view of the reputation of the Restaurant Suleiman Bey as a meeting place of advanced Communists. One of the men was speaking in a low voice, with great earnestness. His audience of three hung upon his words.

The two men seated on the settee were of a different type. One, a slight, dark-faced fellow, might have been a Portuguese. He constantly glanced with uneasy curiosity in the direction of the stairway. The other, one table removed, was a thickset, debauched-looking man of fifty-odd, smoking a dirty old briar pipe and leaning back, his hands thrust in his shabby overcoat, who stared straight before him at the opposite wall.

He had sandy hair and watery blue eyes. He might have been Dutch—or German, although, as a matter of fact, he was Scotch. He badly needed a shave; and except that he constantly ordered more brandy, his presence in such a spot seemed unaccountable.

"Nothing seems to be happening," said Dawson Haig.

"Nothing ever does happen here," replied M. Ballon of the Surete. "Plots are made and perhaps carried out, but as they are never carried out in Paris—" he shrugged—"what do we care?"

The big Scot drew one gnarled hand out of his pocket and banged it on the table before him. The Arab waiter shuffled across from some hiding place.

"Brandy!"

The Arab retired, but almost immediately returned. And as he set more cognac before the customer, he dropped a green slip, not unlike a cloakroom check or bust ticket, upon the table.

Instantly the big man grabbed it, drank his brandy at a gulp, and crossed to the stairs. He mounted unsteadily, drew the curtain aside and disappeared....

"Hello!" said Dawson Haig. "Something has happened. Did you notice?"

"Yes." His companion nodded. "But it is, I think, as I have said. There are other rooms here; no doubt some company of fools is meeting in one of them, to discuss the overthrow of the present Russian misgovernment, or something of that kind. Our brandy-swilling friend has been summoned to join them!"

"Possibly," the other murmured. "But I should have liked a glimpse of that green slip."

Even as he spoke, the Portuguese clapped his hands, ordering the waiter to bring cigarettes. And when this order was executed—a green slip accompanied the little blue-wrapped packet!

The customer visibly started at sight of it, stood up, a small, lithe figure, and stared up the stairs as the other had done.

"H'm!" said Dawson Haig. "A second chance missed. I would give a year's pay, M. Ballon, to be present at this meeting you speak of."

The meeting to which Dawson Haig referred was taking place in a large room two floors above. Heavy curtains were drawn over windows commanding the side street, and on settees which lined the walls a singular company was assembled.

A case of champagne had been opened in the centre of the floor, and the carpet was littered with straw and pink wrapping paper. Upon a big, marble-topped table were bottles of whisky, brandy, gin, absinthe and even Arak. Boxes of excellent cigars lay upon many of the smaller tables placed before the settee. The air was grey, almost unbreathable, with tobacco smoke. Out of those thick glass mugs usually employed to serve lager, the guests were engaged in demolishing the various beverages provided.

As the big man entered, pipe in hand, and stood, swaying and looking about him with bleared eyes, wild yells of greeting went up. The newcomer seemed bemused by his riotous reception. One could almost watch the slow workings of that fuddled brain. Then, evidently having discovered the person he was seeking, he picked his way through champagne bottles to a narrow settee placed between two curtained windows, on which one man lounged in supercilious isolation.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was starting his 2nd cup of coffee this morning and starting to look more sattisfied, and I said, Hay pop, I dreemed I was a hero last night.

That puts you in the same class as Napoleon, pop said, and I said, How does it, pop I only dreemed it, I said.

Well, according to a certain school of filosophy, Napoleon's entire career was a dreem. In fact one of Shakesbeer's caracters remarked that all life is but a play, and all the men and women in it meerly players, In other werds, dreemers, only some happen to have fancier dreems than others, pop said, and I said, Well anyways, pop, I'll tell you what my dreem was.

Yes, do, Napoleon, pop said, and I said, Well, I dreemed I was just the age I am now, but I was a fireman, I mean a regular paid fireman with a helmet and a rubber coat, and I was helping to put out a house on fire, and there was a bewty looking gerl standing there crying, and I asked her what was a matter and she said her cat was still in there waiting to have its life saved, so I ran in through the smoke and flames and everything and saved it, and the crowd yelled and cheered like everything.

I hope the bewtiful maiden stopped crying, pop said, and I said, No sir, because she said her canary was still in there, so I ran back again, and the smoke was even thicker and the flames were even hotter, but I rescued her canary, and the crowd cheered even louder, but she still kept on crying because her 2 goldfish were still in there, and the crowd got mad and advized me to tell her to go in and save them herself.

And did she? pop said, and I said, I didn't stay asleep long enough to find out, but I hope she did, because she sure was a bewty looking gerl.

Which she was.

Cured by a Wooden Spoon

(By W. Arnott Robertson in the London New Statesman.)

With real instances of cruelty to the young cropping up so often, one hesitates to write anything which might seem to condone even the mildest use of violence towards them, but here is a personal experience which suggests what one might call the rarity value of violence in the home. My small boy bit his nails badly for years. I have a phobia about nail-biting. Bribery—"If they're nice for a week, you go to an extra pantomime"—worked no improvement. Nor did privation of sweets after lapses.

I was advised to take him to a child psychiatrist. The first we tried told me the child bit his nails because he was suffering from inverted aggression; on no account must I attempt to interfere with this important outlet for a condition which the psychiatrist was anxious to try to turn right-side-up. Treatment to cost four guineas a week and take possibly a year.

The child has always been a fatly cheerful one, exceptionally, good-tempered. I pointed this out and was told that this was the result of aggression being inverted. But what, I wanted to know, was the advantage of having a jolly and gentle lad turned into a normally aggressive one, since the nail-biting, the doctor said, had progressed from a consolation to a habit, and might or might not be improved by the treatment? I was assured it would be better for the child's natural development, said I preferred aggression inverted, paid three guineas, and left.

To the next consultant I explained carefully at the start that I didn't want the child cured of anything whatever except nail-biting. This was a more expensive man, in the Harley Street district. He said that, before making any diagnosis, he must have four one-hour periods, two with the boy and two with me. That cost ten guineas.

After the last interview he told me there was nothing that could be done about nail-biting anyway, but he disagreed with the first man in thinking that it mattered if I persisted in discouraging it, since the trouble was due to the boy being fixated upon me, not to any exceptional degree of aggression, normal or inverted.

I tried one more psychiatrist. This last noted that the boy was unusually free of social shyness. At the age of eight he really should, the doctor thought, be fixated upon someone, normally the mother, but it appeared that he wasn't. This of course accounted for the nail-biting, symbol of insecurity, which was in the circumstances incurable.

This psychiatrist was a much nicer one than the others; having no useful advice to give, he suggested no fee.

I went home from this interview with a raging headache, born of frustration I suppose, and started to make currant buns for the boy's tea, so that I had a wooden cooking spoon in my hand, when he came back from school, with his nails chewed further down than I had ever seen them; they looked revolting.

I said "This is going to stop!" and smacked both hands with the safely rounded back of the spoon. I was very shocked at myself, and so was he. It was the first (and last) time that anything of the kind happened in our home; otherwise, of course, it wouldn't have been as startlingly effective.

Ten fat black rims grow on ten small fingers, and have, ever since. That was a year and a half ago. There have been, so far as the non-psychiatric eye can see, no adverse repercussions from the complete and immediate cure; aggression, if present, remains cheerfully inverted.

Soldiers Unload Food Cargoes At London Docks

Decision to Use Troops Made at Emergency Session

London, June 23 (CP)— The Labor Government today ordered troops to London wharves to unload food cargoes tied up for 10 days by a wild-cat strike of dock workers.

The soldier began unloading the food ships at noon. The decision to use troops was made by a special emergencies committee of the cabinet following failure of a back-to-work movement this morning.

The dock workers walked out 10 days ago in a wildcat strike. They demanded reinstatement of 11 dock workers who were penalized for refusing to handle "dirty cargo" of zinc oxide without extra pay.

Official figures showed 19,771 men idle today. About 950 men went back to work this morning in response to a union appeal. At least 7,000 dock workers never joined the strike.

The Labor Government has used troops several times to restore strike-bound essential services since it came to power in 1945.

Three hundred troops of Britain's famed Coldstream Guards, dressed in working overalls, rolled across London in police-escorted trucks to the docks at noon. Hundreds more waited on the parade ground at Wellington Barracks, a few hundred yards from Buckingham Palace.

Attlee will make a statement to the Commons later today and Food Minister Strachey will disclose whether the 10-day-old stoppage will affect the food rations.

Workers Jeer Union Officials

Trade union officials appeared at the docks early today to reiterate earlier appeals to end the strike, but they left in less than a minute when greeted with jeers and catcalls.

As troops took up their positions, 1,500 bargemen and lightermen stopped work and this new movement was developing.

A trade union organizer at London's Smithfield meat market—where workers always have refused in the case of strikes to handle goods moved by troops — said there would be no automatic "walkout" today. The question of Smithfield joining the strike would not arise until the men were asked to handle meat known to have been moved from the docks by soldiers, he added.

Before the decision to use troops was announced, the unofficial central strike committee was reported in conference at a secret east end rendezvous to decide on a plan of action.

One of their spokesmen stated that a strike call will be sent to all ports in Britain. Southampton, main port for transatlantic liners, has already wired sympathy and pledged support.

9,000 DOCTORS WILL SUPPORT MEDICAL PLAN

General Council Makes Decision in Closed Session

Toronto, June 23 (CP)—Some 9,000 Canadian doctors will support Federal Health Insurance and a National Pre-Paid Medical Plan.

This was decided Tuesday by the Canadian Medical Association's General Council in closed session.

A council spokesman, Dr. H. E. MacDermot of Montreal, said the council also recommended that doctors in training be sent to serve an apprenticeship under small-town general practitioners.

Dr. MacDermot said the council would approve the Federal government's proposed Health Insurance plan "only if it is on a sound financial basis." The government has already paved the way by:

1. Conducting a survey of Health Service needs of Canadian provinces.

Granting money to provinces for support of existing health services such as cancer, tuberculosis and polio control.

"A possible danger we want to avoid is state medicine," Dr. MacDermot said.

Meet in Saskatoon

Earlier the doctors' parliament had agreed to help form a National Pre-Paid Medical Plan. Such a plan would co-ordinate under a national body the country's scores of individually-owned medical plans.

The council decided to hold the C.M.A.'s 80th annual meeting in Saskatoon next June. Dr. William Magner of Toronto Tuesday succeeded Winnipeg's Dr. F. G. Mcguinness as president.

At a dinner Dr. Anna Nicholson of Saskatoon was elected President of the Federation of Medical Women in Canada. The federation represents most of Canada's 500 women doctors. horses towards the fence line Moffatt of Peterborough said:

"...we as Canadian physicians are much favored. Let us see to it that our federation keeps organized and united, prepared to encourage the best of medical training, the best of medical practice, the finest in research and sincerest public service."

Claims Wolf Snapped at Him In Pasture Field

Chatham, June 23 (CP)—Harold Ribble claimed Tuesday that a wolf snarled and snapped at him while he was cultivating a corn patch on his zone township farm here. He said he routed the beast with four blasts from a rifle which he had left near a line fence.

Mr. Ribble said the wolf followed him back and forth across the field snarling and snapping viciously at him, his horses and dogs. Mr. Ribble turned his horses towards the ence line where he had left a rifle. The wolf followed, but turned and ran when the farmer picked up his gun.

"The old she-wolf was bold and came right up to the cultivator baring her fangs. I managed to get four shots at her as she ran away but do not know whether I hit her," he said.

"I've no idea where the wolf came from," he said, "there are no woods close to the farm. We often hear wolves howling in the early morning out here but seldom see them. I bring my gun out with me just in case."

Visions Ideal City of 50,000 People With Neighborhood Planning as Key

Halifax, June 23 — (CP)—The ideal Canadian city of the future would have a population of about 50,000, have service boards for local traffic, boundary highways for through traffic, dwellings would be within easy reach of primary schools, parks and stores and plants would be at the doorstep of workers' homes.

This concept was given to a Canadian Federation of Mayors Conference here today by D. W. Jonsson, provincial architect for New Brunswick.

"The key to the whole system," he said, "is neighborhood planning — self-contained neighborhood units."

He looked at the Maritimes. "I think the time has come when the Maritimes must cease to be a storehouse from which the country draws its population," the housing official said.

The Maritimes' urgent need was to make people realize this fact so they could prepare for an expansion of population. If they fail it will be due "to one dominant weakness — pessimism on the part of the little man."

Mr. Jonsson emphasized that a basic population limit objective should be selected, even if it should take 90 years to reach it.

Having established the population objective it was easy to decide on land areas on a basis of 40 per cent for dwelling units. This would allow for 25 to 38 people per acre.

Mr. Jonsson said he did not subscribe to the theory that all industries should be placed outside and at the leeward section of the town.

This might be so, he said, regarding heavy industry but it must be remembered that heavy industry accounts for only two per cent of the built-up areas in Canada.

BUTTER SHORTAGE NOT EXPECTED DURING WINTER

Production, Storage Stocks Not Too High

Ottawa, June 23 (CP)—Agriculture Department officials indicated in the Commons Tuesday that they are hopeful no butter shortage will develop in Canada this year.

Robert McCubbin, parliamentary assistant to Agriculture Minister Gardiner, said production and storage stocks are lower than they were a year ago, but "I have every reason to believe that production in Canada will take care of the consumption for next winter."

A. L. Smith (PC-Calgary West) said there have been forecasts that Canada now is 30,000,000 pounds short and that a serious shortage will develop in November.

Mr. McCubbin replied:

"I am not in a position to dispute what the member has just said, but I do not think anyone can say how much we are short at the present time.

"I am not saying we are short. The consumer is getting all the butter he wants now—and at the ceiling price, a curtailed price for which he should be thankful. The producer is not kicking; he is getting a fair price. When you have the producer and the consumer satisfied you have gone a long way.

"As far as next winter is concerned, we still have seven good months ahead of us, and I hope production will be high enough to take care of consumption next winter, though of course I am not a prophet and do not wish to prophesy."

No Representation

The parliamentary assistant said the department has not yet received any representations about a butter substitute which Hon. Earl Rowe (PC-Dufferin-Simcoe) said can be made from milk.

Mr. Rowe said he understands the substitute would not meet such opposition as the dairy industry is showing to requests for the lifting of the ban on oleomargarine. He said the product is made with milk. He could not give it any name because it is not being manufactured.

Resources Minister MacKinnon said he could not give details

City Extends Welcome To Touring Editors Of U.S. Weeklies

The weekly newspaper, in most cases the press representative of the man "on the back fifty," the show window which presents the news pictures of the men in the little places, is one of the backbones of our Canadian way of living.

An important cog in the machinery of progress, it takes its place with business, industry, the professions and other phases of life.

The weekly newspaper editor is the pulse of his community. He records the daily happenings in the language of the people among whom he moves. Not only is he in touch with the happenings of his town or village but he maintains constant contact with the world outside.

Evidence of the desire of these important men to further their knowledge is seen in the visit to Belleville today of twenty-five weekly newspaper editors from the United States.

The party is on a tour of this part of Canada as guests of the Ontario Government. While here they will be the guests of Mayor D. L. Storey and the City of Belleville. They will be quartered at the Hotel Quinte immediately following arrival and will be entertained at a testimonial dinner at the Bay of Quinte Country Club at six-thirty o'clock this evening.

Mingling with the American visitors will be outstanding men of the city and district, and among their hosts will be the editors of weekly newspapers of Hastings County—men who speak the weekly newspaper language, know its problems, and will discuss on common ground the many phases of weekly newspaper activities.

This city extends a friendly hand to the visiting editors. They have already indicated their more than passing interest in the history of this former stamping grounds of the famous United Empire Loyalists. Belleville is proud to be the hosts of the men "of the little places."

Welcome, gentlemen, and may you carry back with you the same impressions of Canada and Canadian life as we live it here as you will of other Canadian centres which you have visited.

The editors will remain here overnight and tomorrow will be the guests of the city of Peterborough.

Russia Summons Conference Of Six E. European Satellites

Warsaw, June 23 — (CP) — Russia called a surprise conference of her Eastern European satellites to Warsaw today which may map a battle against the Western Allies' plan to set up a West German state.

Summoned to the conference were: Poland, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia, Romania and Hungary. All of these countries were among the signers of the Cominform (Communist International Information Bureau), organized in Poland last September to fight the Marshall Plan.

There was no indication whether Communist leaders of France and Italy, who also signed the Cominform, were attending.

Police officials closed all normal information channels and declined to say who was attending the conference or what its purpose might be.

The Polish vice-premier, Wladislaw W. Gomulka, recently said the Cominform signers would be called together whenever the international situation "makes it necessary."

Foreign observers said that apparently the necessity had arisen. The Comunist set-back in the recent Italian elections and the power being put behind the European recovery program are known to have caused Russia and her satellites concern.

Wounds Brother Then Takes Own Life by Drowning

Plaisance, Que., June 23—(CP)—Alexandre Malo, 66, was shot and badly wounded early Tuesday and his brother Achille, aged 73, was missing and believed drowned in what police believed to be an attempted murder and suicide.

The incident took place at the farm of five brothers, Alexandre and Achille, Albert, 55, Arthur, 60, and Omer, 68, all bachelors. They lived together in this Ottawa Valley village 30 miles east of Ottawa.

Alexandre told police he awoke to find Achille standing a few yards from his bed and aiming a shot gun at him. He cried, "Please don't shoot me," but the gun discharged and he lost consciousness temporarily. He could not explain why his brother would want to shoot him.

Arthur Malo said he was aroused by the shot and found his wounded brother. The front door was open and through it he saw Achille running towards the nearby Nation River.

At daylight a boat owned by the brothers was found floating in the river and a hat identified as Achille's was found in the boat. Police began dragging operations in the vicinity.

Twelve Persons Left Homeless In Ottawa Fire

Ottawa, June 23 — (CP) — Twelve persons were left homeless early today as a two - alarm fire roared through two dwellings at 184-186 Isabella Street in the south of Ottawa.

Homeless were the families of Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Hara and Mr. and Mrs. William Wright.

Believed started in a wooden shed at the rear of one of the dwellings, the flames attacked a garage and destroyed a new car and truck.

CATTLE PRICES MAY BE DUE FOR FURTHER SLUMP

4,175 Head in Yards Without Buyer in Sight

Toronto, June 23 (CP)—Some 4,175 cattle milled about Toronto's Union Stockyards today without a buyer in sight, leading to speculation that prices may be due for a further slump. Already they have skidded downward $2 to $2.50 a hundredweight since last week.

Trading up till near the noon hour today was too light to establish prices. However, bids earlier this week ranged from $18 to $19.75 for weighty steers compared with a range of $20 to $24.60 last week.

The drop in prices at the stockyards was reflected in some retail meat prices. One chain store which sold sirloin steak at 75 cents a pound Tuesday cut the price to 69 cents today.

Some officials in the industry forecast a drop of two to four cents in general retail beef prices by next weekend.

Frank C. Fletcher, General Manager of the stockyards, said retail sales have dropped 30 to 50 per cent because of consumer resistance to high prices.

"Either the sellers are going to hold on to their cattle until customers start buying again or they will be forced to sell and we will have lower prices for the time being," he said.

4,100 Head Held Over

Only 75 head of cattle arrived at the stockyards today. There was a holdover of 4,100 from Tuesday's trading. This compares with a holdover of 1,050 a week ago and about 200 two weeks ago.

Mayors Discuss Old Age Pensions

Halifax, June 23 — (CP) — Spirited discussion on old age pensions and a call for $50-a-month pensions for everybody over 65 featured early sessions of the 11th annual conference of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

A committee recommendation that the resolution, submitted by the Ontario cities of London and Stratford, be shelved brought strong objection from Saskatchewan, Ontario and Manitoba members.

Mayor Angus Macpherson of Saskatoon, Mayor George A. Wenige of London, Mayor George C. MacLean of St. Boniface, Man., and Controller Hugh McIntyre of Hamilton all urged that the committee consider the matter further. Their will was carried.

Another Ontario resolution regarding the ration of provincial-municipal contributions to social services also was sent back to committee.

The resolution would ask that the Province of Ontario "contribute one-half of the demonstrable legal liability of the municipalities" in this matter. British Columbia delegates remarked that as far as their province was concerned this would be a backward step.

Recommends 2,900 Soldier Settlers Of First War Get Clear Titles to Land

Ottawa, June 23 (CP)— The Commons committee on veterans affairs today asked the government to give roughly 2,900 soldier settlers from the First World War clear titles to their land. It would cost some $3,200,000.

Of the original 27,000 settlers, 16,000 have left the land during the years. More than 8,000 have paid off their mortgages.

The committee's report, also recommends that:

1. Women who served in war theatres with the Red Cross and St. John Ambulance Brigade be given educational or vocational training, if pensionable, and war service gratuities.
2. The 269 men who served as air crew for the R.A.F.'s wartime ferry command be given vocational and educational training, veterans land act benefits, gratuities and re-establishment credits and be made eligible for veterans insurance.
3. Wartime merchant seamen under 30 be given vocational training benefits.
4. Overseas fire fighters be given the volunteer service medal and civil service employment preference.
5. The small holdings clause of the V.L.A. be modified to suit Yukon veterans.
6. First war veterans in the civil service be given permanent status in jobs they have held a considerable time, without exams.

Stassen and Taft Try to Stop Dewey's Early Ballot Choice

N.Y. Governor Could Have 407 Votes on First Ballot

Philadelphia, June 23 (CP) — Senator Arthur Vandenberg gave consent today for his name to be placed formally in nomination for the presidency at the Republican Convention.

His move cheered those presidential hopefuls — led y Senator Robert Taft of Ohio and Harold Stassen of Minnesota — who were trying desperately to halt Governor Thomas E. Dewey's blitz bid for nomination on an early ballot. They figured Vandenburg's name before the convention would hold from Dewey some votes which otherwise might race to him.

Vandenberg stuck by his stand that he is not actively seeking the nomination. But Gov. Kim Sigler of Michigan said he had obtained the Senator's consent for him to put up his name.

Asked if he was nominating Vandenberg in the belief Vandenberg can win or as a gesture of respect, Sigler replied, "if I didn't honestly believe there was a real hope of winning I would not nominate him."

Taft and Stassen invited California's Governor Earl Warren and Pennsylvania's Governor James Duff to chip in with their forces.

Some idea of the task that lay before these disjointed, if determined legions, was furnished by an Associated Press survey of state delegation intentions.

Dewey Has Most Votes

Based in many cases on official delegation polls and in others on the best guess of responsible members, this survey indicated that if Dewey throws his full strength he may have from 374 to 407 votes on the first ballot.

The survey also showed that, if delegates do not change their present intentions, he might get 80 additional votes on later roll calls. This still would leave him short of the 548 needed to nominate.

Taft's first ballot figure was estimated in the survey at between 207 and 217 on the first count, with a net backlog of 60 additional votes due to come his way.

Stassen's strength was listed as 150 on the first ballot. But if the delegates carried out their announced intentions, the Minnesotan might lose a net of 13 thereafter.

Vandenberg Has 55

Vandenberg was credited with up to 55 votes as a starter. Warren has California's 53 plus one in Missouri and Duff — fighting the move by Senator Edward Martin to take Pennsylvania into Dewey's camp—was variously credited with controlling from 17 to 43 of the State's 73.

The anti-Dewey forces thus were estimated to have a maximum of 519 first-ballot votes but they were split five ways.

Meanwhile, a 2,400 word platform promising an attack on the "basic causes of inflation" and pledging help for peace loving foreign nations "within the prudent limits of our own economic welfare" was ready for quick adoption.

C.S.U. LEADERS GIVEN PROPOSALS TO SETTLE ISSUE

Federal Labor Department Refuses to Give Details of Settlement

Toronto June 23 (CP)—Leaders of the Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) today had before them Federal Labor Department suggestions for settlement of their long dispute over contracts with four Great Lakes shipping companies.

Nature of the suggestions remained a closely-guarded secret both at Union headquarters here and in Ottawa where they were handed to C.S.U. officers Tuesday by Labor Minister Mitchell.

But Mr. Mitchell told reporters that he had advised the union against carrying out its threat of calling a one-day general strike on the lakes if it does not obtain what it considers satisfactory government action.

The C.S.U. men demanded that the government cancel the operating licences of Canada Steamship Lines, Sarnia Steamship Lines and Colonial Steamship Lines for refusal to deal with the Union. Mr. Mitchell said the government had no intention of cancelling the Licences.

Fear Food Shortages

Northwest Steamships is the fourth line involved in the dispute. Like the others, it claims the C.S.U. is Communist-led and refuses to have anything further to do with it.

Other late developments:

Merchants in Little Current said they feared food shortages by the end of the week because 40 tons of food addressed to that Manitoulin Island port were left on a dock at Owen Sound due to a C.S.U. picketing disturbance as the package freighter Manitoulin prepared to sail.

A C.I.O. affiliated texitile union in Cornwall served notice on the C.S.U. to move its tents from the Textile Union's property. But early today the tents moved once before from city-owned property, still were on textile union ground.

Warrants were issued in Toronto charging Dewar Ferguson, C.S.U. Toronto business agent, with intimidation and common assault. The charges arose from a fight last Saturday morning in Toronto's Union Station.

16 Windows Reported Broken In Q. M. School

Breaking 16 windows in the Queen Mary Schol by two local juveniles with the use of air rifles will prove a rather expensive form of amusement for the two lads according to local police.

Following complaints of windows in the school being broken police officers investigated the incident and found that not only were windows being broken but pedestrians passing the area had also been used as targets by the lads responsible.

Names of the lads were secured by officers who announced the boys would be called upon to pay $1 each for windows broken or defaced.

A plate glass window at the Provincial Tire premises on Front Street was also reported broken by an air rifle pellet. The lead pellet knocked a small round hole through the heavy glass.

Leading Salvation Army Band to Give Concert in City

On June 30th Belleville is to have a visit from one of the leading Salvation Army Bands of Toronto.

The North Toronto Salvation Army Band has toured the Central States and the Canadian Maritimes.

Of great interest, too, is its present conductor, Adjutant Arnold Brown, who received his education in Belleville schools and his early musical training in the local Salvation Army Band. The Adjutant also studied under the late Doctor Fricker, who was organist and choir leader of the Metropolitan Church, Toronto, and former conductor of the famous Exhibition Chorus.

It is of interest to know that the Adjutant has risen to a responsible position with the Salvation Army Headquarters in Toronto, and during the General's regent Canadian tour, he was chosen as one of the party accompanying him from coast to coast.

The program to be presented by the North Toronto Salvation Army Band, on the Armouries lawn, promises to be of a very high order, as this organization is considered to be one of the crack Salvation Army Bands of Canada.

C.A.S. Requested To Investigate Behavior of Boys

Picton. (Special.)—Investigating the fire which destroyed three barns and a long row of horse stalls at the Fair Grounds on Monday, police have directed the attention of the Children's Aid Society to two young boys, age seven and six years, who are believed to be responsible.

The children, who live near the grounds, were playing near the row of horse stalls. Lighted matches were thrown into a can that had contained an inflammable liquid. The can blew high in the air and the elder boy was painfully burned on the chest and face. It was a short time later that the outbreak was discovered.

Fair officials stated that tents will be used to house livestock at the September Fair if buildings cannot be erected.

Increase Fees For Night Pupils At Collegiate

Tuition fees for non-resident pupils taking night classes at the Belleville Collegiate and Vocational School next winter will be increased from three to five dollars according to a recommendation made at the June meeting of the local board of education. Reason for the increase in fees for non-resident students is that an operating loss was being shown on the class operation.

Total instruction cost of evening classes last winter was $5,621 made up of $4,525 for salaries and supervisors, and $1,096 for instructional supplies. Of this amount $3,366 was paid by legislative grant, leaving $2,255 as the net cost of instruction.

During the last season there was a total of 514 pupils attending night classes of which 144 were non-resident. Non-resident pupils share of the net instruction cost was $631 of which $261 was retained by the board. The board. The balance of $370.75 represents the contribution of Belleville taxpayers toward evening instruction of non-resident pupils.

For the next season resident students taking other than welding courses will pay $3 the fee to be refunded with 80 per cent attendance, while non-resident students will pay $5 with $3 to be refunded for 80 per cent attendance. There is no refund for students in the welding classes.

Price of Colored Cheese Advances On Local Board

The price of colored cheese advanced on the board Tuesday night with buyers paying 33 5/16 cents against 33¼ cents offered last week. White cheese also advanced with buyers paying 33 1/16 cents against 33 cents offered last week.

There was a total of 3,311 large cheese plus 2,292 small cheese offered on the board. Some plants have closed during the week and therefore did not report.

During the business period the point of shipping day was brought before the board. It was decided that the cheese was to be in the buyers' hands in time for grading on Friday morning. A complaint against the manufacturers of cheese boxes was lodged on the point that the boxes were being made too small and therefore resulting in loss through destruction of boxes in opening, and removal of moisture from the cheese. It was decided that action would be taken immediately on this point.

In response to a letter from J. T. Hart, official weigher for Belleville, it was decided that 10 per cent of the cheese in each shipment would be test weighed. This was moved and passed by the board.

Business Spotlight

By The Canadian Press

Every once in a while something draws attention to the common interests of Canada and Latin-America, perhaps particularly those shared with Brazil.

Both are countries with vast natural resources awaiting development and, as a Brazilian visitor pointed out recently, with products that complement rather than compete with one another.

The annual meeting in Toronto Light and Power Comany is the latest reminder that Canada has a great stake in Brazil and its 47,000,000 people.

Brazilian Traction serves 20,000,000 people, chiefly in the States of RioDe Janeira, Sao Paulo and Minas Geraes, including the cities of Rio De Janeiro with 2,000,000 population, Sao Paulo with 1,750,000, and the port of Santos. It produces 65 per cent of Brazil's total electric power and 80 per cent of her telephone service.

The company now is embarked on a five-year $160,000,000 expansion program.

While the company is Canadian-controlled, most of its 45,000 employees are Brazilians. Canadian investors get their dividends but outside of that the money the company makes goes back into its services in Brazil.

The company with its long name is known popularly in Brazil simply as "The Light" and got its start some 50 years ago when Sir William Mackenzie, Canadian railway builder, bought a donkey-drawn streetcar line in Sao Paulo. However, it was Alexander Mackenzie of Kincardine, later Sir Alexander and no relation of Sir William's, who spent 30 years in Brazil in the development of the company.

It now is Canada's largest foreign holding and the largest single corporation in Brazil, with total assets of more than $427,000,000.

CATTLE PRICES

The Toronto Livestock Exchange, an organization of cattle men, was expected to meet today and President Robert Morrison said it was expected there would be a protest to the Dominion government because it had not lifted a ban on exports of Canadian cattle to the United States.

"Iff they would lift the embargo our problem would be easily solved," said Mr. Morrison who expressed anxiety over the future supply and demand situation in the Toronto yards, major cattle marketing centre in Ontario. "We could export our surplus and Canadian farmers could enjoy the higher prices being paid in the United States."

Forecast Drop in Price

Toronto (CP)—The Toronto Daily Star said in a news column story today that representatives ih the beef industry.. forecast a drop in beef prices from two to four cents by the weekend. This was due to a buyers' strike against high prices.

A report that retail sales have dropped 30-50 per cent as a result of consumer resistance was made by Frank C. Fletcher, General Manager of the Ontario stockyards.

"Either the sellers are gonig to hold on to their cattle until cutomers start buying again or they will be forced to sell and we will have lower prices for the time being." said Mr. Fletcher.

Several Toronto butchers predicted that beef prices would be down two or three cents a pound by the end of the week. One retailer said he believed the price would be down four cents a pound.

Toronto, (CP)— The Toronto Livestock Exchange today wired Agriculture Minister Gardiner in Ottawa, demanding that he announce immediately whether or not the embargo on admission of Canadian cattle to the United States will be lifted. A glut of cattle was reported on the Toronto market today.

Rain by Science

People of Ontario have come to know more about dry ice and seeding rain clouds to bring rain for on several occasions the modern rain-making plan has been tried out with considerable success in the forest fire areas in Northern Ontario.

It is not a case of "making" rain but of assisting the forces of nature by the seeding of clouds with dry ice, which is solidified carbon dioxide gas, and looks like ice. The moisture has to be in the atmosphere in clouds for the process of condensation to go to work and rain eventually begin to fall.

An interesting reference to the tests made in Northern Ontario appears in the Port Arthur News-Chronicle. Sault Ste. Marie has been headquarters for the handling of dry ice. It is the duty of the laboratory men (they have been using the insect laboratory in the latter city as headquarters for handling the "ice") to prepare it for the use in the clouds into which it is sown. The paper describes the chemical.

"As received at the laboratory the dry ice is in 100 pound blocks which look much like ordinary ice. The laboratory men work in a room where the temperature is below freezing, the dry ice blocks being themselves at a temperature of about 89 below zero. With hammers the workers shatter the blocks and feed the pieces through a grinder to be reduced to the small particles that are afterwards scattered in the clouds. In that form it looks much like snow. Precautions are taken to prevent the refreezing or solidification of the small crystals again into large blocks. In this process they are packed into canvas sacks to be kept until needed.

"From 1,000 pounds of block ice come about 450 pounds of crystals. The rest is waste and its disposal is another problem. The workers are required to take precautions against being overcome by the carbon dioxide fumes which are dangerous and will quickly affect one with the warning headache."

How much farther experimentation will go with the formation of clouds or rain by artificial means (by using this natural process of course) and what it will lead to only the future can tell.

Man is more and more gaining knowledge over nature and the elements and this offers the prospect of a future of rich reward for investigation into nature, man, and the diseases that trouble body and mind.

Just what atomic heat will achieve is one of the most intriguing possibilities ever to be scanned by man from far off. It is a long way from the early scientists of the Middle East, of Egypt and Greece to the rich knowledge of all the sciences today. This very richness of knowledge opens vistas of the greatest attraction to the oncoming generations. Who knows what they will not see achieved?

King Gustav

King Gustav of Sweden celebrated his ninetieth birthday recently. At a patriarchal age he does not look his years for his step is firm and his figure slight. At ninety he is still very much the man of the present day world. The throne he occupies is one of the most stable in a world which has in the past generation seen many kings depart and their thrones disappear. In Sweden the monarchy is intensely popular. His rule has been like the rule of the kings of the north successful and popular because they are founded on the people's will and the devotion of the monarchs to their high office. King Gustav was a man of experience when he came to the throne forty-one years ago.

The Swedish king is a descendant of Marechal Bernadotte, one of the commanders of the armies of the great Napoleon Bonaparte. Bernadotte was selected as a successor to the then king of Sweden, Charles XIII in 1810 and though virtually ruler from that time, ascended the Swedish and Norwegian throne as King Charles XIV in 1818.

King Gustav is a typically democratic monarch, is held in deep affection by the people of the northern kingdom and in every sense a true king and leader of his people. He has ruled wisely and has ever had the welfare of his people at heart. The world knows of his place in tennis, to which he has been attached all through his life. On his anniversary the sentiments of the people for their monarch found expression in greetings.

In the democratic world, the aged monarch stands high in the favor which he has earned by his devotion to his high office. He is known throughout the world of democratic peoples who wish him long years yet to serve his people and the cause of democratic institutions.

Doubles Visitors' Rations

Britain is offering hospitality which is so well known everywhere by those who have travelled and by those who came to know that country during the two wars. The tourist season opens. Visitors are now being allowed to take with them without import licence as part of their personal baggage 50 pounds of food, provided there is not more than ten pounds of any one commodity. This is double the amount previously permitted. This food will naturally have to be declared to the customs authorities in Britain, who must be satisfied that the food is not for sale.

The change does not apply to visitors from Eire or to members of the crews of ships. Crewmen arriving from countries other than Eire still may take in only 7 pounds of food with no more than two pounds of any one commodity.

Passengers and crews going to the United Kingdom by sea or air from Eire may take in 7 pounds with a maximum of two pounds of anyone commodity. This restriction has been made at the request of the Government of Eire.

Old War Wounds

Old war wounds can be bothersome. It is more than 33 years since Magistrate Angus W. MacMillan was hit at Ypres during the German gas attack in April of 1915. Badly wounded in the leg, both the leg and knee have bothered him ever since. Recently he has had to wear a steel brace. He got along with bandages for years, but the brace is added equipment as the effects of the wound grow more severe.

The war does not end for many veterans when the shooting stops. Instead, they are faced with years of pain and suffering as wounds fail to heal properly and their effects are felt. — W. L. Clark in Windsor Star.

Farming is a Business

There is an old theory among city people that almost anyone with the will to do a little manual labor could start farming and at least have enough to eat and a roof over his head.

In recent years this theory has received a jolt as a result of a great many city people trying the job only to find that raising food and keeping ahead of plant and animal diseases required a lot more "know-how" than the average person had ever thought of.

Now the Department of Agriculture comes along with a statement that of 63 farms recently included in a special study the average investment per farm amounted to nearly $15,000 or about $133 per acre. The truth is that modern farming is as much a business as the operation of a store or small manufacturing plant and requires just as much business skill and a lot of technical and very practical knowledge.—Ottawa Journal.

Remembrances last longer than present realities; I have preserved blossoms for many years, but never fruits. — Richter.

THE CADDIE SOON GROWS UP

I saw him in a fit of rage, a golfer very bad;
A pitiful example for the caddie that he had.
Supposed to be a sportsman and a gentleman was he,
But in his angry moment neither one he proved to be.
And I thought, "You will regret ten or twenty years away
When, 'I used to caddie for you!' you will have to hear him say."

"I used to caddie for you!" When you've played at golf for years,
No matter where you travel, with that greeting one appears.
Grown to doctors and to lawyers and to priests and business men,
Little boys who were your caddies will be meeting you again.
And you'll wonder as you see them, since their memories are good,
In the times when they were with you if you acted as you should.

"I used to caddie for you!" Build your memory while you can,
For that boy who's now your caddie very soon becomes a man.
You may meet him as a doctor when in the hospital you lie,
And you'll wonder what he's thinking, as so many times have I.
Set that boy a man's example, so that meet him when you may,
"I used to caddy for you!" you'll be glad to hear him say.

Senate Criticizes Lack of Interest In Elections

Ottawa, June 23 — (CP)—Lack of public interest in elections was criticized in the Senate Tuesday during debate on a bill to amend the Elections Act. Weaknesses in the electoral machinery also drew fire from several senators.

Senator Gray Turgeon (L — British Columbia) said the two old political parties have "allowed conditions so to shape themselves that the people don't care whether they vote."

Senator John T. Haig, Progressive Conservative leader, urged compulsory voting and the single transferable vote in federal elections. Unless greater interest was shown "we're going to have trouble."

Senator C. C. Ballantyne (PC—Quebec) proposed measures to prevent fraudulent voting.

Senator W. Rupert Davies (L—Ontario) said everything possible should be done to see that all eligible voters get their names on the voting lists. In the final analysis, this was the responsibility of returning officers but the law did not say so.

Enumerators were paid by names and stopped sometimes after getting enough names to obtain maximum pay.

Senator T. A. Crerar (L—Manitoba) said there is "danger" in the "lighthearted and ignorant" way Canadians approach voting.

Senator Arthur Roebuck (L — Ontario) agreed with Senators Haig and Crerar that the transferable vote is desirable.

SEARCH FOR ESCAPED MAN

Ottawa, June 23 — (CP)—Police scoured the district late Tuesday for John W. Attfield, 31-year-old Toronto man who escaped a few seconds before he was scheduled to enter the gates of the county jail pending hearing of a false pretences charge.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

By EARL L. DOUGLASS, D.D.

BEHIND MEDICINE AND NATURE

A man who in 1932 was given up for dead because of a serious heart ailment wrote me some time ago and said: "But here I am, sixteen years later, doing my work. The formula is, strong religious faith, implicit obedience to the laws of nature (which are God's laws). 'Cast care aside, Lean on thy Guide'."

There can be no doubt that healing is a matter wholly in God's hands. Every doctor will testify to that. The doctors only assist nature, which means that they give God's laws a chance to operate. The time of our coming into life and the time of our departure are both arranged by the sovereign will of God. The way to keep healthy is to keep in touch with the Source of health, who, when He gave life, conferred upon it the power to persist.

All true healing is divine healing, whether we know it or not. It would make people a lot happier if they could realize what is being done for them every day. There would be a lot less illness in the world if there was more faith in men's hearts. Medicine only helps nature do in a diseased body what she does easily in a healthy one. But behind medicine is nature, and behind nature is God.

about a "highly-secret" atomic energy research project being undertaken by "certain" government departments.

Opposition members pounced on a $134,200 item in the estimates—it carried the intriguing heading, "Investigations of radioactive ones"—and asked for details.

Mr. MacKinnon sai dthe investigations were started in 1945 and at first dealt with methods of refining pitchblende at the Eldorado Mining Company plant. Later, however, they became part of a "larger and highly-secret atomic energy project being carried out by certain government departments."

Introduce Forestry Act

The Minister disclosed that a forestry act will be introduced at the next session of parliament.

In opening proceedings, Finance Minister Abbott reiterated that the special austerity taxes imposed last November will be lifted when "circumstances" justify their removal. At the same time, he described as "without foundation" a Canadian Press story predicting their removal.

Justice Minister Ilsley said no Communist or Fascist will be allowed to hold a position of trust in the civil service.

The parliament committee on Indian affairs tabled a report recmending that the 68-year-old Indian Act be "virtually scrapped" and replaced by one that would give Indians rights based on 1948 standards.

In the Senate, several Senators took advantage of proposed amendments to the Dominion Election Act to draw attention to public apathy in elections and to flaws in electoral machinery.

Bills Adopted

Also adopted were bills dealing with Yukon gold mining, insurance companies, the Quebec savings bank, civilian war pensions and amendments to the Tariff Act.

First reading was given a bill which will enable the Defence Department to return to College Officer Training Corps the funds they raised during the war for new buildings or memorial scholarships.

John T. Hackett (PC-Stanstead) and R. H. McGregor (PC-York East) broke with their party to vote against continuation of the Agricultural Prices Support Board Act. The vote for continuation was 142 to 2.

John Bracken, Progressive Conservative leader, said he was not opposed to the principle of the bill but felt the life of the board should be fixed by parliament rather than by government order. Legislation providing for agricultural floor prices should be made a permanent part of the statutes.

During the agricultural debate, Mr. McCubbin said Prince Edward Island had received aid in building potato warehouses, and which is open to any province.

G. K. Fraser (PC-Peterborough West) brought up the question of how the assistance was divided. He wondered what could be done about building warehouses in central Canada. He said he had bought 10 pounds of P.E.I. potatoes recently and they cost him 87 cents.

"I thought that was rather high," he said meekly looking over at his colleague W. Chester S. McLure (PC-Queens).

"You should be prepared to pay for a good potato," interjected Mr. McLure.

DAMP CLIMATE AND RHEUMATIZ

This talk is for young folks only.

Old fossils had better pay no attention to it, for the sake of their blood pressure.

A query that turns up in the mail these days runs something like this:

In this damp climate we seem to have one cold after another and most of the older people here get rheumatism no matter how careful they are to avoid exposure to cold and wet. The dampness penetrates. (A. A. F.) This one happens to come from Virginia but virtually the same query comes from every section of the country.

Since the great Dr. Osler wrote in his famous Practice of Medicine that chronic rheumatism "is most common among the poor, particularly washerwomen, day-laborers and those whose occupation exposes them to cold and damp", there has been little or no change in medical opinion about that, so far as the "accepted" practice of the profession goes.

Among physicians of the present century, however, there is a growing tendency to discard the quaint notion that rheumatiz and other diseases are directly or indirectly due to cold or dampness somehow "penetrating" the body and congealing the body tissues, humors or something equally absurb. But the views of present day physicians will be "accepted" only after the old timers have gone where all good doctors go.

I feel sorry for anybody who really believes exposure to cold, wet or dampness directly or indirectly causes rheumatiz or any other illness or impairment of health, except frostbite or freezing. It is bad enough to have to endure the discomfort of such exposure, the physical discomfort of it, without the additional misery of worrying about the possibility of getting penumonia, rheumatism or infantile paralysis as a consequence of your carelessness or bad luck. There is no health or medical fact of which I am more positive than of the fact that exposure to cold and/or wet or dampness never predisposes to or causes any illness except possibly chilblain, frostbite or freezing.

Thirty-odd years ago the cold and dampness theory of rheumatiz was temporarily overshadowed by a new theory, the focal infection theory. This was conceived and given to the profession in the early years of the present century by Drs. E. C. Rosenow, Frank Billings and others, who showed that in many cases chronic joint disability (call it chronic arthritis or chronic rheumatism, as you prefer: chronic means long enduring, arthritis means joint inflammation, and rheumatism means nothing at all or anything you please) the cause of the trouble is lodgment in the joint lining of germs, usually a strain or strains of Streptococcus cultured or developed in a septic focus somewhere in the body, particularly in a root abscess, or in the tonsils. Although the focal infection theory came into bad repute in consequence of abuse of the principle in practice,—you know, doctors and dentists arbitrarily removing tonsils and teeth from gullible customers who had or feared they might get the rheumatiz "some day" — the principle is still a good one provided your physician applies it with due discretion.

In the last edition of Osler's Practice I have (the 6th edition, published in 1906) there is not a word about infection in the chapter on chronic rheumatism, although the great medical teacher got in that typical remark above quoted, about cold, wet, dampness—and he also observed that chronic rheumatism is very liable to exacerbations during changes of weather. No, sir, the rheumatiz was the price washerwoman, day-laborers, policemen, farmers, ice men, fishermen, hunters, mail carriers and forest rangers have to pay for their work or play. Of course that's a lot of bunk. These people actually have much less joint disability than do mollycoddles who spend the winter in their cocoons and take the utmost precaution against being exposed to dampness or cold.

Dry Weather Has Retarded Ontario Crops

Toronto, June 23—(CP)—Cool, dry weather has retarded Ontario crops, it was shown today in the weekly crop report of the Provincial Agriculture Department.

Although the whole province needs rain to hasten growth, worst conditions are found in western and northern Ontario where feed shortages are predicted if hay doesn't improve. From in these areas has damaged strawberry and potato crops.

There is an increased demand for farm laborers, with almost all districts requesting summer relief help.

Milk production is almost at its peak throughout the province with farmers reporting good pastures. Demand for dairy cattle for export to the United States is heavy, with high prices being offered.

Los Angeles — Mrs. Ann Hagopian ,in a damage suit, said her landlord did the following in attempting to evict her:

Padlocked her bathroom door.

Tore the kitchen sink from the wall.

Removed kitchen fixtures, including the stove.

Turned off the gas.

Institute a course of "force, epithets and threats, including three lawsuits," against her.

Mrs. Hagopian, suing landlork M .S. Libarian for $22,000 damages, said it was all to no avail. Her suit stated that she still is living in the apartment with her two young sons.

Los Angeles — The kid on the bicycle who hollered "look, ma, no hands," had a grown-up counterpart today.

Officer C. D. Barkley said he stopped 22-year-old Everett Miller Tuesday for driving 50 miles-an-hour in a 25-mile zone. And doing it without a steering wheel, Barkley said.

The officer found Miller was using a pair of pliers on the steering shaft to guide the vehicle.

Miller pleaded guilty to a reckless driving charge and was fined $15.

Los Angeles — A judge sentenced Mrs. Alta Bouldin, 49-year-old hotel clerk, to buy herself a fur coat!

Mrs. Bouldin pleaded guilty to a charge of receiving stolen furs worth $8,500. So Judge Walter Gates at her hearing Tuesday fined her $300 and placed her on probation for three years.

That wasn't unusual. But then Judge Gates said:

"I want you to learn the lesson that one shold not try to possess things beyond their means."

He then ordered Mrs. Bouldin to pay $25 a month into a court fund. He sad that when $500 has accumulated she will be accompanied to a store by a court representative and allowed to buy a coat of her own choice.

Sacramento, Calif., — Judge McDonnell looked down from his court bench and recognized the defendant's face.

His brow wrinkled and he said, "when you were tried for drunken driving in April I told you that if you got into trouble again, you might just as well bring your tooth brush, becase you'd be staying a long time.

"What have you got to say for yourself?" he asked.

Roy Goodenough, 62, who was charged with driving after revocation of his license, looked up at the judge. He said nothing, reached into his pocket and pulled out a toothbrush.

He got six months.

Recent Visitor to Old Country Finds Many Britons Dissatisfied With Govt.

Mr. Fred Harper, of this city, has just returned from a six-weeks trip to England during which time he travelled over the most of England and Wales. He has returned home with one fixed impression, that the English people are extremely dissatisfied with the Labor Government.

The so-called upper and middle classes are appalled by the rising prices and onerous taxation, the working-class who put the Labor Government in power, are bewildered. Much of the money from their pay envelopes is being turned back to the government and the benefits promised them have not been fulfilled.

The people are undernourished, resigned and utterly bewildered, stated Mr. Harper. They are cheerful enough and wonderfully kind but they are merely waiting for a change in government without actively doing anything about it. They have been regimented for so many years that they merely take it on the chin and say nothing.

Gardens Still Beautiful

The one beautiful thing about England that hasn't changed is its gardens. Mr. Harper regretted that he hadn't taken a movie camera. He said the gardens are magnificent and the hedges works of art. Each person tries to outdo the other, he stated.

The long queues are still in existence he stated. To go to an ordinary movie would cost between 80 cents to $2.50 and a very indifferent meal would cost at least $1.25. Dinner often consists of one thin slice of Bully Beef; two vegetables and a dessert. Bread is considered as one course and a choice must be made between it and dessert.

The people are very poorly dressed. Everything of course requires coupons and these are in very short supply. Men's shirts cost 80 shillings; ties about a pound. There is 125 per cent purchase tax on jewellery.

Big Tax Deductions

The workingman who fought so hard for the Labor Government is actually worse off than he was between 1938-1939. Nine shillings are deducted from every twenty shillings he makes.

One of the biggest problems is the nationalization of steel. The people are just waiting to see if this will happen and when it does it will be a great disaster for the country. Mr. Harper mentioned that a well-known automobile firm in this country owns ore mines over there. If the government should nationalize the steel this company would be split in two.

Another example of the high price of food is ice cream. A nickel-sized cone in England would cost 25 cents. Steaks have been non-existent since 1940 and strawberries are $1 a pound and a single peach sells for 60 cents.

The stores are full of goods, stated Mr. Harper but no one has coupons to buy anything. He himself was given a ration slip to last him for his stay. Hotels allow a two-day stop-over without a ration card, after that coupons must be given for food. Mr. Harper said he was most disappointed not to be able to bring presents home. Everything requires coupons.

Enjoys Plane Trip

Mr. Harper made his trip by plane and flew both ways. It was a marvelous trip, he said. I didn't feel the least bit airsick and the stewards were most solicitous. The journey was very comfortable. Mr. Harper took the plane from Montreal, making a stop at Goose Bay, Labrador, on the way over and from there straight to London. It took fourteen hours. The meals on the plane were naturally mostly tinned goods but they were delicious. On the way home he took the plane from Croydon Airport and the first stop was Iceland where he met some of the native Icelanders who treated him to a meal. They were very friendly folk, he stated.

There is sunshine all day long above the clouds, he stated, and the clouds look like mountains of snow. Mr. Harper made his flight on a North Star T.C.A. plane.

"The English people need everything we can send them in the way of food and clothing," he concluded. "They can't imagine that we live so well over here."

Relentless Hordes Of Grasshoppers Damage Crops

Regina, June 23 — (CP)—Relentless hordes of grasshoppers and serious drought conditions today are throwing body blows at Saskatchewan's 1948 grain crop—already jeopardized by a late spring and delayed seeding.

Showers forecast for today in many areas hold out the best hope of halting the destruction caused by drying of the soil and the biggest plague of grasshoppers since 1938.

Both menaces are striking in an area that was hard-hit last year by drought — stretching from the extreme southwest corner north to the North Battleford - Prince Albert area.

Only in South-Central and East-Central districts — comprising some of the heaviest grain - producing areas of the province — were crops reported "fair to good."

Heavy clouds have partially blanketed the province for two days, but have failed to bring the needed rain.

Many fields seeded early in the season when the soil still was damp were holding up well under the dry spell, reports said, but even these would deteriorate rapidly if a period of hot dry weather set in.

Freezing temperatures in some areas of the southwest last week resulted in possible damage to fall rye crops.

Past Presidents Of Kiwanis Club Outline History

Memories of twenty-five years of Kiwanis activity in the city were brought out and dusted off at the weekly luncheon meeting held in the Kiwanis Centre Tuesday afternoon as past presidents and charter members spoke at the annual "past presidents" day meeting.

President Ted Schwab turned the meeting over to Jack McIntosh who called on the charter members and past presidents in turn. Past president and charter member, George Lee, remarked that looking back, the twenty-five years seemed short and that in all that time he had never regretted being in the club for one minute. Mr. Lee commented on several amusing incidents in the past, notably the time the late Tom Powers brought a hurdy gurdy to Belleville from Toronto with the monkey attached. Members used this novel attraction in a money raising scheme that was extremely successful.

Mr. Lee remarked that the club has seen bad times as well as good ones and that from the bleak day when only nine members attended a meeting the club has grown to a large aggressive organization.

Dr. Sam Cronk, a charter member, stated that the Kiwanis Club has been a great asset to the city and that one of the best works which they have sponsored has been the work of the V.O.N.

Held in C. of C. Rooms

Mr. Ernie Finkle reminded the members that the club was originally formed in the City Hall and that for the first few years the weekly luncheons were held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, moving from there to the Queen's Hotel where Tom Powers was the genial host.

Mr. Charles Hyde, taking a leaf from the Readers Digest, stated that the five most unforgettable characters he had known were Bill Lattimer, Charles Hannah, Bob Gorman, Eddie O'Flynn and Dick Ponton.

Past President Frank Domenico remembered the days when the Kiwanis Club sponsored the East and West Hill playgrounds, spending $6,000 without a qualm.

Past President Ed Logan recalled the time that the V.O.N. moved from the City Hall to the house on Pinnacle Street. Jack Trudeau recounted the details of the purchase of the present Kiwanis Centre and the establishment of the blood bank.

Past Presidents Mark Vanner and Jack White told of the International Convention in Atlantic City, the opening of the fresh air camp at Roblin Lake, and the initial production of the "Pack Up Your Troubles" show, the formation of the Key Club and holding of the weekly luncheons in the club rooms.

32 Visited Montreal

Mr. McIntosh told of the time that 32 members visited the Montreal club and were shown through an ocean liner. They also visited the Gillette Razor Company's plant in that city and on leaving they were given as many blades as they could carry.

"And I used an Auto Strop razor," lamented Mr. McIntosh.

President Ted Schwab then stated that it has been through the efforts of the men who had spoken and their co-workers that Kiwanis has been made interesting and worth while.

Mr. Harback, chairman of the committee that organized the recent canvass for the club was presented with the president's rose for meritorious service. The story was told of the family in the the northwest end of the city that donated to the canvass by mail. When the canvasser called at the home he found an envelope fastened to the door addressed to "The Kiwanis Canvasser." Inside was a generous donation and the message: "Sorry we have to be out, but here is our contribution. Best of luck in your work."

Plans for the Silver Anniversary celebration were discussed.

Vic White led the singing and Phil Huddlestone played the accompaniment. George Lee was sergeant-at-arms.

FUTURE BEHIND HIM

Mrs. Dolores Schubert looks ahead, while her 7-months-old London-born son, Benjamin, has to look back along the transatlantic trail he has just traveled because of his position in the "cuddle seat" slung on mom like a haversack. Mrs. Schubert is the wife of U.S. army captain B. Schubert, attached to the U.S. embassy in London. Their home is in Marsfield, Wis.

City and Town Planning Comes In For Study

Halifax, June 23 — (CP) — City and town planning came in for study today as the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities began the second day of its annual meeting here.

The planning problem, and the Allied hurdle of housing, already has cropped up in pre-convention committee talks and in the main meetings. Hugh R. Pomeroy, former director of the United States National Association of Housing Officials, Tuesday told the 300 delegates that "subsidized public housing is the only answer."

At a banquet in honor of Fredericton's centennial, Lieutenant-Governor D. L. MacLaren of New Brunswick, called for a United Canada. He said: "We tend to be a bit sectional." Recalling the unity achieved during war years, he declared that no country in the world had financed its war effort as soundly as Canada. He also urged adoption of compulsory voting in all Canadian elections.

A story of achievement by Toronto's public-owned utilities was told by Robert H. Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission and former mayor of the Ontario Capital.

Greatest of Canadian publicly owned enterprises, the commission linked the power systems of 942 municipalities and had revitalized the transportation system.

It's Fun to Shop in Belleville Stores--and Economical as Well

By R. L.

It's fun to shop around town! Don't be discouraged by high prices. If it gets you down to buy birthday presents and shower gifts go on a treasure hunt and you will be surprised to find how many attractive, yet inexpensive purchases it is possible to make. Wear a pair of low-heeled shoes, because it will take a good deal of walking!

The following items were spotted around town this morning. Of interest to the lazy strawberry shortcake lovers were strawberries at 29 cents a quart and a small sponge cake featured by one of the bakeries at 25 cents. Enough for about four servings.

Another food item is butterscotch tarts made from a secret formula of butter and cream selling for 60 cents a dozen. Guess where to find them?

Porcelain Teapots

If you want a nice durable teapot for the cottage, large porcelain ones are being sold off for $1 by one of the local restaurants.

Worried about a new summer hat? Buy an untrimmed one for 59 cents and decorate it yourself with ribbons and flowers. Total cost might be $1.

Hungry? Buy a special ten cent hamburger with super-duper brown gravy and a luscious "Walk Away" sundae either chocolate or butterscotch.

If junior ruins all the best bathtowels swimming, replace them for $1.29.

For the man in your life buy a linen sport shirt for only $3.95. These come in all shades.

For That Demure Look

For that demure look buy a white repp swing-away-skirt—price $6.75. For special hair glamor — a plastic barrete, set with pearls, will show off very nicely under those night lights.

A novel item for only thirty-five cents is a clip-on mirror to slip over your lipstick holder and help to guide you with that cupid's bow.

An item with travel interest is the Dutch Hat wrapped in cellophane. Made of white pique it takes up as much room as a pair of gloves. All for 98 cents.

Five combs come in one package for 25 cents and include a curl comb and small purse size comb as well as three others of assorted sizes. Chantilly lace bracelets and necklaces in frosty white may be purchased for 50 cents.

Of interest to the children would be huge Rabbit cookie jars at $1.98. The rabbit's head comes off. Porky Pig lamp and shade sell for $1.59.

Three-Piece Set

A most economical buy for holiday wear is a three-piece set including shorts, halter and skirt. These come in white trimmed in all colors. The material is a mixture of cotton and rayon, very cool, and sells for $13.98.

For the musical members of your family it is now possible to buy an accordian for only $49.50, known as a button accordian. It was imported from Europe and is very simple to play. It has eight base notes. It is only about twelve inches square, weighs about three pounds and is similar in appearance to an old-fashioned music box.

One of the women's sport's wear shops in town has the agency for Jaeger knitting wool. This wool comes in all colors and is 40 cents to 60 cents a skein according to weight.

It is no longer necessary to suffer from head-light glare at night. A night visor selling for $1.49 made of blue plastic may be clipped onto the sunguard in your car. The blue glass-like material filters the dazzling rays of oncoming headlights.

Rev. D. C. Amos Addresses Ladies At Bethel W. A. Tea

Rawdon, (Special.) — Rev. D. C. Amos, of Bridge Street United Church was the speaker in Bethel United Church, Thursday afternoon last, when the Bethel W.A. entertained ladies from other organizations at Wellman's, Springbrook, Mount Pleasant (Rawdon), Salem, Stirling and Carmel.

Mr. Amos delivered a challenging address to his listeners, using "When the Lights Go On Again, All Over the World", as his theme. He paid tribute to the lovely sanctuary where the folk of Bethel may worship Sunday after Sunday, and quoted the words of Lord Gray in 1914, following through the years of the First World War, to the thirties when, he said, "A few missionary lights were again lighted, and kept burning until once again, in Sept. 1939, the lights went out."

"Time passed," continued the speaker, "and in 1944 the lights of London were again lighted, although there was no master switch. A few more lights, here and there, are now being lit in Germany, in Norway, and in Japan. Each individual must play a part, even though there is still no master switch, for plans are being made to hold a World Council of Churches. Christians everywhere must be earnest Christians, linked up with the fellowship of prayer. All must learn to love others as Christ did." A poem, "God Make Us Better Men", was used by Mr. Amos as the closing remarks of his address.

Mr. Amos was introduced by Mrs. Harold Elliott, past president of the District W.A.

Mrs. Ray Shortt, who presided, welcomed the guests, and expressed appreciation to Mr. Amos for his fine contribution to the program of the afternoon.

The Worship Service was in charge of Mrs. Leslie Thompson, Mrs. W. Heath, and Rev. N. Cole. With Mrs. Kenneth Weaver as accompanist, Mrs. Marguerite McMullen, of Mount Pleasant, contributed a vocal solo. Readings were given by Mrs. Delbert Sine, of Salem, by Mrs. P. H. Christensen, of Springbrook, and by Miss Delia Johnson, of Wellman's. An appropriate vocal duet was contributed by Mrs. C. Macklin and Mrs. B. Black of Stirling, with Mrs. H. West as accompanist and Mrs. Arthur Pyear, of Carmel, rendered a piano solo, which was much enjoyed.

Floral decorations included vases of beautiful Summer flowers and the words "Women's Association", outlined in yellow roses.

The afternoon was a decided success, and all present enjoyed a scene of beauty, a program of inspiration and delicious afternoon refreshments served by the ladies of the Bethel Women's Association.

Stirling Friends Honor Bride-Elect At Cup-Saucer Shower

Twenty girl friends of Miss Helen Hick of Belleville were present at the home of Mrs. Gilbert Finkle, in Stirling, recently when Mrs. Elmer West and Mrs. Finkle were joint-hostesses for a cup and saucer shower in honor of Miss Hick, a bride-elect of the near future.

A variety of games provided entertainment during the early evening, after which Mrs. West invited the guests to the dining-room, where the table was covered with a snowy linen cloth, decorated in pink and white with streamers and bows. Twenty dainty cups and saucers were artistically arranged on the table and were presented to the guest of honor who graciously thanked each guest for the lovely gifts and expressed appreciation to her hostesses.

Delectable refreshments were served as a fitting finale to a pleasant evening.

BEAUTY By HELEN JAMESON

Relaxation is Found in Beauty Shops

No woman begrudges the money she flings into the cash register of a pulchritude parlor. She considers it a good investment. She gets a pleasurable satisfaction when she fares forth, her hair clean and shining, wave perfect, fingernails tidied and polished. Her self-respect is established. She can face herself in the mirror; she can face her family and the world.

There is her haven. She hurries to it to celebrate when she is happy. She trails there to get her feathers preened when they are dragging in the dust because her spirits are low. It is her rest cure, her consolation, her retreat from the telephone and the children. There is no other place just like it. She finds refreshment, radiance and the strength to fight that mean old guy with the long white whiskers and the scythe.

Her favorite operator wraps her in a flowered apron, runs strong fingers through her hair, gives her mop a rousing brushing. Then guides her to the shampoo chair. The feel of the warm suds piling up on her head takes the ache out of it. She heaves a sigh from the soles of her shoes, goes limp, thinks about nothing at all. What does she care if there is a pile of ironing at home to be done, or socks to mend? For the moment she is free. Her chains have dropped away.

The Sweet Young Thing is there, getting prettied for the big big date with the tall, handsome New Number she met at the last party. Every curly tendril must be just so. Her mind is filled with tremendous trifles. She looks at half a dozen lipsticks, ponders her choice. She finds a new nail polish that must be an exact match to the lipstick. She stands before a full-length mirror and regards her shape. Oh youth! Isn't it wonderful?

The bride comes to be beautified for her wedding day. She goes through the good-looks hopper for fair. She has a facial, a manicure, and an arm massage.

Her Chains Have Dropped Away

The shampoo isn't enough; she must have a scalp friction. This is one time when money has no meaning except for what it will buy.

She stocks up with cosmetics for the wedding grip. They're all tucked away neatly in the case designed for them.

Grandma, sitting under the hair dryer, looks on and smiles, thinks back to her honeymoon days. There were no beauty shops then, only "hairdressing parlors" with plush chairs and equipment of more or less uncertain quality. These new places! How white and shining! How fastidiously clean! How attractive! One of the large industries of Uncle Sam's domain, so Grannie has heard tell.

A shop owner will tell you that comedy and tragedy walk through her door. She meets all kinds. She serves them to the best of her ability. She is an institution.

Wesley United Ch. Near Bayside Holds Re-Opening

Splendid congregations assembled at Wesley United Church on the Bayside charge, Sunday, June 20, for re-opening ceremonies, following the recent renovation and redecoration of the church. Both morning and evening services were well attended and the church presented a very pleasing appearance which reflects great credit upon the members of the congregation. The Rev. A. C. McCallum conducted the dedicatory service. He was assisted by the Rev. J. A. Plant of Brighton, who delivered the sermon. Taking as the theme of his morning message, "The Compassion of God", Mr. Plant gave a timely and impressive sermon. Mrs. T. A. Irwin presided at the piano and the choir rendered an Anthem. Mrs. John Stewart took the solo, and the young men sang a chorus. These messages of song were of a high order and greatly appreciated. The church was decorated with a variety of flowers which greatly enhanced its beauty.

The church was well filled for the evening service. The Rev. A. C. McCallum conducted the Worship period. He also gave a brief historical sketch of Wesley Church from the time of its inception and paid glowing tribute to the early pioneers who laid its foundation. He again expressed his warm appreciation of the loyalty of the people and their desire to make the church a worthy place of worship. The Rev. Mr. Plant was given close attention as he spoke on "The Old Rugged Cross". The choir again excelled themselves in their anthem. The Christopher brothers sang a trio with much acceptance. Mrs. J. Weese of Albury, was the guest soloist for the evening accompanied by Mrs. Dave Moore, Napanee.

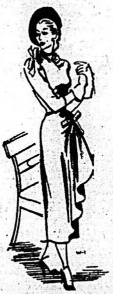
Figure Flattery



Daytime dress of beige crepe

SOFTENING DETAILS, cleverly placed are used by designers for dresses that flatter the less-than-perfect figure. Beige moss crepe is used for a pretty daytime dress on this order. There is nice detail at the neck in the one-sided draping. The cascading drapery on the skirt is caught up at one side, topped by a self bow. A balancing bow is perched at the opposite shoulder.

'MOTHER QUINN' DIES

Victoria, June 23 (CP)—Sailors across Canada lost a real friend Tuesday. Mrs. J. Quinn, 71, better known as "Mother Quinn" to the servicemen of the Second World War, and as "Mother Ranns" during the First World War, died at her Esquimalt home. During the war Mrs. Quinn collected and distributed more than 5,000 magazines weekly to service canteens and lounges.

One toxoid clinic was held by the Medical Officer of Health, and 4 Baby Conferences. A total attendance at these conferences was 47 and 11 new babies were admitted. Ten visits were made to Cannifton Public School and St. Michael's Academy, and a start made on the pre - school round-up which has been continued through June at both schools.

Miss McGeary gave one last talk on "Health and the Teen-ager", and one on "Nursing as a Profession" to the Senior grade girls in John St. High School, making special reference to the Public Health Field, and to V. O. N. service in particular.

The regular V. O. N. nurses will be having their usual summer vacations, soon, and a relief nurse will be employed when necessary.

ONCE SHE WAS DEAF...

. . . now she thrills to the first words of her grandchild!

WHEN deafness first threatened to blight this modern grandmother's life . . . when she began to miss much that was said, and felt herself straining to hear . . . she was inclined to accept it as inevitable. After all, she was getting on in years . . .

The thought of wearing a heavy, cumbersome hearing aid—of being "wired for sound", as she put it—repelled her. Then, in near despair, she attended a demonstration of a different hearing aid. It was the Acousticon Imperial, the small, lightweight, compact hearing aid that is so easily and comfortably worn, so economical to use.

She wears an Acousticon now. And lives the rich, normal, active life she thought she had lost—without embarrassment, discomfort or even being conscious of the Acousticon that made it possible.

Free DEMONSTRATION

QUEENS HOTEL, Belleville
JUNE 24th. and 25th.
HOURS: 2 - 5 — 7 - 9 P.M.

See the Acousticon Imperial Hearing Aid. Try it—without obligation. You'll thrill to the relaxed, pleasant hearing this all-in-one hearing instrument promises you. Powered by the world's smallest "B" battery and a wafer-thin "A" battery, the Acousticon Imperial is so small it fits in your hand, so light in weight you wear it comfortably, so compact you use it inconspicuously. You owe it to yourself to see it . . . hear with it. Remember, the demonstration is FREE.

Airborne Mapping Mineral Survey Will be Launched

Ottawa, June 22 — (CP)—An airborne mapping survey of mineral potentials in parts of Northern Ontario and Quebec will be launched this week, Mines Minister MacKinnon announced today.

George Shaw, a geologist of the Geological Survey of Canada will head the party. It will work in the region between Kirkland Lake, and Val d'Or, Que., which includes the Rouyn - Noranda district.

The group will use the airborne magnetometer, the application of which will greatly aid geological mapping, Mr. MacKinnon said in a statement.

The survey's flight lines—north and south at one-quarter mile intervals — will cover an area approximately 185 miles by 75 miles. The survey is expected to continue until autumn.

"An R. C. A. F. Canso has been fitted out for this work. Extensive installations of the magnetic apparatus, including a control room which contains a control panel, altimeter and magnetic recorders, and an observer's station specially equipped, make this Canso a flying laboratory."

Rear Engine Tractor

A new type of farm tractor that may prove to be the final threat to horses on the farm is now on display at Trudeau Motors Ltd., Station St., local Allis - Chalmers dealer. Mr. Trudeau predicts it will replace that last team of horses on many farms by serving as a chore tractor, and that it will fill complete power needs on many other farms.

The new Allis-Chalmers model differs from previous tractor design in that it has a rear-mounted engine with implements attached in front within unobstructed view of the operator. Moving the engine to the rear keeps the front of the tractor clear for mounted implements, any of which can be attached or detached in five minutes. Even the plow is front mounted.

Mr. Trudeau points out that many farms keep one last team of horses for a few seasonal jobs, such as corn planting or hauling Although such tasks are few and far between, the horses "eat their heads off" all year long, and at present feed prices, "that ain't hay." The new tractor, he says, will do much work on 2 to 3 quarts of fuel an hour — and eats only when it works. The owner just presses the starter button, with no currying, harnessing or hitching up.

One feature of special interest for close work such as cultivating vegetables, plowing out the corners or chore jobs is a special ¾-mile per hour low gear. The four speeds forward range up to 6.9 miles per hour.

Wheel treads can be adjusted to fit any row spacing.

The tractor serves as a portable power unit on belt-operated machines, like water pumps, elevators, feed grinders and feed mixers.

New mounted implements designed to work with the new tractor include a 12-inch plow, 2-row drill planter, 5-foot mower, single row cultivator, 60-inch double tool bar cultivator, 80-inch single tool bar cultivator, independent gang cultivator and vegetable beds, power driven seeder for truck crops and ground driven seeder.

Regular pull-behind implements include a 5-foot disc harrow, 2-section peg tooth harrow and 1-section spring tooth harrow.

It is said that this is the first riding tractor to answer the needs of part time farmers, of which there are now more than one million in this country. The Company's slogan for the tractor is: "For some jobs on all farms and all jobs on some farms".

Canada Featured In Main Article By U.S. Magazine

New York (CP)—Canada is portrayed to Americans as a country "swelling like a young bull on a corn diet" in this week's issue of Look, fortnightly United States magazine.

"This idea, better than charts and graphs, describes the vast country north of us which, more than any other, will aid the United States in its efforts to achieve a lasting European recovery", Look says.

By April 2, when the Marshall plan was passed by Congress, Canada already had granted more than $2,000,000,000 in material credit toward European recovery.

Look's 4,000-word main feature, written by Lewis M. Gillenson, describes briefly Canada's "gallant military record" and "almost-revolutionary" production record during the Second Great War.

Substantial Aid

Wartime mutual aid of $4.4 billion had been "a load of $367 per Canadian" while United States' per capita lend-lease outlay was $326." After the war, Canada had loaned Britain $1.25 billion and given other world-relief credits of $300 million.

With "an inordinate sense of world responsibility" she provided Britain with "the food buy of the age"—wheat at $1.55 a bushel while other sellers took what the traffic would bear.

Technically, says Look, Britain must ratify changes in the Canadian constitution.

"Actually the whole thing is just a case of where the child has outgrown the parent. Britain okays the amendments the Canadians demand and would no more disturb that relationship than ship the King across the Atlantic to become the Prime Minister."

Look reports that French-speaking Canada has "a striking similarity to our own South."

"French Canada has quite frequently been out of step with the rest of the country.

"No area has so resisted the progressive process of change. The birth rate is unusually high; the infant mortality rate shocking. Until 1943, there was no compulsory education law.

Sectional Differences

"During the last war, the French-Canadians ranted against conscription for overseas duty... the Liberal Government of Mackenzie King was forced into some tricky political footwork...

"Quebec Province statute books contain the infamous 'Padlock Laws' by which anyone suspected of anything from 'labor agitation' to 'Godlessness' may have his house padlocked by the authorities....

"Civil-rights-minded Canadians have long felt that these laws could be challenged and probably invalidated. But political expedience dictates a hands-off policy."

Despite sectional differences, Look says, Canada is unified in a program of over-all economic expansion stemming directly from the war.

Two things it says Canada needs: More people and world recovery bringing balanced world trade to overcome the current shortage of United States dollars.

The Senate immediately adopted the compromise draft bill and sent it to the House.

Number of Millionaires Proves Fallacy of Legend

What this country needs more than the five cent cigar is about five or six whopping big failures. And what is more we need them right now.

The younger generation has been brought up in the Horatio Alger tradition too long. The favorite theme used to be that the poor boy, by starting out in a small way and working hard at it for 16 or 17 hours a day, with half-an-hour for lunch, could, at the end of forty years retire a millionaire. The number of millionaires proves the fallacy of this legend.

The only reward for hard work these days is a splitting headache and ulcers worrying about the size of your income tax returns. To the millions who would eagerly assume these afflictions let a word of caution interrupt their meditations.

Do you know about direct and indirect taxes? The only real difference is that indirect taxes take your money without you being too conscious of the extraction. Dentists call the same method "painless" or "submitting yourself to the effects of gas."

Do you know of credits, receiving orders, shipments, transportation, insurance, in all its varied forms, and checks? (There is no need to ask anyone about debits.) If you do, then you are already in business, but to those who don't, let cooler heads prevail and stay home in the shade of the old mortgaged house. Success is too strenuous for the average man as the number of successes show. Failures outnumber successes ten to one. But is the failure ever given any publicity? No. There seems to be an aura of secrecy about failures. It is probably their attempts to hide the magic formula.

Abandon Success Story

Rather than raise a generation of neurotics let us abandon the success story and educate the young to assume the position of failures with as good grace as they can muster. In a word they will become successful failures.

Then when a ragged and half woe-begone character staggers down the street mothers will point proudly and say to their little sons, "See that nice old man over there. Well, he lost five or six inherited fortunes."

Prolonged treatment of this sort will convince junior that subsisting on $2,500 yearly is not so bad after all. Maybe in two or three well educated generations children will ask their parents, "Daddy, what is a garage." Perhaps it might even come to pass that the moderately well-off will once again be meat eaters.

Such an educational scheme as the one proposed here would make it easier for everyone to keep up with the Joneses. If you suddenly realized that the Joneses were keeping up to you there would be a scramble to unload the unnecessary items so fearfully purchased on credit and life would slow down to the peaceful pace that prospective pensioners envisage. Such earth shaking changes would occur that people would start drinking orangeade and it would be a lonely man who drove the highways. People would begin to mildew slightly at the edges, in a nice way, of course, and the demand for poetry describing the sunrise would break all previous records.

Britain's Automotive Industry Showing Substantial Boom

By MICHAEL O'MARA
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Coventry, Warwickshire, England, June 23 — (CP) — There's a boom in Britain's automotive industry. But how long will the feverish pace on the assembly lines be maintained?

In the nation's fight for economic survival, automobiles and Allied products are the most lucrative source of overseas income. The industry, which grossed in export more than £150,000,000 ($600,000,000) last year and in the first four months of 1948 sent overseas £30,341,772 worth of vehicles alone, is responsible for about one-ninth of Britain's total exports.

At Standard Motor Company, Ltd., on the outskirts of Coventry, Ferguson tractors are driving off the lines slightly faster than one every 135 seconds. The factory's scheduled output for the next 18 months — tractors worth $770,000,000 — has been contracted for by United States dealers.

But sales departments foresee a time when world markets will reach near-saturation and completion, at present almost a minor factor in selling, once more becomes cut-throat.

It cannot come for some years yet. Estimates in this country vary mostly from 2½ to five years. A spokesman for Rover Company Ltd. at Solihull, near Birmingham, puts it at nine years.

At Standard, three major types of car, all selling well overseas, are being scrapped. By the end of July the 1,000,000-square-foot factory with 11 miles of conveyor belts will be concentrating on only one type: the new, sleek Vanguard. Retooling costs were £7,500,000. First two years' production is all "export only."

At Rover they have put out a new type of four-wheel-drive jeep-tractor named the Land-Rover, which builders say is better than anything yet developed in the light-tractor class. It may also be used as a runabout coupe, or — by employing a "power take-off" at the rear — as a generating station. It, too, will be in full production by July.

London Letter:

Contributions to Civilization Past, Present and Future Will Be Seen in National Display

By STUART UNDERHILL
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, June 23 — (CP) — Ninety-seven years ago Queen Victoria wrote in her diary: "The greatest day in our history. The most beautiful and imposing and touching spectacle ever seen. It was the happiest, proudest moment in my life."

The cause of her enthusiasm was the 1851 exhibition, largely organized by her husband, Prince Albert, and held in the famous Crystal Palace, which was destroyed by fire in 1936.

Many Britons had hoped that in 1951 a centenary exhibition might be held in London.

Proposals for a 1951 exhibition were stimulated two years ago when a commission appointed to study the question of trade fairs urged that it be held.

The scheme was reluctantly turned down by the government because of the difficulty of finding a site, and the scarcity of manpower and material needed to erect a great exhibition hall.

Last year Herbert Morrison, Lord President of the Council, announced that in 1951 there would be "a national display illustrating British contributions to civilizations, past, present and future, in arts, science, technology and industrial designs."

A council was set up headed by Gen. Lord Ismay, 61, chief of staff to Winston Churchill in 1940-46 and later senior adviser to Earl Mountbatten in India. Princess Elizabeth presided at the first meeting of the council, and said in a speech:

"The festival will not be confined to London, but will be spread throughout the kingdom. It will be designed to display to our own people and to visitors from all over the world what a wealth of ideas and achievements Great Britain has produced in the realm of art and science."

Probably there will be one large central exhibition in London covering the whole field of British contribution to art and industry.

NEXT U. S. PRESIDENT AMONG THESE?

GOVERNOR DEWEY

SENATOR TAFT

GENERAL MacARTHUR

SENATOR VANDENBERG

Tremendous enthusiasm marked the opening of the Republican National convention in Philadelphia, Pa., this week with candidates swarming into the city like bees to a hive. U.S. Senator Robert Taft, and New York's Governor Thomas E. Dewey, are popular candidates for Republican presidential nomination. Possible contender is Senator Arthur Vandenberg, the party's foreign relations expert. He has a large bloc of support and is called the "man to watch." Gen. Jonathan M. Wainwright, hero of the war in the south Pacific, is leading the campaign for Gen. Douglas MacArthur for president. Wainwright said he believes the convention will reach the point where delegates will be released from their pledges and at that time he will beg delegates to nominate MacArthur. In case of a deadlock, he thinks MacArthur the most likely candidate to receive the nomination.

Small Fleet Efficient Merchant Ships Proposed

Montreal, June 23 — (CP) — Canada's peacetime merchant marine should be a small, efficient fleet of modern vessels maintaining regular service on the country's chief trade routes rather than a large fleet, A. L. Lawes, president of Montreal Shipping Company said Tuesday.

If the Canadian fleet was to remain in business it would have to be improved "and due to high operating costs it would seem to rest with our government to decide just how much of the taxpayers' money should be devoted to this end."

Plans Are Laid To Welcome Primate

Kingston, June 23—Tentative plans for the first visit, on September 30, of the Primate of the Church of England in Canada, Most Rev. G. F. Kingston, since his elevation to primacy, were made at a meeting of a group of clergy and representative laymen held in St. James Parish Hall. Rev. Ernest Teskey, rector of St. Paul's Church, presided, and Lt.-Col. E. C. Hodgins was appointed secretary.

Plans call for a laymen's banquet to be held, Thursday Sept. 30. The archbishop will preach here on Sunday, Oct. 3.

Appointment of committees took place as follows: To arrange the place of banquet, Dr. P. G. C. Campbell, W. J. Saunders and Canon L. E. Davis; catering for the banquet, J. K. Patterson, F. R. Brooks, M. G. Robinson, C. H. Hall and James Perryman; publicity and printing, Canon J. D. Mackenzie Naughton, Rev. Minto Swan, Rev. H. J. Scuse and James Breen; reception and program, Very Rev. A. T. Brierly Browne, Dr. Campbell, Mr. Saunders, Lt.-Col. T. A. Kidd, and Canon S. E. Harrington.

CHARGE FOR PARKING ON MARKET

Hamilton, June 22 — (CP)—In the future it may cost motorists 25 cents to park in the central market on non-market days. The property and license committee has given its approval to the plan which is on its way to the city solicitor and then the Board of Control for approval.

Russian Gunner Goes Berserk, Kills, Wounds

Vienna, June 23 (CP) — A Russian soldier with three submachine guns Tuesday night killed a French member of the Vienna International police patrol, wounded Russian and American members and forced a British lance corporal to drive him to American police headquarters, a British statement announced today.

An international patrol jeep carrying a four-power patrol was called at 9.30 p.m. by an Austrian policeman.

The patrol was told a Russian soldier was firing at everyone he saw with a tommy-gun. The patrol found the Russian dressed in private's uniform but bareheaded and barefoot, with 2 tommy-guns slung on his back and one in his hands.

The man opened fire, the report said, fatally wounding the Frenchman, Mescais, wounding the American, Cpl. Robert Perryman, with splinters from the windscreen, and shooting the Russian member, Boriskov, through the arm.

The Russian then pushed his tommy-gun into the ribs of the Briton, L.Cpl. Basil Levy, and ordered him in German: "Drive me to America."

With the sub-machine gun in his side Levy, drove to the headquarters of the 796th battalion, American Military Police.

The Russian was held for Soviet authorities.

Brantford, June 23 — (CP) — At least one building was struck during the electric storm which passed over Brant county Tuesday night, causing a loss estimated a more than $5,000.

A barn, owned by Lloyd Utter, and located one - half mile west of Kelvin, was struck by lightning shortly before midnight and burned to the ground. Lost with the building were several small pigs, 150 hens, a corn binder, milking machine, tractor plow and a quantity of feed.

Five-Year Girl Freed From Closet, Parents Arrested

San Francisco, June 23 — (AP) —The parents of five-year-old Sharon Stewart were in custody today after the child was freed from confinement in a dark and foul-smelling closet at the family home.

When found in the cramped, dungeon-like closet, the little girl was nude, her hair was tangled and matted and she was some 15 pounds underweight. At hospital doctors said Sharon was undernourished but not in serious condition.

The mother, Mrs. Esther Stewart, 29, was arrested when she returned late Tuesday from a beach outing. The father, Robert, 32, was picked up when he came back from a fishing trip. He is a city fireman. The Stewarts have two other children.

Parents Who Gave Away 7 Children Refuse Other Aid

Miami, Fla., June 23 — (AP)—Offers of help poured in to Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey today, but the couple who gave away their seven children were turning them all down.

One Miami woman offered them the use of a bungalow, rent free through the summer, but Harvey said the important thing was to leave Miami and "try to start life over again."

Although the Harveys announced they had been forced to give up their children because of financial difficulties, he said today he had refused "numerous" offers of money and loans.

Dog Brings Help To Man in Well For Five Days

Bremerton, Wash., June 23 (AP)—Dale Wilson was alive today, after spending five days in a well, because of his pet Cocker Spaniel and a girl who thought she had been "stood up."

Wilson, 28-year-old navy yard worker, was out walking a half mile from his home when he fell into a 12-foot abandoned well. He landed in six inches of water, uninjured except for bruises.

That was last Wednesday. Wilson said his dog, Penney, kept an almost constant vigil at the lip of the well. But she left once at pust the right time.

The dog was on the front porch of Wilson's home when the girl drove up late Monday to demand an explanation for being "stood up" on a Saturday date.

Penney took off for the well, the girl said, stopping occasionally to look at her. She followed—just why, she can't explain.

In a few minutes, she had determined Wilson's plight and found a rope. Wilson painfully dragged himself to safety.

INDUSTRIAL CRISIS OVER COAL SUPPLY

Sydney, Australia, June 23 (AP) — Australia is facing a grave industrial crisis today because of a breakdown in coal supplies.

Authorities closed all industry in Sydney to save electric power for homes. Five northern New South Wales coal mines are idle. The miners are claiming more pay for machine cut coal. Unless the dispute is settled swiftly, some officials fear a general strike next week.

Gas and power rationing are expected in Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide and other large cities.

Less Livestock Seen as Result Of Grain Prices

Kitchener, June 23 — (CP) — William P. Watson, chief commissioner of the Provincial Agriculture Department told a Kiwanis Club meeting Tuesday that Ontario livestock will decrease in numbers "due to the high price of grain, created by the European demand."

Eastern Canada farmers would be unable to buy "cheap grain from Western Canada for some years to come." Need for grain in other parts of the world for food rather than cattle feed would remain at a high level "making it too expensive to feed livestock."

Ontario farmers were urged to stay in livestock farming and grow a maximum amount of feed on their own land so that livestock output may be maintained at a high level at lowest possible cost.

House Flies Seen Things of Past

Ottawa, June 23 (CP)— House flies can be a thing of the past in any community that uses enough DDT, Dr. C. R. Twinn of the Entomology Division of the Agriculture Department said today.

He spoke at the annual convention of the Ontario Retail Druggists Association.

"If DDT is applied on a sufficiently wide scale," he said in a speech prepared for delivery, "it is possible to reduce the house-fly population to small proportions, if not to eliminate it entirely."

A newer repellent, dimethyl phthalate, was especially effective against mosquitoes, black flies, biting midges and horse and deer flies.

LEWIS STUDIES MATTERS TO LAY BEFORE COMMITTEE

Washington, June 23 (AP) — John L. Lewis took time out from his renewed contract talks with coal operators today to study matters he will lay before the 200 man United Mine Workers policy committee tomorrow.

The U.M.W. chief and mine owners had been closeted for less than an hour when Lewis and his negotiators asked for a recess.

The move stirred speculation that the operators had made some sort of offer, at least on extension of the present contract, and that Lewis as taking it under consideration. The contract expires June 30.

Charges Preacher With Fortune Telling

Detroit, June 23. (CP)—A Detroit preacher took his Sunday evening radio topic from the seventh chapter, the 11th verse, of a book of the Bible. The following day his congregation played 711 of the numbers and bankrupted a mutuel house, Detective George Harge of the vice squad, said today.

The incident was made known after Harge charged Rev. Wallace P. Robinson, 43, bishop of the Alpha and Omega Church of Christ for fortune telling. Harge said he was informed Rev. Robinson gave code numbers for mutuels playing in his Sunday broadcasts but police were unable to prove it.

Robinson was arrested when Harge gave him $5 for two "hot" mutuels numbers. Robinson, who was arraigned on a fortune telling charge today, had books which showed he gave advice on all problems—and sold his wisdom on the instalment plan.

ISRAELI MORTARS BLAST BEACHED MUNITIONS SHIP

Craft Abandoned By Irgun Zvai Leumi

By ROBERT HEWETT

Tel Aviv, June 23 — (AP)—Israeli mortar fire blasted a munitions ship beached by Irgun Zvai Leumi rebels Tuesday night as civil strife shook the new Jewish state of Israel.

The munitions-laden vessel burst into flames, throwing a four-hour battle between Irgun and Hagana into confusion. Thousands of Tel Aviv residents fled the central water front, scene of the fighting in which some 40 persons were reported killed or wounded.

The ship — an LST (landing ship tank) — was carrying 600 tons of munitions in violation of the terms of the four-week United Nations truce.

Later, persons watching from distance rooftops, said they heard 12 or 15 explosions. Clouds of smoke arose, obscuring the whole area.

An Irgun announcer said Menachen Beigin, commander of the former underground organization, had a "narrow escape" from the burning ship.

There were no further reports of Irgun-Israeli fighting on Tel Aviv beach after both sides fled the battle ground in fear of explosions.

A little later, truckloads of unarmed Irgun fighters appeared on the city's main streets. Some interpreted this to mean that a deal had been made with the government to end the strife.

The battle began early Tuesday when Irgun gun runners beached their munitions ship within a block of the hotel occupied by United Nations truce observers. Irgun refused to surrender the ship to government custody, and the Israeli army rushed platoons of infantry to the waterfront.'

About mid-afternoon, as Israeli guns shelled the vessel, an order was issued over the ship's loud speakers to "cease fire." A few minutes later four shells hit the deck and port side of the craft in rapid succession. Smoke poured up from the deck.

The general feeling of jitters was increased when air raid sirens sounded in Tel Aviv. It was the first night in six weeks the city's blackout had been relaxed.

Sit-Down Strikers May Miss Their Welfare Cheques in Mail

Toronto, June 23 (CP)—Three of the eight elderly women who staged a sit-down strike in a nursing home when they were ordered to leave may not find their welfare cheques in the mail. City Welfare Commissioner H. S. Rupert said that by contacting relatives he had persuaded most of the women to leave, but three still declined to leave the nursing home which was closed several weeks ago by the city.

He said his final step in removing recalcitrant patients would be stoppage of welfare cheques. They will be moved to nursing homes approved by the Health Department.

WOULD REQUIRE REMOVAL OF 24 HOMES IN TORONTO

Toronto, June 23 (CP) —Construction of a rapid transit switching and repair yard by the Toronto Transportation Company would require removal of 24 homes if built at one site and 80 if another site is selected.

In a report by a town planning expert employed by the city, it was stated that if the yards are built in the Chaplin Crescent area the project would cost $2,365,000 and 24 homes would have to be removed. But if it is constructed on Cottingham, the city will have to pay $3,909,000 more and 80 homes will be uprooted.

New Red Currency Will Be Void In Western Berlin

'Russian Order Violates Rules', Say West Allies

By WES GALLAGHER

Berlin, June 23 (AP)—The three western Allies rejected today a Soviet order for issuance of a Russian-controlled currency for all Berlin and announced that their own new deutschemark would be used in the city's western sectors.

American, British and French authorities said they were making Berlin a two-currency city rather than submit to an arbitrary violation of four-power agreements.

United States and British authorities indicated they have no intention of outlawing the Russian-sponsored currency in the western sectors of Berlin.

(A Berlin dispatch of The Associated Press earlier Wednesday said the western Allies declared the Russian currency will be used in the western sectors. This was incorrect. The dispatch should have said the Allies declared the Soviet single-currency decree will be void in the western sectors.)

The three western commandants for the city ordered all banks and business institutions except food and drug stores closed. A moratorium on debts was ordered.

The Russian order for currency reform in Berlin, announced early this morning, "violates the rules of four-power government," the western power proclamation said.

The Berlin Magistrate, executive body of the city government, decided at a special meeting a short time before not to accept the Russian order for the entire city. It ruled that an occupation commander can issue orders only for his own zone.

The Russian military administration announced early today a new currency for Russian-occupied eastern Germany. The action followed by four days introduction of a new mark in the western zones occupied by Britain, the United States and France.

The result is that this city of 3,000,000 persons will have two kinds of money—an eastern type and a western type. Just how this financial mess will turn out, no one could be found brave enough to hazard even a guess. Everyone agreed on a one-word description: "chaos."

Russian Proclamations

The Russians agreed to four-power negotiations on currency for Berlin Tuesday. But after five hours of deliberating the negotiators adjourned without decision. Within two hours the Russians issued their proclamations announcing the new Russian currency.

The Russian monetary reform for Germany is set to take effect June 24 to 26. No details were announced.

As the Soviet-controlled radio pumped out news of the new currency, more details became clear.

Every person is entitled to exchange 70 marks at the rate of one for one. The exchange rate for amounts over 70 marks, up to 5,000, is 10 to one. Anyone presenting more than 5,000 marks will have to prove it was legally acquired.

Cash held by business firms and institutions will be exchanged at 10 to one. Bank accounts will be changed over at one for one for the first 100 marks, five to one for amounts up to 1,00 marks and 10 for one up to 5,000 marks. Where accounts have more than 5,000 marks, an investigation will be made.

All old reichsmarks must be out of circulation by Friday. Marshal Sokolovsky, the broadcasts continued, ordered that prices, wages, taxes and rent remain at present levels.

FINED FOR HITTING FRIEND WHO OWED HIM $4

Meaford, June 23 — (CP) —No one could glame Gordon Smith for being a little downhearted today.

One of Gordon's friends has owed him $4 since 1946 and has persistently refused to pay him. Finally Gordon lost control of himself and took a poke at his debtor. It was an expensive poke, for Gordon was fined $30.20 Tuesday on a charge of assault. The $4 remains unpaid.

Weather Hazard Will be Beaten In About 10 Yrs.

Ste. Agathe, Que., June 23.—(CP)— The International Air Transport Association today launched a series of moves aimed at bettering airline operations through technical improvements and a more widespread standardization.

The technical conference of I.A.T.A. completed a two-week meeting Tuesday. More than 150 technical representatives of 23 airlines from 17 countries attended the sessions.

All recommendations of I.A.T.A., a self-operated organization of member companies, will be passed along to the International Civil Aviation organization and the various countries for adoption.

There was no dissension on final recommendations, which sought:

1. Pooling of certain ground equipment and supplies.
2. Speedier handling of planes at International airports.
3. More widespread installation of approach lighting.
4. Greater co-ordination of communication and navigation facilities.
5. Greater use of pressure pattern flying—taking advantage of tail winds—on long routes.
6. Agreement on conformity of approach and let-down procedures among all airlines.

J. T. Dyment, director of Engineering of Trans-Canada Airlines, was chairman of the conference and presided at a press gathering to review the two weeks' work.

He said it takes as long as two years to establish recommendations on a compulsory basis, through I.C.A.O. or governments although I.A.T.A. members usually adopt the measures voluntarily as soon as they are recommended and can be put physically into effect.

He expressed the opinion that, in line with developments, the weather hazard in flying would be beaten in little more than 10 years.

Suggests Study Of Pensions to Cabinet Ministers

Ottawa, June 23 — (CP) — A suggestion that the Senate study the possibility of providing pensions for Cabinet ministers who have given "long service to the state" came today from Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader in the Upper Chamber.

He put forward the idea in moving second reading of a bill to increase the salary of the lieutenant-governor of Prince Edward Island from $7,000 to $8,000 a year.

Emphasizing that he was speaking for himself alone, Senator Robertson recalled that parliament had enacted such legislation in 1905 only to see it repealed in 1906.

Yu'An Hee See Laughs

By Sax Rohmer

This was a sprucely groomed Egyptian, his sleek black hair growing very low upon his cheek-bones. With his clean-shaven, olive face and very white teeth, he was a langurously hadsome figure. A scarlet tarbush lay beside him where he reclined supported by many silken cushions, and there was an open attache case upon the floor, apparently full of papers.

"Hello, Maclles,' he said, greeting the newcomer in English, which he spoke with facility but a slight accent. "You are late. You and one other are last to report."

Watching the heavy lip twitching under a greying moustache, he thought, "Only desperation has made you report at all."....

"I had hell's work and a'," was the reply. "I hadna a bean. I've had bite nor sup since yesterday morning, and I walked here a' the way from Calais."

"You had a well lined purse the last time we met, Mac, and it's your own fault if it's empty now. But—"the Egyptian smiled meaningly into the debauched face —"it will soon be well filled again. Show me your papers, and I will see that you have supper."

The Scotsman laid a number of papers, including a greasy passport, upon a little table.

"There you are, Chief."

The man addressed as Chief glanced through the documents and the passport; then, from the attache case he took a long envelope. He removed the contents with delicate yellow fingers, enumerating them as he did so.

"One—fifty pounds English" he said. "Two—a week's pay in advance. Three—your ticket for Trieste; you leave in the morning. Four—cabin accommodation Trieste to Alexandria. Five—in the small envelope—the name and address of the man from whom you will take further instructions when you get there."

He replaced them all, adding those papers which Maclles had given him, then deftly slipped an elastic band around envelope and passport, handing it back with a smile.

"And now go to it, Mac," he said. "It's your last night. From now on, you are under orders.."

But his keen brain was busy, and he was thinking: "This man is efficient but dangerous. I must be prepared to replace him."

Maclles turned and looked about the smoke-laden room. It would have been difficult to find within any similar area a more complete set of ruffians. Their nationalities were various. But most of them had at least one quality in common — they were drunk.

In the matter of villainy there was little to choose between them. There was a huge, cross-eyed Swede, bearded nearly to the eyes, who apparently possessed no name other than Red; an Italian with sly sidelong eyes answering without resentment to the name of the Wasp; a Chinaman with an evil scarred and pock-marked face; this creature was apparently known as One Eye. Other ruffians there were, black, white, yellow, and brown, draining tankards of champagne and shouting coarse personalities.

"You look rotten, Mac, you do!" shouted a coarse voice. "Come and feed your face, old cock. Uncle Tom, here, wants to talk to you."

Maclles stared in the direction of the speaker, a thickset, bull-necked individual, scars of the ring visible upon nose and ear. His companion, Uncle Tom, was a powerful negro, whose little sunken eyes seemed to hold a reddish light, so that they resembled those of a gorilla.

Maclles joined these two at their table, and the negro, standing up, drew a laden supper wagon alongside. As a man who is famished, the Scotsman helped himself promiscuously to caviar, cold grouse, plover egg sandwiches, smoked salmon, and sauerkraut. The ex-prize fighter filled for him a mug with champagne just as the Portuguese came in. He was greeted with cries of "Ferdy!"....

"What's scared you, Ferdy?"..

"Didn't think you was goin' to join up again, Ferdy."

This last from Kid Brown, the Cockney fighter. Loud laughter, clapping of hands, and stamping of feet....

The new arrival smiled uneasily and made his way to the settee where the Chief reclined, watching him and thinking: "This man is afraid. He may destroy us.."

Downstairs in the restaurant, the Russian politician continued his apparently interminable harangue. No other customers appeared, and the two men who had penetrated to the mysteries beyond failed to return. Dawson Haig turned to the French detective.

"I may be chasing a shadow," he said. "But I am not satisfied. I mean to wait until one of them comes out again; then I mean to follow him. Is there any other way out of this place?"

"Not that I am aware of," the French detective replied. "As I told you, it has never come under our notice before. It is used by political fanatics, and Suleiman, the proprietor, is, I believe a Turkish Communist." He smiled. "There is perhaps a political meeting going on. I fear you are wasting your time, monsieur."

"Having nothing better to do at the moment," Dawson Haig returned grimly, "with your permission, I intend to go on wasting my time for at least another hour, M. Ballon."

Upstairs the party was growing riotous. As a result of some small dispute, Red, the huge Swede, very drunk, had challenged One Eye, the Chinaman, to a wrestling match. One of the tables had been overturned by the combatants, and much glass broken, but all carried on merrily.

The elegant Chief sipped coffee and smoked Egyptian cigarettes, exchanging light badinage with various members of the company. But always he remained aloof, reclining amidst his cushions—watching, weighing men, and estimating motives....

Two guests were singing at the top of their voices, one in German and the other in Portuguese. The supporters of these rivals (who were not singing the same song) added their voices to the choruses. And in the midst of this uproar, the Wasp, drawing a knife from his sleeve, leaped across the table before him and sprang, snarling, upon the German singer.

"You sing that about me, you swine!" he shouted.

Both vocalists ceased abruptly, and the German fell back on a table immediately behind him, which was smashed by his weight, so that its contents were spilled all over those seated near it. At the same moment, with great presence of mind, he kicked the Italian in the stomach.

The Wasp's knife fell from his hand, and howling with agony, he dropped and lay writhing on the floor.

The big blond Brandenburger, extricating himself from debris of the broken table, sprang upon the fallen Wasp. "Italian pig! I strangle you!" he roared.

The Chief stood up, smiling no longer. "Orders!" he cried in a sharp voice.

The Brandenburger hesitated, drew back. Cat-calls, cheers, and laughter ceased. The agonized Italian, groaning, struggled to regain his feet. In the space of ten seconds complete silence came.

All faced the Chief. "I have to remind you of Orders." The Egyptian's voice cut through the stillness. "I will overlook this breach—it is the first tonight. But any other infringement I must report to Mr. King."

"To hell with Mr. King!" the German exclaimed thickly, his murderous glance still set upon the Wasp....

The Chief slowly turned his luminous eyes upon the speaker. The lust of battle faded from the German's expression, and he looked almost with despair at that slim figure standing at the end of the room regarding him.

"This is regrettable, Franz," the Chief continued in his calm voice, "most regrettable tonight, when we are newly reassembled. Nevertheless, I cannot possibly overlook it." He began to glance about from face to face. All eyes were suddenly averted.

"Not the Adder!" the German whispered. "Don't send for the Adder . I don't mean to do it, Chief. I am drunk—see? And when it is so, I am made to fight!"

"I shall make due allowance for the fact."

And now the Chief's glance rested upon the battle-scarred face of the London prize fighter. "Kid!" he called sharply.

With obvious reluctance the Kid obeyed, stepping forward almost sheepishly.

"Yes, Chief?"

The Egyptian pointed to the big Brandenburger.

"Thrash Franz for me," he directed calmly. "Do not injure him seriously—but teach him to respect Orders—drunk or sober."

Mention of that seemingly commonplace name, Mr. King, as if it possessed some magic quality, had sobered the company. The centre of the floor was cleared of bottles, straw, broken glass, and cigar ends. All drew back to the utmost limits of the room. But all avoided the neighborhood of the Chief.

The Kid, who wore a double-breasted coat with a woollen pullover beneath, removed, first the coat, then the pullover. When finally he das discarded his vest, he displayed a formidable torso, with bulging biceps and rippling shoulder muscles. The German also shed his coat, and as he did so:

"Thank you, Chief," he said, looking along the room. "I take what it is coming to me." Turning he faced the pugilist.

"I'm sorry, mate," said the latter. "But Orders is Orders. No offense. Cover up as well as you know 'ow."

With which friendly warning he shot a left of deadly accuracy to the man's jaw. The sound of its impact echoed around the room. It was the "Maxim silencer," in the words of one sporting critic, for which the Kid had been celebrated in the prize ring—a piston-rod blow, which, if it registered, flesh and blood could not withstand.

And, incredible thought it seemed, the Kid meant it kindly. He knew that swift oblivion followed by an aching head was preferable to a mangling.

Franz staggered, threw up his arms, and fell to his knees. Stooping, he spat a tooth upon the floor, Kid stood over him, amazed when he did not topple forward.

"Has he had enough, Chief?" he asked.

"No. Hit him again, but make him stand up. Stand up, Franz," he ordered.

The big German looked up, almost pathetically, into the face of the Kid. Then slowly, he rose to his feet. Blood streamed down his chin.

"Put yer 'ands up," Brown demanded. "I can't 'it you while you keep yer 'ands down. Make a fight for it—it'll make me feel better."

The Brandenburger rushed, closed with the boxer, and held him in a bear-like grip. The Kid brought a short one to his right ear, but that grizzly-hug continued.

"Chief!" the fighter cried. "Make 'im break away!"

"I told you to thrash him," was the calm reply.

The Kid rained blows upon the head and body, but the tenacious, powerful German was slowly lifting him off his feet.... And now he had him clear of the floor!

A hoarse, suppressed cry of excitement from the onlookers greeted this feat.

Drink fumes cleared from the fighter's brain, and ring craft came to his aid. Suddenly he seemed to crumple up in that strange hug which was squeezing the life out of him. He collapsed, dropped limply from those embracing arms....and even as the German looked down at him, panting with his giant exertions, the Kid came to his feet like a catch released, and that piston-rod left drove again straight to the point.

Franz crashed down so as to shake the room.

Montreal North Mayor Slain In His Own Office

Montreal, June 23 (CP)—Mayor J. P. Cardinal of Montreal North, father of six children, was slain in his mid-town Montreal taxi office, Tuesday, by a gunman who then killed himself.

Police named Treffle Prevencher as the man who fired three quick shots at the 38-year-old mayor and saved a fourth bullet for himself.

Employees of the Diamond Taxi Company, of which Cardinal was secretary-treasurer, said the two had been in disagreement for several years. But, said one, "nobody ever expected anything like this to happen."

The employees said that Provencher was seen to enter Cardinal's office shortly before the mid-afternoon slaying took place. There was no sound of any argument or disagreement.

Suddenly three shots were fired, and a body thumped on th e floor. As staff-members rushed to open the office door, they heard the fourth shot with which Provncher killed himself.

Then as police were summoned to the Mountain Street address, the place became a bedlam. While employees rushed to and fro and crowds gathered outside, one member of the staff continued to accept calls for taxicabs.

Cardinal served overseas in the Second World War. A former president of the Montreal North Chamber of Commerce, he resigned from the office in May to run against ex-Mayor Archambault Desy in Montreal North. He won by 128 votes and only Tuesday morning, Desy started action to unseat Cardinal, charging him with irregular practices.

May Have Found Resting Place Of Crashed Plane

Bowmanville, June 23 (CP) — Crew using grappling hooks reported late Tuesday they may have found the resting place of a crashed R.C.A.F. Jet Vampire plane.

They warned against over-optimism but said they held a reasonable hope their chains may have touched the craft 201 feet below the surface of Lake Ontario. The location is 4 1-2 miles off-shore, almost directly in front of this town.

A start will be made today on the ticklish operation of raising the speedy aircraft that carried Sqdn. Ldr. S. Y. Broadbent of St. Thomas, to his death early last Thursday. Experienced lakefront crews said they felt sure by the feel of the lines the obstruction encountered was not a rock.

Dragging is in charge of Wing Cmdr. Fred Sharp of Central Flying School, Trenton the base from which the jet-propelled plane took off on a routine flight With him is FO. M. Laroche of No. 6 Repair Depot, Trenton.

Operations are being conducted from the R.C.N. Fairmile 116 of H.M.C.S. York, Toronto, and R.C.A.F. speed launch 202. The former is commanded by Lieut. H.L. Spratt of Toronto and the latter by Sgt. K. MacMillan of Brandon, Man.

Council Urges Cabinet Rank For L. P. Cecile

Hawkesbury, June 23 (CP) — Cabinet rank for L. P. Cecile, newly-elected member for Prescott in the Ontario legislature, was urged Tuesday night by Hawkesbury town council and the Board of Trade here.

The two organizations added their names to a petition endorsed by the council of the united counties of Prescott and Russell, urging upon Premier Drew that he give consideration to the appointment.

John B. Woods, chairman of a committee for the development of eastern Ontario, said the appointment was important because of the urgency to complete the Carillon power project, the building of a new double lane truck highway and other eastern Ontario projects.

"If we can press the Ontario government to appoint Mr. Cecile to represent us in the cabinet, these eastern Ontario developments will be met," Mr. Woods said.

Mayor Charles LaFrance will deliver the petition personally to Premier Drew when he returns from his current visit to the United Kingdom.

Drenching Rains Needed to Quench Ontario Fires

(By The Canadian Press)

In Northern Manitoba, Ontario's Northland and the Val D'Or gold-mining district of Northwestern Quebec, men today waged the fight against forest fires.

Officials of forestry services expressed hope drenching rain soon would quench the fires, which already have destroyed vast areas of rich timberland.

The Manitoba fires flared near Sherridon and Flin Flon, mining communities in the northern section of the province, near the Saskatchewan border. Sherridon mine workers and townsfolk checked a blaze which had advanced to within a mile of the settlement.

J. G. Somers, Manitoba provincial forester, said co-operation of miners and townspeople of Flin Flon helped halt two outbreaks near that community. He estimated that several hundred men were on fire patrol work in Manitoba.

The Mississagi and Chapleau fires still were the worst in Ontario but heavy rain which started early today held hope they might soon be stopped. Together they have engulfed approximately 900 square miles of timberland, mostly pine and spruce, and northeasterly winds Tuesday fanned them into new fury.

The Canadian Forestry Association said the recent series of fires had led to cancellation of plans for a 100-ton-a-day pulp mill in Northern Ontario. Timber earmarked for the new mill was included in the 500,000 acres burned over in Ontario by 800 fires.

Norton J. Anderson, C.F.A. general manager, said fires in Canada's woodlands so far this year have destroyed nearly $43,000,000 worth of forest wealth and burned through 800,000 acres.

Quebec's loss, second to Ontario's was 130,000 acres with merchantable timber valued at $3,500,000.

Will Make Survey To Determine Hospital Space

Toronto, June 23 (CP)—Health Minister Russell Kelley announced Tuesday a survey will be undertaken to determine present hospital space and future needs in Ontario.

Coming less than a week after Ontario voiced agreement in principle with the Federal Government's National Health Plan. The announcement said a committee under the chairmanship of George D. Davis of Toronto will undertake the survey.

One of the main tasks of the provincial committee is to make a census of available beds and to estimate how many more are needed.

The type of treatment will probably also be compiled. Medical authorities have said much of the current overcrowding in hospitals is due to the number of beds occupied by chronic and canvalescent patients.

The survey will require up to a year to complete.

Armed Services Representation Comes to an End

Regina, June 23 (CP)—A wartime political experiment—armed services representation in the provincial legislature—comes to an end in Saskatchewan tomorrow as electors go to the polls to choose a new government.

Alone among the Dominion's nine provinces, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba passed legislation in the last year of the war providing electors in the armed forces with political spokesmen for at least one legislative term. Alberta and Manitoba gave representation to the navy, army and air force. Saskatchewan opened three seats to candidates at large elected by servicemen on duty in designated theatres of war.

A survey of the representatives themselves reveals they are agreed the system has been of considerable benefit to ex-servicemen. However, the majority now favor its abilition.

J. Harper Prowse, or Edmonton, elected as army representative and now Alberta Liberal leader, says continued representation for special interests would be wrong.

"Our usefulness ended when rehabilitation became complete," Mr. Prowess said. "Veterans' problems remaining now are largely a federal resposibility."

He was supported by Lt.-Cmdr. A. J. Stringer, representing the navy in the Manitoba House.

L. D. Ward, who saw service as a petty officer aboard H.M.C.S. Royal George, and navy member in the Alberta House, favors retention of service seats—possibly with two or three members at large.

In the opinion of Hon. C. M. Fines, Saskatchewan Provincial Treasurer, service representatives generally had made a valuable contribution to legislature conduct and accomplishments.

One of the three Saskatchewan representatives, Lt.-Col. Alan W. Embury, is seeking re-election as a Progressive Conservative candidate in tomorrow's provincial election. Representing the Mediterranean area in the last legislature, he is contesting this election in the two-member Regina constituency.

Musial's Hitting, Brecheen's Pitching Project Cardinals Back in Thick of N.L. Fight

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

National League clubs are finding out that a team blessed with a .400 batter and an .800 pitcher is tough to beat.

It was this combination that paved the way for the 5-1 victory St. Louis Cardinals hung upon the National League - leading Braves in Boston.

The first half of the combination — slashing Stan Musial — stroked five consecutive singles to zoom his league - leading batting average to .403. His fifth hit came in the ninth with the bases loaded to drive in a couple of mates and snap a 2-2 tie.

The other half — Harry (The Cat) Brecheen — won his eighth game of the year. He has lost two. It also marked his seventh victory in eight decisions under the lights this year.

The triumph put the third-place Cards 1½ games behind the league leaders.

The American League pace - setters, Cleveland Indians, whipped New York 5-2 to increase their margin over the runner-up Yankees to 3½ games. Joe DiMaggio whacked three hits including his 16th home run, tying the American League home run leadership with Ken Keltner of the Indians.

Danny Litwhiler's 10th - inning home run with Hank Sauer on base gave Cincinnati Reds a 6-4 victory over the Phillies in a night game in Philadelphia. Earlier in the game, Sauer had smashed his 21st home run of the season, a record total for a righthanded Cincinnati batter.

Earl Wooten's first major league homer gave Washington Senators a 5-4 victory over Detroit Tigers.

A four-run eighth inning helped Philadelphia Athletics beat St. Louis Browns 7-6. Carl Scheib went all the way to register the victory.

Boston Red Sox came from behind to club Chicago White Sox 11-6.

Don Mogard, formerly of Mountain View RCAF station, one of Canada's promising young heavyweights who fights in one of the preliminary bouts to the heavyweight championship fight tonight. Mogard, who has won all eleven of his professional fights across the border meets James P. Connolly, Providence, R. I. scrapper who is rated highly. Mogard was trained by Vic Bagnato, Toronto, well known in boxing and other sports circles in this district.

Locos and Petes Break Even In COBL Twin Bill

(By The Canadian Press)

The Central Ontario Baseball League held the spotlight last night as four senior Ontario games were played in two leagues.

Peterborough Petes and Kingston Locos broke even in a C.O.B.L. twinbill, with Petes winning the first game 7-5 but losing the second 10-9. Meanwhile, Batawa Shoemen staked a Merriwell finish to defeat Oshawa Merchants 4-3 in the ninth inning to keep their second place spot in the central league. The only other tilt of the night was in the Nickel Belt circuit where Frood Tigers and Copper Cliff Redmen played to a seven-inning 3-3 tie. Rain forced cancellation of the last two innings.

Kingston appeared to be heading for victory in the first game of the doubleheader, leading 3-1 at the end of the fourth. But Petes forced a deadlock in the fifth, added another run in the sixth and then clinched their 7-5 win with three more markers in the seventh. Locos got two more runs in the final frame.

Howie Dalton paced the Peterborough hitters with three safeties, while John Mackness, Larry Edwardson and George Walton each had two. Don Padgett and Doug Loucks scored the other Pete runs. Loucks struck out seven men and issued three walks.

In the nightcap it was turnabout, with the Petes seemingly headed for victory. Locos, however, staged a three-run rally in the sixth inning to win 10-9. Locos used 3 pitchers in the tilt with Jack Stone, who started as catcher, finishing the game as winning pitcher. However, he went the route on the mound in the opener and was charged with the loss.

Howie Dalton again was the big gun, banging out four hits and scoring twice to lead all attackers. Carmen Jacquith, hurling for Petes in the nightcap, issued eight walks before being relieved by Edgar in the eighth.

Batawa Shoemen Defeat Oshawa In Ninth Frame

In a Merriwell finish Batawa Shoemen consolidated their second position in the C.O.B.L. race when they defeated the Oshawa Merchants 4-3 under lights at the Fair Grounds on Tuesday night. Oshawa was riding on the crest of a 3-1 lead going into the ninth and then things began to happen and when the smoke of battle had cleared, the Shoemen had helped themselves to three runs and the ball game.

Tony Romanasky deserved a better fate on the mound for the visitors. Up till the ninth he had handcuffed the opposition with five hits and his mates had powdered the offerings of Gordie Muffitt for thirteen blows, mostly of the long-distance variety and the Oshawa crew looked on their way to an easy win. The roof fell in on Tony in the last half of the last frame. Johnny Aquino, the first man up, drove a single to centre but Bedard who batted for Wagar went out while Aquino was taking second. He was pushed up to third when Rankin grounded to the shortstop. Spencer, who had replaced Cook in an earlier frame tripled to deep right and the barrage was on.

Waited Pitcher Out

Gordie Muffitt waited Romanasky out and drew a free ticket and promptly went to second. Solmes, who had been hitting heavy all night strode to the plate and did not wait for ceremonies. He let one drift by and picked the next pitch for two bases and the game was over. The slim crowd gave him a hearty ovation and his team mates crowded around him to offer their congratulations. Muffitt handcuffed the Merchants through four frames but in the fifth they scored three runs by lusty clouting and not too good fielding. Baxter went out but Romanasky helped his own cause with a triple to deep left. Brisebois helped his team with a single and Dell smacked him along with a single and Hannah hoofed them both home with a single.

Scored in Sixth

The Shoemen scored their other run in the sixth when Kennedy singled and was sacrificed to second. Bridgeman was thrown out and Watson whiffed. Johnny Aquino who started the rally in the ninth was safe on an error and before the ball was retrieved Kennedy crossed the plate. Muffitt in winning the game struck out 11 and walked one while Romanasky struck out seven and walked the same number. Batawa were lucky to win the pastime after being behind for the whole game. It was the best played game of the season and one of the fastest, it being completed in under two hours. The Shoemen will meet Kingston Locos at the local park on Saturday night.

JUST BEFORE THE FIGHT...FEELING FINE

Dr. Vincent Nardiello, medical examiner for the New York State Athletic commission, is shown as he checked Joe Walcott, and found him fit to fight in his rematch with heavyweight champ Joe Louis. The fight is scheduled for New York's Yankee Stadium tonight.

Psychiatrist Calls Louis To Win Fight Early

(Editors note: Using methods of scientific analysis, Dr. J. L. Moreno, psychiatrist, picks the probable winners of tonight's championship fight. His findings and reasons follow)

By J. L. MORENO, M.D.
Copyright 1948,
By The Associated Press

New York, June 23 (AP)—Joe Louis should knock out Walcott tonight, probably in the early rounds.

That is the greatest probability, based upon scientific methods of prediction.

The scientific data points this way:

1. Louis to win by a knockout. The biggest chance for it is within the first few rounds.
2. The second probability is a Walcott victory by decision.
3. Louis by decision.
4. A knockout by Walcott is only an outside chance.

On punching ability, Louis is superior. He throws three punches for every two by Walcott. Louis will start the pace of the fight. The more punches he throws, the more Walcott will throw back, for Walcott is essentially a counterpuncher.

If the champion can make Walcott fight Louis' kind of fight the greatest possibility is for a knockout by Louis. He has to make Walcott stand still.

But if Louis can't score by one of the middle rounds, he may undergo a psychological change. He can stand still once or twice, waiting for Walcott to come to him. But Louis couldn't do that indefinitely. He would be forced to run after Walcott.

Legs May Slow Down

Walcott then may continue to hit, block and run, provoking and challenging Louis, arousing him, and retreating him. In that case it won't be Louis' hands that will slow down but his legs.

Louis' irritation would increase. He has confidence only when he punches. He would hesitate as to what to do. This kind of indecision may grow as the fight goes on, making him more vulnerable to Walcott's tactics.

Toward the end of the fight, Walcott may grow more cautious again, and Louis more anxious to get him. This may bring about a fight very similar to the last one. But Louis can't win this time by a close decision. He needs a wide margin. Otherwise, conforming to public opinion, the judges may be inclined to give the fight to Walcott.

Walcott has no fear. The myth of Louis' invincibility has been destroyed in his mind. He has better ability to make decisions in emergencies, or when surprised. He's the better all-around strategist. On incentive to win, Walcott probably has an edge. He has everything to win and nothing to lose. But he had his opportunity for sustained training 10 to 15 years too late. He hasn't been a winner in life, and that is against him psychologically.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 23—(AP) — A boat race is a good excuse for a boat ride, which may explain what is left of the spectator appeal of the intercollegiate championship regatta which once a year makes the placid Hudson a centre of national sports interest.

Since the demise of the observation train, it's almost impossible to tell what's happening until the crews draw near the finish. First a few specks appear in the distance up river; slowly they sprout legs, which become oars as they draw nearer. Then for a moment you can see the strong-backed oarsmen moving on their slides and tugging rhythmically at the long sweeps and it becomes a boat race as the long, slender shells, barely deep enough to cut the ripples on the calm water, slide past.

Then, unless you be right at the finish, you have to wait for the almost unintelligible loudspeakers on the highway bridge or for the radio report to learn who won. Even the spectator fleet yesterday was far smaller than in pre-war days and the crowd on the river banks didn't amount to much.

Bob Porterfield Wins Tenth Game Of the Season

By The Associated Press

Buffalo Bisons are threatening to become the first club since 1935 to wind up an International League season with 200 or more homers.

Led by Chet Laabs, Anse Moore and Johnny Groth, the Bisons have belted 80 homers in their first 56 games. Should they continue this pace, they will finish the season with 220 round-trippers.

The Baltimore Orioles were the last club to hit the double century mark in boundary belts, clouting 202 in 1935. The Orioles hold the loop record of 232 in 168 games in 1932. They are the only team in the loop's history to have reached the 200 mark.

Opposing moundsmen have been able to curb the Bisons' home run power in only 17 games this season.

Last night, Pete Centre of the Orioles not only curbed the Bison four-base power but held them to three hits in pitching the Orioles to a 3-0 win in the first half of a doubleheader.

However, the Bisons got back into the groove in the nightcap, trouncing the Orioles, 9-0 with Groth whacking two out of the park and Laabs one. Laabs' belt was his 19th of the year, tops in the circuit.

The first - place Montreal Royals divided a doubleheader with the runner - up Newark Bears to remain 1 ½ games in front.

Montreal took the opener, 8-3, while the Bears won the second game, 2-1. Walt Nothe and Clarence Podbielan stopped the Bears with four safeties in the first tilt.

Rookie Bob Porterfield yielded only four blows in taming the Royals in the second game. The victory was Porterfield's tenth of the year as against two losses.

Oozing Confidence, Walcott Ready for Important Battle

One of the high points of Jersey Joe Walcott's confidence for the return is his knowledge that he's hard to hit. This opinion is shared by many competent boxing observers. One of the old guard, Dan Morgan, rates Jersey Joe the hardest to hit since Jack Johnson. Dan only sees two heavyweight champions since Johnson who would have a good chance to beat Walcott—Gene Tunney and Jack Sharkey.

Walcott pointed out earlier that spiking Louis' jab was half the battle and here he explains just how he did it and expects to do it again.

"It's all in moving the head. Your instinct tells you how far and in what direction. But if you move often enough and with enough variation, he'll be pawing at empty air in spite of the power he has in his left hand.

"For example, the first jab he throws in a series might find me going off just a bit to his right. The second probably would be aimed over in that direction, so I'd dip, instead of going to the side. The third one? Well, he might sight it lower. My answer would be to go lower than that."

The root of Walcott's style is co-ordination of mind, eye, arms and legs. And these are best exemplified in his feinting. He'll drop his head and left shoulder no more than two inches—but it's a compelling gesture that invariably sets off the opponent to a false lead. Usually the onlooker is put in mind of the hypnotic pull exerted by a track meet starter when he shouts: "Ready! . . . . Set!"

His position of hands is excellent. They are placed to hit or defend. He holds his right in front of him, high enough to block a left swing but also in line to counter. His left is further extended—ready for a jab or a hook. Or even as a block for a righthand by his opponent.

Good boxing minds will tell you that the thing to look for is a pattern of moves, rather than a flurry of punches. The moves create the openings. It was a pattern that confused Louis in their first fight.

Walcott doesn't regard Louis as any problem in making an opponent move where he wants him to go. He recalls incidents from their first fight: Once, when going through his cakewalk, he stopped in his tracks and switched to a southpaw stance. Before Louis had begun to size up the situation, he found a right jab flicked into his face. Another time, when Walcott feinted, Louis came in to clinch. But, instead of accommodating Joe, Walcott extended his opened gloves in such a way as to shove Louis back into the ropes.

Walcott candidly agrees that a fouled-up the detail in the last round of their first fight.

"I listened to the corner, which is generally good sense, but they didn't know my condition as well as I did. I wasn't tired and I didn't have to be that cautious. Next time I'll fight my own fight all the way."

"A lot of people are blaming me for not going in to finish Louis in the fourth, after that second knockdown," Jersey Joe observes, "but it's tough to knock out a fellow who doesn't want to be knocked out. Can anybody tell me how willing he was to punch when he got up? I can tell you. He just wasn't . He grabbed me, he knew he couldn't afford to slug it out and he played safe."

Jersey Joe, always a specialist in body punching, by-passes that medium against Louis. He knows what he's doing. He realizes that hitting Louis in the body brings the hitter right on top of the champion, with the hitter's head down. This would leave him wide open for uppercuts, one of Louis' best bets—a danger he can hardly afford to invite.

With Walcott, there is no question about the forthcoming bout. "Louis had only one chance to lick me the first time and he lost the chance," Walcott insists. "He had it in the first minute of the first round." Maybe you recall it. Walcott does. He'll never forget it.

"I head-feinted and I saw a right hand coming. I pulled away but not far enough. I was clipped and it tingled me right down to my legs. But my mind never fogged. I kept moving to Louis' left . . . I wasn't going to let him think he had hurt me that much, so I countered with my right when he stepped towards me. He felt it. And I knew everything was going to be all right. Inside of a minute I had him on the floor. That was as close as Louis came. He'll never come as close again. I promise that—and that's for sure."

Nine Men Couldn't-Can the Tenth?

New York, June 23 (AP)—Joe Louis was noted for his ability to make a better showing against a man the second time they fought.

Prior to his second match with Jersey Joe Walcott, he fought nine men twice, winning all the matches except against Max Schmeling, by whom he was knocked out the first time in 12 rounds.

Here is the record:

Cause of Death Still a Mystery

London, Ont., June 23 (CP) — Mrs. Ann McCallum, 63, of 23 Elm Street, died in hospital here Tuesday night, leaving still a mystery how she received severe head injuries. She was found helpless in her home four weeks ago.

Neighbors discovered Mrs. McCallum, semi-conscious from a possible fractured skull and blackened eyes, lying in her bloodstained bed, and it was believed she had been helpless for several days.

Two theories were held — one that the woman had been victim of a brutal attack, the other that she had suffered a fall — but neither was definitely established.

MOVE HEAD OFFICE OF ASSETS CORPORATIO

Montreal, June 22 (CP)— The head office of War Assets Corporation will be transferred from Montreal to Ottawa about the end of July, it was announced here Monday by H. R. Malley, vice-president and general manager. The transfer will involve about 33 members of the staff, Mr. Malley said.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

BY GEORGE H. CARVER, Sports Editor.

Not wishing to be away out on the well-known limb alone in predicting the outcome of the "Battle of the Joes" tonight, we invited opinions, guesses or estimates, take your choice, of a number of the lads about town who have more than a passing interest in the brawl. Our own guess is that M'sieu Jersey Joe will be too interested in what the birdies are singing to hear the gong for the fifth round. Methinks the Dark Destroyer will still be the champion by that time, while Mr. Cream will be wondering what hit him, when and how. However, here are the prognostications of the boys along the sports rialto hereabouts:

• • •

Alderman Claude Tice—(who called the Louis-Conn fight right on the button) "Louis will polish him off in the third round."

Boyd Upper (Sports Staff)—"Walcott will take the decision because of the presence of too much Louis suet, fat, that is."

Ron Godden (staff)—"Jersey Joe will not only win but by a knockout."

Art Francis, manager C.D.S.—"Louis will be on his way to the dressing room shortly after the eighth round gets under way."

• • •

Bill Green, Hotel Belvedere—"Mr. Walcott won't be around when the gong rings for the fifth round."

"Rusty" Langman, former boxer—"Joe Louis will win by a decision."

Eddie Lee, former middleweight—"Jersey Joe will win by a decision, because he knows Louis can hit and will stay away from him. His elusive style and ability to hit going away will get him the nod."

Tim Sullivan, well-known tonsorial artist—"Joe Louis will tuck his ill playmate away in the seventh round."

• • •

"Toots" Holway, former National Hockey League star — "I think Louis will win in the fifth."

Harold "Twig" Woodley, former baseball umpire—"Jersey Joe will be bye-bye by the end of the third round—if not sooner."

Eric Cooper, insurance—"If I were seeing the fight, I would get there in plenty of time for the main bout. Louis will call it a day at or before the end of the second round."

Bill Beare, Cook's Tobacco Emporium—"There will be no fight after the sixth. Joe Louis will be celebrating a victory."

"Scotty" Hirohito Irish Cook, spit and polish man—"Six rounds will be enough for Mr. Walcott. After that he won't be around to worry about anything."

Bill Cook, Tobacco and Cigars, Wholesale and Retail — "Louis in the sixth."

• • •

Hazen Stairs, barber—"Walcott will win by a decision."

Don Thomas, baseball umpire—"I think Louis will win, but I don't care to call the round."

And here's one for the book: Jack Sharkey, former world heavy weight champion, in conversation with S. R. (Sandy) Burrows last week in Toronto, picked Walcott to win the decision. "Walcott", Sharkey told "Sandy," "will not allow Louis to get close enough to knock him out. He will stay out of reach and score enough points going away, to win." Sharkey, incidentally, called Tony Zale to whip Rocky Graziano in three rounds in their last meeting.

Jack Elliott, baseball catcher—"Louis in the sixth."

Art Galbraith, CNR Ticket Office—"Massa Walcott will strut from the ring at the end of the fifteen round bout with the crown perched atop his kinky locks, or what's left of 'em."

Bill Doyle, Lewis Hardware—"Looks to me like a battle of the promoters. If Louis wins and retires, it will mean starting all over again to select a champion. If Walcott wins, it will mean getting contenders. I think the gentlemen behind the scenes know the score—and I think Walcott will win according to plan. He'll probably do it in the sixth round."

Jack Devine, sports director Radio Station CJBQ picks Louis to knock Walcott into a cocked hat, Harlem style, in or before the fifth round. But for a short snappy answer which doesn't involve and limb-perching, Bill Stovan, manager of the radio station, quipped, when asked his opinion as to who would win, "Mike Jacobs."

"Hammy" MacDonald, CJBQ piano maestro—Although he holds a pool ticket on Jersey Joe, thinks the Dark Destroyer will torpedo Jersey Joe in or before the sixth.

Alderman Oriliff (Beiler) Lloyd, doesn't expect Jersey Joe will be around to listen to any championship cheers. "He'll be tucked away in the fourth round."

Police Constable Charles Moore looked up from sticking a parking ticket on an automobile long enough to opine that the Jersey Joe would emerge victor and the other Joe would be hearing his first birdies chirp along about the fifth round.

Vern Goyer, well-known hockey, football and baseball star, had no qualms about Louis losing. "He'll put Walcott away in the fifth" was the big fella's opinion.

"Red" Carson, baseball and softball player, went Goyer one round better. "Louis will have the crown in mothballs in the fourth," he said.

City Engineer Charles Mott doesn't give a snap for Walcott's chances. Thinks Louis will take off his gloves after round two has ended.

But Assistant Engineer Cliff Matthews, felt differently. "The fight will go beyond five rounds, and after that anybody can win."

The Boss—"Winner of what fight? Who's fighting whom? Oh, Joe Louis and Jersey Joe Walcott, eh?....Well, h....mm, let me see....Ah yes, you may quote me as saying if the fight does not end in a draw or murder, Joe will win."

So there you have it. According to the above consensus, twenty out of twenty-eight pick Louis to win. Two are neutral.

Winnipeg, June 23 — (CP) — Protests against the high cost of living are becoming commonplace, but when even baseball umpires complain, Max (Fort William Times-Journal) Ray thinks it's time to sit up and take notice.

Ray finds the situation particularly interesting because when umpires in the Lakehead Baseball Association failed to get much attention they went on strike.

It was all legal, Ray reports, with the umpire-in-chief informing the association that his staff was "no longer willing to toil on the diamond for the regular fee of $3.50 each per game."

When the deadline passed and the letter had brought no response the umpires failed to show up for scheduled games.

"Out of a welter of recrimination, denunciation and general name-calling by most of the parties concerned," Ray records, "the umpires agreed to accept an increase to $5 for the official at the plate with the fee for the man on bases remaining at $3.50."

Diamond Girls.

Dick (Port Arthur News-Chronicle) Elliott, meanwhile, is considering another baseball angle — girls on the diamond.

His interest was prompted by a correspondent who wrote in after watching a girl's softball game.

"These young matrons," observed the correspondent, "seem to have a flare for the attack but defensively they think the ball is something that should be avoided whenever possible.

The correspondent also said the girls seemed to lack a coach and chided their husbands for not coming to the rescue.

This prompted Elliott to ask: "Brother, who do you think is holding the domestic front while mother is at practice?"

JOE LOUIS

Brown Bomber Favored to Win In Early Rounds

New York, June 23 — (CP)— Eleven years and one day ago Joe Louis pounded Jimmy Braddock to the canvas to win the world's heavyweight boxing championship.

Tonight the Brown Bomber makes his 25th defence of that title, his second against Jersey Joe Walcott who came close to taking it from him last year.

The experts—and past-performance records—give Louis the edge despite his ageing limbs and reactions. Currently a 5 to 12 favorite, the odds are expected to drop to 1-2 by ring time at 10 p.m., E.D.T., tonight—if the weatherman doesn't intervene with promised thundershowers. If the fight is rained out it will go on Thursday night.

The mighty Bomber is only a carbon copy of his former self —but there is enough of the original left to flatten Walcott. The records show that Louis has never failed to take quick action against every opponent who came back for a second try.

Walcott, a one-time sparring partner of the champ's who downed him in a practice bout in 1936, had the titleholder on the floor in their last go-to six months ago.

So far Walcott has shown no visible signs of worry about Louis' fearsome reputation for kayoing return-bout opponents. And the Champ, though he admits he has lost some of his speed, insists he still hits as hard as ever.

Walcott May Surprise

There has been a lot of talk of a Walcott surprise, but the ringwise say he'll fight the same kind of fight that almost won late last year. Only this time he will have the added confidence gained from knowing that he twice knocked down the champ.

Those two knockdowns by Walcott in the first and fourth rounds made the first bout. Never was Louis able to lash out with his old punching power. The customers are coming back this time because they could not believe what they saw.

If it is true that Louis is finished, they want to be in on the kill. If Walcott—the ageless New Jersey father whose friends say he's closer to 40 than the 34 he admits—can win, they want to be able to say "I was there."

And Uncle Mike Jacobs still thinks he will get more than 50,000 fans into Yankee Stadium tonight, though he's given up hopes of a $1,000,000-gate due to the poor weather prospects.

Louis, who has earned more than $3,000,000 with his fists, will take 40 per cent of the gate —expected to be between $240,000 and $275,000. Walcott will get just half that with 20 per cent. Both also will share extra cash from radio, television and movies.

Champion Eleven Years Today, Louis Holds Longevity Record

New York, June 23 (AP)—Joe Louis holds the distinction of having been heavyweight boxing champion of the world for longer than any other man.

His 24 fights as champion, not counting the second match with Jersey Joe Walcott, nor the time he won the title from Jim Braddock, equal the title appearances of all the heavyweight champions from 1913 until Louis took over in 1937.

When he steps into the ring against Walcott, Louis will have been champion for 11 years and a day.

The next longest reign, that of John L. Sullivan, lasted from Feb. 7, 1882, to Sept. 7, 1892.

At his peak in the late '30s, Louis could paralyze a man with a single punch, and he was a terrific finisher. The blow with which he broke up Paulino Uzcudun, the durable Basque, late in 1935 still is recalled by many witnesses as perhaps the most terrible single smash in ring history.

The dark destroyer's only weakness — if, indeed, it could be called that — was a slight susceptibility to right-hand clouts on the jaw. Max Schmeling stopped him in 12 rounds back in '36, a year before Louis won the title.

They All Paid Later

Tony Galento, the fat New Jersey barkeep, had Joe down once in their memorable scrap in '39, and Buddy Baer slugged the champ through the ropes in '41. Even Tami Mauriello, a mediocre heavy, staggered him at the outset of their bout after the war and Walcott dropped Joe twice in their first meeting in the Garden last December.

Schmeling paid for his indiscretion the second time around. The big Negro gave the German such a fearful beating in the first round of their return in '38 that Schmeling was in hospital for a week.

Galento, Baer and Mauriello all paid much quicker. Each of them went out for keeps almost before he had time to savor the thrill of having belted Louis.

When he entered the army in January, 1942, there wasn't a real challenger in sight except Billy Conn, the Pittsburgh boxing artist who had given Louis a rousing evening before being knocked out in the 13th in June of '41.

They clashed in the first great post-war heavyweight classic. But the fight did not supply an answer as to whether Louis had "slipped."

Louis, born May 13, 1914, near Lafayette, Ala., knocked out Jim Braddock in the eighth round at Chicago on June 22, 1937, to win the crown. He had been fighting as a professional a little less than three years.

Joe was the seventh of eight children. His father, Munn Barrow, died when Joe was two. His mother, Lily Barrow, soon moved to Detroit and remarried, and it was there that Joe began boxing.

He had his first bout as an amateur at 18, and before he turned pro he knocked out 43 of 54 opponents. He won seven bouts by decision and lost only four while a simon-pure. In April, 1934 he won the National A. A. U. 175-pound title at St. Louis, and the following July he took out his professional licence.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

Opponents in bridge will sometimes nudge you into a contract that is higher than you intended to go. And you can often make it with the right play. As is this deal:

NORTH
♠Q 2
♥9 7 6 3 2
♦9 8 7 2
♣K 2

WEST
♠3
♥Q J 10
♦A Q J 6 5 4
♣Q 10 3

EAST
♠J 9 8
♥A K 8 5 4
♦K 10 3
♣J 4

SOUTH
♠A K 10 7 6 5 4
♥None
♦None
♣A 9 8 7 6 5

Suppose west and east made no bids. Bidding goes like this:

South	North
2 S	2 NT
3 C	3 NT
4 C	4 S
4 NT	5 C
5 NT	6 D
6 S	Pass

An opening of two in a suit is forcing to game. Whether partner has something or nothing, he is obliged to keep the bidding alive. And he continues to do so until at least a game is reached.

If he lacks a sure trick (ace or K Q) his first response is two notrump. And if he has a biddable suit or support he does not show it until the next or a later round.

Thus, the first two replies by north deny a sure trick as well as adequate support for either bid suit. When requested to show a choice by rebids, he shows his preference with four spades.

Answering four and five notrump, his replies of five clubs and six diamonds are ace and king signals. As south had long since made plans to go six spades, these two rounds made no difference.

It so happens, however, that west and east are bidding, too. In fact, they went to seven diamonds for an intended sacrifice. But south decided to try seven spades.

The opening lead from west was a heart. No doubt you can see how south took his 13 tricks. There they are.

The Movie Column

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood, June 23 — (AP) — Melvyn Douglas, the suave gentleman of the screen, tackled the daring task of picking Hollywood's most sophisticated women and came up with only four choices:

Greta Garbo, Dorothy McGuire, Myrna Loy and Katharine Hepburn.

Says Douglas: "Much of what passes in Hollywood for sophistication just ain't. Wisecrackers and smart alecs aren't sophisticates, and with women that goes double." He added that Garbo, Loy and Hepburn are "as subtle as good wine and stimulating as a cold shower." McGuire, said he gives you the feeling she's worldly without being bored.

Quinte Beverage And Moose Lodge Win at Softball

In a Commercial Softball League double header at the Alemite Field Tuesday evening the Moose Lodge broke into the win column with a 9-5 victory over the Bell Telephone while the Quinte Dry Beverage squad laced the American Optical nine 24-6 in the nightcap.

The Moose scored twice in the third on no hits. Paul Temple beat out a dropped third strike and advanced to third on dropped balls. Galpin and Bellis struck out and Bob Temple walked, and promptly stole second. Vince Murray hit one to the left fielder who bobbled as the two runs scored.

The Telephones came back in the bottom of the third to score two runs on two walks and Ross' triple to deep right field. The Moose counted five more runs in the fourth on two walks, two hits and two errors and they were never headed. They gathered in another tally in the fifth on four hits, one of them a double. Prout led off the fifth with a double, followed by F. Murray with a single. As Murray stole second the third baseman faked a throw and tagged Prout who broke for the plate. Pigeon and Temple singled to score Murray. S. Galpin hit one to deep right field which was taken by Ricketts who threw a perfect strike to the plate to nail Pigeon as he slid in.

A fielder's choice, a stolen base and a catcher's error counted another run for the Moose in the sixth.

Bells Threaten

The Bells threatened to start a rally in the sixth as the first four batters got to first safely. The pitcher bore down though, striking out one and forcing the others out short to first and third to first. Three Telephone runs counted but they would have had a fourth had their base running been better.

Galpin on the mound for the winners, struck out seven, walked four, and gave up eight hits for five runs over the route. Reid, hurling for the losers, walked three, struck out seven and gave up eight hits for nine runs in seven innings.

Lop-Sided Victory

In the nightcap the Quinte Dry Beverage nine clubbed the American Optical crew to rack up a lop-sided 24-6 victory for their third success of the campaign. It was the third loss for the Opticals.

The Opticals opened strongly scoring two runs in the first inning on a single, a fielder's choice and an error. The Beverages got one of these runs back in their half of the first as Reid, who singled, came in on Day's double to right field.

The Opticals scored two more in the top of the second on two walks and a sacrifice. Williamson walked and was squeezed to second by Rawson's well laid bunt, advancing to third on a wild pitch. Anderson walked, Williamson was trapped between home and third. He scored and Anderson went all the way to third during the confusion, scoring as Harris was thrown out second to first.

The Beverages went to work in their end of the second rolling up five runs on a walk, two errors and a home run by Day. They counted two more in the third as Wright walked and Nolan homered. Six runs rolled over in the fourth as the Beverages batted around on four hits and three errors. The Quinte Dry poured ten counters across in the fifth as thirteen batters came to the plate. Two walks, two errors and five hits, two of them homers by Whiting and Day, resulted in the scoring landslide.

The Opticals briefly showed some life in the sixth as they scored two runs on a single, double and triple.

Harris Relieved

Dracup relieved Harris on the Optical mound in the bottom of the sixth and allowed one run as he walked four and struck out three.

The Beverages fattened their batting averages handsomely at the expense of the luckless Harris with Day leading the parade with four for five, one of them a double and another a homer. Whiting connected for 2 homers and a single in five trips, and Nolan homered and doubled in three official trips.

Wright, on the mound for the winners, coasted to an easy win striking out three, walking three and giving up five hits for six runs over the distance, Harris started for the Optical and in six innings he walked seven, struck out four and allowed 13 hits for 23 runs. Dracup hurled one inning in relief walking in one run and striking out three.

The line ups:

American Optical — Shore ss, Peever cf, Woods 3b, Young c, Weaver lf, Williamson 1b, Rawson 2b, Anderson rf, Harris relieved by Dracup p.

Junior Canadian Hockey Coach Resigns Post

(By The Canadian Press)

Harry Neil resigned as coach of the Winnipeg Junior Canadien hockey club Tuesday night. He said he was quitting to avoid straining relations between the junior Canadiens and their parent Montreal Canadien pro club, which had voiced strong objections to his appointment at the end of last year's puck term.

Neil's appointment after Hoss Nicholson, 1947-48 coach, was fired by letter did not find favor with Montreal's Manitoba scout Spud Russell. Russell was upheld by Canadien General-Manager Frank Selke. Present coaching plans of the junior Canucks are unknown.

URANIUM DEPOSITS IN LAC LA ROUGE

Prospector William Richardson, above, and his partner, Len McArthur, both of Toronto, are co-discoverers of what are believed to be uranium deposits in the Lac la Rouge area in northern Saskatchewan. Prospectors, armed with an ingenious gadget called the Geiger Counter which detects the presence of radioactivity, are swarming into the area in wake of the find described as having "the earmarks of being a fantastic strike." Richardson is shown with earphone clamped to his head as he listens to the stacatto click of the Geiger Counter as he brings a piece of radioactive ore near the instrument. Results of tests conducted by the National Research council at Ottawa are not known at this writing, but an Ottawa spokesman said the strike may prove to be the first big find since prospecting was thrown open to the public several months ago.

Party Leaders Sitting Back To Await Returns

Regina, June 23 (CP)—Speeches all over, campaigning all wound up, party leaders in Saskatchewan are sitting back today with nothing to do but wait for tomorrow's returns.

Several thousand ballots already have been cast. Recent legislation enabled many more people to vote in the advance poll and Returning Officers report a record vote.

Tuesday night—the final opportunity for political campaigning—C.C.F. Leader M. J. Coldwell and Premier T. C. Douglas spoke at Regina. For the Liberals, Agriculture Minister James Gardiner spoke at Southey and Provincial Leader Walter Tucker spoke at Saskatoon.

Mr. Coldwell told a boisterous audience in the provincial capital that "Saskatchewan's C. C. F. government has provided the province with its best government and the best in Canada." He spoke in support of Labor Minister C. C. Williams and Provincial Treasurer C. M. Fines.

Mr. Gardiner, speaking in support of his son, Wilfred Gardiner, Liberal candidate for Last Mountain constituency, said that if the privy council were to reject the decision of the Supreme Court of Canada and permit the Saskatchewan Farm Security Act to remain on the statute books as originally drafted, farmers would likely have to pay six-per-cent interest on borrowings from the Farm Loan Board.

Walter Tucker, who found several hecklers in his Saskatoon audience, said similar methods had been used at several of his meetings throughout the province "in an effort by the C.C.F. to beat down the opposition."

"When the people are so desperate that they not only permit but I imagine encourage their employees to do this sort of thing, then we're pretty close to certain European dictatorships."

Centenary

Centenary—The rain on Thursday was welcome, the gardens and berries will benefit greatly.

Miss Lois Sutherland is giving a miscellaneous shower on Friday evening, the guest of honor is Miss Doris Aikins, who is being married on Saturday, June 26th in Centenary Church.

YOUNG PEOPLE TO MEET

Ottawa, June 23 — (CP) — A province - wide conference of Presbyterian Young People will be held in Ottawa this fall, Rev. James Ritchie, Moderator of the Presbyterian Church, announced Tuesday night. Rev. Ritchie presided at a joint meeting of the Ottawa Presbytery and the Presbyterial Women's Missionary Society at nearby Vernon, Ont.

Have you $10.00 in UNITED STATES Money?

● Existing regulations make it illegal for any Canadian resident to retain in his possession more than $10 in United States cash.

● You are required to turn in to your bank, for exchange into Canadian money, any amount you have in excess of $10 in United States funds, without delay.

THERE'S A REASON

● The reason is that Canada must have the U.S. dollars spent here by tourists, in order to make them available for the payment of imported goods and services needed to keep production and employment at a high level.

Little Benny's Note Book

By LEE PAPE

Ma got a letter from Ant Fanny, and she was reeding at breakfast, saying to pop, Well, of all unheard surprises. Really, William, I mean really, a child could nock me over with a feather, she said.

What's the big news? pop said, and ma said, Tiffany Parks is married. Why, I never heard anything so rediculuss, I mean it's preposteriss. Tiffany Parks is the town's proverbial batcheler, she said.

How can he be, if he's married? pop said, and ma said, That's just it, he has no rite to be married. He was such a fussy old maid he'd suffer agonies at the site of a little mis-placed dust, and he's been known to chase a moth in a perfect frenzy from one end of the house to the other Tiffany Parks would no more think of marrying than flying to the moon, so the woman who trapped him must be a contriving scheemer without a conscience or a scruple, she said.

Dont take sutch a gloomy view pop said. He's probably having the time of his life picking up after some slouch of a woman and shaking the cracker crumbs out of her bed. I'll bet he's found the perfect outlet for his maternal instincts, he said and ma said Now William the poor man has been brazenly victimized, I'm sure of it. I should know is anybody should, she said.

Why should you, for peet sake? pop said, and ma said, Because when Tiffany was a normal young fellow, fond of outdoor sports and indoor sentiment he made me a sollem vow that if I didn't marry him he would live out his frustrated batcheler days true to my memory. So I'm sure he's the victim of undue influence and he'll never be happy though naturelly I wish him the best of luck, and I'd even injoy sending him a slite wedding present just to show I don't harbor any resentment, ma said.

Yee gods, send him a pair of hand painted fly swatters, pop pop said.

SEVEN NOMINATED BY REPUBLICAN CONVENTION

Nine Are Injured As New Dockside Brawls Break Out

Five C.L.S.U. Men Beaten With Clubs and Iron Bars

By The Canadian Press

Nine men were injured today as the Canadian Seamen's Union (T.L.C.) battle for recognition by four lake shipping companies broke out in new dockside brawls.

Five men, beaten at Welland with clubs and iron bars, were taken to hospital. At Montreal four men were injured when C. S. U. members boarded the Canada Steamship Lines vessel Kinmount and engaged in a fist fight with the crew.

The C.S.U. is attempting to force four Great Lakes shipping companies—C.S.L., Sarnia Steamships, Colonial Steamships, and Northwest Steamships—to sign a working agreement. The C.S.U. has been named official bargaining agent for the companies' crews. The companies, however, decline to deal with the union, charging it is Communist led. Instead they have signed a contract with the rival Independent Canadian Lake Seamen's Union. Transit Tankers and Terminals Limited, a fifth company involved in the dispute, was virtually removed from the picture when Canadian Commercial Carriers Ltd., took over operation of three of the companies four vessels. The C.S.U. recently signed a contract with C.C.C.L.

Jeer And Threw Eggs

The Montreal boarding party was said to be part of the crew of the Montreal shipping company's Mont Sandra. They jeered and threw eggs at the Kinmount, manned by C.L.S.U. members, as it docked shortly before midnight.

All was quiet for a while. Then, as some of the Kinmount crew went ashore, the C.S.U. men swarmed aboard and the fight began. When police arrived the boarding party had dispersed. No arrests were made. None of the four injured was in serious condition.

At Welland five C.L.S.U. men suffered serious skull injuries when attacked in a truck, nine miles west of the town, by men believed to be C.S.U. members of the crew of the strikebound Joseph P. Burke of Sarnia Steamships.

The truckload of seamen had stopped to get directions when they were attacked by a group of 10 seamen armed with clubs and iron bars. Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers and Provincial Police arrived shortly after the fight and collected the injured from surrounding fields and ditches. Ten men were arrested.

Ten Arrested

The five taken to hospital were Clodimir Beaudoin, 32, Montreal; Rolland Deseve, 23, Montreal; Marcel Deseve, 19, Montreal; Jean Robillard, 18, Montreal; Daniel Petresque, Mimico.

Provincial Police said charges of assault will be laid against the 10 arrested men: Kenneth Bain, 17, Owen Sound; Leslie Cummings, 30, Sarnia; Leonard Cummings, 25, Sarnia; Fred Bennett, Conception Bay, Newfoundland; Cyril Scott, 28, Sombra; Leo St. Laurent, 22, Quebec; James Mombourquette, 21, Sydney, N.S.; Bob Ashworth, 20,

BEEF PRICES DROP AFTER RETAIL SALES SLACKEN

10 Cents a Pound Cut Seen in Toronto and Due to Buyer's Resistance

By The Canadian Press

The housewife in Central Canada today could purchase a roast of beef without first mortgaging the family homestead.

Beef prices dropped Wednesday as much as 10 cents a pound in Toronto and about seven cents in Ottawa and Montreal. Buyer resistance in the face of the 80-cents-a-pound steak prices of the last three weeks got credit for the break.

Toronto dealers said prices might go still lower. The initial reduction left round steak at 65 cents a pound, sirloin and wing steaks at 69.

The lower-price trend, although not as sharp, also developed in Western Canada. Winnipeg prices were down two to four cents a pound and most lines of beef sold at 65 cents. Retail sales lagged.

Choice cuts of beef filled Calgary storage lockers. Trading was dull in the livestock yards but retail prices held.

Events which led to the price break in Toronto were typical of those elsewhere in Central Canada. Dealers gave this account of developments:

Rumors that the ban on export of Canadian cattle to the United States led farmers to hold their cattle in hope of higher prices in both the export and domestic market. A temporary scarcity of beef resulted and prices rose. Consumers rebelled and stopped buying beef.

A glut of 3,500 cattle accumulated in the Toronto stockyards. Wholesale prices fell as much as $3.75 a hundredweight from last week's high of $24.50. Retailers marked down their steaks.

Men in the meat trade say that if the barriers are lifted— the Commons was told Wednesday that the government is negotiating for removal of the embargo— prices probably will rise again once surplus cattle start to cross the border.

Fight Weather

New York, June 24. (CP)— A bright sun burned its way through a heavy morning overcast today and indications were that the Joe Louis-Jersey Joe Walcott fight would go as scheduled at 10 p.m. E.D.T.

The fight, to be held in Yankee Stadium was postponed 24 hours Wednesday because of rains.

The weather bureau forecast for tonight was widely scattered showers and temperatures in the low 50s.

The 15-round engagement will be Louis' 25th title defence and, he says, his last fight.

If washed out a second time, the bout would be staged Friday.

AIR FORCE RECRUITING

North Bay, June 24 — (CP)— An air force recruiting centre for Northern Ontario may be established in North Bay. Whether such an establishment is created will depend on the results of a survey of the recruiting potential on Northern Ontario now being conducted by two air force officers.

Weather Synopsis

Cooler air from the west and northwest is rapidly displacing the humid tropical air which surged north over much of Ontario Wednesday. Cloudy conditions are expected in the cooler air today but little more than afternoon cloudiness is expected for Friday.

Goldeye, Goodwill Ambassador, Coming Back into Swim of Things

By DOUGLAS GREEN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Winnipeg, June 24 — (CP) — One of Canada's best ambassadors of goodwill is coming back into the swim of things.

Scientists know him as Amphiodon Alosoides. To gourmets he's a delight; they brave the somehow reproachful glare of a prominent eye ringed with gold when he appears on a plate.

He's the tasty goldeye. Menus usually list him under the trade name of "Winnipeg Goldeye," for the fish first was processed, dyed and smoked in a Winnipeg plant.

Goldeyes are widely but spottily distributed. They've been found as far south as Louisiana, as far north as the North West Territories, and in Ontario, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Manitoba's lakes are the principal source.

The catch has shown wide variations. In 1947, 78,800 pounds were taken in Manitoba. The 1936 catch was 541,000 pounds. The Saskatchewan catch varied from 4,000 pounds in 1938 to 19,300 in 1943.

Meantime, Lake Claire in the Wood Buffalo National Park area of northern Alberta, 500 miles north of Edmonton, has been opened to commercial fishermen for goldeye under the jurisdiction of the National Parks Board.

The lake has been fished since June 1, with an experimental quota of 250,000 pounds for the June 1 - July 15 seasons. If studies show that the lake is being under-or-over-fished, the quota will be adjusted accordingly.

SIX OF FAMILY DROWNED IN CAR CAUGHT IN FLOOD

3,000 Are Homeless In Oklahoma Floods

Oklahoma City, June 24 (AP) —For the fifth straight day, an army of rain clouds fought a violent and deadly weather war over Oklahoma.

In the drowned flatlands below, rescue workers already counted nine dead and nearly 3,000 homeless.

All the deaths so far are at Hydro, in the west central sector, where Deer Creek rose in a flash flood Tuesday night and sprang a five-mile death trap along United States 55 Transcontinental highway.

A Grey Hound bus and more than 50 cars and trucks were trapped in a wall of water that rose swiftly to 12 feet where the creek winds across the highway four times.

Six dead were taken from one car, the bodies of two other motorists were found where the waters swept them, and the ninth victim was a Negro bus passenger who drowned in the dark while trying to swim to safety.

The six dead in the one car were all from a single family. They included Wilson Friesen, 42; his sister-in-law, Mrs. Harvey Friesen, 39; her two children, Carol, eight, and Jimmy, five, and his sister, Mrs. E. J. Rogalsky, and her son, Lowell Dean, three.

Another child from the same car, one-year-old Gary Friesen, is missing.

Set Guard About Yugoslav Ship During Loading

Montreal, June 23 (CP) —The Yugoslav cargo-passenger ship Radnik docked today and Federal authorities placed a heavy guard around her as she began loading the personal effects of 500 Yugoslav-Canadians returning to their homeland Friday.

An official at the customs collector's office said the reasons for the guard "should be obvious" but he did not elaborate.

One returning Slav Martin Naglich of Val D'or will sail Friday minus $1,700 of his worldly possessions.

The Income Tax Department when they learned Naglich planned to sail on the ship, clipped that amount out of the $8,000 the northern Quebec butcher had in the bank. Provincial Police said it was for payment of back income tax.

They also seized two revolvers and the bullets which they found in his possession.

REPORT ADOPTED

Windsor, June 24 (CP)— The Essex County Council has adopted an equalized assessment report on a 13-11 division. Several members at Wednesday's meeting said they could not commit their municipalities to accept it and asked the report be laid over until today for further study.

The equalization assessment for 1948 on which 1949 taxes would be based is $66,166,505. Municipalities objecting to it may file an appeal.

'Russians Cannot Drive Us Out of Berlin by Any Act Short of War'--General Clay

By EDWIN SHANKE

Berlin, June 24. (AP)— Gen. Lucius Clay said today that the Russians "cannot drive us out of Berlin by any action short of war."

This morning by the American military governor, made at Heidelberg, came as the Russians tightened their squeeze on Berlin today. They cut off electric power to the western Allies' sectors of the city and halted all food shipments on rail lines running from Western Germany.

Clay said the latest moves of the Russians indicate they "are trying to put on the final pressure to drive us out of Berlin."

The official Russian German Communist press demanded anew that the western Allies quit the city.

The Berlin power shut down affected the British, United States and French zones. The only areas spared were those where hospitals or other important public institutions are located.

Reports from the French sector said water service was being disturbed there.

"Unfortunately," Clay added, "the only way they can put on pressure is to make the Germans suffer."

By this he referred to the Russian squeeze on transport.

Clay estimated Berliners had supplies for no more than a couple of weeks. He praised the German administration in Berlin saying it gave "a pretty high example of leadership" during the crisis.

Clay said he had no plans for cutting off water and power to parts of the Russian zone supplied from the American area state of Bavaria. He said, too, that the western sectors of Berlin had enough water supplies of their own, and that they could supply about half the normal power consumption of the area.

The Russians and German Communists threatened economic reprisals against any of the 3,400,000 Berliners who accept the western Allies' new currency. The Russians have decreed the currency illegal and ordered use of their own new money for the entire city.

When conversion begins in western Berlin tomorrow a German who turns in his old money for the new Deutsche mark must accept a stamp on his personal identification papers to prevent repeating conversions.

The Russian radio urged residents of western Berlin to go into the Soviet sector for the new Russian stamped currency being issued today, and to disregard the western conversion tomorrow.

The power cut-off will not affect most newspapers in the western sector because they have their own emergency power plants. The freight stoppage if continued will create new spring supply difficulties.

The power first was reported off in Zehlendorf, a Berlin district where many United States army installations and billets are situated.

The current in Templehof, another borough in the American sector, had its power snapped off at about the same time and then similar current cutoffs were reported from other parts of the western zones.

The Russians also announced they were stopping railway traffic to the western sectors from western Germany. This cut off daily deliveries of about 2,000 tons of food for some 2,000,000 persons in west Berlin. It also halted coal shipments.

The United States constabulary patrolled the American sector in armored cars and jeeps with mounted machine-guns. Col. R. A. Willard, Berlin post commander, called this a precaution against "possible unrest." He said no disorders had been reported in the sector.

The Western Powers started a currency reform, introducing a new "deutsche mark," in their occupation zones of Germany last Sunday. It did not include Berlin.

Wednesday the Russians decreed a new currency — the old mark with a Russian stamp — for their occupation zone and Berlin. The Western Allies voided this decree and ordered the deutsche mark issued in their sectors of the city.

Early today the Russians announced they were "forced" to suspend railway traffic on the 100-mile line from Western Germany to Berlin because of an unspecified "technical disturbance."

London — (Reuters) — A Foreign Office spokesman today described press reports that Russian authorities had placed barrage balloons between Berlin and the frontiers of the western zones of Germany as "completely unfounded and totally untrue."

He warned against a probable "spate of wild rumors" about the situation in Berlin, which he described as "serious" but not worse than that.

The Foreign Office is watching the situation closely, he added.

Berlin, June 24. (Reuters) — British military authorities banned today all shipments of coal, steel and other supplies from the British to the Soviet zone of Germany.

Separate East German Govt. Said Planned By Russia, Satellites

Warsaw, June 24 (AP)— The Foreign Ministers of Russia and seven satellite countries were reliably reported today to be putting the finishing touches to plans to set up a separate government in eastern Germany.

One conference observer said that would be their most likely answer to the western Allies' proposed federalization of western Germany.

This source added, however, that Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov of Russia and his colleagues probably would go one step further than the western powers.

If a separate government is set up, he said, it still, in the opinion of Russia and her neighbors, would be a government aimed at German unity.

Leipzig has been mentioned as a government centre.

Conference observers who cannot be named said the eastern countries would declare any government formed to be open to all Germans.

German Communist leader Wilhelm Pieck was reported attending the conference.

Polish Foreign Minister Zygmunt Modzielewski presided at the conference. The government-controlled Polish press said the parley's slogan was "in the name of peace."

Modzielewski advanced Poland's view that:

1. The recommendations of the recent London six-power conference on Germany would contribute to "the formation of a new centre of aggression."

2. The western Allies' move to centralize western Germany, threatened European peace and security.

3. The western plan for German reconstruction violated a United States pledge not to give Germany priority in reconstruction over "Europe and democratic countries."

Besides Russia, Hungary, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria, Albania and Poland are represented in the conference in suburban Willanow Palace. It began Wednesday. It probably will last through tomorrow.

MEMBERS ATTACK POWERS SOUGHT BY GOVERNMENT

Penalties on Income Tax Arrears Criticized

Ottawa, June 24 (CP)—Powers sought by the government to deal with income tax delinquents and evaders were attacked in the Commons Wednesday by opposition speakers.

The members, studying a 131-clause bill that will replace the present income war tax act, concentrated most of their criticism on sections dealing with interest penalties on income tax arrears and with possible tax evasions.

At present, the penalty is four per cent on arrears unpaid prior to receipt of an income tax assessment from the Revenue Department. The penalty increases to seven per cent on arrears unpaid after assessment.

E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops) sought to have these rates maintained rather than implement proposed new rates of six and seven per cent. His amendment was ruled out of order on the grounds that it would upset government revenues. In a division on the ruling, Deputy Speaker Ross Macdonald was upheld 85 to 63.

Finance Minister Abbott said experience has shown that the present penalty rate is too low. Until receipt of their assessment delinquents were paying only four per cent on money owed the government.

Study of all sections was completed, but adoption was postponed until today at the request of the opposition.

Lake Freighters Collide and Two Sailors Killed

Houghton, Mich., June 24 (AP) —Two sailors were killed and three others injured early Wednesday when two lake freighters collided in a thick fog on Lake Superior, 30 miles northwest of the Portage ship canal.

Coast Guard officers said all the casualties were crew members of the S. S. J. P. Morgan Jr. of the Pittsburgh Steamship Company. The second vessel was the S. S. Crete of the Pickand, Mather Fleet.

Killed in the crash were: John Pekkala, 60, Cassel, Mich., a wheelsman, and Duane Strand, 18, of Willmar, Minn.

The Morgan was downbound from Duluth to Cleveland with 12,000 tons of iron ore. The Crete was upbound from Cleveland to Duluth with no cargo.

Finds He Slept On Chief's Lawn

Toronto, June 24 (CP) — John McMillan, Toronto chimney sweep, has a pretty red face to-

Looking for a place to sleep one night, McMillan chose the base of a lilac tree on the front lawn of a suburban Brampton home. The next morning, as police aroused him from his slumber he discovered he had been sleeping on the police chief's front lawn.

McMillan shamefacedly said it was all a mistake — he was actually looking for a room to spend the night. Besides he was a stranger to town and didn't know his way around. The smiling Judge dismissed the charge of vagrancy facing McMillan.

Boy of Sixteen Dies as Hero, Saves Lad, Tries to Save Others

Gore Bay, June 24 — (CP) — Elmer Gordon, 16, died a hero's death near here Wednesday when he saved the life of 10-year-old Loyale McDougall as fire raged through the two-storey general store and post-office of Neil McDougall.

The two boys were sleeping in the same second-storey bedroom when Elmer, awakened by the fire, lead the younger lad to the window and told him to jump.

Loyale told his parents the youth then turned back into the flames to help other members of and fall.

Elmer's charred body was found today in the embers near what had been a window on the far side of the house. Identification was made definite by a wrist watch Elmer always wore.

Mrs. McDougall and two other small children escaped by a rear window.

The Gore Bay fire truck was hampered by lack of water in the small Manitoulin Island community. The frame structure smoldered for hours before a search could be made for the Delegates Start Balloting Today, Dewey Favored

Four Given Tumultuous Applause When Nominated

Philadelphia, June 24 (CP) — Today the Republican national convention turned from ballyhoo to ballots.

Six hours and 42 minutes of flaming oratory and flamboyant carnival ended at 4:02 a.m. EDT when the party had put in nomination the names of seven men who are anxious or willing to run as Republican candidate for President in the Nov. 2 national elections.

A 2 p.m. EDT today the weary delegates will return to the convention hall to vote and it was still toss-up between Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Others in nomination were Harold Stassen, youngest of the group and former Governor of Minnesota, Senator Raymond Baldwin of Connecticut and general of the armies Douglas MacArthur of Wisconsin, supreme commander of the Allied forces in the Pacific.

The end came when shortly before 4 a.m. today the thin and worn hero of Bataan and Corregidor, Gen. Jonathan (Skinny) Wainwright, put in the name of the last candidate, his comrade in glorious victory, and commander Gen. MacArthur.

A few minutes of feeble demonstration put on by the eight Wisconsin delegates and their aides who are supporting MacArthur was interrupted by a motion to adjourn until two this afternoon.

Given Long Applause.

It contrasted sharply with the previous demonstrations when Dewey, Taft, Warren and Stassen were given tumultuous applause of half an hour duration.

If the delegates vote as they cheered it appeared that the contest would be between Dewey, Taft and Stassen in that order.

But anything can happen this afternoon and if three or four ballots fail to reveal a sure winner there may be switches that would bring in Vandenberg or some other compromise.

In any event there was a likelihood that by tonight the country will know the name of the Republican party's choice for President.

Dewey leaders claimed they will reach 500 votes—only 48 short of the nomination—by the second ballot. And with that start, they said, nothing can stop him.

These claims were quickly and vigorously disputed from the other camps.

The opposition's strategy was for each candidate to hold his lines as firmly as possible for two ballots.

This would require co-operation—and it seemed likely to be forthcoming—from such favorite sons as Governor Earl Warren of California and Senators Raymond Baldwin of Connecticut and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts.

BICYCLE TRIP INTERRUPTED

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 24 — (CP) — The Trans-Canada bicycle trip of an adventurous young couple from Toronto will be briefly interrupted here. District scout commissioner I. L. Robertson, also chief of police, announced today that Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jagos will supervise the annual summer camp of the local Cub corps and nearby Pt. Deschenes during the month of July. They will continue their bicycle jaunt to the west coast in August.

Country Doctors Want Association Of Their Own

Toronto, June 24 (CP)—The worried man with the ubiqitous black bag, on call to treat almost every variety of ailment under all sorts of conditions, soon may have his own organization within the Canadian Medical Association.

He's the general practitioner— the country doctor and his colleague in the city. He decided here Wednesday to set up a general practitioners' section in the C.M.A. But whether the organization can be established depends upon the willingness of the C.M.A. to change its constitution.

Dr. J. A. Gillies of Toronto told 150 fellow general practitioners: "We have found arguments against a separate section in Ontario but the specialists have taken care of themselves."

The general practitioner was described by Dr. A. Hollenburg of Winnipeg as the man who maintains "the basis of medical service."

He claimed that some hospitals in Canada are discriminating against patients of the general practitioner by accepting only those of specialists.

"It would appear that the general practitioner is only good enough to sort out the cases outside the hospital. He isn't good enough to treat them inside.

He urged that medical schools set up a chair in general practice to meet the needs of the man who planned a career as a country doctor.

In another phase of the convention's business, Dr. Eustace Morin of Quebec City told a discussion group that many of the 1,400 Canadians released from Japanese prison camps at the end of the war now feel as well as they felt on enlistment. On the other hand, some still showed effects of starvation.

Temporary Relief Given by Storm

Following a sweltering afternoon, Belleville residents had temporary relief from the humid weather yesterday evening when a rather severe electric storm passed over the district. There was a brief downpour of rain during which time .29 inch of rain fell.

Heaviest of the storm swept to the north and east of Belleville and was reported particularly heavy in the Kingston district. No damage from lightning was reported in the immediate Belleville area.

Farmers stated the rain would benefit strawberries while the moisture was also welcomed for the pea crop, the early varieties of which will soon be going to the factory.

13 Holstein Cows Under Tree Killed By Lightning

Kingston, June 24 — (CP) — Damage of several thousand dollars was counted today after Wednesday night's violent electrical storm lashed this Eastern Ontario district.

First heavy loss was reported by farmer Frank Baker who lost 13 Holstein cows valued at $10,000 when lightning struck a tree under which they were taking refuge.

An early survey showed considerable crop damage to crops with cut hay in most cases a total loss. Many vegetable crops were damaged.

It was estimated nearly three inches of rain fell.

Electric lights were out for almost three hours after lightning struck several poles in the centre of the city.

Firemen were called to extinguish a blaze at the Ontario Hospital in adjacent Portsmouth after lightning struck a ventilator motor there. The fire was extinguished quickly with little damage done.

Two Youths Have Enjoyable Way Of Earning Living, Rent Ponies To Children and Take Pictures

Two Hamilton youths have found a novel way to earn their living and enjoy the great outdoors at the same time. They rented Shetland ponies and armed with cameras which they were fortunate enough to own they went about taking pictures of children who thought it was fun to have a ride on a pony.

These youths were spotted on Victoria Avenue this morning and surprisingly enough one of them whose name is Bob Vance has relatives in this area. Bob's father left Belleville as a boy and settled in Manitoba. Bob attended University of Manitoba for a year and a half and plans to go to McMaster University in Hamilton in the fall.

"It's great fun," said Bob, and very profitable. "We do a good job and no one is forced to keep a poor picture."

The other lad was William Buss from Hamilton and he stated that as he was fond of children anyway, he found his job very interesting.

The boys have two ponies, Queenie and Snookie with them in Belleville. At night the ponies are let out on the Fair Grounds to graze. Their main food, they said, was oats and hay with a touch of blue clover and alfalfa for dessert.

Queenie plans to drop her career at the first of August to become a mother. However, her job is being kept open for her. A gentleman by the name of Methusaleh will understudy for her until she is on her feet again.

Hastings County Holstein Club Picnic Success

The farm of Mr. and Mrs. David Hollinger, Oak Lake, provided a picturesque setting Saturday for the annual Hastings County Holstein Club picnic when over 80 breeders, their families and friends, gathered for the event.

In the morning a class of mature cows and a class of Holstein heifers were judged under the direction of Mr. Roy Ormiston, Holstein Fieldman. After the placing of the classes a few were asked to give reasons. Mr. Ormiston then gave the official placing with his reasons. Lunch was served on the lawn; after which various guests and members addressed the gathering.

Highlights of the afternoon was an address by Mr. William Newman, Lorneville. Mr. Newman, a practical farmer and a former member of parliament, pointed out the perseverance with which early breeders in Hastings had striven to make the breed what it is today. He mentioned the Mallorys, the Cookes, and other early breeders, pointing out that present day breeders should also strive to make improvements in their stock.

Ronald Longwell, county president, on behalf of the club, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Hollinger for their hospitality. The afternoon was rounded off with sports and races for the younger people and a ball game under the direction of G. W. Montgomery, Assistant Agricultural Representative.

Counsel Claims Law Cannot Be Applied

Edmonton, June 24 — (CP) — An attack on Alberta's juvenile Offenders' Act, which permits the provincial child welfare superintendent to keep delinquent boys in the Edmonton South Side Detention Home for months at a time, was made Wednesday before the Royal Commission investigating child welfare conditions in the province.

George Steer of Edmonton, counsel for the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire at the commission hearings, who made the attack, said he would argue the province had no right to enact such legislation.

Chief Justice William Howson, commission chairman, said it was his view that the commission could only deal with the conformity or not of the child welfare department policies with provincial legislation.

The question came up while Mr. Steer was questioning Charles B. Hill, provincial child welfare superintendent, late in the session.

Mr. Hill admitted some boys might be kept in the detention homes for months. Mr. Steer wondered how this could be done legally because the Federal Juvenile Act specified speedy disposition of offenders. But the Provincial Act said the court could commit boys to a detention home to wait disposition by the superintendent. Thus they could be kept there indefinitely, at pleasure of the superintendent, Mr. Steer said.

"I think I needn't say any more, Mr. Hill, about this centralized set-up of yours," Mr. Steer said. "The legislation established enormous powers in the hands of the welfare commission."

Mr. Steer said the department has the power to apprehend children without warrants and power to hold them without hearing. Mr. Hill agreed.

Political Strife, Murder Disturb Malay Serenity

London, June 24. (CP)—Murder and political strife, flourishing amid jealousies and economic troubles, disturb the serenity of the federation of Malaya, once Britain's "show colony'.

Freed from the Japanese occupation in 1945 ,the former Malayan states with their wealth of rubber and tin have become one federation. British Colonial policy anticipates that they eventually will reach self-government.

But in recent weeks, in districts where Leftist guerrillas fought the Japanese with valor, there have been at least 13 serious "incidents, including 29 murders. European managers of estates have been special targets of the guerrilla attackers.

Involved disorders include these factors:

The native Malays feel they have not prospered like the enterprising, businesslike Chinese and Indians.

Extremist elements find ready listeners when they say more should be done for the native peoples.

Rubber and tin industries are being restored but prices have risen enormously and a laborer needs three times his previous wage to enjoy pre-war comforts.

Amiable People

Political restlessness, evident through Asia following the war, has disturbed the ancient amiability of the Malayan peoples.

Malcolm MacDonald, former United Kingdom High Commissioner in Canada who now is commissioner-general for the United Kingdom in Southeast Asia, said in a broadcast that an attempt is being made by Communist agitators to establish the rule of gun and knife in Malaya.

The Colonial office announced that Sir Edward Gent, British High Commissioner, had given new powers to Malayan police to restore order. They include the death penalty for unauthorized possession of firearms, ammunition and explosives.

Lt.-Col. David Rees-Williams, Colonial Under Secretary, said in the Commons that Malayan crimes of violence "have their origin in agitation by Extremist elements, who challenge the authority of the government" by fomenting strikes, intimidation and repudiation of conciliation.

Bowlers Enjoy "Jitney", Pot Luck Supper

A highly successful "jitney" was held yesterday at the greens of the local lawn bowling club. Due to the unfavorable weather in the early part of the day the original plan of having two afternoon and one early evening game was altered to two games in all, one in the afternoon and one in the early evening. With 42 members of the club participating the draw was made on the basis of seven games of trebles. Keen competition featured the day's activity with the following players receiving the major prizes. Ladies—Mrs. W. Gilbert, Mrs. Bulger, Mrs. Fever, Mrs. Watkin, Mrs. Price and Mrs. Humphrey. Men—Alf Symons, Tom McMullen, Rev. Don Amos, Charles L. Hyde and Elgin Ford. All of the other players received a minor prize. A pot luck supper featuring strawberry shortcake and ice cream was served at the clubhouse between games. This was in charge of Mrs. J. Legault, ladies house committee chairman. The making of the playing draw, compilation of scores and distribution of prizes was in charge of Gerald Hyde, Chairman of Jitneys, and his committee. The day was voted by all to have been a fine success and well worth repeating at a later date.

Dr. Bruce Cronk Among 5 M.D.'s Going to Arctic

Five medical men from Queen's University will leave Kingston July 1 for Southampton Island, at the mouth of Hudson's Bay to continue a study begun last year of the physical nutritional and dietary habits of the Eskimo.

Dr. Malcolm Brown, associate professor of Medicine at Queen's, will head the group on its eight-week survey in the Northwest Territories. With him will be Dr. Fred de Sinner, recently appointed to Queen's medical staff, from Switzerland; Dr. Bruce Cronk, a former Queen's football star from Belleville, and two fifth year medical students; James Gibbons of Smiths Falls and John Green, of Burgessville.

The scientific expedition will fly first to Winnipeg, from either Trenton or Rockcliffe airports, together with their equipment, with RCAF planes. After a brief stopover at Winnipeg for provisioning, they will fly to Southampton Island.

Scientific equipment for the trip apart from food and clothing will weigh over 3,300 pounds, and includes a portable X-ray machine. Much of it will be borrowed from the Canadian Army, while a few pieces have been developed by members of the group in laboratories at Queen's.

At Southampton Island the Arctic expedition will live and work in abandoned United States hutments. The island was used by the United tSates Army Airforce during the war as a base for supplying lend lease goods to Russia.

Members of last year's expedition—which was one of the earliest groups to travel north of Hudson's Bay for medical studies with the Eskimos—reported that Southampton Island is cold and barren. The weather there in July they said, is similar to that of southern Canada in late November.

"In the daytime there is generally a biting wind which necessitates the wearing of parkas, battle-dress, and other heavy clothing. There are frequent snow flurries and chilling cold snaps in the evening. There is almost always a thin scum of ice on the lakes and waters every morning," the members said.

Approximately 230 aborigines live on Southampton Island. They have a variety of ailments and conditions which, the medical men hope, will provide valuable data to the field of medicine and pathology.

Dr. Dennis Jordan, the famous Toronto surgeon, first thought of the idea of an expedition when he made several trips to the Arctic with the Hudson Bay Company's supply ship. His Alma Matter, Queen's, accepted his suggestion and sent the first expedition there last summer.

Toronto, June 24 — (CP)—Toronto policeman, Earl Parsons, suffered severe facial gashes in a fight outside a midtown (Yonge Street) hotel today. John Neal, 20, and his sister, Mrs. Norman Dika, 22, were arrested following the fracas.

Mortgage Burning Will be Part Of Special Service

Sunday, June 27, marks another step in the progress of Grace Chapel, which was first known as Evangel Temple and held service at Bridge and Coleman Streets, later moved to the city hall and worshipped in the auditorium until temporary accommodation was secured at Dundas and Newbury Sts.

Rev. E. N. Kulbeck, now in Montreal, pastored for some time and was later followed by Rev. B. Bullock, now at Alton, N. Y. The present pastor Rev. Ernest A. J. Wicks came in the fall of 1943. The present building was dedicated on June 1943 — progress has been continuous, its ministry and influence going out far and wide.

The congregation has been the Belleville Assembly, affiliated with the Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada for a number of years. A fellowship is affiliated with the large Pentecostal groups throughout the world and at present considered an aggressive member of the fundamental and Evangelical association.

The special anniversary services will be observed throughout the day with a mortgage burning at the afternoon service. The congregation were very fortunate in securing a very well known and interesting speaker for the day in the person of Rev. Harold Horton of London, England, author and teacher, and member of the assemblies of God in Great Britain.

Growth of Noble Organization

One of the agencies at work as a steadying force in these days of change is the Salvation Army, the report of whose activities has recently been issued. To consider the figures and facts presented in it brings the assurance of the abiding benefits of this worldwide organization in behalf of all that is highest and best.

The Army maintains 17,813 corps and outposts with 1,638 social institutions in full-time operation. Among these are shelters, hostels, food depots, hospitals, homes for aged, for children, for unmarried mothers, and receiving homes, homes for the blind, leprosariums, training schools for criminal tribesmen, prison-gate homes and inebriates' homes. In the field of education it is operating 1,078 day schools in various countries and 34 naval and military homes, most of them located at well-known military bases. There are 32,105 full-time officers in the Army. It publishes 111 periodicals with total copies reaching 1,746,274 per issue. In 1947 the number of beds and meals supplied by the Army internationally reached a total of 44,713,485.

In all these fields there is as a result of the devoted efforts of army officers and members an immense humanitarian service, the like of which the world has not seen either in this or any age. The work of the Army is ever on the basis of faith and good works, one of the latter of these being carried on in the prison-gate homes which opened their doors during the year to 1,787 ex-prisoners who remain under Salvation Army influence until they are ready to take their place in society. In that same period 1,885 such men were considered rehabilitated and passed out of the homes as satisfactory.

The Salvation Army stands as a unique organization ready to serve mankind in a world where there are dangers and pitfalls for the unwary.

It lives up to its name in its work of salvation which is its first object, morally, socially and physicially and as an army in the sense of a spiritual organization with all the completeness and efficiency of military forces and in the sense of a plan in life. It is a living army in which service is for time and eternity. It brings out the true, the good and the beautiful and on that basis moulds and builds successful lives which but for it might have become lives of chaos.

The devotion of the officers of the Army is one of the finest manifestations the Army possesses for it assures the permanence of its effort in behalf of men and women and children. A great body of people are banded in this organization to spread the Gospel of life and good will. Everyone knows lives which have been touched to life and usefulness by the ministrations of this great organization which knows human life at so many points.

By its works and its faith the Salvation Army is known and stands among the great living institutions of modern life, serving almost a hundred countries. What it has done has won the reward of praise from all quarters of society. It has given vast numbers of people confidence in themselves and love of righteousness and thereby has merited the confidence of all men and women.

Swimming

Under the Swimming and Water Safety program of the Red Cross last year there were 13,000 instructed in the various classes. To these the training and the success which resulted must have brought a great deal of satisfaction to the members of the classes and to the instructors as well as to the Red Cross Society. That this training has already in a great number of cases borne good fruit in satisfaction in the ability to take care of one'sself in the water and to enjoy the sense of security in being able to swim may be taken for granted. Parents of younger children must have an intense satisfaction in knowing that their sons and daughters are able to take care of themselves in the water and to guard themselves against danger. That this work will continue to grow from year to year is expected.

Ability to swim does not make one reckless. It must rather make the swimmer careful for he or she knows the dangers lurking in certain waters and under certain conditions.

Besides these advantages there is a satisfaction that one may be able, if occasion should arise, to save life.

Last year's work was a success and this year's, the second, should be an even greater success.

In time a much greater number than is the case now should be able to swim and to safeguard themselves and others at bathing beaches or wherever people usually swim.

This is the season when those who swim and many who do not know how to swim take to the water to bathe. Many seasons in the past have been saddened by tragedies in the water. The Red Cross training program is an all-out effort to instruct in swimming and prevent such occurrences.

Swimming is not only one of the most enjoyable of exercises, but it becomes a great art.

To be able to swim brings a laudable pride in triumphing over the natural tendency to sink in water. Those who cannot swim admire those who can. And it is not a secret art. All can attain the skill and increase their facility in swimming.

Canada is fortunate in the great number of bathing places and swimmers do take advantage of many of them in the warm weather.

UN Walks a Beat

"UN Planes Patrol Palestine's Coast." There is a thrill in that headline. It should stir us more deeply than reports of warfare. For here we have an action picture of the world's peace organization going out as an officer of the law to police the peace.

The planes, of course, were only lent by the United States to Count Folke Bernadotte, United Nations mediator, but they symbolize a glorious hope. They are tangible evidence that UN can do one task it was designed to do—stop small wars. They are visible evidence of American support for UN.

The truce in Palestine, which these planes are patrolling, is a UN truce. And it well illustrates what is possible to UN—when the big nations agree. Once Britain and the United States agreed not to supply a war in Palestine, peace became a probability. The moral force of world opinion, supporting the wise negotiations of Count Bernadotte, began to take effect. UN planes —and other small patrol units—as symbols of that moral force have a power far exceeding their physical potential.

Such incidents as the report from Jerusalem telling about Jewish and Arab field commanders meeting and shaking hands in a conference called under the truce indicate what can be hoped for once energies are turned from war to peace. — Christian Science Monitor.

Still the Servant

It might be one of those paradoxes that assure the long and rugged life of Britain's democratic institutions, but it was still quite a performance when the English people supported the House of Lords to make the Labor Government eat one of its own measures.

In the first place the bill to abolish hanging went through by an extremely narrow margin. It was known that public sentiment was sharply divided. Britain was in the midst of an unprecedented crime wave, and there was less sympathy than usual for sentimental "abolitionists."

When the Commons voted to abolish hanging, the Lords jumped on it as an angry shout went up from the people. In England Governments hear those shouts. Members of Parliament are not using empty claptrap when the speak of being servants of the people. They are . . . or else. The bill was withdrawn promptly.—Hamilton Spectator.

JUST FOLKS

FOOTWEAR

Upon heels six inches high
She goes gayly tripping by,
And she shows,
Through her nylon stocking thread,
Painted thickly poppy red,
Her big toes.

Round her ankles, oh so slim!
Is a bit of leather trim,
Tightly clipped.
And the thought occurs to me,
What a tragedy 'twould be
If she slipped.

Man's a brute, beyond a doubt,
But his footwear must be stout,
Black or tan.
Though a woman strusts her legs
On a pair of slender pegs,
Not a man!

He's afraid of catching cold;
Must have shoes of leather soled.
And his toes
Are such ugly things to see,
Which, though fashionable, he Never shows.

The Packsack of Gregory Clark

One of the biggest industries in the country, which spends possibly hundreds of thousands of dollars a year on national advertising, did itself several thousand dollars' worth of damage on a recent public holiday when it allowed its transport department to gum up holiday traffic at its peak.

Apparently one of its big gaudy trucks had broken down a hundred miles away. So the foreman of the transport section sent another big gaudy truck to tow it home. On the ordinary two-lane highway, you never did see such a shemozzle. The highway was packed solid with tired, home-going holiday makers in both directions. And at about twenty-five miles an hour — fifteen on the slopes—the two huge trucks, blazing abroad the highly touted name of the nationally advertised product, labored along mile after mile, creating ill-will in literally tens of thousands of seething consumers. Doubtless it was all the work of a stupid foreman. Doubtless, the president of the corporation, or the vice-president in charge of public relations, would have died of apoplexy if they had been caught in that traffic jam. Possibly the highway police should have ordered them off the highway until the morrow. But they didn't.

In contrast to this, a large brewery has ordered its truck drivers to lend roadside aid to every stalled motorist they encounter on the highways. A great many people are already in good-natured lebt to the brewery for the help given by the drivers.

It is rumored that the brewery drivers get a bonus for every act of courtesy so reported. This may account for the excessive zeal I witnessed the other day, not in the country, but on a city street. An elderly gentleman's little blue beret blew off in the wind onto the roadway. Slam went the brakes of a giant brewery truck. Down jumped the drived, amid the baffled and bewitched traffic. He retrieved the silly little beret and returned it, almost unceremoniously, to the embarassed old gentleman.

Fire Fighters Approve Sale Of Margarine

Ottawa, June 24— (CP)—Delegates to the Ontario Fire Fighters' Federation in convention here Wednesday unanimously approved a resolution opposing restrictions to the sale of oleomargarine.

The resolution declared the price of butter not within the means of the average Canadian family.

However, the fire fighters defeated two other resolutions calling for censoring of working agreements by the provincial secretary before submission to the press.

Both Guelph local 467 and Welland local 481 claimed that without censorship certain clauses would seem to contravene the Fire Departments Act and be of no benefit to the federation in future negotiations.

D. A. Dunlop, delegate from Toronto, opposed the resolutions.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

By
EARL L. DOUGLASS, D.D.

A ROSE-BED.

Man is something more than a creature. He was made in the image of God, and unless he retains that spiritual side of his nature, he is something less than a man.

A friend of mine planted roses on either side of a garden path. But the roses failed to flourish as the gardener had hoped. At first he wondered if perhaps the light was not enough. But he counted the hours of sunshine that fell upon the bad and found that the light was sufficient. So he consulted a specialist in roses to ask for his advice. And this was the answer which the expert gave.

"Your roses have sufficient sunlight. But do you see those trees over there? The roots of the trees reach into this rose-bed and are taking away the nourishment which your roses need."

This is what so often happens to us in this world of ours. We have plenty of light from God. But many things — worthwhile things to be sure, thought not the best — send their roots into our lives and use up all the nourishment which we need for spiritual strength.

If we are to develop into something better than a mere creature, let us beware lest our secular interests overshadow Him who is the Light of the World or prevent the nourishment of our souls which comes from Him who is the Bread of Life.

Check These Tips When Taking Baby On Holiday Trips

Halifax, (CP)—Is your trip home out of the question this summer because of a very junior edition in the family?

A long train trip with a baby can be a miserable affair. But it needn't be.

The Red Cross has seen many little new Canadians across the continent since the war. True, the individual mother can't count on all the facilities used by the Red Cross when handling groups of babies, but she can take a lesson from them in organization and management.

First comes the matter of a parking spot for the youngster. The Red Cross used baskets which Mrs. W. G. Evans, Nova Scotia divisional chairman, calls "carry cots", flat-woven baskets with double handles for carrying. Any basket long enough to hold the baby, fitted with blankets and pillow, makes a safe and comfortable resting-place. It sits on the seat by day without danger of tumbling, and fits at the foot of a lower berth at night.

To make the baby feel completely at home away from home, buy the basket at least a week beforehand and let him sleep in it. A rattle or his favorite bright gew-gaw dangling from the side of the basket will keep him happy while awake.

Even the most modern train has no laundry around the corner for boiling diapers. The one answer is—take enough for the trip. Disposable diapers are a problem-solver; next best is a large supply of disposable liners which can be bought inexpensively. Buy or make a large oilcloth or rubber-lined bag for solid outer diapers.

First Call for Lunch

A smalled waterproof bag can be used for baby's feeding utensils. His lunch time can be made to run smoothly. Ask your doctor well in advance for a formula that calls for dried milk, make sure it agrees with baby and stock up with necessary ingredients.

The formula still has to be mixed—usually with boiling water—so equip yourself accordingly: bottles and nipples, bottle brush, pint-size thermos, teaspoon, small enamel jug and funnel.

Well ahead of baby's feeding time give the thermos to the dining-car steward to be filled with boiling water. Mix the formula and boiling water in the enamel jug with the teaspoon. Pour into the bottle via the funnel. Cool to baby's favorite temperature and you are all ready.

Forethought is the important ingredient in any formula for travelling with a baby. Know what you will need and take it, allowing separate places for clean and soiled clothing, feeding things all together and plenty of diapers—even if you have to manufacture a supply of makeshifts for the trip. Check with your doctor for extras you may need in case of an upset stomach.

With the plans laid well in advance you will be able to relax and enjoy your trip. Baby will be dry, safely fed and cheerful. And your fellow passengers will bow down before you and call you blessed.

BROKEN HEART AND OVERWORK

It is a queston whether "she died of a broken heart" or "he had a complete nervous breakdown from overwork and has never recovered his mind" is the more common aquivocation. The "broken heart" concept dates from the Victorian era of "brain fever" and the swooning of the more refined young ladies on all dramatic occasions. Not that great grief, sorrow, disappointment, loneliness or misfortune is without ill effects on general health. Physiologically any such depressing emotion tends to retard or weaken all bodily functions. But there is on record no case of death from "broken heart" duly certified by qualified physician, medical examiner, autopsy or coroner's jury.

When our kids were in grade school their father, used to have fun writing excuses for them when they were kept out of school. Usually he reported that the child was isolated with the cri. But he never got anywhere that way. The teacher either shrugged her shoulders and forgot it or passed it along to the school nurse, who followed suit and passed it along to the school physician, who shrugged . . . Nobody ever called upon the kid's family doctor to explain what Cri meant, darn it.

Nobody asks me now to explain what "nervous breakdown from overwork" means, and probably no physician or patient who uses or takes the idea seriously will thank me for these comments. But, shucks, if I permitted such considerations to govern what I say here, this would be a dull column.

This too popular notion that a man or a woman may develop one or another form of dementia or heart failure or high blood pressure or apoplexy or almost any grave or fatal progressive disease from sheer "overwork", is as dangerous as it is silly. It is dangerous because it encourages men and women of the Wiseacre class to procrastinate. They fool along (fool themselves, that is) without even undergoing a thorough medical health or physical examination by the family physician (if indeed they have a family physician), forever trying to convince themselves that they'll go to the far-away "clinic" and have a real going-over when and if anything develops. They are confident (as is the healthy young man who doesn't feel the need of life insurance at present) that a good rest will restore their pep, all right, and come next vacation time they're going to get away from it all, relax completely and catch up . . .

It's all hooey, folks. It is plumb silly. Can't you understand that these familiar symptoms or complaints which you attribute to "overwork" are but the early manifestations of degeneration, cardiovascular degeneration—arteriosclerosis, slow heart muscle failure (myocarditis), angina pectoris, coronal, occlusion or thrombosis, apoplexy (stroke of paralysis, hemiplegia), Bright's disease (chronic nephritis — C V D is the title of a booklet about it, available on request if you inclose twenty-five cents and stamped self addressed envelope. Cardio-vascular degeneration is the way most of us go eventually, but why all the rush?

When an "executive", a professional person or a white collar worker takes a vacation, a weekend or an afternoon off he or she should eschew the ballgame, the movies, long rides, bridge, poker and the rocking chair. Instead of sitting around when they should be blowing off steam, these misguided folk ought to do something for recreation — work in the garden, now the lawn, play ball, golf, tennis, skate, hike, swim, ride horseback, bicycle, lawn bowls, pitch horseshoes—anything that calls for physical activity. People who live by thele wits—so-called "mental workers", 'executives", professional men and women, white collar workers, need the relaxation, the rest and the recreation they get playing the game themselves, not the stimulation, excitement, tension they get as spectators, fans or lookers-on while professionals perform for them. For honest, working people, the bleachers, the grandstand, the gallery, the theatre balcony are good recreation.

Convention to Elect Fifth Liberal Chief

Ottawa— (CP) —The national Liberal leader chosen at the party's August convention here will be the fifth since Confederation.

The Liberal party was formed shortly after the Union of Upper and Lower Canada in 1841 by a merger of the Upper Canada Reformers and the Lower Canada Patriotes, often called the Rouges. The merger closed divisions among the Reformers who were variously classed as Whigs, Radicals and Clear Grits.

At the first election after Confederation, George Brown — regarded by many as Liberal leader — was defeated in his constituency. The party, augmented by Liberals from the Maritime provinces, looked around for a leader. Alexander Mackenzie, who was editor of the Lambton Shield and sat for that Ontario county, was chosen.

Mr. Mackenzie's leadership was successful and in 1873 he became prime minister and led his party to victory in the general election of 1874. He remained leader until ill-health forced him to retire five years later. In a few months, Edward Blake, brilliant Toronto lawyer, was chosen to succeed him. He sat for West Durham until he retired in 1887 after his party's defeat in a general election, and Wilfrid (later Sir Wilfrid) Laurier was chosen to succeed him.

Sir Wilfrid remained leader until his death in February, 1919, and a national convention the following August named W. L. Mackenzie King as the new leader.

Mr. King was the first leader to be chosen by a national convention all his predecessors being elected at party caucuses comprising members of parliament and the senate.

The national Liberal leaders and the dates they held office follow:

Hon. Alexander Mackenzie — 1868 to 1879.
Hon. Edward Blake — 1880 to 1887.
Sir Wilfrid Laurier — 1887 to 1919.
Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King —1919 until today.

Canadian Seamen Protest Alleged Use of Violence

London, June 24 — (CP)—Canadian seamen from six Canadian ships met Wednesday night to protest the alleged use of violence against members of the Canadian Seamen's Union during the current Great Lakes strike.

Under the chairmanship of Harry Gulkin of Montreal, the meeting unanimously carried a resolution to send telegrams to Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Labor Minister Mitchell and Justice Minister Ilsley.

These deplored the "government's action in employing tear gas, steam hoses and arms." The resolution said federal investigator L. W. Brockington had found that the C. S. U. is the sole legitimate bargaining agent with the five companies involved.

The meeting decided to hold a protest march Saturday to Canada House to ask the Canadian High Commissioner, Norman Robertson, to relay the seamen's sentiments to Ottawa.

The meeting was told that $3,600 had been raised to help bail out 14 C. S. U. members held in Toronto on conspiracy charges.

The men who met here are from the Lake Kootenay, Cliffside, Oceanside, Seaboard Star, Beaver Brae and Marchport. All six ships are held up in the port of London by the London dockers strike.

Do You Own a Hammer?

The Warner and Swasey Company, the big Cleveland, Ohio., machine tools manufacturer, is noted for its finely developed public relations policy and its series of newspaper advertisements explaining the working of the private enterprise system has attracted favorable comment right across the continent. One of its more potent messages, entitled "If you own a hammer, you're a capitalist," reads as follows:

"You paid money for it (the hammer) because you can drive more nails with it in a day and drive them better than you can with a rock or the heel of your shoe. You saved money and invested it in the hammer because with the hammer you could produce more—your time would be more productive, that is, more valuable.

"That's what capital is and that is what it is for.

"Now, suppose you hire a man to do repairs around your house. If he drives nails with a rock he won't get much repairing done in a day so you can't afford to pay him much. So you provide him with your hammer; he drives more nails and drives them straighter; he gets a lot more repairing done; so you can afford to pay him more.

"That's exactly how capital works in industry. Millions of people save some of their money instead of spending it all on themselves. They pool their savings and buy a factory and machines. Workers use the machines to produce more and so make themselves worth more.

"But they must produce enough to pay their own higher wages and a small wage to the owners of the machine — what is known as profit. Otherwise, why should savers invest in machines? With no return, they would spend their money like everyone else, and workers would have to go back to driving nails with rocks — and the low wages which that sort of production pays.

"That's why workers should be just as much interested in making a profit for their company as in making high wages for themselves. No profits — no wages."
